BEEF WAS ALL RIGHT.

The Conclusion Reached by the Wade Court of Inquiry.

General Miles' Charges Are Generally Unsustained.

Admit That Canned Roast Beef Was Furnished In Too Large Quanities.

Washington, May 1.—The court of inquiry appointed to investigate the allegations of General Miles concerning the beef supplied to the army during the war with Spain has concluded its work. The report was signed by every member of the board. The official copy of the findings was sent to the war department. The document was forwarded to the White House, whence it was dispatched forthwith to the president in New York.

The report is of about 30,000 words and goes fully into the questions which have been raised in connection with the army beef. The text has not been made public and will not be until after the president shall have read it. It will then rest with him to say when the report shall be given to the public.

The verdict, however, is known to be that the allegations which General Miles made before the war investigating commission are not sustained with reference to the refrigerated beef, although his contention that the canned roast beef was not a suitable continuous ration is admitted. There is direct criticism of General Miles for failing to promptly bring to the attention of the war department the reports made to him concerning bad beef, and "several individuals" are censured for failing to observe the proprieties of their position as commanding officers in this and other respects.

The court takes the position that the testimony is conclusive that both the refrigerated beef and the canned beef were in good condition when delivered to the government and continued so until issued to the troops except in especial instances, where the deterioration was due to accidental conditions in transportation or to the influences of the tropical climate. The report admits the liability of refrigerated beef to taint quickly after removal from the ice chests. The court finds the charges of "embalming" the fresh beef to have been unsubstantiated by the testimony, and says no chemicals were used to preserve it. It also finds that it would have been impracticable to secure beef on the hoof for the Cuban campaign. The finding is likewise in opposition to the assertion on the part of General Miles that the use of the beef was an experiment.

Much attention is given to the charges concerning the canned roast beef, and it is stated that the testimony proves it to have been wholesome and nutritious where used in moderation and under favorable circumstances. The position is taken that too much of this article of food was supplied to the men, and that under the circumstances it was unpalatable and found undesirable as a continuous ration.

The fact is set forth that the canned roast beef had not been used to any appreciable extent before the beginning of this war, and it is therefore regarded as a practically untried ration. In view of this fact the commissary general of subsistence is roundly criticised for the purchase of the meat in such extensive quantities. As to the character of the meat for wholesomeness and nutrition, the reports of Professors Attwater and Chittenden are quoted at length, sustaining the claims in this respect. The instructions of the president are followed closely and all the points indicated by him as being those upon which he desired that inquiry should be made are covered.

Accordingly the court finds that the meat was not "doctored;" that it was the beef of commerce; that there was no more neglect than was incident to the hurried preparation for the war; that the inspection, while generally according to regulations, was not always up to the requirements, and that the sickness of the troops was not to any great degree occasioned by the use of either the canned or the refrigerated beef.

On the other hand it is found that General Miles himself did not report during the war that the beef, either refrigerated or canned, was unfit as a ration. Other officers who gave their testimony before the court are found also to have neglected what the court conceives to have been their duty in this respect, and all are blamed for this failure.

But the court does not think further proceedings necessary.

Everything Closed Up.

Waterville, Me., May 1.—A crusade was started Saturday night when City Marshal L. C. B. Davis notified all apothecaries, proprietors of cigar and tobacco stores, fruit venders and bicycle shops to close their places throughout Sundays, excepting in the case of the drug stores, which are permitted to remain open from 9 to 10 in the morning. It has been the custom to open the stores at an early hour Sunday, and to keep them open until a late hour at night. The order of Mayor Philbrook is alleged to have been given as the result of excessive exhibitions of intemperance on the principal streets of the city on Sunday.

A PLEA FOR JUSTICE.

Chicago Negroes Ask That People of Their Race Be Given Fair Trials.

Chicago, May 1.—Meetings were held in African churches throughout the city yesterday to protest against lynchings in the south. All services were largely attended and at each of them an address to the public was adopted, which is in part as follows:

"We plead for equal and exact justice. We condone no crime nor do we wish to shield criminals from the penalties they deserve. All we ask is the rigid enforcement of law. We contend that no man or woman should be put to death except by due process of law. We want every protection possible to be thrown around the home and the highest penalty visited upon the violator of its sanctity. At the same time we hold to the doctrine that ours is a land of liberty, of law, and that every person charged with a crime should have a fair trial. This we ask, not as a favor, but as a right, and in this behalf we urge upon the sober judgment of the civilized world that this is the only civilized nation on the face of the earth that charges a man with crime and then puts him to death without a trial. The negro pleads for law and protests against anarchy. Can the white man do more? Does he dare to do less?"

Editor and Politician.

Washington, May 1.—Lewis Baker, widely known and prominent in journalism and a politician for more than a third of a century, died here yesterday. During the past seven months he had suffered an attack of pernicious anemia, which steadily grew worse. Mr. Baker was born Nov. 7, 1832, in Belmont county, O. He entered a newspaper office at the age of 12 years to learn the printing business, and, with the exception of a few years in the government diplomatic service, devoted his life to newspaper work. He owned and edited various Ohio newspapers. He was active in Ohio politics, serving as a member of the state Democratic committee for several years. He was a delegate to nearly every national Democratic convention from 1860 to 1892. He was chairman of the Democratic state committee in West Virginia for many years, and a member of the national committee for over four years. He served two terms in the state senate, and was presiding officer of that body part of the time. He purchased the St. Paul Globe in 1885, and made it a power in the political and commercial development of the northwest until 1893, when he was appointed minister to Nicaragua, Costa Rica and Salvador by President Cleveland. Mr. Baker was chairman of the Minnesota state Democratic committee in the campaign of 1892. In 1886 he was the unanimous choice of the Democratic members of the legislature for the United States senate.

Firemen Kept Busy.

brick building on Dover street, occupied by a number of manufacturing firms, was completely destroyed by fire yesterday. The loss is estimated at $100,000. The fire department had a number of pieces of valuable apparatus stored in the building, and two engines and a number of hose carriage were completely buried by the falling walls and debris, but two engines and a ladder truck near the front of the building were saved. Another portion of the building was occupied by the fire alarm branch of the fire department, and the loss in this place was almost complete. Half an hour after the fire started the greater part of the back wall came tumbling to the ground and the roof fell in, carrying with it all the other floors to the basement.

After chasing 10 small fires in different sections of the city Saturday evening, the fire department was concentrated on High street to subdue a more serious conflagration in the electrotyping establishment of C. J. Peters & Son. The flames were not subdued until $50,000 worth of valuable machinery had been utterly ruined, together with two upper floors of the six-story building. The loss will aggregate fully $100,000.

Saloons Were Closed.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 1.—All the saloons in the north part of the city were closed yesterday for the first time in years. The closing was brought about by the clergymen in that portion of the town, and a meeting of ministers has been called to effect the Sunday observance throughout the city. The saloon men are circulating a subscription list, and cases arising out of the crusade will be carried to the highest courts if necessary.

Disaster Overtakes Excursion Train.

Rochester, May 1.—A disastrous railroad wreck occurred yesterday on the Rochester and Lake Ontario railroad at Rosenbaur's corners, about one-half mile north of the city line, when two cars of an excursion train filled with passengers left the track while going around a curve at full speed and was completely wrecked. Over 50 persons were injured, two are dead and at least a dozen are fatally injured.

PHYSICAL COLLAPSE.

Ex-Governor Altgeld of Illinois Has Become Extremely Despondent.

Unable to Look Upon Cheerful Side of Life.

Has Spinal Disease, Which He Thinks He Is Unable to Overcome.

Chicago, May 1.—Ex-Governor John P. Altgeld has fought his last political battle, according to information furnished by Dr. Nicholas Senn. "The ex-governor is certainly a very sick man, and it seems true beyond all question that he has fought his last political fight," says Dr. Senn. "In addition to his illness, which is in itself serious, the ex-governor, I am sorry to say, is completely broken down in spirit and is despondent to the last degree. Not that I want to be understood as saying that the defeat sustained by Mr. Altgeld at the Chicago election a few weeks ago has wrought this discouragement from which he is now suffering. On the contrary, he seems to have lost no faith in his political fortunes or the triumph of the principles with which his name has become inseparably associated.

JOHN P. ALTGELD.

"The chief cause of his despondency is his realization of the fact that his present illness is but a development of his old ailment, locomotor ataxia. In this knowledge, which has had an usually depressing effect upon him, is the great danger. For if the governor could be induced to look upon the cheerful side of life and take an extended trip for rest and change of scene he may be benefited. But in any case it is clear he can never again be a strong man or sufficiently restored to health to wage another political fight.

"His case is extremely sad, as he cannot be persuaded to believe there is any hope for his recovery from his attack. Still, unless complications set in, he may linger longer than anyone would expect."

Dr. Senn said that Mr. Altgeld's despondency, as well as the hard work he has recently been doing, has brought on a state of physical collapse which can only be described as complete nervous prostration.

Not All of One Mind.

Chicago, May 1.—Central Music hall was filled yesterday with an audience gathered to protest against the course of the administration with reference to the Philippine islands. Once or twice the proceedings were interrupted by protests of those who disagreed with the sentiments of the speakers. Professor J. L. Laughlin of the university of Chicago, in speaking of the national policy toward the Philippines, said: "There the flag is the emblem of tyranny and butchery." Cries of "Treason" came from the gallery, but the cries were quickly drowned out by approving cheers. When Bishop Spalding declared that "England has never been a friend of this country," an Englishman near the platform cried, "That's a lie." Without noticing the interruption the bishop continued his address. Dr. H. W. Rogers, president of the Northwestern university, acted as chairman of the meeting. Besides him the speakers were Professor Laughlin, Bishop Spalding, Dr. J. L. Jones, Edwin B. Smith, Sigmund Selsler and Miss Jane Adams.

Double Tragedy at Providence.

Providence, May 1.—William B. Shines, a colored man, 30 years old, shot and killed a colored woman named "Willie" B. Jones on the street Saturday evening. Shines then walked away about 50 feet and sent a bullet through his own brain. No one saw the shooting. Both came to this city from the vicinity of Farmville, Va., about eight or nine years ago. Shines had been keeping company with the woman for a long time, but within a few months she repulsed him and he became despondent. He had been sick a great deal of late, and it is thought that his mind may have been partially unbalanced. About 10 days ago he attempted suicide by taking poison.

Good Afternoon.

The meeting of the City Council this evening will be the most important of the year, as large appropriation orders are to be considered. First, is the annual appropriation order for the departments of 1899, and second the refund order of $40,000.

The grand total of the annual appropriation order, including debt and interest, water and sewers, is $446,300.13 against $417,093.30 in 1898. This is an increase of $29,206 83 over last year, and upon the same valuation as last year would increase the tax rate over $1.50. There does not seem to be any chance for any great reduction, and some departments seem to need more money, but the total is limited and the limit has been reached.

The greatest fight promises to take place on the order to refund $40,000 of the maturing municipal debt. If this is successful it will more than offset the increase of the tax rate which is occasioned by the increase in annual appropriations, and the tax rate of 1899 would be from $16 to $17 according to the increase in valuation this year.

We regret to learn that political influences have been at work to defeat the refund of the debt, regardless of the effect on the taxpayers. Some Councilmen have from the first opposed refunding on principle, and we admire them for their opinion, but it would seem as though others had changed their opinion from reasons which go as well unsaid.

It is rumored that the Finance Committee will report that the $40,000 order "ought not to pass," but again the City Council will have a minority report signed by a majority of the committee, which will favor the passage of the order. The refunding of $40,000 is equivalent to appropriating that amount and will require a two-thirds vote or 16 if all the members are present.

Again, permit us to say, that refunding is not a Democratic movement. It was championed last year by Councilman Parker and the Ledger, and it was the Ledger which reminded the new city government that steps were necessary to secure relief for the taxpayers of 1899, as nearly thirty per cent. matures this year. The City Council has already voted to cooperate with Mayor Keith, and they were assisted at the State House by Representatives Sheppard and Sprague, both Republicans. The Mayor and City Solicitor, as well as the Council and Representatives, are entitled to much credit for securing the necessary legislation, and the Republican Council cannot afford to stand in the way of lower taxes; not only for 1899 but for the future.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ If there are many more commissions appointed the supply of material is likely to run short. It must be admitted, however, that in the appointment of the different bodies of men at Hawaii, Paris, Porto Rico, Cuba, the Philippines, and now at Samoa, the president has shown commendable discrimination in the personnel of the commissioners.—Beverly Times.

BRILLIANT BALL.

Large Sum Netted for the Summer Kindergartens.

The ball on Saturday evening given by Mrs. James H. Stetson, assisted by ladies interested in the summer kindergartens, was a brilliant affair and a great success. The music was by Daggett's orchestra and was fine; enjoyed as much by those looking on as by the dancers.

The musicians were on the stage behind a bank of palms and other potted plants. On the left of the stage was a booth of pink crepe paper where lemonade refreshed the dancers. This was served by Miss Pauline Jones, Miss Eva Phillips, Miss Eva Feltis and Miss Katherine Garrity.

Mr. James H. Stetson was in charge of the dancing assisted by Mr. Walter B. Holden, Mr. Delcevare King, Mr. Charles Price, Mr. Herbert Barker and Mr. Harry W. Porter.

Over one hundred participated in the dance, and as many more looked on. Many notably pretty costumes were worn. It was one of the prettiest as well as jolliest dances held in Quincy for several years, and almost the entire credit is due Mrs. James H. Stetson, as she worked very hard to make it the success it was. Personally she sold about two hundred dollars worth of tickets as well as arranged all the details of the dance, with the result that a handsome sum will be realized for the summer kindergarten schools.

City Council Business.

Tonight's meeting of the City Council will be a busy one, as many important matters will come up for consideration, among which will be a public hearing on the petition to widen Coddington and Sea streets. The Committee on Finance will report on the request of the Mayor for authority to refund $40,000 of the city debt falling due this year. The Committee on Streets will report on the order abolishing the grade crossings at Saville and Water streets; on the petitions for extending the culvert an Willard street; to rebuild or repair Summer street, and on the petition of the Quincy & Boston street railway for a location for another track on Washington street.

They will also report orders for public hearing on petitions for widening Howard street; widening and straightening School street between Marsh and Pleasant streets; laying out Goddard and Federal avenues as public ways and changing the grade on Grove street. The Committee on Water Supply will report on the order for $25,000 for water extensions, and the Committee on Licenses will report on a number of petitions for minor licenses. The Mayor's budget will come up on its second reading. Among the new petitions that will probably be offered are to remove the town pump, for crossing on Beach street, and a sidewalk on Kemper street, to reimburse the Farm school for a float, and from the street railway for an additional track in the centre of Washington street between Chubbuck street and the Quincy Point bridge.

Too Patient.

Residents of Brook street, Wollaston, are begining to get warm at the procrastination of the Sewer Commissioner in not closing up the trenches which have been open on that street since last fall. At that time the commissioner prosecuted the work on that street during heavy snow storms and the rapid setting of the frost into the ground notwithstanding the protests of the abutters, until finally through force of public opinion they were compelled to desist. The frost has been out of the ground for weeks, but not a minute's work has been done towards closing the trenches, completing the job and again placing the street in passable condition. From the condition which the thoroughfare is in there seems to be ample grounds for some vigorous kicking. This state of affairs has existed for eight months. Communication with Quincy via. Newport avenue has been practically cut off for the same length of time. The fire apparatus in responding to an alarm has to reach Wollaston via Hancock street!

Highland Whist Club.

The Highland Whist club held the thirteenth and last regular party of the season Saturday evening, April 29th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Sayward of Belmont street, Wollaston.

All members were present and the host and hostess entertained the last evening in a very pleasing manner.

The club voted the first of the season to combine the total scores of the season, that is to say, couples score to count as one. The couple score for the season was as follows:

The highest being held by President Bowker and wife; second highest, Mr. and Mrs. Collyer; third, Mr. and Mrs. Sayward; fourth, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill; fifth, Mr. and Mrs. Goodrich; sixth, Mr. and Mrs. Page of Somerville; seventh, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick; eighth, Mr. and Mrs. Parker.

The club will hold its banquet on Saturday evening, May 6th, at the United States Hotel, Boston. The presents will be distributed on that evening.

W. Y. C. Whist.

At the Wollaston Yacht club house on Friday evening of last week there was a largely attended whist party and dance under the direction of the Ladies' Social club, Mrs. Henry R. Smith being in charge. There were fourteen tables occupied by enthusiastic lovers of whist from eight till ten o'clock, when refreshments were served. Dancing was enjoyed until midnight, Mr. Alvah Redman presiding at the piano. The winners at whist were Mrs. O. A. Minot, first prize; Miss Alda F. Shay, second; Mr. A. T. Barstow won first gentleman's prize and Mr. C. F. Cleaves second.

NEW MASTER OF HIGH

Charles F. Harper of New Briton Elected to Position.

The school committee held a special meeting Saturday night to take action on the selection of a head master for the High school. Dr. Hallowell of the sub-committee having the matter under consideration reported that many applications had been received. These had been divided into three classes according to their experience, qualification, etc. After careful consideration they were unanimous in recommending Mr. Charles F. Harper of New Briton, Conn. The committee had visited his school which was one nearly as large as the Quincy High, having 350 pupils.

After some discussion the committee elected Mr. Harper as Mr. Tupper's successor.

Mr. Harper is upward of 30 years of age, and is a graduate of Brown University. He has also taken several courses at the summer school at Harvard and Cornell. His first school after graduating was the Walpole High. From there he went to Bridgewater and two years ago he went to the New Briton, Conn., High school. His recommendation from all of his schools are of the highest, and the committee feel that no mistake has been made in his selection.

Birthday Party.

A number of the many friends of Miss M. Jennie Davis gathered at her home on Granite street Saturday evening to help her celebrate her birthday anniversary, it does not matter which one. Aside from Quincy friends present there were others from Dorchester, Lynn, East Boston and Greenville, S. C. During the evening Miss Davis was remembered by her friends with a number of handsome gifts, and in turn served a bountiful collation. Whist was a feature of the evening. Prizes for the best scores were awarded Mrs. H. W. Tirrell and Mr. Richard Hughes, and consolation prizes to Miss Dora Good and Mr. Griffith Roberts.

Smith and Atherton.

A men's foursomes match was the attraction at the Wollaston golf links on Saturday and Messrs. Smith and Atherton made the best gross as well as the best net score, viz:

Players	Gross.	Handicap.	Net.
F. H. H. Smith and E. A. Atherton, Jr.	84	7	77
C. L. Bremer and C. A. Price.	89	9	80

No Cards, T. King and J. S. Russell.

Adams Defeated.

Adams Academy was defeated by Weymouth High in the Park, Saturday. The score was 14 to 7.

For Adams, Bennett pitched a fine game, striking out seven men in the first four innings. In the fifth Donaher took his place and pitched his usual fine game, striking out seven men in five innings. Burchsted caught well, and Donaher, Bennett and Doble did well at the bat.

New hours at the Public Library today.

Important meeting of the City Council tonight.

Miss Mary Barry of Sagamore street has a new wheel.

Mr. B. F. Curtis has returned from his southern trip.

Miss Katherine Granahan of Old Colony street has a new bicycle.

The curfew will ring too early tonight to please the hangers of May baskets.

Councilman Packard has been confined to his home for several days with malaria.

Mrs. William G. Sheen, formerly of Greenleaf street and Germantown, is visiting in town.

Rev. F A. Frigoglietti has returned from his trip and celebrated two masses on Sunday.

The alarm from Box 47 at 2.50 Saturday afternoon was for a fire in the woods off Grove street.

Mrs. William A. Hodges is able to be out of doors, but it will be many weeks before she recovers the use of her arm.

Sunday was the warmest day of the season until today. Today is another record breaker with 88 degrees temperature.

Col. and Mrs. A. B, Packard, Mrs. M. J. Whittemore, Mrs. Mary Sleeper and Mrs. W. N. Eaton are in Washington on a brief trip.

The temperature at noon today was 88 degrees, the highest it has been since September 7 last year. It is also higher than at any time during the month of May, 1898, when the highest point reached was 87 degrees on May 20.

John Hancock Lodge, I. O. O. F., attended the Wollaston M. E. church in a body on Sunday forenooon. About forty members were in the ranks. The sermon was preached by the pastor, the Rev. J. E. Waterhouse.

A young man, whose name could not be learned, fell from his wheel this morning near the corner of Hancock and Alleyne street, and lay unconscious for some time. He was latter attended by Dr. Hunting. His fall was due to heart trouble.

The Rev. Edward A. Horton of Boston preached before a large congregation at the Wollaston Unitarian church on Sunday forenoon, taking his text from Revelations, 5:4. In his discourse he dwelt upon the religion of the past and future.

THE MAY FESTIVAL.

A Grand Good Time for Hundreds of Children.

The festival and May pole dance at Music hall Saturday afternoon, under the auspices of the Home Science Association, for the benefit of the summer kindergarten school, was a pronounced success both in point of attendance and financially. Seldom, if ever, have so many children been gathered at one time in Quincy upon such an occasion, for out of the nearly eight hundred persons present, over two-thirds were chidren. The John Hancock and Gridley Bryant districts, where the summer kindergarten schools have been held, rallied nobly to the cause, being largely represented.

It was an ideal day for such a gathering and the children had a grand time. The seats in the centre of the hall were so arranged as to leave a large square space in the centre. Here there was a tall May pole with its many colored streamers while near by was the throne of the Queen of May. This space was filled with light-hearted children whose smiling faces told only too well of the happy time they were having. It was of course impossible to keep such a lot of little ones quiet and at times hardly a word of those who took part in the entertainment could be heard.

Miss Johnson, President of the Association and Mrs. C. Theodore Hardwick, the vice president, were ever present with the little ones, and were untiring in their efforts to see that all had a good time.

At the right of the hall was a candy booth which was in charge of Mrs. E. E. Davis and Miss Emily Wild, assisted by Miss Fannie Wilson, Miss Lillian Taber, Miss Grace Burke and Mrs. R. A. Sears.

On the opposite side was a May basket booth in charge of Mrs. W. W. Adams and Mrs. T. King assisted by Miss Zayma King and Miss Charlotte Burgess.

Near the stage was a pretty lemonade booth in charge of Mrs. Eben W. Sheppard and Mrs. J. O. Hall, Jr., assisted by Mrs. Wilson Marsh and Mrs. D. E. Wadsworth.

The entertainment was unique and was entirely by children. Much of the success of their part was due to the assistance of the teachers of the Adams, Lincoln, Gridley Bryant and other schools, viz: Miss Eliza Sheahan, Miss Donovan, Miss Elizabeth Sullivan, Miss Gertrude Boyd and Miss Annie F. Burns.

Mr. Emery L. Crane acted as master of ceremonies and announced the several numbers; Mrs. G. G. Saville and Mrs. Clarence Burgin presided at the piano. The programme was as follows:

1—Piano Solo, Airs from the opera of "Lucrezia Borgia," Mary Ethel Burns.
1—Dance, "Fisher's Hornpipe," Mabel McCluskey.
3—Kindergarten songs and exercises.
4—Song, "Hide behind the door when papa comes," Katharine Brown.
5—Club swinging, Richard Howard.
6—Violin Solo, Alfred Wason.
7—Slumber Song, "Wynken, Blynken and Nod," Pupils from the Willard School.
8—Dance, Buck and Wing, Coon Song, Mabel McCluskey.
9—Song, Rock me to sleep, mother," Harry McNally.
10—Recitation, "Seeing things at night," Ruth Dole.

DIED.

AUSTIN—In South Quincy, April 29, Mr. Arthur Austin of Penn street, aged 52 years.

A Cat's Fine Points.

A good cat—the kind you want to have in the house, if any—will have a round, stubby, pug nose, full, fat cheeks and upper lip; a well developed bump on top of the head between the ears, betokening good nature, says Woman's Life. A sleepy cat that purs a good deal is apt to be playful and good natured.

By all means to be avoided is a cat with thin, sharp nose and twitching ears. It must be remembered also that a good mouser is not necessarily a gentle or desirable pet. Although any good cat will catch mice if she is not overfed, quick, full, expressive eyes generally betoken a mousing cat.

The greatest mistake, and probably the most common one, in the care of domestic cats is overfeeding, particularly too much meat. In the wild life a cat has exercise which enables her to digest food. In the lazy house life the same full feeding leads to stomach troubles and to "fits."

Talking Through Flowers.

The young people in Tahiti have a custom of conversing with flowers, similar to that of the orientals. If an engaged couple have quarreled, the girl will separate the flower partially down the center—one-half is intended to represent the man, the other half the woman—and it is meant to imply that, though separate bodies, they are joined together at the heart. If the lover takes the flower and puts it in his hair, it is a sign that he wishes to make it up. If he tears it asunder, it is a token that he has lost his love for her and wishes to be entirely separated.

Her Husband Twice Her Age.

A curious marriage has taken place at Newcastle, England. For the third time a lady named Makings has been before the altar in the character of a bride, and there was something remarkable in each of her three engagements. Her first husband was a Quaker, her second a Roman Catholic and her present a Protestant. Each husband was twice her age. At 16 she married a gentleman of 32, at 30 she took one of 60, and now, at 42, she is united to a gentleman of 84.

Mrs. Hearst's Exploration Work.

Mrs. Hearst, who is at the head of the American Exploration society and expects to close a contract to take charge of the explorations in Egypt for the Universities of Pennsylvania and California is founding a museum for the latter. About $15,000 is to be devoted to this work in Egypt. Mrs. Hearst has offered Professor George A. Reisner of Harvard, now in Egypt, a contract for five years and expects him later to become a director in the California museum.

The New Zealand Women's Council has prepared a bill to abolish coverture and to equalize the economic relations of husband and wife. It provides that the earnings of both shall be a common fund for the support and education of the family. It also provides that when only the husband is a wage earner half of his earnings shall belong to the wife.

Mrs. A. E. Paul has had charge of the cleaning of the First ward streets of Chicago for the past 18 months, and the business men of the district have presented a congratulatory address to her, commending the zeal and efficiency of her supervision and saying that the streets have never before been cared for so well.

A variety of the much stitched gowns is to be found in one black silk stitched with white. The tucks on the bodice and across the tops of the sleeves are stitched with the white, and the effect matches the plain white vest and the lapels, upon which there is outlined a geometrical pattern in black chenille.

Julia Marlowe is to speak at the meeting of the Women's International Council, in London, on "Women on the Stage."

LOOKING FOR "JOHN SMITH."

Maine Officers Think He May Be a Man Wanted In Massachusetts For Murder.

Alfred, Me., May 1.—The police of southwestern Maine and southeastern New Hampshire are making a careful search for a man who was released yesterday from the county jail after serving a 30 days' sentence for vagrancy, and who is suspected of being Paul A. Meuller, who, it is alleged, killed three members of the Newton family at Brookfield, Mass., in the fall of 1896.

The suspected man, who has been known at the jail as John Smith, answers in many ways the description of the much-wanted Mueller. He was of the same height, weight, complexion, nationality and occupation, and when arrested, four weeks ago, became violently agitated when he saw the handcuffs, and said to the officers in broken English, "No murder." He admitted that he formerly worked on a milk farm, and that he was a cabinet maker.

One of the local officers, on looking him over a few days ago, came to the conclusion that he answered in many respects the description of Meuller, and Saturday Chief Wade of the Massachusetts state police was notified. The latter directed the local officers to detain the man, but before the message reached here the jailer had released him. The local police and the officers of Maine were notified and a thorough search is being made for him. When he left town he appeared to be going in the direction of Portland.

A Thing of the Past.

Boston, May 1.—At the new Old South church yesterday, Dr. Gordon preached an eloquent sermon on the recent action of the society in abandoning the Westminster "confession of faith." After reviewing the matter historically, Dr. Gordon said that it was published in 1647, but was not recommended to the churches in Boston until 20 years after it had expired in the community in which it originated. "It is still," continued the doctor, "the disregarded, but unrepudiated, creed of the Presbyterian churches of Scotland and America. For many years theology has been slow to admit new light. It has been loth to rise out of the dust and shake itself, and put on its beautiful garments. That hour of indecision has gone. The churches have moved forward."

Renewing Old Friendships.

Montpelier, Vt., May 1.—Captain Charles E. Clark, the famous commander of the battleship Oregon in the late war, arrived here yesterday, accompanied by his wife, and was given the freedom of the city by Mayor Senter and a delegation of citizens. As his father formerly conducted a book bindery in this city, and as his native town of Bradford is not far distant, he had the pleasure of receiving many old acquaintances. Captain Clark will attend the ceremony of breaking ground for the new Dewey hall at Norwich university.

Lowell Goes Dry.

Lowell, Mass., May 1.—The saloons of Lowell closed their doors for one year Saturday night, in accordance with the no-license regime, which goes into effect today. The proprietors of hotels and saloons will be given three days in which to remove their intoxicants. During this time no persons other than those actually employed in the work of removal will be allowed on the premises. Drug stores will be allowed to keep in stock an amount of whiskey necessary for the compounding of medicines only.

Kennebec Is Clear.

Waterville, Me., May 1.—The last of the ice went out of the Kennebec river yesterday, and the oldest inhabitants state that its departure was a record-breaker for quietness. The driving of timber has fully commenced upon the branch waters, and the season is expected to be a successful one. A number of industries on the river have been troubled considerably by high water, but the difficulty is not so great as usual, owing to the absence of rain.

Laconia Has the Shakes.

Boston, May 1.—A Laconia, N. H., special says: A distinct earthquake shock was felt here at 12:24 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The disturbance was of only about a second's duration and was abrupt and deep, resembling the shock of some heavy explosion. Houses were jarred and dishes and other movable objects rattled. The heat here for the time of year was phenomenal, the mercury reaching 90 degrees in the shade.

Assailant Escaped.

Medford, Mass., May 1.—Mrs. Dwight O. Collins was the victim of an attempt at felonious assault withing sight of her own home late Saturday evening. Her struggles and screams attracted a number of neighbors, but her assailant ran off before they arrived. Mrs. Collins was nearly exhausted when her rescuers reached her and had to be carried into the house.

Horseshoers to Strike.

Boston, May 1.—It is expected that 300 of the 500 journeymen horseshoers in the city will go out today on a strike for an increase of wages and extra pay for overtime work. The members of the union state that they believe the strike will be eventually won, as fully one-quarter of the master horseshoers have agreed to a new schedule.

Aged Man Clubbed.

Pittsfield, Mass., May 1.—James Sheridan, 70 years of age, was murderously clubbed by two men, who called him to the door of his house early Sunday morning. He charged William and James A. Burnett with the assault. Sheridan had interfered in a family difference at the Burnetts' home on Saturday evening.

Costly Forest Fire.

Yarmouthport, Mass., May 1.—A fierce forest fire raged in the woods between Centerville and Barnstable. It burned over hundreds of acres, consuming the heavy standing growth and much corded wood. Five dwellings were burned. The money loss will be far into the thousands.

Secretary Long at Home.

Hingham, Mass., May 1.—Secretary and Mrs. Long, together with their daughter, Helen, attended church yesterday at the "old meeting house." At the close of the service, Secretary Long and family were warmly greeted by many of the townspeople.

A Certain Quincy Young Man.

A certain Quincy young man was not a very welcome visitor at the home of one of our young damsels, but he hadn't caught onto the fact. He had noticed, however, that of late, whenever he called the young lady always happened to be out. He called last Sunday afternoon and the same good natured girl came to the door and reported her "out." As he descended the steps he happened to turn around, and just then a curtain that had been down, suddenly thought it was time for "spring" to get in its work, and spring it did. As the curtain suddenly rolled way up to the top of the window, he saw the young lady try to dodge out of sight. He hastily ran up the steps, and as she came to the door he angrily remarked, "Well, I've found you out at last." "It looks more as if you had found me in," she sweetly replied.

You can never tell what's in a house by looking from the outside. You can't even get a good idea of what's in our house by looking at the windows, for we wouldn't have windows enough to show all the good things we've got, if we had 'em clear round the block

We're never out of good things. We're showing just now one of the greatest lines of Men's new up-to-date Suits that we ever had together. We're showing swell Stripes, Checks and Blue Serges in all wool suits, self-faced, well tailored, cut to fit, made of goods that will wear, finished thoroughly inside and out, for $7.50, $8.50, $10.00, that even Quincy's cheap store has never been able to equal before at the prices.

Every purchaser of $2.00 worth of goods for the next two weeks gets a Beautiful Framed Picture of familiar scenes after the war.

NO TRUST IN WORDS.

Filipinos Cannot Understand Our Aims Without Show of Force.

Another Fruitless Conference With General Otis.

Expectation That Emissaries Will Soon Return With Revised Proposals.

Manila, May 1.—In the course of the conference with the Filipino emissaries Saturday, Mr. Schurman, chairman of the United States Philippine commission, told Colonel Aguelles that, if the insurgents would now lay down their arms, he and his colleagues of the commission would consult them regarding the plan of government to be submitted to President McKinley. He said that he could not promise that all their suggestions would be adopted, but he could assure them that there would be a presumption in favor of their suggestions, adding that the commissioners would be especially desirous of satisfying the legitimate aspirations of the Filipinos.

When Colonel Arguelles protested that unconditional surrender would be humiliation, Mr. Schurman replied: "There would be no humiliation in General Otis treating our brother Filipinos as General Grant treated our brother Americans at Appomattox."

Mr. Schurman says: "I believe Colonel Arguelles is personally sincere and honest, though I have no means of ascertaining the sentiments and aims of the authorities behind him. The Filipino people, like all Asiatic peoples, have no trust in mere words, without force behind them, but, with force, I consider a conciliatory spirit of the utmost importance.

"I believe that, when peace has been established, governing the Filipinos will not be a difficult matter, provided we show them firmness, justice and kindliness. At the present time they distrust and dislike us, but these sentiments, which are perhaps not unnatural, will soon be dispelled by the effects of the good government we have promised to establish here. It will be the foremost duty of American officials to understand and sympathize with the Filipinos themselves."

General Wheaton entertained Colonel Arguelles and Lieutenant Jose Bernal and provided them with horses to return to their camp.

While it is the general expectation among Americans that the Filipino emissaries will return with revised proposals from General Luna, Major General Otis is not letting this prospect interfere with his preparations for pushing the war. Saturday he ordered Major General Lawton to return to Angat, a few miles northwest of Norzagaray, and not to advance aggressively while the negotiations are pending. General MacArthur is apparently acting on the same policy; but he is repairing bridges and strengthening the lines of his force, which is stretched out with a four-mile front and within a quarter of a mile of the enemy.

The possibilities of peace are gratifying to a large majority of the army, who have regarded the war as an unpleasant duty that must be performed according to American traditions.

Manila is cheerful over the prospect of a return to normal life, though there are sceptics who remark that a truce would enable the insurgents to rest until the rainy season, upon which they have been depending as an important aid.

The prisoners report that there are 75,000 refugees north of San Fernando. This is not impossible, considering the thickly populated region which the Americans have cleared. It seems also that smallpox is spreading among them.

When Dean Worcester, of the United States Philippine commission, who accompanied the Filipino emissaries from Calumpit, said to Colonel Manuel Arguelles tha the Americans were under no obligation to refrain from fighting, the Filipino officer replied: "Would you fight while we are discussing terms of peace?

Mr. Worcester responded with the suggestion that an armistice would give the Filipino leaders time to escape.

"Where would we escape to?" the Filipino exclaimed, referring in this to the menacing hostile tribes behind the Filipino tribes.

Colonel Arguelles said that he was much disappointed in the results of his mission. He said also that Aguinaldo expected Calumpit to be the cemetery of the American army.

Lieutenant Colonel Wallace, of the First Montana regiment, Major Adams and Major Shields, who slept on Friday night in General Luna's camp, where they went to inform the Filipinos that their envoys would return in safety, found the Filipino commander cordial, the Filipino troops removing their hats as the Americans passed. The Filipinos complained to them that the Americans used explosive bullets, which is not true. The American officers retorted that the copper shells used by the Filipinos are worse than explosive bullets. General Luna said he regretted being obliged to kill Americans, but that was his business.

Before General Otis had issued the order directing General Lawton to return to Angat, the troops of his command encountered the rebels Saturday in a circle of hills outside of San Rafael, about five miles northwest of Angat, dislodging them after an hour's fighting. The Americans had three wounded. A thousand armed Filipinos fell back as the Americans advanced.

The villagers met General Lawton, offering him provisions. They dare not flee into the mountain country on the east, because of robber tribes there, and on the west are the troops of General MacArthur.

Messrs. Carrick and Holmes, Americans, who had been running a sugar mill at Calumpit, and whose fate had caused some anxiety, have sent word to Manila that they are safe, with Mr. Higgins, manager of the Manila-Dagupan railroad at Boyonbang.

Marvelous Progress.

Washington, May 1.—American manufacturers made their highest record in foreign markets in March. The figures of the March exportations which the treasury bureau of statistics issued earlier than on any previouns occasion show that the March exportations of manufactures were $36,025,733, or more then 25 percent in excess of any preceding month and 50 percent more than February, 1899. In March last year the exportations of manufactures were $28,124,450; in March, 1897, $25,876,861, and in March, 1896, $19,125,595. On only two occasions, March and December, 1898, have the exports of a single month ever reached $28,000,000.

Forsakes Sword For Pen.

San Francisco, May 1.—Brigadier General H. G. Otis, U. S. V., who arrived from Manila Saturday night on the transport Sherman, came on shore yesterday. General Otis asked to be allowed to resign as soon as he foresaw the termination of hostilities with the fall of Malolos, and expects to leave for Los Angeles today, where he will immediately resume his position of editor-in-chief of the Los Angeles Times.

to the coffee drinker. Coffee drinking is a habit that is universally indulged in and almost as universally injurious. Have you tried Grain-O? It is almost like coffee but the effects are just the opposite. Coffee upsets the stomach, ruins the digestion, effects the heart and disturbs the whole nervous system. Grain-O tones up the stomach, aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. There is nothing but nourishment in Grain-O. It can't be otherwise. 15 and 25c. per package.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

NORFOLK, ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin and all other persons interested in the estate of late of Quincy, in said County, deceased.

Whereas a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased, has been presented to said court for probate by Deborah W. Billings and Faxon Billings of Quincy, who pray that letters of administration with the will annexed may be issued to them, or some other suitable person, the executor named in said will having declined to serve as such.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County, on the tenth day of May, A. D. 1899, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioners are hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, George White, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-fourth day of April in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine.

DEWEY DAY.

Sons of Bay State Pay Tribute to Hero.

Secretary Long Speaks of Problems Facing Us.

Brutal Charges Against Administration Refuted.

Otis Ordered to Avoid Conflict In Every Possible Way.

Efforts Will Be Made to Carry the Blessings of Civilization to Filipinos.

Boston, May 2.—Admiral Dewey and his victory in the bay of Manila on the morning of May 1, 1898, were celebrated by the Essex club in Young's hotel last evening. The banquet was graced by the presence of Secretary of the Navy Long, while an added cause for enthusiasm was given by the presence of two of the officers of Dewey's fleet, who aided in the annihilation of Montijo's ships—Captain Wildes of the Boston and Lieutenant Commander Rees, executive officer on the flagship Olympia. The navy was also represented by Commander Selfridge of the lighthouse board, who was executive officer on the Puritan, and Lieutenant Commander Wilmer, navigator on the Monadnock when she made her trip to the relief of Dewey.

It was Dewey night and navy night from start to finish, with now and then parenthetical allusions to the state of affairs as they now exist; and while all the speakers deplored the bloodshed consequent on the taking the Philippines, they stoutly upheld the administration in its acts, and hopefully looked to the time when the Filipinos shall have come to such a state that congress can give to them full self-government.

President Myer of the club introduced the speakers, Secretary Long being the first to receive greetings of the club. He spoke as follows:

JOHN D. LONG.

"In behalf of the navy I thank the Essex club for celebrating this day, which is one of the most conspicuous in naval annals, and in paying its tribute of respect and admiration to the most conspicuous naval hero of recent times. I cannot claim him, however, for the navy alone. Nor can I claim that your plaudits are solely on account of his naval distinction. By his display of large powers of administration, by his poise and prudence, and by his great discretion, not only in act, but also in word, which is almost more important, he has proved himself a great representative citizen, as well as a great naval hero. In the cluster of military celebrities of the recent war, Dewey easily stands at the front. No captain ever faced a more crucial test than when, a year ago this morning, thousands of miles from home, with every foreign port in the world shut to him, nothing between him and annihilation but the thin sheathing of his ships, his cannon and his devoted officers and men, he moved upon the enemy's batteries on shore and on sea with that unflinching faith and nerve which sometimes fail other men even of courage and spirit, and, before the sun was half way up the heavens, had silenced the guns of the foe, sunk the hostile fleet, demonstrated the superiority of the American sea power, and transferred from Spain to the United States an empire of the islands of the Pacific.

"I do not forget that while celebrating the glorious record of our navy you are also, in common with all good citizens, keenly alive to the new problems which, as a legacy of the war, are upon us. The discussion that has arisen is interesting and vital. As happens in all discussion, there is danger of being misled by terms and of the appearance of greater differences than really exist.

"It is worth while to remember that there are certain points on which all sides are substantially agreed. One of these is that it was the national duty not to permit the Philippines to revert to Spain. I believe that no more unpatriotic utterance, or one more unjust to the administration of the government of our country has been uttered than the statement which I see now and then, that 'the treatment of the Cubans by Spain, or the Armenians by the Turks, is not to be compared with our course toward the Filipinos in wanton and deliberate cruelty.' The mind that can utter such an extravagance is so entirely warped that its judgment is valueless.

"When the statement has been made that the treatment of the Cubans or the Armenians was not worse than our treatment of the Filipinos in wanton and deliberate cruelty, I understand that this is charged not as an incident to the condition of war, but as the deliberate action of the administration. If that is so, it is an unutterably mean, unwarranted and contemptible assertion. Any mind that is so entirely perverted shows that it is not true, and that the administration has had no purpose of wanton and deliberate cruelty, or any injury to the Filipinos.

"Its first, constant and last instruction has been to insure them every help to better conditions. If you will read the recent proclamatoin, issued by the commission of which President Schurman is at the head, you are blind if you do not see that it tenders to them every advantage of good government and civilization.

"In the prosecution of the war with Spain, it is clear that, as a military movement, as proved by its success, the thing to do was to strike at Spain in the Philippine islands. And that, having conquered her there, we held the Philippines as a result of the war. Personally, I should have been very glad if, as I said once before, that elephant had never been put upon our hands. But at the end of the war the islands were in our hands. There was almost a unanimity of agreement—our beloved senator, Mr. Hoar, himself agreeing—that these islands should not be left in the hands of Spain.

"The president had given strict orders to General Otis to avoid conflict in every possible way, and General Otis had so notified Aguinaldo. The latter, instead of seeking peaceful settlement, went on waging war on the city and on our troops lawfully there. In the discharge of his duty to maintain law and order, certainly the president was justified in suppressing these attacks. And, if the best means of defense was, for the time being, to assume the offensive after such provocation, in order to prevent further attacks, he was justified in that.

"It seems to me that this is the first thing to be done, and this the administration is endeavoring to do. Second, to go on, through the Schurman peace commission, as that commission is endeavoring to do, and as speedily as possible, get into communication with the leading influences among the natives and secure some adjustment. Mr. Schurman's last advices are encouraging in this respect.

"The third thing for the administration is, while thus insuring order and doing everything to secure an adjustment with the natives, to wait the action of congress, which must determine what the disposition of these islands is to be. My personal views are of very little consequence, but I have already expressed them to the effect that I should be glad to see every step taken toward their ultimate self-government as soon as they show their capacity for it, and, as soon as there shall be proper guarantees of order and protection to property and organization of government in a stable manner.

"You certainly may be sure of one thing, that the administration is just as humane and just as eager to do right as any man or woman in Massachusetts, and that is the highest standard I know of on all this footstool. You may be sure that it has not the least idea of putting any shackle or fetter on any Filipino, not so much as a cotton twine string around his ankles. You may be sure that it is more eager to stop bloodshed and secure peace than you are, because it has to bear the responsibility. You may be sure that it will do everything it can to carry the blessings of our own civilization to those islands of the sea, and that its highest ambition will be fulfilled if through its efforts the people there emerging from the oppression and darkness of centuries shall come out into the light of the new world and be set upon the way to the enjoyment of the same liberties, the same education, the same government, the same large, generous, happy life which is now the heritage of every American citizen in whatever part of the great American Union he lives.

"The good news of the last few days, with its promise of pacification and adjustment upon the lines of an enlightened and mutually helpful relation, is the best justification of his action and the best answer to any criticism of his policy, or to the charge that he has been drifting without any policy at all. In his efforts, you men of Essex—grand old patriotic name—can hinder him or aid him. You are free agents and have the right to do as you please. You can pelt him with brickbats, or you can give him a cordial word and a helping hand. Which shall it be?"

The next speaker was Lieutenant Commander Corwin T. Rees of the Newport torpedo station, who on the memorable day carried out the orders of Admiral Dewey as executive officer of the flagship Olympia. His speech complimented President McKinley and Secretary Long for their able foresight in supplying Dewey's fleet with the necessary fighting material. He said the battle was the most daring in its execution of this or any other war. It seemed incomprehensible that an unarmored squadron could dash through such a storm of shot and shell and emerge without the loss of a ship, a man or a meal. Never was there such a lesson of eternal vigilance so well exemplified.

No one ever asked or questioned which vessel led the fleet, for one master mind directed all. Dewey staked all because he had confidence in American seamen. Mr. Rees closed his remarks by briefly recounting the different events in the battle, as seen from the bridge of the Olympia.

While his speech was extremely interesting and entertaining, the club listened even more intently to the clear, unvarnished tale of Captain Wildes, who commanded the cruiser Boston, and who read to the club his own report of the fight, which report is now among the files of the navy department.

Captain Wildes did not attempt eloquence, but recounted what the Boston did from the time the fleet left Mirs bay until it anchored, victorious, before Cavite, shortly after noon, just one year ago yesterday.

Commander Selfridge, who served as executive officer on board the monitor Puritan during the blockade off the Cuban coast, rehearsed a number of incidents connected with the battle of Matanzas, while Lieutenant Commander Wilmer, who was on the Monadnock on her voyage across the Pacific to reinforce Admiral Dewey, also related some interesting incidents in Manila bay. The other speakers of the evening were William H. Moody of Haverhill and William S. Knox of Lawrence.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, May 2.—Representative Dumond introduced in the lower branch of the legislature a bill intended to correct the error in his original license act that has been causing all the disturbance in the last few days in connection with the giving out of the Boston liquor licenses ordinarily granted on May 1. The new bill merely strikes out of the original act the words "number of licenses," where they refer to the total number of 1000 allowed in Boston, and inserts in their place the words "licensed places," so that there may be no doubt that the 1000 limit shall apply to places where liquor is sold and not to specific certificates of license. The bill was referred to the committee on rules.

The bill for a Cape Cod canal by the Bass river route was favorably reported. The bill contains no requirement for a deposit for land damages, and is in many respects the most liberal voted by a committee for years. The route of the canal under this bill is from the mouth of the Bass river, on Nantucket sound, through the towns of Dennis and Yarmouth to a convenient point on Massachusetts bay or Cape Cod bay, following the bed of Bass river through so much of its course as the company finds advisable.

The committee on federal relations favorably reported a bill fixing the boundary line between Massachusetts and New Hampshire, on the lines surveyed by the special commission on that subject, which reported early in the session.

After a few words of debate in the senate, the bill to reorganize the cattle commission was engrossed.

On the first call of the calendar, without debate, the bill for a new house of correction to replace that at South Boston was engrossed, as was the bill to confirm the proceedings of the Lakeville town meeting.

House to let.

Good Afternoon.

The municipal ice plant melted Monday night. The City Council evidently waited for a hot night.

Taxpayers have wondered often that city officials obtained additional appropriations so easily after overrunning the amounts appropriated, and the breeze over the deficiency bill of the Fire Department of 1898 may be salutary, yet those acquainted with all the circumstances see an animus in the selection of ex-Chief Packard as an example. The big storm of February offered an opportunity for the Commissioner of Public Works to expend large sums of money in opening up the streets, and when the City Auditor asked for instructions as to the payment of bills largely in excess of the appropriation, yes double and triple, he was instructed to pay everything, regardless. Taxpayers privately criticised the reckless expenditure, but were powerless.

After the blizzards of 1898 and 1899 the property holders congratulated themselves that no fires were started, but had their been, they might have found the fire department on hand promptly, for they took extraordinary precautions. Some of the emergency bills thus occasioned have probably been paid, so that while other items appear in the deficiency bill, the excess was almost wholly for the blizzards.

Drift of Opinion.

One of the rankest absurdities ever proposed by the Massachusetts Legislature—and this is saying a good deal—is that newspaper properties ought to be exempt from taxation, on the ground that public journals stand upon a level with the church and the school as educating and civilizing factors. We are ready to wager 100 to 1 that in all the state there isn't a decent newspaper man but would consider any such legislation a personal insult. They are not "charity pups."—Milford Journal.

☞ The bill before the legislature on the protection of bicycle paths is at a standstill. The senate refuses to withdraw from its support of the stultifying amendment and asks for a conference. The house will be no party to the sham proceedings, refusing to consider the amendment or to confer on the subject. The senate, apparently, does not ride a wheel.—New Bedford Standard.

☞ There are three propositions that can be safely laid down "for fair." One is that the health of New Haven demands the regular and organized watering of the streets; the second is that this work should be done by the public works department out of the common treasury; and the third that the electric companies should sprinkle the streets through which they pass, as they did last year. So long as the laying of dust is left to the house-holder it will not be and cannot be uniformly done, and if street sprinkling is not uniformly done it is not well done, and the public health is to just that extent neglected.—New Haven Register.

☞ The Marlboro strikers say they will never surrender. Meanwhile their places are being filled, and the shoe factories are running. How many strikes pay? That seems to be an important question. The perpetual agitators cannot or do not answer in a satisfactory manner.—Charlestown Advocate.

APPROPRIATIONS MADE.

No Change Made by City Council in Amounts Reported.

A Deficiency Bill of Fire Department of 1898 Causes Debate.

Hearing on Coddington and Sea Streets Widening----An Increase for Water Extensions.

It was hot and uncomfortable last night, but that did not prevent the City Council from holding almost a midnight session. It lacked but a few minutes of eleven o'clock when an adjournment was reached. There were a number of important matters under consideration and they were each given considerable time. The one matter that consumed much time, however, was the request of the Finance Committee for instructions as to the bills of the fire department of last year in excess of the appropriations. In the debate which followed, ex-Chief Packard was severely scored, and it is safe to say it will be some time before a city official exceeds his appropriation in the future.

Other important matters that came up were the public hearing on widening Coddington and Sea streets, the street watering order, and the annual budget. In new business there were orders calling for large sums for paving Copeland, Quarry and Hancock streets. President Sidelinger was in the chair, and although he gave all possible leaway he put the business through when possible with a snap, and promptly and impartially decided several points of order that were raised.

Councilman Blanchard, Jameson and Packard were absent.

MORE MONEY WANTED.

The Commissioner of Public Works in a communication stated that if the outstanding bills for the Washington street culvert were paid, enough would not be left to complete the work. To Committee on Finance.

CHURCHES NOT EXEMPT.

City Solicitor Blackmar whose opinion was requested as to whether the permanent sidewalk assessment assessed on church property by the city could be removed by the City Council, in a communication said it could not legally be rebated. Such assessment must be assessed on church property as well as any other. He further said that he had given the same opinion to Councilman Hill in a letter but that it was not the duty of the City Solicitor to give written opinions on matters not before the City Council and the privilege was abused. Placed on file.

PETITIONS.

A number of petitions for minor licenses were received and referred.

The Quincy & Boston street railway petitioned for a location in the centre of Washington street between Chubbuck street and the Quincy Point bridge. Laid on the table until later when an order was offered for a public hearing May 22. Amended to June 5, and passed.

A petition was received for a cross walk on Beach street to Kemper street. To Committee on Streets.

A petition that the Town Pump be removed, was laid on the table.

The Boston Farm School petitioned to be reimbursed $150 for a float that came ashore at Squantum last November and was destroyed by employes of the city. To Committee on Finance.

The New England Telephone Co. petitioned for a location for poles on Cottage street and Cottage avenue. To Committee on Streets.

A petition was received asking that Rodman street be repaired and laid out. To Committee on Streets.

A petition was received that Copeland street, between the Willard school and the West Quincy depot be widened, graded and paved, and that the street railway tracks be placed in the centre of the street. To Committee on Streets.

Another petition that the drain nuisance near the corner of Miller and Copeland streets be abated. To Committee on Sewer and Drains.

A petition was received asking that Webster street be laid out and accepted as a public way. To Committee on Streets.

Petitions were received from four estates that the permanent sidewalk assessments be apportioned over ten years. Laid on the table until later when the necessary order was offered.

REPORT OF COMMITTEES.

The Committee on Licenses reported leave to withdraw on the petition of J. P. O'Brien for a common victuallers license. Accepted. The same committee reported an order granting a license to A. G. Durgin for Music Hall for $25. Adopted.

The same committee reported leave to withdraw on the petition of J. C Little for a license for a merry-go-round at the junction of Temple and Washington streets. Accepted.

The same committee reported favorably on a number of petitions for minor licenses which were adopted.

The Committee on Streets reported leave to withdraw on petition of the street railway for a location on the side of Washington street between Chubbuck street and the bridge. Accepted.

The same committee reported reference to the executive department on the petition to rebuild or repair Sumner street. Adopted.

The same committee recommended that the petiton for extension of culvert on Willard street be referred to Committee on Sewers and Drains. Adopted.

HOUGHS NECK BOULEVARD.

At 8 o'clock an advertised hearing was given on the widening of Coddington street to 60 feet and Sea street to 70 feet. When an opportunity was given for those in favor no one appeared, and the remonstrants were called.

Otho Hayward, who represented Mrs. Lois Wales, objected to the proposed plans, and thought widening to 60 feet was rather overdoing it. It would take most of her front yard, and a cut in the present grade would leave her house high above the street. She wouldn't enjoy being on the street.

By this time those in favor were ready and Henry M. Faxon said there was no more dangerous point than the Washington and Coddington street corner. The grain store juts out, and the electric cars were on that side, and came out on the street suddenly.

It was great good fortune that had prevented serious accident.

Coddington street was but 33 feet wide and the travel to Houghs Neck was increasing. It was dangerous now for the 400 small children who attended the Coddington school. The widening must soon be made and should not be delayed. If the old buildings were removed the remaining property would soon be developed. To Councilman Pinkham he said he thought the abutters would be reasonable as to land damages.

To Councilman Swithin he thought 60 feet would be none too wide.

Henry H. Faxon also favored and thought now was the time. The corner referred to was the most dangerous in the State. He owned about two-thirds of the land on Coddington street, but would be reasonable. He wished, however, to be paid in proportion to what others were awarded. If others got big prices he should expect it. He desired to hear the estimate of the Commissioner of Public Works.

Commissioner Cavanagh estimated that the widening and rebuilding of the length of Coddington street, exclusive of land damages, would be $3,146, and that the widening and rebuilding of Sea street to Palmer street exclusive of land damages would be $8,330.

Mr Faxon, continuing, said that was a pretty good price, but Coddington street should be widened if not Sea street. He generally advocated economy, and believed it would be economy to do it now.

To Councilman Bryant he said he would not give the marsh land.

John Cavanagh appeared as a representative of Houghs Neck. The people here were satisfied with Sea street before the advent of the street railway, but now Quincy has lost desirable residents. The people there now did not dare to keep horses, because the driving over Sea street was so dangerous. Hough Neck was the most beautiful summer resort near Boston, but the railway kept carriages away. A wide thoroughfare would make riding safe and pleasant, and would be a great advantage in developing Houghs Neck.

Rural New Hampshire.

Rev. E. N. Hardy took Gov. Rollins' Fast day proclamation for New Hampshire for his subject Sunday, and endorsed the stand taken. New Hampshire was no worse he said than Massachusetts or other states, but it was a fact proved by statistics that many people did not go to church. The decline of the church in the rural districts of New Hampshire were from the same causes that effected the towns financially, viz. immigration, emigration, lawlessness, lack of adaptation, change of centre of power to the cities, discouragement and indifferences. He did not admit that there was a decline in religion at large as statistics showed increased membership. We of the city, when we go into the country, especially for our summer vacations, should lend a hand, and encourage the churches financially and by attendance.

Sewer Work.

The Sewer Commissioners at their meeting Monday evening voted to start up the pumping station next Monday at 2 o'clock, P. M.

It was also voted to advertise for bids for building the section north of Brook street, Wollaston, and to lay a a section of the main sewer from the junction of Hancock and Woodbine streets through Willett street. This is a part of the Atlantic main sewer.

Work completing the section on Brook street, Wollaston, will be started again by the contractor next Monday.

I. O. G. T. Anniversary.

The third anniversary of the Faxon lodge No. 228, I. O. G. T., was celebrated at the Methodist church, Atlantic, Saturday evening and fully 250 people were present including member of other lodges. Speeches were made by members of the Grand Lodge and District lodge. An entertainment was given which included a banjo solo by Miss Richards reading Mrs. A. McCurdy. A few remarks on love by the blind entertainer, Mr. W. A. Coles, duet by Misses Richards and Jones, etc. Refreshments were served at the close of the entertainment. A good time was enjoyed by all.

Whist for Charity.

The Young Ladies' Charitable society held a whist party Monday evening at the residence of Robert Teasdale on Willard street, for the benefit of the Free Home for Consumptives. Twenty-three tables were present. The gentleman's prize, a May basket filled with cigars, was captured by Edward Dunn of Roxbury, and the ladies' prize a May basket filled with candy and violets, was won by Mrs. A. F. Vogel. Vocal and instrumental music and refreshments followed.

Ivy Lodge Entertainment.

Ivy Lodge, Daughters of St. George, held an entertainment and dance at Doble's hall, Monday evening. Mrs. J. L. Pearce was chairman of the affair, and the programme of the entertainment was as follows:

Orchestra selection.
Mr. John Knight, song.
Quartette, Wm. Warmington, J. C. Paine, J. Fraser, A. Parsons.
Mr. S. Sutton, song.
Miss Lottie Barnicoat, violin solo.
Mr. Bradford and Mr. Hayden, piano duet.
Mr. Rapson, reading.
Mr. Eddie Meddlin, song.
Miss Lottie Barnicoat, recitation, "Smelting the Rock."
Mr. S. Sutton, song.
Quartette.

TODAY'S COURT.

John Harris was arraigned for drunkenness at Quincy. Case continued until Saturday.

☞ Baby Carriages and Go Carts, all kinds, all prices. 50 patterns to choose from, $2.50 up. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

☞ Edward Atkinson is liable to get himself in trouble through the mailing of anti-expansion literature to the soldiers. It is one thing to find a field for his pamphlets at home and quite another to employ them for the creation of dissatisfaction and insubordination among the nation's defenders. There is a limit beyond which even Mr. Atkinson should hesitate about going.—Brockton Times.

☞ Massachusetts means to take advantage of experience gained during the war, and in consequence the soldiers will have to do their own cooking at future state camps. This will be in the direction of practical military life and discipline.—Milford Journal.

☞ As the churches south were the most implacable supporters of chattel slavery, so they seem today to be the supporters of the evil consequences of slavery. This is not true of all the southern churches, but it is true of some of them. And there is a lack of fibre in the religion of the south so apparent that we may consider it apart from the religions that prevail in more advanced communities. — Philadelphia North America.

Mr. James L. Smith has rebuilt his yacht Muriel, which was so badly smashed up in the gale of Nov. 27. She is looking better than ever, everything new except her keel and ribs.

Private John V. Mead of Co. K Fifth Massachusetts regiment, U. S. V., who was critically ill at Camp Wetherell, and was once reported dead, returned today. He is thin and pale, but convalescent.

The last vesper service of the season at First church was held on Sunday at four o'clock. The singing was particularly good and Mr. Butler's remarks were to the point and interesting as usual.

Mr. H. H. Faxon chuckles over the legislative mistake about licensing. Well, it is a good while since he has found comfort in the advancement of his hobby, and perhaps this won't last long.—Herald.

Capt. E. A. Snow and Mr. A. E. Linnell have been enjoying themselves sailing about the bay in their 17 foot cat, Gwendoline, the past week. On one of their trips they caug t 43 good cod off Fort Warren.

At base ball Saturday on Baxter's field the John Hancock second nine defeated the Granite Stars 27 to 10. The features of the game were the pitching of Collins and the batting of O'Connor, Dackers, Nelson and McLennan.

The horse of A. S. Magher, the tallow man, while left alone in front of E. H. Doble & Co.'s store on Saturday, became frightened and ran up Copeland street and down Willard street, where he was captured. But little damage was done.

Mr. William M. Chase, secretary of the Wollaston Yacht club, has purchased of Mr. F. B. Robinson the smart little jib and mainsail yacht, West Wind, and is putting her in shape for the coming season. She will be in the water in a few days.

Beside the sale of home made candy a grab bag and other good things for the children at the May festival at First chapel tomorrow afternoon there will be a May pole. In the evening a supper is to be served and fancy and useful articles will be on sale.

Mr. A. Shaw and son "Reggy," took a sail Sunday in their new yacht. For some reason they got out of the boat when in the water up to their necks. They made a landing on the beach safely however and tried it over again with better result. They say that the water is still too cold to enjoy bathing.

A Certain Quincy Young Man.

A certain Quincy young man was not a very welcome visitor at the home of one of our young damsels, but he hadn't caught onto the fact. He had noticed, however, that of late, whenever he called the young lady always happened to be out. He called last Sunday afternoon and the same good natured girl came to the door and reported her "out." As he descended the steps he happened to turn around, and just then a curtain that had been down, suddenly thought it was time for "spring" to get in its work, and spring it did. As the curtain suddenly rolled way up to the top of the window, he saw the young lady try to dodge out of sight. He hastily ran up the steps, and as she came to the door he angrily remarked, "Well, I've found you out at last." "It looks more as if you had found me in," she sweetly replied.

You can never tell what's in a house by looking from the outside. You can't even get a good idea of what's in our house by looking at the windows, for we wouldn't have windows enough to show all the good things we've got, if we had 'em clear round the block

We're never out of good things. We're showing just now one of the greatest lines of Men's new up-to-date Suits that we ever had together. We're showing swell Stripes, Checks and Blue Serges in all wool suits, self-faced, well tailored, cut to fit, made of goods that will wear, finished thoroughly inside and out, for $7.50, $8.50, $10.00, that even Quincy's cheap store has never been able to equal before at the prices.

Every purchaser of $2 00 worth of goods for the next two weeks gets a Beautiful Framed Picture of familiar scenes after the war.

CO. K RECRUITING.

Some of the Volunteers Not Anxious to Continue in Service.

Some of Co. K men of the United States Volunteers attempted to make things unpleasant for Captain Kincaide at a preliminary meeting for reorganization of the Massachusetts Militia Company on Monday evening.

The meeting was called to ascertain what members of old Co. K desired to continue their membership. About 40 of these had served as United States volunteers. As the roll was called none of these 40 were ready to state their intentions, and seemed desirous of getting other information first.

Some opposition was manifested toward Captain Kincaide, but he is master of the situation, as he is commissioned to recruit the company, and if the old members do not care to continue in the service, they may secure their discharge.

Henry L. Kincaide was captain of the company before the war, and enlisted with the company under the second call. He continued with them at Camp Dalton and Camp Meade, and then resigned from the U. S. service after Spain had sued for peace, because of demands of business.

The only objection to Capt. Kincaide is that he was too strict a disciplinarian in training the company for service. He told the boys this was the greatest compliment they could pay him.

The Ledger has a full report of the doings at the meeting, but sees no reason why it should give publicity to the personalities indulged in. The wind-up of the meeting was not very harmonious, and it was necessary for Capt. Kincaide to exercise his authority.

Captain Kincaide informs the Ledger that no more meetings will be held until the company is recruited to its full strength, and he shall immediately take steps to this end.

The Ladies Sewing Circle of Third Universalist church held an open sale Monday evening.

Box 17 was rung in at 1 o'clock this morning for a fire in M. Y. Clements' market. The building was partially destroyed; covered by insurance.

Councilman Injured.

Councilman Hultman had a narrow escape from a serious accident Monday night, while returning home from the City Council meeting. He started home on the electric car and just before reaching his home gave the signal to stop. The conductor rang the bell, but owing to the slippery condition of the rail the car ran by his entrance, and before it came to a stop Councilman Hultman jumped off, striking his head and cutting a deep gash, besides injuring his hip and bruising him generally. President Sidelinger and others helped him to his home.

APPROPRIATIONS.

We can knock Winthrop higher than a kite. The city must progress.

The hearing closed at 8.30 and the order was recommitted.

MORE HEARINGS.

The Committee on Streets reported orders for public hearings May 15, on petitions to regrade Grove street, widen straighten School street between Marsh and Pleasant street. Acceptance of Goddard and Federal avenues as public ways, and widening Howard Street from Quincy avenue to Newcomb store.

The Committee on State Aid recommended that Joseph O'Grady be paid $6 per month. Adopted.

INCREASE FOR WATER.

The Committee on Water Supply reported an amendment to the order for $25,000 for extension of water mains, increasing the amount to $30,000.

Councilman Pinkham said if increased as proposed less of the principal would fall due next year. It was to the advantage of the city to put in more extensions as they would pay a good return. It would change the two-inch mains to six-inch and complete the large main on Beale street. The Commissioner of Public Works stated he would be bound to put pipes where the City Council desired.

Amendment adopted and the order took its second reading and was referred to the Committee on Finance.

GRADE CROSSINGS.

The Committee on Streets on the petition to abolish grade crossings of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. at Savil and Water street reported an order that the Supreme Court be petitioned to appoint three commissioners to consider the matter as to cost and method. Adopted.

DEFICIENCY BILL.

The Committee on Finance asked for instructions relative to bills of the fire department in excess of the appropriaton.

Councilman Bryant: The charter says no official shall expend money until the appropriation is made. The engineer had exceeded his appropriation $1,586.38. He has shown an apparent gross neglect. There was no excuse for his going ahead and contracting bills without first coming to the City Council. $564 was for extra horse hire and labor. The prices charged for horses was excessive. The City Council refused to pay men at Houghs Neck, yet he puts in a bill for $100.

In reply to Councilman Pinkham, the speaker said the committee had the ex-Chief before them but he could not explain. All bills were O. K. by him.

Councilman Pinkham agreed with the last speaker as far as the $100 item, but the other item the city would have to pay if they were right. He moved to amend by striking out the $100 item.

Councilman Hogan thought it time such things were stopped.

Councilman Freeman: The item of $231.92 for repairs of hose carriage was made when Chief knew the appropriation was expended. He thought the items needed looking into before being paid.

Councilman Hill asked if Councilman Bryant considered the items for horsehire were excessive?

Councilman Bryant thought they were for that time of the year.

Councilman Badger said $5 was the regular charge and in this case was fair. The hose wagon was the old W. M. French reel. It was useless but the running geer was perfect. The Point hose was damaged and it would have cost $4 a day for a wagon to take its place. This carriage was repaired and made as good as any carriage in the city. He may have gone beyond his bounds but he was there to protect our home. The bills other than the last item should be paid.

Councilman Bryant moved an amendment to the amendment to strike out Scammell bill of $231.92.

Councilman Pinkham would like to ask the City Solicitor if the city would have to pay if Mr. Scammell did not know there was a balance.

City Solicitor Blackmur said he would want to look into the matter. The Council could pass a general deficiency bill, but there was a question where the officer expended money without authority.

Councilman Bryant moved the whole matter be laid on the table, and the opinion of the City Solicitor asked on all items except for labor.

City Solicitor Blackmur asked that the questions be put in writing.

Councilman Poland hoped the council would put itself on record, and not report a deficiency bill.

Councilman Hultman: The Hose wagon repaired has been in use ever since.

Councilman Bryant withdrew his last motion and offered an amendment that the Committee on Finance be requested to provide payment of all items relative to labor or horses and that the others lay on the table. Ruled out of order.

The question then was on the amendment to strike out the Scammell item.

Councilman Pinkham hoped amendment would not pass. If that is struck out others should be. The City Council had taken care of other bills and should of this one.

Councilman Alden: This kind of business should be stopped.

Councilman Newcomb hoped Scammell bill would be paid.

He did his work faithfully.

Councilman Clark did not think it right to single out one item. He hoped all but the $100 item would be paid.

Councilman Nicol said the Committee was favorably disposed toward paying the Houghs Neck men but could not, and the chief paid them personally.

Councilman Bryant withdrew his amendment and moved the whole matter be recommitted and the Finance Committee to report bill covering labor and horse hire.

Conncilman Poland thought if one was paid all should be, unless illegally charged.

Councilman Bryant's amendment was put and lost, as was also the amendment to strike out the $100 item.

Councilman Newcomb thought as the bills were contracted for the city it would have to pay, and he moved that the Committee on Finance be instructed to report an order covering the amounts.

Councilman Bryant thought we could do just as we see fit about paying. He should favor paying the bills for labor and horses but not the item of $100 for the Houghs Neck men and some others.

Councilman Pinkham then offered an amendment to the motion of Councilman Newcomb that the Committee report a bill covering such items as the City Solicitor decides the city is liable. Voted.

REFUND OF DEBT.

The Committee on Finance reported "no legislation necessary" on the communication of Mayor Keith advocating the refunding of $40,000 of the maturing city debt.

Chairman Bryant of the Committee and three others (a majority) presented as a minority report an order appropriating $40,000 to be extended over ten years for the refunding of $40,000 of the $81,950.25 which matures this year.

Upon motion of Councilman Bryant both reports were laid on the table.

GRAVEL BY RAIL.

Councilman Newcomb offered an order that the Quincy & Boston street railway be given authority to run a car over its tracks to transport gravel and other material for the improvement or cleaning of the streets.

STREET WATERING.

Councilman Pinkham offered an order for $4,400 for street watering, from April 30 to November 1, of Washington, Adams, Chestnut, Foster, Temple, Granite, Hancock, School, Franklin, Independence avenue, Copeland, Elm, Water, Crescent, Willard, Newport avenue, Brooks, Coddington, Beale and Farrington streets.

Councilman Poland moved to amend by adding Sagamore street from Newbury avenue to the railroad and Newbury avenue from the engine house to Atlantic street.

Councilman Newcomb asked if the city could water the State highway and was informed that it doubtless could if it saw fit.

Councilman Pinkham said Sagamore street and Newbury avenue could not be watered under the $4,400 order. He should oppose unless he knew how much had got to be added. The extra streets in Wollaston are an extension of other streets watered.

Councilman Hill: So are those in Atlantic.

Councilman Poland did not think it would cost any more to water half a mile in Atlantic than in Wollaston and it was only justice they should be watered.

Councilman Bryant moved the order be referred to the Committee on Streets. The distance not covered by the street car tracks in Atlantic was but one-eighth of a mile and they want the city to hire a horse and cart to water that distance.

The motion was passed.

CAUSEWAY APPROPRIATION.

Councilman Alden offered an order for $3,000 for rebuilding the Squantum causeway. To Committee on Streets.

Councilman Dugan offered an order for one incandescent light on Bates avenue. To Committee on Lights.

QUARRY STREET PAVING.

Councilman Owens offered an order for $10,000 for paving Quarry street from Granite street to Hardwick & Sons' sheds.

HANCOCK STREET PAVING.

Councilman Pinkham offered by request an order for the paving of Hancock street on the east side from Savil street, to Gilmore street, and on the west side from Savil street to Adams street. Read once and referred to Committee on Streets.

ANNUAL APPROPRIATIONS.

The annual appropriation order took its second reading and the rules were suspended that it might be put on its final passage.

Councilman Pinkham offered an amendment to increase the amount for street watering from $4,400 to $5,000.

Councilman Bryant opposed and if defeated would move that there be stricken out "as per schedule of 1899."

Councilman Pinkham's motion was lost, and that of Councilman Bryant adopted.

The appropriation order was then passed unanimously by roll call.

MUNICIPAL ICE.

City Solicitor asked for instructions relative to the petition for a municipal ice plant.

Councilman Bryant stated the question was, could the city establish a municipal ice plant under existing laws.

Mr. Blackmur said, if that was the question, his opinion was that the city could not.

DENOUNCED LYNCHERS.

Minister Receives Threatening Letters and Pieces of Hose's Flesh.

Placards Calling Upon a Crowd to Whip Him.

Church Property Desecrated, but He Declares That He Is Not Afraid.

Atlanta, May 2.—The Baptist tabernacle here, presided over by Rev. L. B. Broughton, was broken into and considerably damaged. A door leading into the Sunday school room from an alley was wrenched from its hinges, a large tank in a toilet room was torn from its fastenings, water was allowed to run over the floor, soiling the carpets, and paint was smeared on the floor and walls. Several chairs and a table were broken and piled in a heap. Placards were found nailed to the building bearing various sentiments regarding Dr. Broughton's stand against the Newnan affair. The night of the Hose burning, Dr. Broughton denounced the mob as murderers. Last week he received several pieces of Hose's flesh, accompanied by threatening letters, and he replied to the senders of the missives, calling them cowards. The tabernacle is a new edifice.

The plumbers who were called to repair the damage done to pipes say the trouble may have been caused by the giving way of the tank, but this Dr. Broughton scouts.

"Vandals did it," said Dr. Broughton. "It was done by the same gang that has been sending me notes of a threatening character for the past week or two. I preached a sermon Sunday night, in which I reiterated my position and remarks which were made at a former sermon. I stated that I was not afraid of all the devils in hell and I intend to stick to what I have said."

Dr. Broughton said he would not ask for police protection, nor would he order the janitor to sleep in the church as a precautionary measure. The police yesterday found additional placards posted in prominent places on adjoining streets bearing the sentiments:

"What do you think of Broughton? I think he ought to be whipped; who will join a crowd to whip Broughton, the negro lover?"

RAPE AND LYNCHING.

Georgia Citizens to Take Steps Toward Preventing Heinous Crimes.

Atlanta, May 2.—A state convention, which will have for its mission the discussion of rape and lynching, and whose object will be to find a remedy for existing conditions, will probably be called to meet in Atlanta as soon as delegates can be selected from the various counties of the state. This movement, at first coming only as a suggestion, has found sufficient backing and sentiment to cause it to assume the proportions necessary for its success, and it is said there is no doubt that the convention will be held, and every county in the state represented.

The convention will not meet for the purpose of condoning the crime or censuring the work of outraged citizens who deal out summary punishment to the assailant, but its purpose will be to suggest such changes in the present law as to make it possible for indictment, trial and execution of the guilty to follow in such rapid succession the execution of the crime as to make it impossible for any delay to swell the indignation of the people to that point of frenzy which generates violence and death to the man responsible for the offense.

Central Vermont In New Hands.

St. Albans, Vt., May 2.—The receivers of the Central Vermont railroad ended their jurisdiction over the properties and employes of that corporation at 12 o'clock Sunday night, and the officers of the new company, the Central Vermont railway, took formal possession at 12:01 Monday morning. Employes of the old company were retained in service until further notice. The new officers thus far appointed show a predominance of men familiar with Grand Trunk policies, which corporation owns two-thirds of the stock of the Central Vermont.

To the "Men Behind the Guns."

Marblehead, Mass., May 2.—The crews of the Spanish gunboats Sandoval and Alvarado were entertained at a banquet in the local armory last night by members of company C, Eighth regiment, and the occasion was made an enthusiastic one. The jackies were met at the wharf by the company and escorted to the armory, where Captain Tucker made the address of welcome. An excellent menu was served, and the heroes of the late war feasted to their hearts' content.

The Biggest Yet.

Chicago, May 2.—The heaviest passenger engine ever built was put in service on the Burlington road yesterday out of Chicago. The locomotive weighs 127 tons, being just one ton heavier than the largest engine in service before, which was owned by the Boston and Maine road. The driving wheels of the Burlington's new giant are seven feet in diameter. It has a water capacity of 5000 gallons and will haul a train weighing 380 tons.

Found In a Swamp.

Manchester, N. H., May 2.—Late yesterday afternoon the body of Charles H. Dunn of East Manchester was found in a swamp at the rear of the Clifton House, Lake Massabesic, where in all probability it had been for over two weeks. It is supposed that Dunn wandered into the swamp while intoxicated two weeks ago Sunday night, as he has been missing since that time.

Aimed at Pinkerton Men.

Jefferson City, Mo., May 2.—Governor Stephens yesterday signed the bill prohibiting the employment of non-residents as deputy sheriffs, deputy constables or as police officers. The bill is intended to prohibit the importation of Pinkerton detectives to the state.

A CLOSE CONTEST.

Quakers Managed to Squeeze Out a Run In the Game With the Beaneaters.

Baltimore, May 2.—In a red-hot contest that kept the crowd in a continuous state of suspense and excitement, the Baltimores won their second game from Boston, 1 to 0. It was a pitchers' battle between the southpaws, Klobedanz and Nops, in which both did splendid work and were magnificently supported.

"Kloby" had the better of the argument up to the eighth inning, for only two Orioles had gotten as far as second base and not one had reached third, while the champions had come within an ace of scoring several times. In the eighth Robinson and McGraw bunched a double and a single after two outs, and by the one run that resulted won the game. The champions worked hard, but could not bunch their hits, and when timely batting was needed they found Nops' left-handed benders a puzzle.

"Kloby" had more speed and better control than in any other game this season. Not a clean hit had been made off him until Robinson's double in the eighth, the three before that being infield "scratches." Of the seven hits on Nops, three were "scratches" and another a bunt.

Poor oysters are less in price than good ones but they do not satisfy. Imitation paint can be bought at any price but it is not satisfactory. The prudent buyers in the East use CHILTON PAINT because they know what the result will be. They know that in CHILTON PAINT they will get a gallon if they pay for a gallon, that they will get a pure Linseed Oil Paint without the disagreeable odor and bad effect of Benzine, and that they will receive an article which, when applied to a dry surface, will last for years. Economy in painting is to get the best paint and then have it applied by the best painter.

TO PERPETUATE DEWEY'S NAME.

Ground Broken For New Hall at Norwich University In Honor of the Admiral.

Northfield, Vt., May 2.—Ground was broken at Norwich university yesterday for the hall which is to be erected in honor of Admiral Dewey and named for him. As it was at this university that the hero of Manila received instructions in his boyhood the citizens of the Green Mountain state came forward with the necessary funds for the structure. Shortly after noon a procession was formed in the public square, headed by the cadets, and made up of a large number of invited guests, trustees and members of the faculty, together with delegations of citizens and visitors, and moved to the site of the new building. President Brown was the last speaker. He paid a glowing tribute to Admiral Dewey, as well as making a pleasing reference to Captain Clark, who commanded the Oregon in the late war. Speaker Haskins of the house spoke for the state of Vermont, and said that no graduate of Norwich university would ever be found giving aid to the enemy of his country. He said that when the hall was finished the cadets would find inspiration in its name and in the deeds of Admiral Dewey, who was brave in war, wise in diplomacy and profound in statesmanship.

Captain Clark was the next speaker, but it was some minutes before the cheers which greeted him died down so that he could make his remarks. He said that the brilliant achievement of Admiral Dewey of a year ago, when he annihilated the Spanish fleet, and the noble purpose for which this assembly gathered on the first anniversary of that glorious day, were alike worthy of eloquent tributes to the great commander. It was the privilege of our great admiral to first wear the blue uniform as a Norwich cadet, and it was his good fortune to receive his first military instruction at this university. Captain Clark then took a shovel and turned the sod, and the exercises closed by the singing of "America."

Later in the day there was a reception in Dodge hall.

BE INDEPENDENT.

You can tell just as well as a physician whether your Kidneys are diseased or healthy. Fill a tumbler with urine and let it stand 24 hours. If it has a sediment, if it is milky or cloudy, discolored or pale, if it is ropy or stringy your Kidneys and Bladder are in a dangerous condition and you do not need a physician to tell you so.

Kidney diseases should be attended to at once, for almost 90 per cent. of our unexpected deaths of today are from that cause. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the only sure cure known for diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder and Blood, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia and Chronic Constipation. It is marvelous how it stops that pain in the back, relieves the necessity of urinating so often at night, drives away that scalding pain in passing water, corrects the bad effects of whiskey and beer, and shows its beneficial effects on the system in an incredibly short time. It is sold by all drug stores at $1 a bottle.

If you would like to test Favorite Remedy free of charge, send your full name and post office address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., and a free trial bottle, together with a pamphlet of valuable medical advice, will be sent you by return mail, postpaid, providing you mention the Quincy Ledger when you write. The publishers of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this liberal offer.

GOLD IN SEA WATER.

No Doubt That It Exists, but It Is Difficult to Obtain.

Jernegan Process Declared to Be a Fake.

Plant of Electrolytic Marine Salts Company Is For Sale at a Discount.

Boston, May 3.—The Herald says that Professor Carmichael, the expert appointed by the committee in charge of the liquidation of the Electrolytic Marine Salts company, has submitted a semi-official report of his experiments.

So far as the Jernegan process is concerned, the professor does not hesitate to say, in substance, that it is a fake. He admits that it is possible to find traces of gold in the accumulator devised by Jernegan, but these traces are so vague as to be hardly worth mentioning, except as a scientific fact. There is so little gold to be found that it would not pay to operate the plant upon that system.

President Arthur B. Ryan, who is now at Lubec, has at last been converted to the idea that the so-called Jernegan process is a failure. He has insisted that his independent investigations assured him that by the Jernegan process it was possible to take gold from sea water at a profit. His conversation comes in the shape of a letter to Chairman Warren, in which he at last admits that he was mistaken.

Proessor Carmichael has been asked to extend his investigations still further, and inform the committee if it is possible to extract gold from sea water by any system at a profit. He is at work on this line at the present time.

While Professor Carmichael is operating, plant No. 1 will not be sold, but plant No. 2, the larger of the two, and by far the more valuable, is now for sale to anyone who will make a reasonable offer. There is a clear title to the place, and over $50,000 has been expended in building wharves and improving property. There are also several houses upon the property. Chairman Warren of the committee appointed to settle up the affairs of the company says that the committee will be able to pay at least another dividend of 10 percent from the funds now in hand, regardless of the amount the works will bring. It would not be surprising if the total of dividends amounted to 35 percent.

Out of a total of 953,000 shares issued, all but 26,000 shares are represented in the agreement under which the committee was appointed. These 26,000 shares represent the holdings of two parties who are now engaged in litigation, and for that reason refused to join with the committee. As a consequence they do not participate in the 20 percent dividend which has been declared.

WEATHER AND CROPS.

Prevailing Conditions During Past Week Have Advanced Season Rapidly.

Boston, May 3.—The following climate and crop bulletin is issued by the United States department of agriculture, New England section, for the week ending Monday:

The week has been characterized by unusual warmth for the season, abundant sunshine and greatly deficient precipitation. Average number of clear days two, partly cloudy three, cloudy two. Although more cloudiness is reported than during the previous week, the clouds have not obscured sunshine to much extent, except on one day.

On four days the temperature has been summer like, registering in the 80's over a large portion of the district. In the northern interior and in parts of western sections the minimum temperatures have ranged between 29 degrees and 32 degrees on several mornings without damaging frosts.

The weekly mean temperature for the district at large is 53 degrees, or 6 degrees above the mean of the previous week.

Some sections of New England have been entirely without precipitation in the past week. In other localities not more than a "trace" has fallen, and the maximum amounts reported are generally less than .25 of an inch. The rainfall occurred mostly during the evening and night of the 25th, principally in the form of thunder storms. In Middlesex and Essex counties of Massachusetts and in southeastern New Hampshire these electrical disturbances were severe.

The prevailing weather conditions have advanced the season rapidly. In northern sections the season is still considerably behind the average, but a general activity will result if the present weather continues. Some snow is yet seen on the hills and in the woods. It has practically disappeared from fields. Reports as to farming operations are variable. On "early" grounds some planting has been accomplished.

In the southern section the week has been ideal for agricultural operations. The plow is being extensively used, and planting potatoes, onions, and various early crops has continued. Nearly all correspondents speak of the need of rain for pastures and planted ground. In the Connecticut river valley bottom lands are flooded.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, May 3.—After a hearing on the Dumond bill to make the present license limitation in Boston 1000 licensed places instead of 1000 licenses, the legislative committee on rules voted unanimously to report in favor of admitting the measure. A four-fifths vote is necessary to effect this. When the bill reached the house the rules were suspended so that it was referred to the license committee.

The house refused to negative the adverse report of the judiciary committee on the bill amending the employers' liability act. A bill on the same line was tabled, and the bill relating to the assumption of risks by employes went over. Mr. Blood of Fitchburg spoke for the bill, which provides that the breaking of any part or equipment of a train or car shall be deemed prima facie evidence of negligence on the part of the corporation owning or managing the road. The bill was substituted for the adverse report.

The bill to revise the charter of the city of Fall River was passed to be engrossed; then the bill limiting the height of building to 100 feet was amended so as to exempt gas holders and was then ordered to a third reading.

A bill which was put in by the gas companies for a consolidation of all Boston gas organizations was favored by the committee on manufactures.

In the Senate Senator George, in speaking on his amendment to the bill to prevent coercion of employes, made a personal arraignment of George A. Litchfield, who, he charged, had special reasons for opposing his (George's) amendment to the bill. The senate sustained Senator George.

The senate passed the resolve for the appointment of a commission to take charge of the state exhibit at the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo. The resolve carries a preliminary appropriation of $5000.

Mind Evidently Unbalanced.

Worcester, Mass., May 3.—Edward E. Nickerson of Springfield committed suicide at the Shirley Shaker settlement by cutting his throat with a razor. Nickerson was born on Cape od about 60 years ago. He was well known as a writer and singer of religious songs. As Captain Nickerson of the Salvation Army, he stirred entire communities a few years ago with song and exhortation. He had set many well-known religious songs to stirring music. His suicide is supposed to have been due to an unbalanced mind. On the door of his room in the building known as the office of the Shakers, he had pinned a note which said: "Dear Elder John: I am going to sleep and may not hear the bell ring for dinner. Please call me. Edward." The shakers entered the room and found him dead.

Home Circle Officers.

Boston, May 3.—The 16th annual session of the grand council, Home Circle, of Massachusetts, opened here yesterday. A substantial increase in the membership of the order was reported. The following officers were elected: Charles P. Battelle, leader; William F. Garcelon, vice leader; Miss L. F. Jones, instructor; William S. Libby, past leader; Frank E. Burbank, secretary; George I. Vincent, treasurer; John W. Savage, guide; Harold W. Estey, warden; William H. Thayer, sentinel; Mrs. Minnie C. Boyson, trustee for three years; Mrs. Lucy J. Abbott, trustee for two years.

Settled Out of Court.

Woonsocket, R. I., May 3.—The litigation between the Joseph Bannigan estate and Mrs. Ann Conley, as defendants, and the United States Rubber company, growing out of bonds of the Woonsocket Rubber company, which guaranteed its bills and accounts receivable when the latter company was absorbed by the plaintiff company, has been settled out of court. The amount involved was about $170,000. It is understood that the settlement means that an assessment of $10 on each $100 share of the $1,700,000 capitalization has been made to raise the $170,000.

Four Crews to Pick From.

Cambridge, Mass., May 3.—Harvard's preliminary rowing season came to an end yesterday with the race between four crews representing the Newell and Weld Boat clubs. The result was a victory for the first Newell crew. The second Weld, first Weld and second Newell crews finished in the order named. As all of the eligible material for this year's university crew was divided among the club crews, the race has an important bearing on the final selection. From the men who rowed yesterday 16 men will be picked.

Boston Breweries Combine.

Boston, May 3.—The Globe says: The combination of 10 Boston breweries has been effected by the New York syndicate, which has been negotiating for the properties for several months. The syndicate will take hold of the management of the respective brewing plants as soon as the stock and bonds can be disposed of and the company organized. It is to be capitalized at $7,500,00. Frederick Alley, of the John R. Alley Brewing company, will be the practical head of the new company in Boston.

"HERO OF CALUMPIT."

Colonel Funston Made a Brigadier General For His Bravery.

Made It Possible For Troops to Cross the River.

Execution of Daring Plans Which Surprised Both Americans and Filipinos.

Washington, May 3.—The president has appointed Colonel Frederick Funston of the Twentieth Kansas volunteers a brigadier general of volunteers. This appointment was recommended by Major General MacArthur and supplemented very strongly by Major General Otis.

The cable message which General Otis sent says: "MacArthur strongly recommends Colonel Funston a promotion to brigadier general for signal skill and gallantry, crossing Rio Grande river, and most gallant services since commencement of war. I urge a promotion. Funston able as leader of men, and has earned recognition."

Probably no man in the Philippines has achieved such enduring fame as the "hero of Calumpit," as Funston has now become generally known.

It was Funston's daring which made the American attack on Calumpit the great success that it was. Calumpit was so well fortified and occupied such a naturally strong position that the Filipinos felt sure the Americans could never capture it.

They felt resigned to losing all the other towns and cities, even Malalos, their headquarters, but at Calumpit they thought they could defy all the forces which could be brought against them. There they dug their best trenches and there they planted the only artillery which they used in the conflict.

In front of the city ran a river, broad and deep—so broad and deep that they never could see how the Americans could cross it after they had destroyed the bridge.

But they failed to understand the resources of the Americans and the individual bravery of the troops. When the division reached the river bank the fertile, daring brain of Colonel Funston began to work, and soon he had evolved a plan to meet the difficulty. This he laid before his superior officers, and having received the desired permission he proceeded to put it into execution.

By and by both Americans and insurgents were surprised to see Funston and his regiment, the Twentieth Kansas, make a dash for a knoll close to the river bank and near the broken bridge. Then he called for two men who were known to be the two best swimmers in the regiment to accompany him, and with a long coil of rope in his hands he dashed down the bank and into the river, followed by his two companions.

The Filipinos from the trenches on the other side opened fire on them, but the Kansans on the bank peppered away at the enemy and covered their companions as well as they could. Funston swam with one hand, while in the other he kept his revolver above the water. In his teeth he grasped the end of the rope.

The other two men swam beside him, ready to assist him if necessary or to take up the work should he be killed. It was a fearful passage, for the rebels soon got the range pretty accurately and the bullets pelted the water like raindrops.

But the three men got safely across, and the moment they landed they made a dash on the nearest rebel trench. The Filipinos were so paralyzed by the very audacity of the feat that they fled in a panic. Then Funston and his men got to work to finish what they had undertaken. The other end of the rope was quickly fastened to a rough raft which Funston's men had constructed earlier in the day, and when this was loaded with men they hauled on the rope and drew the raft across. Several trips were quickly made in this way, and soon the whole regiment was across. The men thus "ferried" at once drove the enemy from the trenches and made it possible for the main body of troops to cross in comparative safety.

Good Afternoon.

The claim that there is less drunkenness under license than no-license is emphatically refuted by the report of Probate Officer Drohan of Brockton; from May 1, 1897, to May 1, 1898, under no-license, the arrests in Brockton numbered 490; and from May 1, 1898, to May 1, 1899, under license they numbered 1626.

The Fire Department was not the only one which overrun its original appropriation in 1898, or expended money before it was appropriated. It was necessary to create a loan of $1000 for water maintenance, and also to use the $170.24 intended for the painting of the standpipe. The garbage account was increased $235; special police, $165, etc.

Those who criticise Capt. Kincaide for strict discipline at Camp Dalton should remember that he was acting largely under orders of superior officers, and was held accountable for the work, conduct and appearance of every member of the company. In those early days the regiment expected to be called into active service, and the officers felt the necessity of thorough training. It was new life for citizens of a free country, and the boys naturally chafed under military rule, but the result was a first class company in a first class regiment. As months went by, and it became apparent that the regiment would not see active service, Col. Whitney relaxed the discipline, so that Camp Meade, and certainly Camp Wetherell, cannot be compared with Camp Dalton.

It was a night for big schemes at the City Council meeting this week. They may be summarized in part as follows:

Annual appropriations,	$446,300.13
Copeland street widening and paving,	(?)
Coddington street widening,	(?)
Water extensions,	30,000.00
Quarry street paving,	10,000.00
Hancock street paving,	13,000.00
Refund of debt,	40,000.00
Grove street regrading,	(?)
School street widening,	(?)
Goddard avenue lay out,	(?)
Federal avenue lay out,	(?)
Howard street widening,	(?)
Abolishing two grade crossings,	(?)
Squantum causeway,	3,000

And it was only at the last meeting that $70,000 was voted for sewer extensions. These together aggregate an expenditure of nearly a million dollars, and do not include all the projects underway, for several are in the hands of committees. Of course it will be necessary to delay some of these improvements. If we get the debt refunded, the Coddington street widening, and boulevard to Houghs Neck this year, most of the others may well wait.

Some change is necessary in determining what streets shall be watered. There is no good reason why some of the much travelled streets should go dusty every year, while the abutters are called upon to pay in taxes half the cost of the street watering for the city. We do not believe residents on thickly settled streets would object to the payment of the whole cost of street watering by assessment, if it is done systematically and economically by the city, at a cost of but four or five cents per front foot. This is but $2 to $2.50 per year on a fifty foot lot. Such being the fact the City Council should upon petition water any and every street of the city.

As a step in this direction the city might this year assess 75 per cent of the cost on abutters. This would allow considerable extension of the mileage, as on the same payment of $2200 by the city, twice as many miles could be watered, while the assessment on abutters would be 3.3 cents per front foot.

Many of the streets now travelled by the street railway are not included in the street watering order, but could be if the revenue was increased by assessing 75 per cent. Further, there is no good reason why only half of such streets as Chestnut and Coddington streets should be watered, and Canal street needs sprinkling as much as Elm.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ "I cannot think that all war is wrong. If I did, I should not want to look upon a Bunker Hill monument, for it would be a monument to our shame. I should never want to speak the word Gettysburg, for my lips would blister and my cheeks would blush. I would want to bury in the grave of oblivion forever the names of Washington and Grant!"—Lyman Abbott.

☞ George Fred is willing to offer "his talents, property, devotion, and if need be, his life." Artemas Ward went him one better and offered all his wife's relations. — Newburyport News.

☞ A Michigan man has invented a new freak in liquor legislation. He proposes a tax or license fee of $5 a year on drinkers, and the tippler must show his license before he can get a drink. Presumptively having shown that he is duly qualified, he may get "as full as a tick" or "as drunk as a king," or arrive at any popular and well-known stage of inebriation.—Waltham Free Press.

☞ While we do not approve of long-distance bicycle races, it is a matter of interest to all who are desirous of temperance reform, that in the six-day bicycle race in New York, a short time ago, the man who won the race and came out in good condition, was a total abstainer from tobacco and intoxicants.—Beverly Times.

☞ The habit of putting all one's spare money into one's stomach is one that grows amazingly if it is not watched, especially among people of not to great mental development. If parents will watch their children, and grown people will watch themselves, much idle drinking that is at its best but a wasteful habit and an undesirable self-indulgence, and that may lead to something worse, will be done away with.— New Bedford Standard.

☞ Only a limited number of people are concerned in regard to the disposition of the inheritance tax measure. The man who has no anticipation of a legacy would cheerfully agree to tax if the inheritance came unexpectedly his way.—Brockton Times.

☞ The rise in the price of copper is beyond all reason. It is having its natural effect. Thousands of workingmen in England are being thrown out of employment because it does not pay to use 20-cent copper in industries in which it has been freely employed hitherto. It costs 7 cent a pound to produce copper and the production will continue to be as large as it is now until the price goes back nearly or quite to 11 or 12 cents, as it was up to a year ago.— Hartford Times.

☞ Senator Hoar's rest in Europe may do him good. The venerable and able gentleman was rapidly getting into a frame of mind that would soon have made it impossible for him to have done even simple justice to the United States. The senator is one of the victims of that strange disease, Aguinoldoism.— Brockton Enterprise.

☞ Municipal township of franchises promises to be a prominent feature in Ohio gubernatorial campaign. Mayor Jones of Toledo, who recently declared that he had no aspirations for the governorship, now announces himself a candidate and, if nominated, will make his campaign largely on municipal issues. In this way something of a plebiscite may be gained on a question which threatens to become very important in all the cities of the country within a very short time, as it has already become important in some. —Philadelphia Ledger.

☞ It requires something more than mere northern condemnation of lynch law in the south to root out that barbaric abomination. Nothing short of the power of the federal government seems equal to this work, and that should be applied. A state or community that is not able to see that law and order are maintained is not a safe custodian of public safety.—Brockton Times.

ADAMS CHAPTER.

Pleasing Programme at the May Meeting Yesterday.

Mrs. Mary F. Lawton, Mrs. Warren Parker, Miss Mary L. Hinkley and Miss Simmons were the hostesses at the May meeting of Adams Chapter on Tuesday afternoon at the John Adams birthplace.

A pleasing program was given after the short business meeting consisting of a paper on "Early Meeting Houses," by Rev. Edgar Watson Preble; singing by Miss Lulu Phelan of Wollaston and readings by Miss Christina Mitchell of Quincy avenue.

Mr. Preble's paper was very interesting, treating of the manners and customs of the churches of ye olden times, beginning with the little rude structure at Plymouth and mentioning those of Quincy, Salem, Boston, and some in Connecticut. The paper was much enjoyed.

The solo by Miss Lulu Phelan was very well sung and showed careful study and appreciation of music.

Miss Christina Mitchell read "The Rising of '76" by T. B. Read and read it well. Miss Mitchell won the prize for declamation at the prize speaking contest at the Quincy High school last year by her rendering of this piece and she certainly deserved it if we may judge by her reading on Tuesday.

There were a great many guests present who enjoyed going over the old house.

The hostesses served sandwiches, cake, crackers, tea and delicious lemonade.

This is the last regular meeting in the old house until next fall. Next week Thursday a reception is to be given Mrs. Roger Wolcott by Adams Chapter, admission being by card upon invitation only. Members of the Boys' brigade of South Braintree are to be on duty at the doors. The Cecelia Ladies' orchestra of Boston is to render music throughout the reception and it will be a very delightful affair. It is hoped the governor will be able to accompany Mrs. Wolcott.

The June meeting of the Chapter is to be held at Randolph with Mrs. William Porter, the hostesses being the Randolph members.

Route of Boulevard.

Editor of Ledger:

Of all the talk which is made about the boulevard, very few people seem to know where it is to be located. Some think it is going through Wollaston; others that it is to follow the sewer to Butler Road, then follow Butler Road across Hancock street to West Quincy.

This last must certainly be the most desirable way, as Newcomb street could then be continued across Greenleaf street, along the shores of Butler Pond and meet the boulevard at Butler Road.

This would give a closer connection to the boulevard to the park for people living on Coddington and Washington streets. E. C. M.

Sues for $10,000.

The case of James L. McGibbon vs. Quincy & Boston Street Railway Company is on trial in the Superior court at Dedham. Plaintiff was a passenger, August 18, 1898, on one of the cars of the defendant company and was knocked from the running board, he claims, owing to the negligence of the company's servants. Action is brought to recover $10,000 damages.

Yale Boys Celebrated.

New Haven, May 2.—The Yale students celebrated Dewey day in a manner that recalled the noisy demonstrations of a year ago, just prior to the formation of the Yale battery. The procession which paraded the campus and adjoining street was perhaps the largest for years, and for noise and enthusiasm has seldom been equalled. Red fire was burned in plenty and a big bonfire was started on the campus, around which a crowd of 800 Yale students danced and sang to the end of the demonstration.

Open For Navigation.

The Weirs, N. H., May 2.—With the exception of a few coves and bays, the ice is entirely clear from Lake Winnipisseogee and Lake Paugus, the break-up coming yesterday on Winnipisseogee, and 24 hours earlier on Lake Paugus. The average date for a period covering 27 years is about May 1.

THE VERY LAST STEP

Taken In Negotiations Incident to the Recent War With Spain.

Cambon Handed the $20,000,000 For the Philippines.

Our Late Enemy Gets a Big Premium Through a Deal With a Spanish Bank.

Washington, May 2.—Jules Cambon, ambassador extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of France, strolled alone into the state department yesterday afternoon, and was handed the $20,000,000 which the Unuited States gives to Spain in return for the latter's claim on the Philippine islands.

No extra precaution was taken to guard the transfer of such a large amount. Secretary Hay received the ambassador in the diplomatic room, where the transfer took place with little formality.

The ambassador handed the secretary a formal receipt, which had been already prepared, and it was handed by Secretary Hay to Frank A. Brannagan, the disbursing officer of the department of state, to be filed away. One copy was given to M. Cambon, another will be sent to United States Minister Storer, a third goes to the United States minister at Paris, Mr. Porter, and a fourth copy to the auditor of the treasury.

But it was neither in shining gold or crisp greenbacks that the transfer was made. Four drafts on the United States treasury in the sum of $5,000,000 each had been prepared, of Jeffersonian simplicity in design and execution—brown ink on slips of paper about the size of a bank note, and numbered as "diplomatic warrants 4509-4512," inclusive. They were signed by Assistant Secretary Vanderlip, in the absence of Secretary Gage, with a plain steel pen in a rubber holder.

After receiving the $20,000,000, M. Cambon folded the four warrants and put them in his card case. He and Secretary Hay chatted over the speedy restoration of diplomatic relations between the United States and Spain, for this marked the very last step of the war negogtiations.

Mr. Hay desired to know when the Duke d'Arcos would arrive in Washington. M. Cambon said he thought the Spanish minister would come in about two or three weeks, but he was not certain of this, and he said this should be left largely to the duke's personal convenience.

A cable notification was sent to Madrid concerning the payment, and preparations made for having the warrants paid and the funds forwarded. This, however, will not be done today, and the four warrants remain for the time being in Washington. The money will be deposited in the City National bank of New York for the ambassador.

Spain will realize considerably more than the face value of these warrants, by a deal in which the Bank of Spain agrees to give 115,750,000 pesetas for the four drafts, this representing a premium of $2,166,303. The Bank of Spain, however, undoubtedly reckons to pay Spain in silver or credit for American drafts, which call for and are worth their face value in gold. This makes the premium still higher.

Lives Sacrificed In War.

Washington, May 2.—A memorandum has been prepared at the war department comparing the losses in the Spanish war with the first year of the Civil war. The aggregate strength of troops employed during the war with Spain was approximately 275,000, covering the period from May, 1898, to April 1899, inclusive. During this time the deaths from all causes was 6190, or 2¼ percent. The mean strength for the first year of the Civil war was 276,371, with an aggregate loss by deaths of 19,159, being a percentage of 6.8.

A Westerner Wanted.

Washington, May 2.—Representative Dolliver of Iowa, who is pushing General Henderson for speaker of the house of representatives to succeed Mr. Reed, says that Mr. Sherman of New York, in his opinion, will win unless the western congressmen unite on a candidate, and that when he reaches Chicago shortly he will suggest to other candidates that the western men enter into an agreement to vote for the western speakership candidate receiving the highest number of votes on the first ballot.

Conclusions Kept Secret.

Atlantic City, May 2.—The finance committee appointed by the Republican caucus of the house of representatives to recommend financial legislation to the next congress, after two weeks' work, completed its deliberations yesterday. Unanimous conclusion was reached upon the legislation to be recommended, but its nature was not disclosed. The views of the committee will not be made public until after a joint session with the senate committee on finance. The next meeting of the comnitee will be held at the call of the chair.

No Serious Fighting.

Apia, April 22, via Auckland, May 2.—The rebels, since advices under date of April 18, have retired from their fortifications at Naillima, which they demolished, together with other forts along the coast. There has been no further serious fighting, although some skirmishes between the rebels and friendly natives has occurred in the vicinity of Apia. The British armed sloop Torch has arrived with ammunition from Sydney, N. S. W.

Peanut Trust Next.

New York, May 2.—A consolidation of the peanut industry of the country, under the control of a single company with a capital of $5,000,000, is about to take place. The value of the peanut crop of the United States annually is estimated at between $6,000,000 to $9,000,000. One of the plans is to increase the product and export part of it. The peanut crop of the United States is raised almost entirely in Virginia and North Carolina.

New Time Table.

The new street railway timetable which went ino effect Monday on the Neponset line, gives practically ten minute service. Wollaston gets three cars an hour each way and Hancock street three cars an hour, while Norfolk Downs gets hourly service. The cars from Holbrook now run through to Neponset without change and passengers on these cars ride between Neponset and the junction of Quincy avenue and Hancock street for one fare. By the new timetable the last car from Neponset for Quincy leaves at 11.35 P. M., five minutes later than the winte schedule. In brief, cars that leave Quincy at 15, 30 and 45, minutes past the hour, go via. Wollaston; those that leave 10 and 40 minutes past, via. Hancock street; and those on the even hour, via. Norfolk Downs. Returning, cars that leave Neponset at 10 minutes of and 5 and 35 past, go via. Wollaston; those at 5 of and 25 past, via. Hancock street, through to Holbrook; and at 20 minutes past via. Norfolk Downs. The full timetable will be published tomorrow.

TAKEN OUT OF MAILS.

Anti-Imperialist Literature Cannot Be Sent to the Philippines.

No Objection to Circulation In This Country.

Considered a Movement to Induce Soldiers to Embarrass the Government.

Washington, May 3.—The postmaster general has directed the postmaster at San Francisco to take out of the mails for Manila three pamphlets issued by Edward Atkinson of Boston, vice president of the Anti-Imperialistic league. This order does not apply to the circulation of the pamphlets by mail in this country, but bars their dispatch from this country to the Philippines, discontent and even mutiny among the soldiers being stated by the department to be the design of these publications. The three pamphlets are specifically described, and under no circumstances are they to be forwarded by mail to the Philippines.

The three pamphlets, copies of which have been prohibited in the mails for the Philippines, are those which have the following titles: "Criminal Aggression by Whom?" "The Cost of a National Crime" and "The Hell of War and Its Penalties." These, unless something should develop to necessitate further action, may be circulated through the mails within this country. According to Mr. Atkinson's own statement a large number of pamphlets have been sent out.

The matter was brought to the attention of the postal officials by the war department, whose authorities were greatly exercised, with a suggesion that some action be taken. It is thought that there is little possibility of any of these publications getting past the San Francisco office, but if a few should the military authorities in the Philippines will promptly suppress them.

Postmaster General Smith made this statement: "These pamphlets actually incite to mutiny and it would be utterly unjustifiable to permit their circulation among the soldiers in the Philippines. Their circulation is a movement to induce the soldiers to disobey orders, and in effect to embarrass and resist the government in whose service they are engaged. Their circulation, except in the mails for the Philippines, is not interfered with, because, in being sent to Manila, they are destined for soldiers fighting our battles, but in this country the effort to incite to mutiny could have no result. Not only are they designed to incite to mutiny the American soldiers in those islands, but also to foment and encourage insurrection on the part of the Filipinos themselves. Such seditious literature as that now estopped might have an effect on the forces we now are dealing with that would be incalculably to their advantage and certainly would tend to stimulate and strengthen their already weakening opposition. The law covering the case is ample. What action might be taken—and the offense is of the gravest character—is not to be discussed. I do not believe there is any intention to prosecute Mr. Atkinson as the matter now stands. The authority to do so, however, is plain. He not only attacks the president and the government in the most violent language and disputes the national policy, but also calls on the American troops to defy the government. Certainly this government is empowered to stop or check, as it sees fit, the circulation of these seditious publications."

The attorney general was asked whether the disseminators of the offensive literature would be punished. He answered that it would be perfectly lawful to punish them under section 5334 of the revised statutes, which provides imprisonment for 10 years, a fine of $10,000 and debarment from holding any federal office for "every person who incites, sets on foot, assists or engages in any rebellion or insurrection against the authority of the United States or the laws thereof or gives aid or comfort thereto."

"Do you intend to apply all these penalties to Mr. Winslow, Mr. Atkinson and the other gentlemen engaged in the propaganda?" he was asked.

"No," he replied, "they have actually done no harm, and we are not disposed to magnify their importance if now that they have discovered that they are breaking the laws of their country they leave off and conduct themselves reasonably. They have acted like a parcel of children and we shall be merciful as we are to children in such circumstances."

Twenty Rounds to a Draw.

New York, May 3.—Peter Maher, the Irish champion heavyweight pugilist, fought his longest and best battle in a roped arena when he met Gus Ruhlin, the "Akron giant," before the Lenox Athletic club last night. The men met for a 20-round contest, Maher being the lighter of the two. Six thousand persons witnessed the bout. Maher was the odds on favorite at 100 to 60. The referee decided the bout a draw at the end of the 20th round.

Barnet Was Poisoned.

New York, May 3.—Professor Witthaus has completed his analysis of the viscera of the body of H. C. Barnet, and has reported to the district attorney's office that he found a large quantity of cyanide of mercury in the body. His official report has not been submitted. Professor Witthaus merely gives this statement as the result of his investigations. District Attorney Gardner, at the inquest into the death of Mrs. Adams, connected Molineux with Barnet's death.

GUY'S COLISEUM, QUINCY.

A Certain Quincy Young Man.

A certain Quincy young man was not a very welcome visitor at the home of one of our young damsels, but he hadn't caught onto the fact. He had noticed, however, that of late, whenever he called the young lady always happened to be out. He called last Sunday afternoon and the same good natured girl came to the door and reported her "out." As he descended the steps he happened to turn around, and just then a curtain that had been down, suddenly thought it was time for "spring" to get in its work, and spring it did. As the curtain suddenly rolled way up to the top of the window, he saw the young lady try to dodge out of sight. He hastily ran up the steps, and as she came to the door he angrily remarked, "Well, I've found you out at last." "It looks more as if you had found me in," she sweetly replied.

You can never tell what's in a house by looking from the outside. You can't even get a good idea of what's in our house by looking at the windows, for we wouldn't have windows enough to show all the good things we've got, if we had 'em clear round the block

We're never out of good things. We're showing just now one of the greatest lines of Men's new up-to-date Suits that we ever had together. We're showing swell Stripes, Checks and Blue Serges in all wool suits, self-faced, well tailored, cut to fit, made of goods that will wear, finished thoroughly inside and out, for $7.50, $8.50, $10.00, that even Quincy's cheap store has never been able to equal before at the prices.

ORIOLES WENT TO PIECES.

Bostons Won a Game Which Was Warmly Contested For Eight Innings.

Baltimore, May 3.—With Nichols in the box, the champions had little trouble defeating McGraw's Orioles. For eight innings, however, the game was warmly contested. In he ninth the Orioles went to pieces and allowed the visitors four runs without a base hit. Miller pitched a much better game than the score shows, a number of the hits off him being "scratches." The Orioles did not support him with the brilliancy they had previously shown. Several balls to the outfield fell safe because the wrong fielder attempted to reach them.

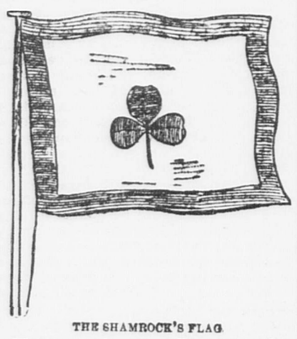
Launching Next Month.

London, May 3.—The Times announces that it is not probable that the Shamrock, challenger for the America's cup, will be launched before the first of next month. At that time her mast will be put into place, and she will be towed to Cowes to complete her outfit, sailing thence to New York.



THE SHAMROCK'S FLAG

There will be no difficulty in distinguishing the Shamrock from the Columbia. From the masthead of the Irish champion will fly a flag in the center of which will be a sprig of green shamrock on a background of gold. The border of the flag will be a dark, rich green.

Lively Row at Buffalo.

Buffalo, May 3.—A fight, the result of a quarrel between a boss scooper and one of his men, began on the docks yesterday at Main and Ohio streets. A general fight followed, during which George Skinner, said by the police to be a Canal street idler, opened an indiscriminate fire with a revolver. William Kennedy was shot in the groin and seriously wounded, and James Hennessy was struck on the thumb, the ball grazing his abdomen. Kennedy and Hennessy were removed to the hospital. Skinner fired five shots before he was arrested, and, with 20 others, was taken to the station house. Great excitement prevailed for a time, but all is quiet now.

Battaglia Loses His Suit.

New York, May 3.—James J. Corbett appeared in court yesterday as defendant in a suit brought by Orlando Battaglia to recover $2000 damages for an alleged assault. The difficulty occurred on Jan. 3, 1897, when Corbett was with the play "The Naval Cadet." Battaglia was a member of the company. Battaglia says that Corbett struck him a violent blow on the side and that three of his ribs were fractured. The jury rendered a verdict in favor of Corbett.

secretary; Harriet T. Upton, treasurer; Carrie C. Catt, chairman of committee on organization; Laura Clay and Catherine W. Taylor, auditors. The resolutions adopted protest against the word "male" in the suffrage clause proposed for the Hawaiian constitution; recommend a commission of women to investigate the conditions in our island colonies; congratulate the women of Kansas on their increased vote; thank the legislature of Oregon for submitting a suffrage amendment, and rejoice in the approaching peace congress.

A colored woman from Michigan offered a resolution demanding that colored women in the south be permitted to ride in the same cars with white women. Laura Clay of Kentucky warmly attacked the resolution as an insult to southern white women. After a warm debate the resolution was thrown out, as tending to create factional feeling.

TURNOVER AT BALTIMORE.

Democrats Carry Municipal Election by Overwhelming Majorities.

Baltimore, May 3.—One of the most exciting campaigns in the history of Baltimore city resulted in a Democratic landslide. Thomas G. Hayes was elected mayor by nearly 9000 majority over William T. Malster, Republican, the incumbent, while his running mates, Skipwith Wilmer, for president of the second branch of the city council, and James H. Smith, for comptroller, were chosen by practically the same figures. In addition to these candidates at large, the Democrats elected all of their candidates for the second branch of the city council, and 18 of the 24 members of the first branch. The election was the first under the charter for Baltimore city adopted by the legislature last year. Under its provisions, the municipal elections are held in May so as to divorce municipal politics from state and national issues. It also changes the term of the mayor from two to four years.

There are several theories advanced by the Republican leaders and others to account for the surprising result of the contest, but the one most generally accepted is that those Republicans who do not indorse the Malster administration, instead of staying away from the polls, voted the straight Democratic ticket. The city is wild with excitement, but good feeling prevails.

Latest From Manila.

Manila, May 3.—The second conference, held this morning between Major General Otis and the Filipino emissaries, Colonel Manuel Arguelles and Lieutenant Jose Bernal, terminated without any definite results.

General Lawton's column, passing westward from Norzagaray, captured Balinag and villages in that vicinity on Monday, scattering and pursuing 1600 insurgent troops. His only casualties were two wounded. The insurgents' loss was several killed. A large number were wounded and captured. General Otis has opened up communication with Lawton via Malolos by means of Hale's troops and detachments from the city.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

The torpedo boat Somers, which has just arrived in New York from England, will not be put in commission at present.

Wilfred McGowan, aged 25, a log driver, was drowned while breaking a log jam at Colebrook, N. H.

Juan Fraga, a well-known Cuban and a prominent member of the revolutionary party, died at New York from a complication of diseases. He was 64 years old. He was president of the Council of Cuban clubs in the state of New York.

Billy Dwyer, otherwise known as "young Sharkey," knocked out Faddy O'Brien at Ithaca, N. Y., in the second round with a terrific left-hand blow on the point of the jaw.

The residents of Windham, Vt., celebrated the 101st birthday of Gardner Upham at that place. Mr. Upham is the oldest citizen of Vermont, and is remarkably active for his advanced age.

The Buffalo woolen mills at Worthington, Pa., were destroyed by fire. Loss, $60,000 to $100,000.

The town of Grafton, Mass., voted not to accept the legislative act which empowered the town to borrow $45,000 for school extension. The vote stood: No, 143; yes, 83.

Fifteen thousand textile workmen at Brunn, capital of Moravia, went on strike for a reduction in hours of labor.

Rev. Alex B. Carver, D. D., pastor of St. John's Episcopal church at Yonkers, N. Y., died in that city. He was 43 years old. Blood poisoning caused death.

The sealing steamer Nimrod arrived at St. John's from the gulf of St. Lawrence with 9000 seals. The Walrus is the only vessel of the sealing fleet that now remains out.

The coasting schooner Margaret was crushed in the ice off St. John's and it is feared that her crew of four men, all brothers, perished.

The Swiss government has instituted a movement for an elaborate celebration at Berne on July 1, 1900, of the 25th anniversary of the founding of the universal postal union. It has invited this government to be represented as a delegate.

Eagle Mill to Start Up.

North Adams, Mass., May 3.—It is announced that the Eagle cotton mill will resume operations shortly, and give employment to upwards of 200 hands. It was undecided until within a few days whether to sell the machinery of the mill to North Carolina parties, who made a liberal offer. New machinery, costing $20,000, was added to the mill two years ago. The mill is connected with the Windsor print works, which will enlarge this season.

Lightning and Hail.

Worcester, Mass., May 3.—Electric storms, accompanied by hail, passed over the northeast and west part of Worcester county yesterday, though this city escaped. Lightning struck a church at Gardner, but did little damage. Hailstones as large as marbles descended at West Boylston and Westboro, doing quite an amount of damage to the roads of the former town.

Mrs. Malley's Body Found.

Lynn, Mass., May 3.—The body of Mrs. Katherine Malley, who disappeared from her home early on the morning of April 21, was found in a creek on the marshes between this city and Revere yesterday by a number of workmen engaged on the state highway. Mrs. Malley had been under medical treatment for some time before her disappearance.

President C'ark at Detroit.

Detroit, May 3.—Rev. Francis E. Clark addressed a large audience of the Christian young people of Detroit last evening. The purpose of the rally was to set the pace for the international convention preparations now going on here. Dr. Clark said that all reports indicated a large attendance.

Satisfaction Demanded.

London, May 3.—The Pekin correspondent of The Times says: Great Britain has officially demanded of the Chinese government satisfaction for the recent attacks made by the rebels upon the British authorities in the Kau-Lung extension of Hong Kong.

DRINK GRAIN-O

after you have concluded that you ought not to drink coffee. It is not a medicine but doctors order it, because it is healthful, invigorating and appetizing. It is made from pure grains and has that rich seal brown color and tastes like the finest grades of coffee and costs about 1-4 as much. Children like it and thrive on it because it is a genuine food drink containing nothing but nourishment. Ask your grocer for Grain-O, the new food drink. 15 and 25c.

Packages Containing Poison For a Family at Pontoosuc.

An Arrest Made In Connection With the Case.

Accused Man Induced Alleged Intended Victim to Leave Her Husband.

North Adams, Mass., May 4.—Guiseppe Ranieri, aged 40, was arrested last evening at Pontoosuc, a suburb of Pittsfield, charged with attempting to poison Francesso De Sabato. It is alleged that poison was sent through the mails. De Sabato has been receiving letters for some time, containing packages of suspicious powder, and upon receiving the last one, on Monday of this week, he took it to the police officials.

The police found the letter was written with red ink, and intended for De Sabato's wife, as the others were, though addressed to the head of the family. One letter was registered and contained three packages of powder, with instructions to the woman to put one of the powders in her husband's coffee, another under the pillow of her son when asleep, and a third under the door of a house occupied by a woman closely connected with the family, whose name is withheld. The letter also contained other important matters which the police will not disclose.

All the letters were dated New York city, but postmarked Pontoosuc. The police at once had one of the powders examined, and traces of arsenic were found. The powders were then placed in the hands of a chemist, who is now carefully examining them. The police soon got to work on the case, with the result that Ranieri was placed under arrest.

Ranieri was once the neighbor of De Sabato, and it is alleged he induced De Sabato's wife to leave her husband and live with him, and that her son went to Pontoosuc and induced his mother to return home. But little is known of the parties, who remain silent regarding the affair, which has created considerable excitement since the news of the alleged attempted poisoning became known.

CUT HIS THROAT.

Joseph Best Notified His Wife and a Minister of His Rash Intention.

Providence, May 4.—Joseph Best of Attleboro, Mass., was found dead in his room at the City hotel yesterday. He had partially removed his clothing, and apparently stretched out on the floor, held his head over a large basin, cut his throat on the left side and allowed the blood to drop into the basin until he was exhausted. The act was committed with a small penknife. Two bodies containing laudanum were also found near the body, and it is believed that he drank a part of their contents.

Best left his home in Attleboro Tuesday morning, telling his wife he intended to go to Pawtucket on business. That afternoon both she and Rev. J. R. Byron of Attleboro received letters from Best, posted at Pawtucket at noon, announcing that he intended to kill himself. The minister and Mrs. Best set out to search for the man, and Tuesday morning looked through Pawtucket, accompanied by a city detective, without finding a trace of the missing man. Best was at that time at the City hotel in this city.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, May 4.—One of the first things done by the house yesterday was to suspend the rules and pass to a third reading the new Dumond bill, limiting the number of "licensed places" in Boston to 1000. The liquor law committee had a brief meeting on it before hand, but decided that the new bill was merely a perfecting amendment to the original act, and that no hearing on it was necessary. So the bill was promptly reported to the house.

Reference to the next general court was reported on the petition of the Fitchburg and Suburban Street Railway company for leave to extend its tracks and to act as a common carrier.

The committee on ways and means reported appropriation bills, one of $10,000 to provide for the employment of prisoners in the penal institutions of the state; another of $10,000 for use in the industries at the state farm; and one appropriating $28,500 for the salaries and office expenses of the state highway commission.

Reconsideration was voted on the bill to add two members to the fish and game commission. The bill was ordered to a third reading.

The bill for the transportation of bicycles as baggage was substituted for an adverse report by one vote, the result being 76 yeas and 75 nays.

The bill providing that when a judge sets aside a verdict in a civil suit for damages he shall state specifically his decision in writing, and that a second trial in such a case shall be solely on the question of damages, was referred to the next general court.

A bill to repeal last year's act as to plotting and laying out streets in Boston was adversely reported in the senate. Several other bills in relation to laying out highways in Boston were adversely reported. Reconsideration of the engrossment of the wide-tires bill was moved, on the ground that it had not been fully debated. The motion prevailed and the bill was tabled.

The bill for vestibuled electric cars, with an amendment that it shall not take effect until Oct. 1, 1900, and that it shall not apply to cars on elevated structures nor to places with more than 100,000 inhabitants, was engrossed, 14 to 6.

A bill relative to licensing engineers was rejected without debate.

Keough Pleads Not Guilty.

Springfield, Mass., May 4.—The report of the grand jury yesterday was especially interesting by the finding of six bills against James C. Keough of Holyoke, a former tax collector of that city. Each indictment covers a period of six months, and the six indictments cover Keough's term of office of three years. After the jury had reported Keough was called. He entered the dock. He was not represented by counsel at the time, so he said that he would waive the reading of the document and enter a plea of not guilty. He offered his previous sureties, which were accepted, and he returned to his seat among the spectators. No time is fixed for the trial.

Pulp "Cooker" Exploded.

Benton, Me., May 4.—Two men were killed and several injured by an explosion of a cooker at the Kennebec fibre pulp mill at Benton Falls. The plant was partially demolished. The cooker, or digester, was 25 eet long, and weighed 40 tons. At the time of the explosion there was 50 pounds of steam inside. The head was blown out of the digester. Charles Skillin, aged 52, and James Noseworthy, aged 22, were standing in line of the cooker head and were driven bodily into machinery near by, while the contents of the cooker steamed them to death. Two horses, which were hitched inside the building, were blown out of the harness and through a door 10 feet away.

New Hampshire Religion.

Concord, N. H., May 4.—The trustees of the New Hampshire Home Missionary society have authorized Field Secretary Hillman to make a thorough canvass to ascertain the religious condition of the state and incorporate the same in his regular report to the society at its annual meeting in September next. The object is to discover the facts concerning the basis of Governor Rollins' Fast day proclamation. Mr. Hillman will make comparisons in the statistics from the year 1850 to the present time.

Not Going to Europe.

Boston, May 4.—The Massachusetts nautical training ship Enterprise will not go to Europe this year with the cadets, but will confine her cruising to American waters, from Norfolk to Bar Harbor, and perhaps to Halifax. While in the south she will visit Annapolis, when the cadets will have an opportunity of seeing the drills at the naval academy. The Enterprise will probably be ready for her cruise in June.

N. E. O. P. Officials.

Manchester, N. H., May 4.—The grand lodge of the New England Order of Protection met in this city yesterday. The following named officers were chosen for the ensuing term: Warden, Charles W. Bailey, Manchester; vice warden, Frank Whipple, New Boston; secretary, A. W. Russell, Lakeport; treasurer, Lucretia Bailey, Manchester; chaplain, Mrs. Mary Smith, Lakeport; past grand warden, A. G. Allen, Derry.

Humor and Sarcasm.

Hingham, Mass., May 4.—Secretary of the Navy Long was asked for an expression of opinion in regard to the exclusion of Edward Atkinson's pamphlets from mails destined for the Philippines. The secretary replied: "The administration would no more think of interfering with the personal liberty of Edward Atkinson than that of Daniel Pratt, the 'Great American Traveler,' if he were still alive."

Under Military Rule.

Boise, Ida., May 4.—Governor Steunenberg has issued a proclamation declaring Shoshone county in a state of insurrection. This will result in placing the government of the county, so far as may be necessary, under military rule.

Reform Needed.

Washington, May 4.—The industrial commission resumed its public hearings here. The first witness was Florence Kelley, for four years chief factory inspector of Illinois. Her statement dealt particularly with sweat shops in Chicago. Of the 200,000 factory workers in Illinois, she said, 150,000 were in Cook county. Practically all the ready-made clothing and much of the so-called merchant tailor work of the city were sweat-shop work pure and simple. The conditions surrounding the workers were unsanitary and harmful in a marked degree. Child labor, she said, was also used in direct defiance of the 14-year age limit in force in the state. Many of these little ones, she declared, worked for the first year for nothing with the promise of $1 a week at the end of that time and ultimately, perhaps, $3 or $4 per week, when they had reached the top of the ladder in their line.

BATTLE OF PITCHERS.

McGinnity Had Best of the Argument, but His Support Was Poor.

Baltimore, May 4.—The youngsters, McGinnity and Hickman, had a splendid battle of skill in the pitcher's box in the last game of the series here. That Boston finally defeated Baltimore 4 to 3 was in no sense the fault of McGinnity, whose work was a shade better than his opponent's. That Hickman won was the result of just a trifle better support than McGinnity received.

Two of Boston's four runs directly resulted from the two errors of Magoon. But for these Boston would have made but three hits, one of which was a scratch. McGinnity did not give a base on balls, although he hit one man, while Hickman gave three, two of which resulted in runs. Except for the Orioles' errors the fielding of both teams was sharp and fast.

Pure Food Is Scarce.

Chicago, May 4.—According to Dr. H. W. Wiley, chief chemist of the United States department of agriculture, who was called to the stand yesterday to testify before the senatorial pure food investigating committee, now in session here, fully 90 percent of the articles of food and drink manufactured and used in this country are frauds. All kinds of dairy products, he said, as well as nearly every variety of condiments, including even coffee in the berry, were adulterated.

Bandits Laid Out.

Santiago, May 4.—At Mayari, in this province, an attempt was made by four outlaws to rescue the bandit chief, Miguel Gonzales, and five other bandits who were in the custody of the rural guards. The sentinel who detected the attempt fired, wounding one of the outlaws. The guards rushed to the assistance of the sentry and a sharp fight ensued, all the would-be rescuers being killed. Two of the guards were wounded.

Announcement Was Premature.

Paris, May 4.—A semi-official note declares that the alleged signing of an agreement by which Siam was said to have ceded to France the province of Luang-Prabang, in the northeastern part of the kingdom of Siam, is unfounded. Although communications have been passing between the two governments with a view to the removal of all friction, no agreement whatever has been reached.

Includes New Possessions.

Washington, May 4.—Acting Secretary of War Meiklejohn makes the announcement that the capitation tax imposed by the laws and regulations issued by the treasury department Aug. 18, 1898, and which tax is imposed at all ports of entry upon immigrants coming to the United States, equally applies to all immigrants applying for entry at the ports of Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines.

A Certain Quincy Young Man.

A certain Quincy young man was not a very welcome visitor at the home of one of our young damsels, but he hadn't caught onto the fact. He had noticed, however, that of late, whenever he called the young lady always happened to be out. He called last Sunday afternoon and the same good natured girl came to the door and reported her "out." As he descended the steps he happened to turn around, and just then a curtain that had been down, suddenly thought it was time for "spring" to get in its work, and spring it did. As the curtain suddenly rolled way up to the top of the window, he saw the young lady try to dodge out of sight. He hastily ran up the steps, and as she came to the door he angrily remarked, "Well, I've found you out at last." "It looks more as if you had found me in," she sweetly replied.

You can never tell what's in a house by looking from the outside. You can't even get a good idea of what's in our house by looking at the windows, for we wouldn't have windows enough to show all the good things we've got, if we had 'em clear round the block

Good Afternoon.

The argument that it would be better for our streets that the water extensions and connections, as well as the sewer connections should be made by the Commissioner of Public Works, does not seem to be verified by facts. Last week a sewer connection was made at a house on Chestnut street and the trench is not wholly filled in, but today a water pipe is being laid within ten feet of it to the same house, and the street is again dug up. Aside from the inconvenience to travel, it is detrimental to our streets, especially when the openings are unnecessary.

The civil service law in Massachusetts has been severely criticised of late, and characterized as a farce and an injury to public service. Its defenders say that the law is all right, but that its administration is at fault. The task of the new member is a difficult one, and not an enviable one, for unless there is a change the entire commission may be abolished. We, however, agree with the leading editorial of the Herald today, under the caption of "A good appointment," which reads:

"Ex-Mayor Charles H. Porter of Quincy, whom the Governor has appointed as civil service commissioner to take the place of Mr. Arthur Lord of Plymouth, is a gentleman who has had a considerable experience in public life, is a man of sound judgment and one whose convictions and steadfastness of resolution can be depended upon by the public. These are days in which the civil service of the state needs to have those around it who are prepared to defend it, and the fact that Mr. Porter is an old soldier, while at the same time a believer in efficient government, is not at all to his disadvantage."

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Hobson has a rival—nay two rivals—in the kissing mania. They do not even hail from the land of the Almighty Dollar, but reside in the quiet little town of Hungerford, Berkshire. Every Hockney Day Hungerford celebrates an ancient custom. Last Tuesday was Hockney Day, and two "tuttimen" were appointed. After the election they visited every house in the place, followed by a throng of merry children, who are always given a holiday in celebration of the event. Armed with their long poles, adorned with flowers tied with blue ribbons and surmounted with oranges, the tuttimen started on their commission. They collected a coin from every male and had the privilege of taking a kiss from each lady, for which an orange was given in exchange. In this way four thousand oranges were distributed. Provided the tuttimen divided the spoils equally they had two thousand kisses each. Does not this constitute a record? The rate per hour is not stated, but it may safely be assumed that the operation was a rapid one. However, the tuttimen apparently do not seem to have indulged in the loving hug so dear to the lionized American lieutenant.—Newton Stewart Galloway Gazette.

☞ The colored men of Boston have a perfect right, indeed it is their duty to protest against southern lynchings, but when they hiss the President of the United States at a public banquet they add nothing to the strength of their claim to recognition and fair treatment. Better cut the hisses out of the next celebration program.—Haverhill Gazette.

☞ Bryan and Belmont differ about Jeffersonian Democracy. Jefferson differed from both of them.—Lowell Courier.

☞ We have no doubt that if the governments depended on voluntary contributions they would suffer as the churches do. As it is, a large proportion of the population sits up nights trying to work schemes for shifting part of the load that properly belongs to it to somebody else and very many thousands of good and estimable citizens perjure themselves once a year to escape the payment of a few dollars—a most illogical process, because the figures prove that if everybody was honest and returned property at full value nobody would have to pay any more than now.—Greenville, S. C. News.

☞ Judge Vose of the Bangor municipal court sentence esvery tramp that comes before him to a rock pile for a term of two or three months. Once was the time when that section was filed with the gentry, and one-third the prisoners in the local jails were tramps who were fatterning at the public expense. Since the establishment of the rock pile the diminution in the number of prisoners has been very marked, and the people of that section breathe easier in consequence. We take off our hat to the superior judgment manifested by Judge Vose and the people of his section.—Newburyport News.

☞ The people of Georgia and South Carolina are demonstrating pretty effectually that vengeance is not the Lord's at all; that it is the exclusive prerogative of the southern whites. By and by the blacks will take their trick at the wheel.—Haverhill Gazette.

☞ The government has done well The people want no treasonable utterances winked at now, any more than in the days of the war of the rebellion! Therefore, it stands by the administration with a loud Amen. Edward Atkinson's seditious pamphlets will be seized by the postal authorities whenever they are found in the mails destined for the Philippine Islands.—Milford Journal.

☞ Our own John D. Long, secretary of the navy and a son of whom Massachusetts has never had occasion to be other than proud, in his admirable speech before the Essex Club in Boston deprecated the attacks upon the president as misleading and insincere. He classed them as "vile and as unfair as were the copperhead attacks upon President Lincoln." He struck out right from the shoulder at the anti-everything-that-is-American element when he said: "There are those in our own State who have no word of sympathy for the suffering soldiers, no praise for a Funston, but rather pity and sympathy for rebellious Fillipinos, revolting against their would-be benefactors. In the mind of these 'patriots' a homesick soldier is a hero, particularly if he is dissatisfied with his victuals."—Brockton Enterprise.

☞ There are but very few things terrestrial that have been nicer toward and for the dear people, and propose continuing ever so much better in the future, than a public service company striving to stave off competition—and let them tell it.—Lynn Item.

☞ The Cape Cod ship canal matter seems to invite postponement on the part of the legislators. The practicability of the project does not seem to appeal to them. It would mean a great deal to coastwise commerce if ever successfully carried through; but it has been too much of a speculative football.

☞ The worst thing about the recent divorce in New York is the fact that it was obtained in secrecy most profound and absolute. If all divorces could be so obtained, without publicity, the world might get along with that condition of affairs very easily and pleasantly; but the fact that ordinary citizens have to go through the courts in public in divorce matters while the rich and influential can work the whole affair star chamber session shows that, in several States at least, there is something very like rottenness among certain high court officials.—Brockton Enterprise.

☞ In a recent lecture in this city the speaker advocated increased hours for the high school session and that all study and preparation should be done in school and under the direction of the teacher; because, he said, the children need to be taught how to study. Home-study, with its temptation to dawdle and its maundering, is not encouraging to habits of concentration. The superintendent of schools and the principal of the local High school agreed that increased hours, with all work done in school, would be a vast improvement. In the same line is the recommendation of a writer in The Outlook, who has still another reason for decrying home study.—New Bedford Standard.

MORE CHARGES.

Inspector Keniley Again Under Fire.

Four Persons This Time Have Grievances.

They Will be Given a Hearing by Board of Health.

Another attempt is being made to get Inspector of Plumbing Keniley out of office.

Last year charges were preferred against him by Julius Johnson, and the Board of Health gave a hearing. They found the charges unsustained, and refused to dismiss Mr. Keniley.

This was far from being satisfactory to the petitioners, and not for one minute has the movement lanquished.

It was therefore not surprising when this week new charges were lodged with the Board of Health against Mr. Keniley.

Just what the charges are the Board of Health will not state, although a copy of them has been sent to Mr. Keniley.

A hearing will be held Saturday night and it is safe to say that Mr. Keniley will be represented by counsel and will not be ousted without a struggle.

The charges upon which Mr. Keniley will be given a hearing were made by Henry S. Weymouth, C. P. Gardner, H. N. Briggs and James Craig.

Busy at Readville.

Readville track is a town within a town. It has its own industries, and it is a treat to see the way that Mr. Jewett has arranged things for the comfort of the trainer. Blacksmith, harness repair shop, and the hundred other thing that follow in the wake of a great horse training inclosure are located at Readville, so as to give the best service to the great number, and it is well worth the time of any man to take a run out to Readville and see how they are doing things there.

Work on the club house has been started, and everything at Readville has taken on its busiest appearance.

There are twenty men training horses at Readville, and when one considers the number of assistants they need and the money that it takes to feed and take care of the crew, horses and helpers, it can be seen that it is quite a centre of industry.—Allen Lowe in Boston Journal.

Death of a Good Lady.

The death of Mrs. Catherine Raycroft of Chubbuck street, the widow of Richard Raycroft, took place Wednesday after a short illness. Mrs. Raycroft was an estimable lady, generous and kind hearted, and in a quiet way made many friends. She was 69 years of age, and leaves two sons and a daughter, the latter Miss Kate A. Raycroft, a very successful teacher in the Boston public schools. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from St. John's church.

Superintendent Aldrich.

At a recent meeting of the school committee of Newton, an informal vote was taken on the reelection of George I. Aldrich, formerly of Quincy, as superintendent. The vote was 8 to 3 against. The opposition has been marked for some time and has been an issue at the annual elections of the school board. It looks now as though the majority was strongly against him, and that he will be removed unless he resigns. Some prominent people of the city are working, however, for his reelection.

Harris Will Run.

The Brockton Enterprise says, Robert O. Harris of East Bridgewater, who has an office in this city and who for several years has filled the position of district attorney of this section in a satisfactory manner, is out as a candidate for the republican nomination for the office of attorney-general, which will be vacant because Mr. Knowlton has decided to be a candidate for governor.

THE MAY FESTIVAL.

A Successful Two Days' Sale at Quincy Point.

The annual May festival and sale under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society, took place on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at the vestry of the Washington Street Congregational church. The affair was a success both socially and financially.

The talent furnishing the entertainment on Tuesday evening consisted of the following named:

Mrs. Fred Austin of Milford, N. H., cornetist, with Miss Sara Kelley, Braintree, accompanist. Mrs. Austin is a successful teacher of the piano and cornet and the remainder of the musical programme was furnished by her Point pupils: Miss Beatrice Adams, Miss Elsie Philips, Miss Helen Lincoln and Master Walker Gurney.

The reader of the evening, Mrs. Menerva Dresser of Boston, deserves special mention. She proved herself a dramatic reader of great ability.

Wednesday evening, a salad supper was served, to some sixty persons. It was excellent in quality, quantity and service, and Mrs. J. A. Lapham, chairman of the supper committee and her corps of helpers received many words of praise.

The evening's programme of entertainment occupied about an hour, and the hearty applause which followed each number showed the appreciation of the audience. The entertainers were: Miss Hultman of Quincy, piano soloist; Miss Lull, soprano soloist, with Miss Sibly of Wollaston accompanist; Mrs. Albert Candlin of East Milton, reader. This is the second time this season that Mrs. Candlin has been induced to appear before a Point audience and the number of times she was called out proves the esteem in which she is held by the people. Master Theodore Muer, of Quincy, mandolin soloist, gave several numbers, which were all received and all present pronounced the entertainment excellent.

WEYMOUTH.

The annual Easter sale given by the ladies of Trinity church, Weymouth, opened Tuesday evening to a crowded house. The entertainment was in charge of Miss Agnes Hyde, the elocutionist, and was most excellent. "The Violin Maker," was first presented with an excellent cast. The touching pathos of the cripple Fillippo was well brought out by John J. Walsh of Boston. W. H. O'Neil, also of Boston, filled in an able manner the role of Taddeo Ferrare, and received hearty applause. Miss Hyde, as Granina, was sweet and winning.

The feature of the evening, however, was a fine production of Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew." The costumes were beautiful and the acting excellent. Miss Hyde assumed the role of Katherine, the shrew, in a delightful manner worthy of all praise. The witty undercurrent in the nature of the sharp-tongued shrew, was evident throughout, Miss Hyde's physique, voice and elocution aided her greatly in the rendering of the difficult part.

Mr. Walsh, as Petruchio, pleased the audience greatly, and the contrast between this part and that of Fillippo showed his versatality. Miss Hyde was fortunate in having such an able lead. Other parts worthy of special mention were John G. Clark of Quincy, as Biondello and the tailor; S. W. Reed, as Grumio, and Mr. H. B. Burke, as Baptista.

At Assessed Value.

The Committee on Streets of the City Council gave a hearing Wednesday evening to the property owners on Coddington street, whose property will be taken by the proposed widening of the street. Nearly all the abutters were represented, and a general discussion brought out the fact that the sentiment was in favor of sixty feet as proposed. As to the price asked for land nearly all present were willing to part with what land was to be taken at the assessed value. In such a case as the City Hospital the representative present said that the matter of value of their land would be one for the trustees to act upon.

HERE AND THERE.

Local Brevities of the City of Presidents.

The rains and sun are bringing out the leaves and blossoms on the trees.

Fire alarm Box 21, at the corner of Granite and Cranch streets, now has a break glass key.

New cases of measles are reported among the children in Atlantic every day.

The houses of R. D. Chase and George F. Spooner on Canal street have been connected with the sewer.

It was gentlemen's night at the Granite City club on Wednesday, and the whist prizes were captured by W. W. Jenness and W. H. Rideout.

Hon. John Shaw continues to win favor with prominent ladies. When Senator and Mrs. Hoar sailed for Europe on the Liverpool Wednesday, Mrs. Hoar was the recipient of a bunch of her favorite flowers, the American Beauty roses forwarded by Mr. Shaw.

The numerous applications for membership in Wollaston lodge, F. & A. M., demands almost weekly meetings and numerous rehearsals, but the lodge does not forget the ladies, and will entertain them on the evening of May 11. Music by the Boston Ideal Banjo and Mandolin club will be one of the attractions.

James Craig was notified Wednesday of the sudden death in Philadelphia of his brother John E. Craig. It came as a great shock as the deceased has enjoyed good health. Mr. Craig was a high Mason and very popular with the brethren. He married in Belfast, Maine, and a widow and one child survive him.

The decorations of the apron booth at the Fragment society fair Wednesday, were the admiration of everyone. Amid a lot of trailing green foliage hung gracefully and naturally beautiful clusters of pink and white acacia. They were made of paper and were the work of Mrs. J. Henry Emery. As there were a hundred of them it must have been quite a task.

An electric car struck a large stone team on Hancock street, near Norfolk Downs, about 9.30 Wednesday evening, the team being almost directly across the track. It was in a dark portion of the street and the motorman did not see it until almost upon it. The men were thrown from their seats, but escaped unhurt. No serious damage was done to the team.

The Ladies' Aid Society held a bean supper Wednesday evening at Grand Army hall. The supper was served at 6.30 o'clock, and about seventy-five for at least once in their lives, had their fill of baked beans. Following the supper there was a social and a general good time. A part of the proceeds of the affair are to go toward the book case at the Soldiers' Home.

Verdict for Q. & B.

At the Superior court at Dedham yesterday, in the case of James L. McGibbon vs. Quincy and Boston street railway, a verdict was given for the Quincy & Boston. The plaintiff was a passenger on one of the company's cars and was knocked from the running board, which he claimed was owing to the negligence of the company's servants. The suit was for $10,000. The evidence was that the plaintiff was a passenger on one of the Quincy Point cars, that he got up from his seat while the car was in motion and attempted to go forward to another seat on the side near the line of poles which he knew were near the car. In doing so he was struck by one of the poles and knocked off. The jury ruled that the accident was due to his own negligence.

On Civil Service Board.

On Wednesday Gov. Wolcott appointed on the Civil Service Commission, Col. Charles H. Porter of Quincy, to succeed Arthur Lord of Plymouth resigned. Mr. Porter is chairman of the School Committee of Quincy, and was the first Mayor of our city. He was also a Selectman under the town government, a Representative to the Legislature in 1881 and 1882, and has served as park commissioner and as one of the managers of the Adams Academy of Quincy. It will not be his first service on a State commission as he is just completing a term of five years on the State Board of Health, retiring May 17.

Of late the Civil Service Board has not been represented by a veteran, but Mr. Porter enlisted in July 1862 as a private, participated in several engagements, and was mustered out a captain, and was afterward honored by the Governor with a lieutenant colonels commission. He was a charter member of Paul Revere Post, 88 G. A. R., and secretary and historian of the 39th Regiment Association.

The Civil Service Commission is composed of three members, who with a chief examiner and clerk have an office at the State House.

KNIGHTS AND LADIES

Anniversary Observed by Entertainment, Supper and Dance.

Maple lodge Knights and Ladies' of Honor, celebrated its nineteenth anniversary Wednesday evening by an entertainment, supper and dance at Plumer's hall, which was very largely attended.

A brief meeting of the lodge was held at 8 o'clock and then the doors were thrown open and the invited guests admitted.

The entertainment was in charge of Thomas Hewson, and proved to be very enjoyable. It consisted of selections by Ladies' Schumann quartette of Brockton, Mrs. Nye, Mrs. C. P. Tirrell (formerly of Quincy), Mrs. Dow and Mrs. Berry; vocal solos by Mrs. Isabel Moulton and Mr. Walter I. Holmes; bone solos by Master Flynt, and brief remarks by Grand Secretary Samuel Hathaway, Grand Chaplain, Mrs. M. E. Hoyt, and deputies Mrs. Carrie Ingram, Mrs. Burrell and J. D. Williams.

Mr. Hewson opened the entertainment by a talk on the cocoanut, during which he exhibited the stalks and explained the manner of its growth.

The selections by Ladies' Schumann quartette, who made their first appearance in Quincy, were exceptionally well rendered and captivated the audience, whose demands for more were readily complied with.

There was one number that afforded much amusement that was not upon the programme. It was during the bone solo by Master Flynt, when a little tot of Walter H. Ripley, which had been amusing itself on the floor, ran to near where the soloist stood, and picking up its skirt, in a true ballet dancer style, began to dance, keeping time with the music. When the music stopped, the dancing stopped, and an amusing look of astonishment appeared in the child's face at the applause. Following the entertainment an excellent supper was served, and then came a social dance until midnight.

Representatives were present from Unity lodge of Boston; Longfellow of Everett; New England of Brockton; Friendship of South Boston and Victor of Cambridge.

Widows For Sale.

Everybody who knows Henry H. Faxon, knows that he has much land and many houses; that he gives freely to churches and Sunday Schools; that he likes to make it hot for liquor dealers; that he is fond, very fond of the ladies, especially the young ladies; but no one ever suspected for a minute that he was partial for widows or that during all these years that he has been making a collection of that charming and bewitching class of females. It was therefore with some surprise that well known gentlemen, some unmarried and some married, recently received circulars from him announcing the fact that he had "one hundred widows" for sale.

Since that announcement was sent out Henry has received many responses by telephone, telegraph and by mail. Some asked for a description and age, others for the scale of prices, and still others who wanted to know if he paid a commission to brokers, and if so how much.

SALE AND SUPPER.

A May Pole Dance and Other Attractions at First Church.

The sale and supper at the First church chapel Wednesday afternoon and evening was largely attended and in every way a success. Booths for sale of aprons, packages and home-made candy were arranged on the three sides of the chapel and the platform was given up entirely to the flower booth. There was also a grab bag for the children. The booths on the floo of the chapel were very prettily trimmed and looked very attractive. In the afternoon there was a May pole dance under the direction of Mrs. G. G. Saville and Mrs. Clarence Burgin in which the following children took part: Queen, Grace Spear; Pages, Tom Hardwick and Percy Sears; May pole dancers, Gerna Saville, Clark Saville, Lorenzo Gilson, Roger Nicholson, Morton Smith, Frank Baxter, Alice Claflin, Marguerite Davis, Stella Barker, Walter Carr, Constance Barker, Ralph Winslow, Carl Sheppard, Gertrude Thompson, Minnie Packard and Ella Packard.

Ice cream and cake were for sale in the afternoon, and music was furnished by Mrs. Rideout.

At 6.30 a most excellent supper was served in the lower room.

In the evening the articles at the booths met with a ready sale. Mrs. Rideout furnished music.

The ladies at the several booths were as follows:

Aprons.—Mrs. George S. Keyes, Mrs. J. Henry Emery, Miss Susie Field.

Packages,—Mrs. Walter B. Holden, Mrs. Charles Price, Mrs. Paul R. Blackmur, Mrs. Luther Glover.

Grab Bag,—Mrs. C. C. Lane.

Candy,—Mrs. Wilson Tisdale, Mrs. Samuel Crane, Mrs. Joseph C. Morse.

Fowers,—Mrs. James. P. Clare.

DOES COFFEE AGREE WITH YOU?

If not, drink Grain-O—made from pure grains. A lady writes: "The first time I made Grain-O I did not like it but after using it for one week nothing would induce me to go back to coffee." It nourishes and feeds the system. The children can drink it freely with great benefit. It is the strengthening substance of pure grains. Get a package today from your grocer, follow the directions in making it and you will have a delicious and healthful table beverage for old and young. 15c. and 25c.

What will it do? It will do so much that it is impossible to tell it in a short space. It will brighten and freshen the rooms you have been living in and destroy all germs of disease. It will make the inside of the house attractive and cheerful, and if the house is not cheerful the family can hardly expect to be. It will protect the outside of the house and preserve it from decay, besides making it good to look upon. It will "stick closer than a brother," and it will make a place for itself in the corner of your heart, so that when the name "Chilton Paint" is mentioned you will "rise up and call it blessed."

TYPHOID FEVER CASES

Not Understood by Surgeons Who Served In the Late War.

Sufferers Were Treated For Other Diseases.

Sickness Largely Caused by Disgustingly Filthy Condition of Camps.

Washington, May 3.—The session of the Association of American Physicians at the Arlington yesterday was marked by an important paper on typhoid in the volunteer camps by Dr. V. C. Vaughn, one of the board of surgeons appointed by Surgeon General Sternberg last summer to look into this matter when the epidemic of typhoid was prevalent in the various army camps.

The board made a very thorough study of the subject, and its report has been looked forward to as an authoritative work. The report is not yet completed, but Dr. Vaughn's paper was in the nature of an advance statement, with the sanction of General Sternberg, who was present at the meeting.

Dr. Vaughn's paper was a severe arraignment of the volunteer surgeons, and incidentally of the officers who were responsible for the policing of the great camps at Jacksonville, Chickamauga, Camp Alger and Montauk Point. The board visited all these points and found that not only was there a great deal more typhoid than was at first supposed, but that the surgeons, mostly of the volunteer class, were, from ignorance or other motives, treating and reporting typhoid under the names of "persistent malaria," "indigestion," "gastric fever" and "typho-malaria."

DR. GEORGE M. STERNBERG.

Blood examinations of many of the "malaria" patients failed to show the presence of the malaria bacillus, but there was every indication of well-marked typhoid. These patients were being treated with quinine, and naturally either died or had to be sent to city hospitals, where their disease was properly diagnosed.

The board made an extra careful examination of the water supply of the various camps, and found that the prevalance of typhoid could not be laid to impure water in any large degree. The explanation, Dr. Vaughn said, was in the disgustingly filthy condition of the camps, where the excreta of typhoid patients were strewn broadcast with no apparent effort either to sterilize them or collect them so as to prevent the spreading of contagion to the remainder of the camp. The final report of the board will deal largely with sanitary measures for the governing of camps, and the best form of sterilizing apparatus to use in case of fever outbreaks.

Surgeon General Sternberg said that it certainly seemed strange, after the lessons of the Civil war, that our camps should have been infected by typhoid, which we knew so well. He had issued a circular to all medical officers, pointing out the dangers in this regard and explaining how they might be avoided. General Sternberg referred to the appointment of volunteer medical army officers by the governors of states, the former thereby becoming responsible for the health of our camps. The result had been unsatisfactory. It did seem to him to be inconsistent that we should set ourselves up to show the Spaniards how to eradicate yellow fever from their cities, while our camps were infected seriously with typhoid. He declared that any adverse conditions which prevailed at Montauk should not be held against the regular army medical officers, few of whom were there.

Dr. Dock of the University of Michigan spoke of his investigations at the Sternberg general hospital. The misunderstanding regarding the symptoms of typhoid, and the over-estimation of the effects of quinine formed, Dr. Dock declared, the striking faults of the volunteer medical service. Most of the volunteer medical officers went to camp with the exception of fighting no end of malaria. In one regiment each man was provided with 200 grains of quinine and a 3-ounce bottle of paregoric. The great bulk of supposed malaria cases were not malarial infections at all, but many of the doctors, regardless of this, dosed their patients with 30 or 40 grains of quinine each day.

PROPOSALS REJECTED.

General Otis Holds Another Conference With Insurgent Envoys.

Aguinaldo's Influence Small Outside of Luzon.

General MacArthur Has Begun an Attack Upon the Town of San Tomas.

Manila, May 4.—There was a conference lasting two hours Wednesday between Major General E. S. Otis and the envoys who came here from native headquarters bearing a proposal for a cessation of hostilities. General Otis adhered to his refusal to recognize the so-called government of the insurgents.

The natives now ask for a truce of three months to enable Aguinaldo to summon the congress and consult with the insurgent leaders on other islands. The envoys admitted the contention of General Otis that Aguinaldo has little control over affairs outside of the island of Luzon.

The envoys have abandoned the pretense under which they came to General Otis that they represented General Antonio Luna, and they announced that they came as representatives of Aguinaldo himself. The two emissaries used all their wiles to secure a reply from General Otis to the letter from Senor Habini, Aguinaldo's prime minister and minister of foreign affairs in the dictator's cabinet, which they presented to General Otis Tuesday, but General Otis refused to make any reply, on the ground that to do so would be equivalent to a recognition of the so-called government of the natives. Major Arguelles said that Aguinaldo knew he would be overpowered in time, but that he would be able to continue the fight for months, and that he would do so unless he were given what Major Arguelles termed peace with dignity.

After the close of the conference with General Otis, the insurgent envoys had a consultation with the United States Philippine commissioners. Mr. Schurman expresses the opinion that the interviews accorded by General Otis to the native envoys will have a good moral effect, as tending to convince Aguinaldo's representatives that the American authorities mean to give the natives a good government, and not one of the Spanish sort.

General MacArthur is now assaulting the town of San Tomas, about five miles northwest of Calumpit.

The Americans are fighting for the bridge, and the rebels are burning the town.

Adieu to Baltimoreans.

Baltimore, May 4.—Captain Leary, U. S. N., governor of Guam, was here yesterday, bidding adieu to friends, prior to sailing or the Philippines. He left for New York last night and expects to sail for Manila on Saturday on the Yosemite After reporting to Admiral Dewey at Manila, Captain Leary will proceed to Guam, where his command will consist of a part of Admiral Dewey's fleet.

Where They Got Their Ritual.

Cincinnati, May 4.—Last October a lodge of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks was organized here by negroes with the same ritual as used by the white Elks. Arthur Riggs, a Pullman porter, who became general organizer, was suspected of having secured the ritual, and lost his place with the Pullmans. He devoted himself to organizing the colored Elks. There was a row among the local colored Elks and some of their number gave the secret away yesterday. The janitor of the Cincinnati lodge let some colored men into the Elk hall here last summer, when a copy of the ritual was stolen and many copies were printed for the use of the colored brethren.

Noted Theologian Dead.

Pittsburg, May 4.—Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Kellogg, one of the best known theologians in the country, died suddenly Tuesday at Landour, India, where, with the two other eminent scholars, he was engaged in translating the scriptures into the Hindostanee language. The tidings of his death were received in Pittsburg in a cablegram. No particulars are given in the message concerning the cause of his sudden end, but it is presumed that he was stricken with apoplexy. Dr. Kellogg was born in New York state in 1839.

Rioters Skedaddled.

Wardner, Ida., May 4.—Sixty rioters concerned in the disturbance of last Sunday have been arrested since the arrival here of company M, Fourth infantry. As soon as the serving of warrants began the rioters scrambled over the hills in frantic efforts to escape. About 60 were caught and others will be pursued. Only one tried to resist. He was promptly overpowered. The prisoners were marched to camp. Nearly all are Swedes and Italians.

DEPEW AS A PROPHET.

How the Two Leading Parties Will Stand in the Campaign of 1900.

Cleveland, May 4.—In an interview here Chauncey M. Depew stated that he favored the continuance of Senator Hanna as chairman of the Republican national committee. He said: "In the election of 1896 Mr. Hanna showed a skill in conducting the affairs of the Republican party that has never been surpassed in the history of the party. It is the policy of the Republican party never to get rid of a good leader until it has found a better one."

Speaking of the campaign of 1900, Senator Depew said the Republican party practically would have no opposition. "Bryan has read the New York Democrats out of the party, and they will not again get together," he said.

"What will be the Republican issue in 1900?" was asked.

"The platform will reassert everything the party has ever said, and the party will declare in favor of expansion."

"How about trusts?"

"Undoubtedly the Republican party will adopt a plank condemning trusts, and I also think the Democratic party will adopt a similar plank. The Republicans will reaffirm their declaration for the gold standard, and there is no doubt the Democrats will again take up silver."

Ministers Resign.

Rome, May 4.—The Italian ministry has resigned. Immediately upon the opening of the chamber of deputies yesterday, General Pelleux, the premier and minister of the interior, addressed an attentive house. He said that in consequence of interpellations touching the Chinese question, the government had been forced to consider the gravity of the situation. The effect of Tuesday's debate showed a large minority in the chamber of deputies against the action in China, which would be supported only by a weak majority. The interruptions, however favorable to the reverse, united in disapproving the method followed by the government on this occasion. Therefore, the prime minister said, there could be no useful result from further discussion. General Pelleux concluded by announcing the resignation of the cabinet.

Dying Man's Strange Story.

Chicago, May 4.—David J. Wile, an attorney, lies at a hospital probably fatally wounded by three shots fired by a young woman named Mabel Birk. After wounding Wile, Miss Birk shot and killed herself. The shooting occurred in a parlor of the Hotel Anthony. According to the lawyer's statement he had met Miss Birk in a professional way only. He claims that they met yesterday accidentally, and that the young woman asked him to accompany her to the hotel, where she would sing for him. While seated on the piano stool, and without warning, his companion shot him three times. Wile is well known in Chicago legal circles. He is married. He said he could not conceive of any reason for the young woman's act.

Won't Go to Philippines.

San Francisco, May 4.—The local postoffice officials yesterday seized some of the pamphlets sent out by Edward Atkinson of Boston. The pamphlets were addressed to Admiral Dewey, General Otis, General Miller and Professors Schurman and Worcester, the latter two being members of the Philippine commission.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

William Fitt, 23 years old, unmarried, was killed by a tree falling on him while at work in a gravel pit at Readville, Mass.

General Job N. Patterson of Concord, N. H., received a cablegram from General Brooke, asking him to take an important position in the government service at Havana. General Patterson will leave for Havana immediately.

Fire destroyed the ice house at Bangor, Me., owned by the Katahdin Ice company, and occupied by the Ross Ice company. Six horses were burned.

Clifford Trask, aged 25, was struck at Centerdale, R. I., by a train. His left leg was broken and his head cut.

The British steamship Inchmona left Philadelphia for Colombo, Ceylon, with 5000 tons of American bituminous coal, the first ever shipped to that place.

An explosion of gas at Maple Hill colliery, Pottsville, Pa., caused the death of one miner and seriously injured four others.

The large bleachery and dye works belonging to H. H. Slater of East Webster, Mass., will close on Saturday next for repairs. The 200 employes will be out of work for an indefinite period.

The British warship Buzzard has arrived at Halifax, from Bermuda, to fit out for the fishery protection service on the Newfoundland coast.

The Draper company of Hopedale, Mass., has purchased the Worcester Spinning Ring company of Worcester. The spinning company is one of the leading concerns of its kind in the country.

The Missouri house passed and sent to the governor for his signature two bills intended to give the attorney general almost unlimited power in the prosecution of trusts.

The Columbia Electric Vehicle company, with a capital of $5,000,000, was incorporated at Trenton.

Howard Fraley and Henry Lewis were killed and Ray Lewis was injured by lightning at Terra Alta, W. Va.

Rev. Denis O'Connor was formally installed as Roman Catholic archbishop of Toronto. The ceremony was attended by a distinguished audience of church dignitaries and prominent laymen, both Protestant and Catholic, from all parts of Canada and the United States.

True M. Prescott, aged 95 years, the oldest man in Hampton Falls, Me., is dead. He had held all the important town offices, and voted at every election for 74 years.

Rev. Albert Watson of Everett, Mass., was installed pastor of the Presbyterian church at Windham, N. H.

Representatives of an English syndicate have made an offer for options upon the two yarn mills of Mall River, Mass. The directors are considering the offer, but are not likely to submit it to stockholders for some days.

Fire destroyed five large icehouses, a big barn, three sheds and other outbuildings and 12,000 tons of ice, belonging to the Carpenter Ice company at Providence.

Governor Takes Action.

Little Rock, May 4.—Governor Jones has been informed of a movement to bring into the coal mining district an armed body of men to take the places of the strikers. He has given instructions to the state authorities to summon every able-bodied man in Sebastian county if necessary to enforce the injunction of Judge Rowe, prohibiting the importation of laborers. All such armed men are to be met at the state line and placed under arrest, as are also those who supply the arms. Mine operators will also be arrested by state authorities when they attempt to bring in armed laborers under protection of deputy marshals.

The Net Tightening.

Paris, May 4.—Slowly but steadily the net is closing around the French general staff in the Dreyfus revision inquiry. General Mercier, who was minister of war at the time Dreyfus was condemned, on being called upon by M. De Freycinet, the present minister of war, to produce the report regarding the secret dossier which De Clam testified he had sent to Mercier, replied that he had destroyed it, and he called General Gonse as a witness to the truth of this statement. Unfortunately for Mercier, General Gonse had already testified before the court of cassation that, although Mercier destroyed the original, he kept a copy.

Possible Cases of Smallpox.

San Francisco, May 4.—Two cases of suspected smallpox have appeared on the United States transport Centennial, which arrived from Manila May 1, and one case manifested itself on the transport Sherman. The vessels have been quarantined and the patients removed to the quarantine hospital on Angels island. A number of other men on board the transports will be kept in quarantine for two weeks.

Mataafa Yields.

Apia, Samoa, April 27, via Auckland, N. Z., April 4.—Mataafa, the rebel chieftain, has accepted an armistice. The Germans, however, declined to sign the proclamation.

Vessel and Crew Missing.

Philadelphia, May 4.—The Portuguese bark Industria, Captain Goncalves, which sailed from Philadelphia Jan. 15 for Lisbon, with 136,030 gallons of refined oil, is missing, and is believed to have foundered at sea with all hands, 12 in number, lost. Under ordinary conditions the voyage should not occupy more than 30 days, while the Industria has been out 108 days.

Lay Gets a Better Job.

Washington, May 4.—Stanley Turner of Detroit has been selected as United States consul at Windsor, Ont., to succeed Julius Lay, named for the consulate at Barcelona, Spain. Mr. Lay receives a substantial promotion, his new post paying a salary of $3000 per annum, with fees of more than double the compensation of his present post.

Devoured by a Shark.

London, May 4.—A dispatch from Nice says that the valet of the Earl of Strathmore and King Horne, while bathing at Bordighera, near Monte Carlo, was devoured by a shark. The tragedy occurred in the presence of a crowd.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—4:31; sets, 6:48.
Moon rises—2:02 a. m.
High water—7:15 a. m.; 7:45 p. m.

An area of high barometer has covered New England, causing brisk to high northeasterly winds and much lower temperature. From the Ohio river over the east gulf states the temperature has continued very high. Generally fair and cool weather is indicated for the New England states. Northeasterly winds will diminish in force and become variable in New England.

BE INDEPENDENT.

You can tell just as well as a physician whether your Kidneys are diseased or healthy. Fill a tumbler with urine and let it stand 24 hours. If it has a sediment, if it is milky or cloudy, discolored or pale, if it is ropy or stringy your Kidneys and Bladder are in a dangerous condition and you do not need a physician to tell you so.

Kidney diseases should be attended to at once, for almost 90 per cent. of our unexpected deaths of today are from that cause. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the only sure cure known for diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder and Blood, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia and Chronic Constipation. It is marvelous how it stops that pain in the back, relieves the necessity of urinating so often at night, drives away that scalding pain in passing water, corrects the bad effects of whiskey and beer, and shows its beneficial effects on the system in an incredibly short time. It is sold by all drug stores at $1 a bottle.

If you would like to test Favorite Remedy free of charge, send your full name and post office address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., and a free trial bottle, together with a pamphlet of valuable medical advice, will be sent you by return mail, postpaid, providing you mention the Quincy Ledger when you write. Rebels Retreat Before the Americans.

Wheaton and Hale Again Rout Luna's Forces.

Attack Upon San Tomas Was Most Brilliant.

Our Soldiers Skillfully Posted at Points of Advantage.

War Department Looks For Capture of Latest Rebel Stronghold Today.

Washington, May 5.—A cablegram has been received from General Otis which says:

"Colonel Summers with six battalions Oregon, Dakota, Third infantry and piece Utah light artillery of Lawton's division, proceeded north Thursday morning to Maasin. Crossed river, charged enemy in strong entrenchments, driving him northward and inflicting considerable loss. His casualties two wounded.

"Both Wheaton and Hale of MacArthur's division found the enemy in force, strongly intrenched, and commanded by Commander-in-Chief Luna, about four miles south of San Fernando. Hale on right. Dislodged enemy. Wheaton on left, leading in person, made brilliant charge, scattering his forces and inflicting great punishment. Several officers and enlisted men seriously wounded. MacArthur proceeds to San Fernando in morning. Delayed by partial destruction of bridge across river. Not believed enemy will make another determined stand until he effects retreat to Mount Arayat, short distance from San Isidro."

Major General MacArthur carried San Thomas Thursday after encountering a strong resistance.

Brigadier General Hale moved on the enemy's right and Brigadier General Wheaton attacked the left in a daring charge, in which Colonel Funston again distinguished himself. The Kansan was wounded in the hand and several other officers and enlisted men were also wounded.

Colonel Summers, with a part of the Oregon and Minnesota regiments and a gun of the Utah battery, took Maasin on the right, resting four miles from San Fernando.

The natives are retreating toward San Isidro, and it is expected that they will make a stand at Arayat, at which place the whole of the rebel forces in the province of Pampanga is concentrating.

It is reported that, impressed by recent events, the people of Luzon are wavering in their allegiance to the insurrection and are likely to assume a neutral attitude. It seems as though General Luna's forces are destined to destruction within a few days unless they surrender or scatter.

The American army has been skilfully posted at points of immense strategic advantage. The insurgents expected them to advance on Balinag by way of Quingua, and had furrowed the entire country beyond Quingua with the strongest sort of intrenchments.

Instead of taking this course, General MacArthur swung towards San Thomas, the route to which was almost unprotected. General Lawton brought his brigade in against Balsuam from the southeast, covering the line of retreat of the rebels towards the mountains, and depriving them of a refuge upon which they had always counted. General Lawton captured 50,000 bushels of rice, an important part of the stores established by the rebels.

After a short rest the advance was continued, General Wheaton encountering the first series of entrenchments near San Fernando.

General Hale pushed along the road flanking the trenches.

More than 100 sick and wounded men from General Lawton's brigade were brought to Manila from Malolos by last night's train. The heat is unbearable.

In spite of the peaceful overtures of their commissioners, the Filipinos vigorously resisted the advance of General MacArthur's division from Apalit towards San Fernando, fighting desperately at long range, after running from trench to trench until driven out by the American artillery. The movement commenced at 5:30 in the morning. General Hale's brigade, consisting of five gatlings, under the command of Major Young of the Sixth artillery, two battalions of the Fifty-first Iowa regiment, the First Nebraska regiment and the First South Dakota regiment, advanced along the road a few miles west of the railway line.

General Wheaton, with Hotchkiss and Catling guns under the command of lieutenant Naylor of the Utah light artillery, mounted on hand cars, pushed ahead, the Twentieth Kansas and First Montana regiments deploying to the right and left when feasible.

The country to be traversed proved the worst yet encountered, miles of marshes and many unfordable streams delaying the advance materially.

Both brigades met with resistance simultaneously on approaching the river near San Thomas, which is about eight kilometers from Apalit. The center span of the railroad bridge had dropped into the river, and the rebels had only left a small force to check General Wheaton, their main body lining the strong trenches in front of General Hale.

Although the attacking force poured a very heavy artillery and musketry fire across the river, the enemy stubbornly resisted for over an hour, ultimately breaking when Major Young shelled their left flank and then retreating along the river bank under cover.

General Wheaton, in the meantime, tried ineffectually to draw the fire of the Filipinos in the trenches east of the track.

So soon as they discovered that the nature of the country would permit only a few skirmishes on each side of the embankment, the rebels regained their courage and fought desperately for three-quarters of an hour in the face of the American volleys and a rapid fire fusillade until flanked by the Montana regiment. Then a general scramble ensued, most of the enemy boarding trains that were in readiness and the others taking the road to San Fernando, after burning the villages of San Tomas and Minalin.

About noon General Wheaton crossed the broken bridge, cleared the stragglers out of the villages and advanced toward San Fernando. General Hale effected a crossing simultaneously after a slight delay necessary to repair a stone bridge.

Our loss up to that hour (noon) was two members of the Nebraska regiment and one of the Montana killed, and Captain Albrecht, three members of the Kansas regiment, two of the Montana, four of the Nebraska and one of the South Dakota wounded.

The enemy's loss was very slight.

The war department is satisfied from the dispatches received from General Otis yesterday that the American commander has put aside the insurgent temporizing over peace and has turned his attention to most aggressive tactics. The wisdom of this course was fully approved by officials here, who have foreseen that the rebels needed further chastisement in order to bring them to a realizing sense of their position.

Early dispatches from General Otis clearly defined the general plan of his latest movement. He is moving in two main columns, Major General MacArthur pushing straight forward over a nine-mile stretch of country between Calumpit and the latest rebel stronghold, San Fernando, and Major General Lawton directing a strong force under Colonel Sumner, to prevent the insurgents from retreating from San Fernando into the mountains to the north. The later dispatches showed there had been hot work in the execution of this movement, particularly in General MacArthur's advance on San Fernando. The defeat of Luna at San Tomas and the scattering of the insurgent forces, leaves MacArthur four miles from San Fernando, with a clear road before him. He will take the city today, according to General Otis' plans.

The taking of towns is no longer looked upon by the authorities as of chief moment, the main consideration being to intercept the insurgents. General Lawton's movement northward to Maasin is designed to keep a body of American troops to the north of the rebels, and between them and their line of retreat to the mountains. A successful execution of this movement will leave the insurgents well nigh surrounded on the north, thought there is a stretch of about seven miles from Maasin to the Rio Grande river, along which the rebels are retiring. If the rebels do succeed in getting into the mountains, war department officials believe they cannot continue organized resistance, as the mountain localities afford much less opportunity for sustenance than the rice lands along the foot hills and bottoms. The authorities here are well satisfied with the manner in which our forces are placed.

President Defends Miles.

Washington, May 5.—President McKinley has decided that the court of inquiry has dealt too severely with Major General Miles. So far as can be learned, the president will not materially change the findings of the court on beef. Secretary Alger, it is freely remarked, is hopeful of getting Miles' scalp. He is even willing to see his ancient enemy, General Merritt, advanced. The report will be announced at the war department today or next day.

DASH FOR UTE LANDS.

Continuous Jam Toward the Point Where the Race Commenced.

Indians Have Chosen the Best Bottom Lands.

Enough Ground For Over Five Thousand Homes of Hundred Acres Each.

Durango, Col., May 5.—The lands of the Ute reservation were opened to settlers at noon yesterday. They are located in the southwest corner of Colorado, and comprise about 900,000 acres. The greater part of this land is smooth and tillable, provided irrigation can be provided for. Several thousand acres of land were allotted to the Ute Indians in severalty before the order of the opening was issued, and it is claimed this included the choicest locations. The Denver and Rio Grande railroad runs through the eastern end of the reservation.

The start was made promptly at noon, and several hundred people did not bother with the land office, but made a race for choice locations. Only 120 lined up at the land office. No trouble has yet been reported; and if any occurred it will not be known for some time, as the choice locations are a great distance from here. All Wednesday night men were seen starting in the direction of the Ute lands, and all yesterday forenoon there was a continuous jam toward the point where the race commenced.

It is generally believed that the actual settlers will be allowed to hold the lots they selected, but a great many will secure warrants from the land office and depend on this to hold the land.

The land office officials will accept the first application for any quarter section and refuse later filings on the same land, leaving contests for court settlements.

The first man in line was P. G. Voight, a miner. Then Misses Emma and Della Stollsteimer, two sisters, took their position in line, and they were soon followed by hundreds of others.

The women in line sat on chairs, had meals brought to them, and were not uncomfortable. Land officials issued tickets, guaranteeing positions in the line, but few accepted them, preferring not to take chances.

There is enough land to make 5200 homes of 100 acres each. The Ute Indians, by the grace of the government, have first choice, and naturally filed on the best bottom lands.

Many persons who had for days been holding places in the line at the land office changed their minds and joined the rush for the Ute lands. Whistles and bells proclaimed the hour of opening.

Scores of men who had been holding places in line sold out half an hour before the opening, $50 being the prevailing price.

The streets of Durango were crowded. There was no central starting point, and men were scattered along the Colorado and New Mexico lines for 40 miles, awaiting the hour, many with no means of rapid transit. From Durango hundreds of well mounted and well armed men began pushing to the front at daylight, all giving themselves ample time to reach the favorite sections. Many home-seekers will purchase farms and orchards in Colorado and New Mexico instead of taking homesteads in the new reservation.

A surprise was sprung when "Buffalo" Jones suddenly appeared near Ignacio with 300 followers from Guthrie, and was met by Dr. E. H. Allen, who was prominent in the opening of the famous Cherokee strip. The latter has been sojourning in and around Durango with some half-breed Cherokees for the past week, and early yesterday morning started to join with "Buffalo" Jones, with the determination of starting a town site and booming the same. The town, it is understood, will be called Tabor. By tonight there will be no doubt dozens of villages created. The railroads have on the grounds men who will select the most promising places.

A 'Frisco Sensation.

San Francisco, May 5.—The Bulletin prints a sensational story to the effect that Olin M. Wellborn, ex-collector of internal revenue in this city, was arrested yesterday by United States Marshal Shine at the presidio, where he was enlisted under the name of O. H. Bedhell. Wellborn embezzled thousands of dollars from the government and escaped about a year ago. He had passed false vouchers on the government for fictitious employes' salaries. He was under $40,000 bonds to appear for trial, but jumped his bonds. The prisoner denies his identity.

Americans Ready For Business.

London, May 5.—The morning papers blame the government—the Liberal organs severely, and the Ministerial journals mildly—for its lukewarm attitude toward the Pacific cable. The Daily Mail reminds Mr. Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, that, if the scheme collapses, American enterprise will probably soon supply the deficiency by continuing the Honolulu cable to Australia, in which event the benefits intended for Canada would be diverted to the United States.

A Certain Quincy Young Man.

A certain Quincy young man was not a very welcome visitor at the home of one of our young damsels, but he hadn't caught onto the fact. He had noticed, however, that of late, whenever he called the young lady always happened to be out. He called last Sunday afternoon and the same good natured girl came to the door and reported her "out." As he descended the steps he happened to turn around, and just then a curtain that had been down, suddenly thought it was time for "spring" to get in its work, and spring it did. As the curtain suddenly rolled way up to the top of the window, he saw the young lady try to dodge out of sight. He hastily ran up the steps, and as she came to the door he angrily remarked, "Well, I've found you out at last." "It looks more as if you had found me in," she sweetly replied.

You can never tell what's in a house by looking from the outside. You can't even get a good idea of what's in our house by looking at the windows, for we wouldn't have windows enough to show all the good things we've got, if we had 'em clear round the block

☞ It is gratifying to know that Great Britain and Russia have made arrangements satisfactory to each in regard to the affairs in dispute in China. Great importance is attached to it, as it is believed it will prevent a collision that has threatened between these two great powers, and will be to the commercial advantage of the United States.—Malden News.

☞ The scorchers have begun to inflict themselves upon a long suffering public. As usual, the more idiotic among them have taken to wheeling around corners at full speed. As the community is too law abiding to sanction tar and feathering, how would it do for people to complain of the nuisance, and thus pave the way for the rounding up of some of the fools in court? A few $25 fines ought to make scorching less frequent.—Salem News.

☞ No one can justify the taking of human life, but there will be a good deal of sympathy for the poor wife at Sharon who put a bullett into the worthless carcass of the husband who was choking her to death the other day. This was only one instance of a long course of abuse which he had heaped on her. If the court can find a plea of emotional insanity or self-defense in this case there is room for the using of it.—Newburyport News.

☞ The value of cooperation is more and more evident in every walk of life. Nowhere is this more needed than in civic affairs. Public sentiment is the great motive power, after all, which controls affairs in this country. Here comes in the necessity of home training. When children are taught that the common good is of paramount importance, and that its maintenance depends largely on them, then there will be better order, and more tidy streets. In Belgium it is very rare to see any paper or litter upon the streets. The children are taught to regard uncleanliness of every form as unpatriotic. The home is the real bulwark, not only of our liberties but our health.—Beverly Times.

☞ An educational war is on in Newton. For some time there have been sharp criticisms of Supt. Aldrich as concerns his methods in the schoo's. On several occasions this dissatisfaction has taken definite form, and has led to a number of hot political fights over the election of members to the Newton school board. Matters came to a head this week, when an informal vote of the committee resulted 8 against and 3 in favor of the suprintendent. His friends have organized to oppose his removal, and a hot fight is on without gloves. We shouldn't suppose the superintendent would want to stay.—Milford Journal.

TRAP ROCK PLANT.

A Valuable Discovery Which is Being Developed.

How often does it happen that someone possessed of knowledge discovers that something, that others have seen almost daily for years, and looked upon as useless, is in reality of great value and only awaits the ingenuity of man make known its value to the world. So it was that a well known Quincy gentleman, possessed of knowledge gained by visits to the great mining districts of the west discoverd that in Quincy there was one of the best and most valuable trap rock quarries in the whole country.

Trap rock is usually found between redish granite walls and is underlaid with a strata of sandstone. It is the result of a volcanic eruption at some time centuries ago and is more or less impregnated with minerals. It is of a dark slate color, very heavy and hard, yet breaks easily. Its great value lies in its use for road building for which all engineers admit it is superior to any known material, as when rolled it cements firmly together, has a great resistability, stays where it is put, and a road built of this lasts for years only requiring a top dressing of binding gravel every five or six years. Its first cost is a little more than other material but it is by far the most economical in the end.

Some two years ago, while travelling through the west, Mr. H. F. Doble and Mr. T. J. Lamb visited Ogden, Utah, and became acquainted with trap rock, which is largely used there for street building. Upon their return home Mr. Lamb went prospecting and was rewarded by finding a ledge of trap rock covering about six or seven acres, and having a height of some sixty-five feet above the surrounding level and extending no one knows how deep.

The ledge is situated on the line of the Granite branch of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. off Centre street, and is easily accessable both by teams and the railroad, from which a spur track runs to the ledge. Mr. Lamb and Mr. Doble recognized that here was next to a gold mine. The property had for ages been considered useless and was a drug upon the market. These two gentlemen purchased the whole ledge and formed a company, known as the Old Colony Broken Stone Co.

Sampels of the rock were submitted to Prof. L. W. Page, State geologist, who submitted it to tests and analysis and pronounced it one of the best in the state, if not in the country. Since then it has been examined by such well known men as City Engineer Jackson of Boston, Engineer Mills of the Massachusetts Highway Commission, Engineer Pierce of the Metropolitan Park Commission, and others of equal note, and the verdict of all was the same.

Orders immediately began to come in, and a temporary plant with crusher of 100 tons capacity was installed, and plant put in operation. That was last year. This year, preparations were made to increase the producing capacity, and a plant is now being installed that will produce 400 tons a day. The stone is to be carried from the ledge to the crusher in gravity cars, which dump it into a jaw crusher from which it is taken by an endless bucket chain to the top of a 400 ton bin. Here it empties into a revolving screen, which separate the crushed stone into four sizes, ranging from one-half inch to two and one-half inches in diameter, and distributes each size into a separate bin. These bins are located over platform scales, on which the spur track is laid so that it is possible to load a thirty ton car in five minutes and have it weigh almost to a pound of the desired amount.

It is a modern plant in every way, and with an unlimited amount of material at hand, will be able to furnish trap rock for years and years, as the supply, according to the engineers, is practically inexhaustible.

In the short time the plant has been in operation, it has supplied the material with which Crescent street was built last year, and is being used now for the new boulevard in Milton and on Franklin street, South Quincy, and will be used on that part of Washington street to be built by the Highway Commission this year.

Both ex-Commissioner Knowlton and Commissioner Cavanagh know the value of this rock for street building, and it will doubtless hereafter be used in all streets in Quincy as it is as much ahead of the stone taken from the city plant on South street as gravel is above loam for streets. Aside from what has been used in Quincy and Milton during the short time the plant has been in operation some one thousand tons or more has been used by the city of Boston for the Summer street extension.

Gold and pyrites of iron has been found to some extent in the rock broken out, but not enough to warrant its being worked for that purpose.

But little blasting is required for a small charge of dynamite is enough to dislodge thousands of tons, and send it rolling down the quarry to the foot of the crusher. Aside from this there are thousands of tones the size of paving blocks and smaller laying loosely upon the top of the ground ready to be dumped into the crusher and made into the required size. The quarry abounds in springs, and on the face where the company is now at work is a spring of pure cold sparkling water, from which the residents of that vicinity have for years obtained their supply of drinking water. So plentiful is the water that pipes from the spring carry by gravity enough to supply the boiler that run the plant.

One engineer has figured out that if the plant should turn out 400 tons a day for 200 days a year it would take ages to exhaust the supply.

City Wins A Suit.

The case of the tax collector of the city of Quincy vs. John F. O. Wilkins, executor of the estate of Laura A. Whicher, was tried before a jury at Dedham on Thursday and resulted in a verdict for the city for $605, the full amount of the taxes and interest sued to recover.

The defendant claimed that he should not be taxed in Quincy, but should pay his taxes in Boston, where he was assessed for the same property. Mrs. Whicher lived in Quincy and had paid taxes here for seventeen years before her decease, though she had resided in Boston during the last ten years, except the last four months, when she resided with Mr. Wilkins at the Point, at whose house she died. As before stated the Court and jury decided that Quincy was entitled to the taxes on all the evidence.

P. R. Blackmur, city solicitor, for tax collector; Albert Worthen for defendent.

Mr. Porter's Nomination.

The Boston dailies are commenting favorably on the new civil service commissioner. The Herald has already been quoted.

The Journal says, "Col. Charles H. Porter of Quincy whom the Governor has nominated for the vacancy in the State Civil Service Commisson, seems to us to have just about the right combination of faith in civil service reform methods, practical experience in politics and everyday good sense to fill the place from which Mr. Arthur Lord retires voluntarily and with credit.

The Transcript says: "There appears to be but one opinion as to the new civil service commissioner, ex-Mayor Charles H. Porter of Quincy. He is, first of all, a thorough believer in the merit system, and in both his civil and his military career he has exhibited the qualities of a man who is persistently true to his convictions."

Real Estate Sales.

Again last week there were a large number of conveyances in Quincy, a total of twelve or an average of two per day. Some have criticised the statement that some sales recorded are not of importance, but the same is true of all cities and towns, so the comparison holds good. While Quincy had 12, Brockton last week had but 16, Everett 9, Malden 21, Medford 16, Melrose 19, Waltham 12 and Woburn 13. The Quincy sales:

Martha Mears to Clara J. Brandt, $1.

Smoke was seen pouring out of Adams building on Temple street entrance, on Thursday and Officer Barry with a crowd ran upstairs. They found it was only a stove and a fresh lighted fire that created the excitement on the top flat.

Mr. William King, father of Mrs. I. Woodbury Pinkham of Wollaston, died on Thursday. Mr. King had been in poor health for some time. He had been a highly respected resident of Wollaston for some years, but his native place was Andover, Mass., where he was born in 1826.

In a match game with the Newton Centre team on Wednesday, the Wollaston Golf club won 22 to 2. Freeman defeated Merrill by 11, and Brewer won from Allen by 10. Smith was one better than Wadsworth while Atherton and Cracknell only lost by 1 point to Noyes and Wilkie.

The cases of Mary Tierney administratrix of the estate of Patrick Mulhall and Ann Mulhall, mother of Patrick Mulhall, against John Fallon, et. al., to recover damage for the death of Mulhall, who died from injuries received by the fall of a derrick in the defendants' quarry in Quincy in 1896, are on trial at the superior court in Dedham today.

The men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday at 3.30 P. M. will be addressed by Rev. W. W. Dornan, pastor of the United Presbyterian church in this city. Mr. Dornan leaves on the Saturday following for Europe, where he will spend the summer, so this meeting will be somewhat of a farewell service. All men are invited to attend.

While the driver of F. O. Cushing express was in the Adams building on Thursday, he left his heavily loaded team standing on Temple street with one of the traces unhitched. The horses became frightened at a piece of paper blowing in the streets and started on the run. They reached as far as Washington street when four strong arms caught hold of each bridle and stopped them.

Deacon Howard Gannett of Wollaston had a narrow escape from a serious accident while coming out from Boston on the 5.15 train on Wednesday afternoon. As the train was passing Pope's Hill some miscreant through a rock at it. The missile struck the window where Deacon Gannett was sitting. If the curtain had not been drawn he would have been struck in the face. As it was he was well covered with flying glass.

But No Change of Management Right Away.

Tucker & Anthony Syndicate Now in Control.

All Stockholders May Obtain $150 for Their Stock.

Some weeks ago it was intimated in the Ledger that the syndicate which was obtaining control of all the street railway companies throughout the State were after the Quincy & Boston system. At that time a large number of the small shareholders gave President Graham of the Quincy & Boston an option on their stock, with the understanding that if sold it should not be for less than $150.

From that time on there have been various rumors of a sale, but it was not until Wednesday that a majority of the stock of the Quincy & Boston was transferred to the syndicate represented by Tucker & Anthony of Boston. The price paid is understood to be $150.

By the terms of the sale the syndicate agree to take all stock of the Quincy & Boston filed with the Old Colony Trust company on or before May 15, at $150 per share.

During the times the negotiations have been in progress the public has been asking what effect the transfer will have. In answer to this it is said that it is not the road that has been sold, but simply a portion of its stock and that the management will continue as now, and as far as the general public is concerned there will be no change, at least, for the present.

TO FOREST HILLS.

Approval Asked of New Street Railway Location.

The Railroad Commissioners have advertised a hearing on the petition of the Forest Hills & Quincy street railway for the approval of a location granted them by the Board of Aldermen of Boston, December 27, 1898.

At the time the location was granted Mayor Quincy refused to sign the order passed by the Board of Alderman, and before that body could again be convened it had gone out of office.

It now transpires that the railway company has taken the position that according to law it was not necessary for the Mayor of Boston to sign the order granting the location, and they have therefore petitioned the Railroad Commissioners for an approval of the location granted.

If approved the road will be built immediately and will prove a popular route not only for citizens of Quincy to go to Forest Hills and Franklin Park, but for people in that vicinity to go to Nantasket through Quincy, which will also prove of benefit to Quincy.

Norfolk Conference.

The Norfolk Conference of Congregational churches met on Tuesday with the church at North Abington. 34 of the 37 churches of the Conference were represented by 25 pastors and over 100 appointed delegates. The church was crowded at the various sessions. The general theme for discussion was, The Spiritual Life. Addresses were given by Reverends H. S. Snyder, F. E. Butler, E. N. Hardy, in the morning. After the collation the same subject was continued by the Revs. F. H Allen, G. Gager, A. F. Pierce. Rev. Daniel Evans of Cambridge spoke on "A weekly Rest Day for Working Men," and Rev. F. G. Hagen of Boston spoke on "Training children for God." The Conference meets in the autumn with Union church, Braintree.

New Superintendent.

Milton will have a new superintendent of schools. The Transcript prints this sketch:

"Dana P. Dame of Greenfield, who has just been elected superintendent of the schools of Milton, was born at Tuftonboro, N. H., August 31, 1857. When he was eight years old his parents moved to Dover, N. H. He entered Dartmouth College in the fall of 1876, and was graduated four years later. Together with many other members of his class, in addition to his college work, he taught school in the winter. After his graduation, Mr. Dame became the principal of the Bristol, Vt., Academy. He was then principal of the old New Salem Academy in Franklin County, Mass., for about a year. Later he was principal of the High school at Lincoln, Mass., and he then went to Littleton, N. H., where for ten years he was principal of the High school and supervisor of the lower grades. He was then principal of the High school in Webster, Mass., and superintendent of schools as well. He accepted the position of superintendent of the Greenfield schools six years ago."

Mr. Henry H. Faxon thinks the Ledger should explain about the widow episode. It was windows which Mr. Faxon has for sale, but the intelligent printer dropped out the "n," hence the publicity.

MILTON.

The installation of Rev. A. H. Mulnix as pastor of the East Milton Congregational church, will take place next Wednesday. The council will meet in the afternoon at 3 o'clock, and the installation exercises will be held in the evening at 7 o'clock.

Dana P. Dame of Greenfield has been elected superintendent of the Milton schools at a salary of $2,250. He will take charge May 15. He has occupied a similar position in Greenfield for the past six years. The election of Mr. Dame and the dropping of Supt. Richardson is the outcome of the Tuel fight.

Death of a Wollaston Lady.

Mrs. Charles S. Adams, wife of Dr. Adams of Wollaston passed away early Thursday evening of typhoid fever. Dr. and Mrs. Aams returned a few days ago from Pinehurst, N. C., where they had been passing the winter for the doctor's health. Soon after their return Mrs. Adams was stricken with what proved to be her last illness. The seeds of the disease were so firmly rooted in her system that it was impossible for her to throw them off and rally. Mrs. Adams was born at South Berwick, Me., in 1868 and received education at Kent's Hill seminary. She was beloved by all who knew her and took an active part in social affairs at Wollason, being especially prominent in the Whatsoever Ten, King's Daughters. Her death is peculiarly sad as she is survived by two little daughters,—twins,—besides her husband.

Funeral of Mrs. Raycroft.

The funeral of Mrs. Richard Raycroft of Chubbuck street took place this morning at nine o'clock from the St. John's church, and was largely attended by friends. Rev. Fr. Cuffe officiated. The casket was covered with beautiful flowers, including the following tributes:

White pinks and ferns, from teachers of Prince school; white roses and ferns, from Miss Raycroft's class; laurel cross from Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Addison; bunches of violets, from Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kelly; bunch of Easter lilies, from Mrs. William Sullivan and Miss Malone; bunch of white pinks and maiden hair ferns, from Miss E. M. Freeman; Easter lilies and ivy, from Miss Fynes; bunch of roses, from Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Prescott; hyacinths, from Mrs. Fouchar of Boston.

The pall bearers were: Messrs. John A. McDonnell, Cornelius Moynihan, Michael B. Greany, Timothy Deasy, Michael O'Hara and Michael Burns.

The interment was in the family lot at St. Mary's cemetery at West Quincy.

Raleigh Can't Reach Wilmington.

Wilmington, N. C., May 5.—Thousands of persons gathered on the river front and in adjacent streets to witness the expected arrival of the cruiser Raleigh, and to extend a greeting to her officers and men, but the ship anchored in the harbor at Southport, at 6:30. The Raleigh is drawing 26 feet 6 inches, and Captain Coughlan and his officers regret that, on account of this draught, it is not advisable to take the ship up the river to Wilmington. An entertainment committee from Wilmington is arranging to send a steamer to take Captain Coughlan and his officers to Wilmington to give the reception for which they have planned.

Charged With Robbing Orphan.

New York, May 5.—William S. Young, a lawyer, was arrested in Brooklyn by means of a decoy letter. He was taken before a magistrate and held in $2500 for the arrival of requisition papers from Chicago. The charge against Young is that he embezzled between $25,000 and $30,000 of a fund left in trust to an orphan boy by the boy's father, for whom, it is alleged, Young had acted as attorney. The police say that Young was indicted in Cook county, Ills., on April 8, and is a fugitive from justice. Since his arrival east he is said to have engaged in real estate operations.

The Kentucky Derby.

Louisville, May 5.—The east triumphed when the scarlet colors of A. H. and D. H. Morris came first under the wire in the 25th Kentucky derby at Churchill Downs and 25,000 people cheered the son of Bob Miles as Taral rode into the semi-circle and saluted. It could not be called a great race, for Manuel won as he pleased, without an application of whip or spur or even a shaking up. It was an ideal day for the big event, and all Kentucky seemed to have turned out to do honor to the occasion.

NURSING THE GRANT'S SICK.

Volunteer Nurses' Excellent Work. Incidents of the Voyage to Manila.

Mrs. Whitelaw Reid has sent to Adjutant General Corbin at Washington a copy of a letter she recently received from Miss Marjorie Henshell, one of the volunteer nurses who went to the Philippines on the transport Grant. The letter, which was mailed at Colombo on Feb. 25, is as follows:

"I beg to report everything satisfactory with regard to the nurses' work. Up to the present there have been 450 patients cared for in hospital. The officers and their families have kept tolerably well. I have, however, a few of the women on my list. The Red Cross supplies have been simply invaluable and enable me to do so much more in the way of special diet. The surgeon in charge told me this morning that he intends to make special mention of the excellent work done by the nurses during the voyage, together with the advantages derived from Red Cross supplies, in his report to the surgeon general. The temperature ranges from 86 to 92 degrees F. We are experiencing much discomfort and inconvenience from the fact that much of our light clothing has been ruined by damp. I hope to be able to get several necessaries at Colombo. General Lawton is all anxiety to get to Manila with the least possible delay.

"A nice little incident occurred on Sunday. We overtook an English steamer, and after exchanging salutes a sailor on the Britisher, with incredible alacrity, got down on the side of their ship and in large white letters wrote 'Good Luck.' Our band then struck up 'God Save the Queen,' amid loud cheering and dipping of flags. All the soldiers were on deck and enjoyed the evidence of good will so far from home. I am certain we will have plenty of work, and I am glad to report that thus far everything has been satisfactory to the surgeons."—New York Tribune.

GIRLS CLUNG TO ICY TIES.

Hung From Below a Bridge While a Train Thundered Over Them.

Two Polish girls of Pittsfield, Mass., of the name of Lavinski had a narrow escape from a horrible death on the Consolidated road recently, and nothing but great presence of mind saved them, writes a correspondent for the Boston Globe.

They were crossing the bridge over the river between Housatonic and Glendale known as the Red bridge. When about half way across, the south bound milk train came around the curve at high speed and bore down upon them. The engineer blew his whistle and put on the brakes, but could not stop the train. The girls saw that there was not time to get to the end of the bridge before the train would be upon them. With remarkable presence of mind they got down between the crosspieces of the bridge, and, taking a firm hold on the ties, swung off over the river just as the heavy train thundered upon the bridge. Their situation was extremely perilous, for the ties were icy, the cold was intense and the bridge swayed and trembled under the weight of the train.

The engineer stopped his train as speedily as possible and with his fireman and the other trainhands hurried back. They expected to see the girls lying on the ice, far below, but found them clinging desperately to the ties. They were almost exhausted when rescued from their dangerous position. They were taken to Great Barrington on the train, being cared for by the trainmen and passengers. They could not speak a word of English, and nothing could be learned as to who they were or where they belonged. The Great Barrington people sent for some Poles and their identity was established. The passengers and trainmen were warm in their praises of the girls for their pluck in averting instant death under the wheels of the train.

The Government of the Philippines.

In my opinion, based on knowledge acquired in a residence of over 20 years in the Philippines, there will be no necessity for keeping a large force of white soldiers there. The Spaniards did not do so till their own atrocious misgovernment frightened them into augmenting the number of their European troops. Up to 1866 the only Spanish troops there were the European artillerymen who garrisoned the citadel. Why should we need more if we govern the islands decently? In General Kitchener's late brilliant campaign the bulk of his forces were fellahin and Sudanese commanded by a few picked British officers, not over five to a battalion. As our officers have had less experience, we need a few more, say one to a company, plus the field officers. This would not be a heavy drain on West Point.—Ogden E. Edwards in Independent.

A Church Car For Central Asia.

With the object of spreading the doctrines of the orthodox church in central Asia, the British government has, according to The Turkestan Messenger, caused a special church car to be built for use on the Central Asiatic railway, which will shortly be open for regular traffic as far east as Andijan. A chaplain will travel in charge of the car, which will be detached from the trains and again attached, according to the requirements of the towns on the line of the railway. It will shortly be formally consecrated at Tashkend.—Cor. London Post.

CAPTAIN CRAPO LOST.

His Little Skiff, the Volunteer, Is Found Bottom Up.

Had Started From Providence For Cuba.

Career of the Intrepid Sailor Reads Like a Chapter From a Novel.

Providence, May 5.—Captain Thomas Crapo of New Bedford, who recently sailed from this port for Cuba in a 9-foot, flat bottomed skiff, with a small canoe sail rig, was probably lost in Wednesday's gale, while rounding point Judith. His little boat, the Volunteer, was found bottom up, yesterday, by the life-savers, off Quonochontaug beach. The captain's hat was in the boat. He was seen Wednesday morning by the Point Judith life-saving crew, off that place, but showed no signal of distress.

CAPTAIN THOMAS CRAPO.

Probably the most notable feature of the life of Captain Crapo was when he crossed the Atlantic in 1877 in a 19-foot whaleboat, accompanied by his wife. She was the first woman to make such a trip in an open craft. The intrepid couple were 49 days on the trip.

The captain has sailed the seas ever since he was 14 years of age. On his first voyage, a whaling trip, he was wrecked in a small boat fast to a whale, and was saved by riding a whale's back till picked up. Four months later he again shipped whaling, but deserted and eventually reached a cannibal island in the Marquesas group, in the midst of the Pacific. He was captured by the natives, was adopted by the cannibal king, and, after several years, managed to escape by allowing himself to be bought by a party of European sailors for some paint, oil and powder.

During the Civil war he served under Admiral Farragut, and later, in the army, was with General Butler. In 1885 Captain Crapo was master of the schooner Gussie Wilson, of which he and his wife were the chief owners. On Aug. 26, in the midst of a furious gale, she was wrecked off Hatteras, and half of her crew of six men were lost.

Captain Crapo determined to be a Christian, and in 1896, while in command of the brig Manson, he offered to place her under the flag of the American Volunteers. The proposition struck Commander Ballington Booth favorably, and the Manson thereafter sailed as the accredited navy of the organization, while Captain Crapo was made a captain in the service. The Manson was wrecked in 1898 off the Delaware coast. Captain Crapo was 57 years of age.

TOTAL OF OVER A BILLION.

Bids Representing Many Millions Thrown Out In Subscriptions For "Coppers."

Boston, May 4.—The Financial News announces the result of the applications for stock in the Amalgamated Mining company, just incorporated under New Jersey laws, with a capital of $75,000,000. It says:

After throwing out bids that proved to be the efforts of speculators to take advantage of the great interest to make money with no risk, and after throwing out bids accompanied by checks that were not satisfactory, the first class amounting to over $170,000,000, and the latter to over $62,000,000, the total cash subscription was found to have reached the gigantic sum of $412,000,000, which gave to each and every subscriber 18 percent of his subscription.

It is not known how much was represented in the 300 subscribers who were too late, but it is estimated at $50,000,000. It is estimated that the sum total of the subscriptions that were thrown out or that arrived by messenger or mail—for the mail is still pouring into the bank—was between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000, which, added to what insiders had intended to secure for themselves, would have carried the total to over $1,000,000,000.

It is estimated also that there are a great many, who, anticipating an enormous over-subscription, have refrained from subscribing, and will purchase in the open market.

England sent in subscriptions for $50,000,000, Germany and France, $20,000,000 each. Boston and New England showed its steadfast faith in copper by subscribing for over $200,000,000. The subscription books for the stock closed at noon yesterday.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, May 5.—When the Dumond license limitation bill reached the upper branch all rules were suspended and it was promptly given all its readings, so that now it merely remains to be formally enacted before going to the governor.

Senator Bailey asked a reconsideration of the rejection of a bill regarding engineers' licenses. The motion prevailed and the bill was ordered to a third reading.

Senator Hodgkins moved a reconsideration of the engrossment of a bill for vestibuled electric cars, and had the matter laid over to Tuesday.

The house refused to concur in the senate amendments to the anti-coercion bill, and appointed a committee of conference. Mr. Cullinane, who made the motion to non-concur, said the whole intent of the amendments was to knife the labor organizations.

The committee on mercantile affairs reported a bill incorporating the West Sutton Cemetery association.

The committee on ways and means reported ought not to pass on the bill for the appointment of a committee to regulate and equalize salaries of state and county officials.

Mr. Judd offered an order limiting all speeches after May 8 to 10 minutes, unless the time be extended by a two-thirds vote of the members present.

The bill for a new hospital and bath-house building at the Massachusetts reformatory was taken from the table, but the house refused to reconsider its former vote referring the bill to the next general court. After half an hour's debate the house refused to reconsider its adverse vote on the bill to define the power of courts to punish for contempt.

The Cape Cod canal bill will be reported in the house from the committee on harbors and public lands. The committee yesterday voted to report the bill petitioned by Alexander Dow and others, which provides for the building of the canal by the Buzzard's bay route, with certain amendments. It is understood that the capital will be $6,000,000, and a forfeiture of $25,000 is required if the location is not fixed within three months to the towns of Bourne and Sandwich if the location is not fixed as stipulated.

Good Opinion of Tagalogs.

Lewiston, Me., May 5.—Senator W. P. Frye delivered a lecture here last evening on the "Peace Commission at Paris." Mr. Frye said that the commission was well treated by the French government and spoke very highly of the ability and courtesy of the Spanish commissioners. He gave the reasons for the demand of the United States that Spain should relinquish the sovereignty of the Philippines, which were in brief that the United States was bound by common honesty and fairness to prevent the insurgents' falling into the hands of the Spanish, who would have treated them with great severity. Such a course, he said, would have been a lasting disgrace to the United States. He spoke in glowing terms of the Tagalogs, their intelligence and other good qualities, and claimed that with a good government they would become highly civilized.

Visiting the Hub.

Boston, May 5.—Captain Charles E. Clark and his wife have arrived from Vermont for a three days' visit to friends in this city. The famous captain of the still more famous Oregon was met upon his arrival by a number of newspaper men, but, after laughingly stating that he was in Boston on a pleasure trip and declining to recount again the 14,000-mile voyage and the battle, he went directly to the residence of his brother-in-law in Dorchester. During his stay in Boston Captain Clark will attend two banquets.

Commander Harris.

Portland, Me., May 5.—The grand commandery of Knights Templar yesterday elected the following officers: Commander, Herbert Harris, East Machias; deputy commander, Albert M. Spear, Gardiner; generalissimo, Clayton J. Farrington, Lewiston; captain general, Gilman P. Lombard, Belfast; senior warden, Frederick W. Plaisted, Augusta; junior warden, Frederick C. Thayer, Waterville; prelate, Edwin H. Vose, Calais; treasurer, Leander W. Forbes, Portland; recorder, Stephen Berry, Portland.

Two-Thirds "Shy."

Chester, Vt., May 5.—Reports from different parts of the state indicate that the maple sugar crop for the season is about one-third of the usual yield. In some of the best sections of the state the crop is nearly a total failure. It was a peculiar season, the ravages of the tent caterpillar being responsible. The indications are that the work of the caterpillar will continue during the season, and the ruin of the orchards in certain sections is almost certain.

Sad Double Drowning.

Medford, Mass., May 5.—Charles E. Kummer, Jr., and Robert C. Kummer, brothers, were drowned last evening in Mystic lake. They were two of the city's most popular young men. The accident occurred while the men were taking their initial trip in a light canoe. Cries were heard by people on the shore, but when search was made only the overturned canoe was found. Charles was 21 years of age and Robert five years his senior.

New Tracks Going Down.

Worcester, Mass., May 5.—The Worcester and Suburban street railway commenced today to relay all the tracks on the Milbury division. Recent accidents attributed to spread of rails, is said to be the cause of the action of the road.

Useless as a Fort.

Halifax, May 5.—The Mail says: The Citadel, the largest fort in Halifax, has been condemned by the military authorities. The Citadel, constructed at a height of 253 feet above the level of the sea, is practically useless as a fort, and will be utilized hereafter principally for barrack purposes. The old cannon have been dumped and replaced by a few Maxims. The Citadel was looked upon as the Dunkirk of America. It was constructed at an enormous cost. Today the great fort that was considered impregnable is declared useless.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—4:32; sets, 6:49.
Moon rises—2:29 a. m.
High water—8:15 a. m.; 8:45 p. m.

The barometer continues high over the middle and north Atlantic coast states. A decided fall in temperature has been attended by showers and thunder storms from Michigan over the Ohio valley and Tennessee; elsewhere fair weather has prevailed. Present reports indicate that fair weather will continue in the New England states. Along the Atlantic coast the winds will be variable north of Virginia.

WANTS LAND AS INDEMNITY.

Spain Has a Claim Against China For Violation of Neutrality Agreement.

Hong Kong, May 5.—Spain is collecting evidence with a view of claiming a cession of land in China as indemnity from the Chinese government for permitting the steamer Abbey to leave Canton last autumn with arms for the Filipinos.

The little steamer Abbey was seized by the armed dispatch boat of Admiral Dewey's squadron on Sept. 23 last. She was of American register, though formerly known as the Pasig. It was reported to Admiral Dewey that she was carrying arms and supplies of war to the Filipinos, and he sent the McCulloch to intercept her. When the American cutter finally found the Abbey in Batangas Bay, on the southern coast of Luzon, the filibuster had landed her cargo of arms and munitions, and the insurgents refused to give them up. Thereupon the Abbey was seized and taken by the McCulloch to Manila, in accordance with Admiral Dewey's desire to maintain the status quo in the Philippines pending the conclusion of the work of the peace commission in Paris.

Injurious Foods.

Chicago, May 5.—At the pure food convention yesterday Dr. Wiley gave further information to the committee regarding the articles sold in this country which were adulterated. The witness said that adulterations of food and drink which were injurious to the public health could be classed in two groups—coloring and preserving. The matter which was used mainly in restoring the natural color of green peas, the witness declared, was sometimes salts of zinc and sometimes salts of copper, either of which was poisonous. Probably the most common chemical used as a preservative, Dr. Wiley said, was salicyclic acid, which was made to a great extent from carbolic acid. It should not be permitted, he stated, because it was very bad for the health, especially to those who had weak stomachs. He ended his testimony by saying that no food offered for sale which contained preservatives was fit to eat.

Under Martial Law.

Wardner, Ida., May 5.—Four hundred United States troops are on guard in the Couer d'Alene mining district and martial law is in full force in Shoshone county. Brigadier General Merriam has ordered, if possible, the arrest of all those implicated in blowing up the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mines. While it is known that several of the mob, fearing arrest, have escaped from Shoshone county, a large majority of those wanted are still within the county. Every avenue of escape from the Couer d'Alene district is guarded by troops, and the federal authorities believe that the arrest of all suspected will be made without serious trouble.

To Fight In Colorado.

Denver, May 5.—Telegrams were received last night by Manager Flotto of the Colorado Athletic association from Brady and Julian, representing Jeffries and Fitzsimmons, accepting his offer of a purse of $25,000 for the fight.

CITY OF QUINCY.

[Extracts from the Laws of this Commonwealth.]

Every owner or keeper of a dog of three months old or over, shall annually on or before the THIRTIETH DAY OF APRIL, cause it to be REGISTERED, NUMBERED, DESCRIBED and LICENSED for one year from the first day of the ensuing May, in the office of the Clerk of the city or town wherein said dog is kept, and shall cause it to wear around its neck a collar distinctly marked with the owner's name and its registered number.

Any owner of a dog may at any time have it licensed until the first day of the ensuing May; and a person becoming the owner or keeper of a dog after the first day of May, not duly licensed, shall cause it to be registered, numbered, described and licensed as provided in the preceding section.

The FEE for every license shall be TWO DOLLARS for a Male dog and FIVE DOLLARS for a Female dog.

Whoever keeps a dog contrary to the provisions of this chapter shall forfeit FIFTEEN DOLLARS, five dollars of which shall be paid to the complainant and ten dollars to the treasurer of the county in which the dog is kept.

Every owner or keeper of dogs kept for breeding purposes may receive annually a special license authorizing him to keep such dogs upon the premises described in such license. When the number of dogs so kept does not exceed five, the fee for such license shall be TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS; when the number of dogs so kept exceeds five, the fee shall be FIFTY DOLLARS, and no fee shall be required for the dogs of such owner or keeper under the age of six months.

Any owner or keeper of a dog not duly licensed, which becomes three months old after the thirtieth day of April in any year, shall, whenever it is three months old, cause it to be registered, numbered, described and licensed until the first day of the ensuing May, as provided in Section 80 of Chapter 102 of the Public Statutes, and shall cause is to wear around its neck a collar distinctly marked with its owner's name and its registered number.

When you awake

more tired than when you went to bed, with an unpleasant taste in the mouth, your tongue coated and dry, and having no appetite for breakfast, you are suffering from Dyspepsia.

Numbers of people are suffering seriously from this complaint and its result, when one package of U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLETS will bring about a prompt cure. A few doses will do more for a Weak or Sour Stomach than a prolonged course of any other medicine. Nothing can be used with so much certainty in obstinate cases of Constipation.

These tablets are the outcome of years of study, and are compounded of the finest drugs only, purely vegetable, they do not gripe, produce no reaction. Take no substitute. 10 CENTS PER PACKAGE.

If you cannot get them at your druggist, send 10 cts. for a package of 12 to the U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLET CO., 17 EAST 14TH ST., NEW YORK.

GIVE THE CHILDREN A DRINK

called Grain-O. It is a delicious, appetizing, nourishing food drink to take the place of coffee. Sold by all grocers and liked by all who have used it because when properly prepared it tastes like the finest coffee but is free from all its injurious properties. Grain-O aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. It is not a stimulant but a health builder, and children, as well as adults, can drink it with great benefit. Costs about 1-4 as much as coffee. 15 and 25c.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

The Social Realm.

What is yesterday?
Yesterday is today grown tired and still
With feet at rest and heart made mute and chill;
Tearless, unsmilling, unremembering,
And unregretting; . . . gone as far away
As the first night and morn. . . . A waif and stray
Lost in eternity, is yesterday!

ARBITRATION.

State Boards Report on Special Bargains.

To Be Left to Manufacturer and Employe.

Number of Apprentices Not in Their Province.

The State Board of Arbitration has made its report upon the two matters upon which the Granite Manufacturers' and Cutters' Union failed to agree when the new bill of prices was made up last month.

These were the special bargain clause, which was to regulate the price that should be paid, and the number of apprentices that should be employed to a gang of men.

In the matter we of special bargains, the decision leaves it in practically the same as before, that is the price to be paid for work not specified in the bill of prices shall be as agreed upon between the manufacturer and workman, but in no case shall the price be less than the average price paid per hour for day work.

In the matter of apprentices the old rule gave the manufacturer a right to use is own discretion as to the number that should be employed. This the cutters wished changed limiting the number two to a gang.

The State Board report that in the opinion of the Attorney General, it was not in their province to fix this matter, and they therefore declined to render any finding or recommendation.

This practically leaves the two matters as they have been and there will probably be no further action taken by either party.

Granite Exhibit.

The United States Commission to the Paris Exposition of 1900 wish our Quarrying and Manufacturing interests to be informed, that all who desire to exhibit at Paris next year should immediately notify the Commissioner, if they have not already done so, in order that they may be considered in the allotment of space which will soon be made. A communication from the office says: "While there are many applications on file in every line of industry, it is desirable that the American sections be not only representative of this country but also represent the largest possible number of producers. Both our commercial interests and national pride demand that our works be entered in this most important International Exposition." This sentiment can be warmly endorsed, not only upon the ground of sentiment but on that of International commercial progress to which this country has become rapidly related, and which will require a goodly share of American business energy and enterprise.—Monumental News.

None Equal to Quincy.

The condition of business in Quincy today is at least fifty per cent. better than it has been for three years, especially with the manufacturers who do first-class work and use the best granite. To account for this rush of orders there are other reasons besides the general prosperity of the country, the principal one being, in the opinion of Mr. T. F. Mannex, that the dealers and the public are beginning to realize the fact that there is no granite in the market today, in this or any other country, equal to the best dark Quincy for beauty and durability, and customers who, for the past few years have been buying other granite, because it was a little cheaper, are now placing their orders in Quincy.—Monumental News.

Monday the mercury went up to 90 all vegetation started with a rush. A thundershower Monday evening was followed by a cold wave on Tuesday; and Wednesday morning men wore heavy coats, and people in carriages wore buffalo robes, if they had them.

THE FRIENDLIES FLED.

White Force Was Unable to Cope With the Forces of Mataafa.

Misled by the Statements of Captain Hufnagel.

Details of Fight In Which Two Americans and Two Britishers Were Killed.

San Francisco, May 6.—Private advices from Apia state that United States Consul General Osborne, who is acting president, and as such custodian of the revenue, is ordered by the Berlin treaty as such custodian to pay money on order of the Samoan government. The government, through its secretary of state, has drawn an order on the custodian of the revenues for the amount of King Tanus' salary for the month of January, but Osborne has refused to pay, and proceedings have been taken against him by way of a petition to the supreme court to compel payment. Osborne, it is stated, is the only one of the British or American officials who will have anything to do with the German consul, Rose. Osborne, however, has frequent conferences with the German consul and is quite intimate with him. It is stated that his attitude is regarded with great disfavor by the British and Americans in Samoa.

The regular correspondent of The Associated Press, writing from Apia, Samoa, on April 20, gives a detailed account of the fighting in which Lieutenant Lansdale and Ensign Monaghan of the American navy, and Lieutenant Freeman of the British navy lost their lives.

On April 1 a landing party made up of 60 American sailors and marines, 82 English sailors and 120 natives proceeded to Vailele to break up an assemblage of rebels, who had been committing depredations. The party was commanded by Lieutenant Freeman, first officer of the Tauranga, and with him were Lieutenants Cave of the Porpoise and Hickman of the Royalist. The Americans were commanded by Lieutenant Lansdale, who had with him Ensign Monaghan and Lieutenant Perkins of the marine corps.

Dr. Lung of the Philadelphia accompanied the expedition. When the party reached the German plantation Lieutenant Cave asked Captain Hufnagel, the German manager, if there were any Samoans near. The manager said none had been there that day. At that very moment, a few hundred yards away, was a large body of rebels. Hufnagel advised that a return home be made by the main road through the plantation, as no rebels had been about. Three other Germans heard this conversation. No one gave any warning of danger.

The return march to the beach was commenced, and no sooner had the men got out of the plantation when, at a bend in the road, 400 yards away, large numbers of rebels were seen. A Colt automatic gun was brought forward. It refused to act. The rebels got off clear and a halt was made and the gun was fixed. The gun then worked all right and the march was resumed, with the friendly natives in the lead. Misled by the information of Hufnagel, it was decided to return by the main road. The open space where the Germans had been massacred by Mataafa's men years ago was passed and the troops marched to a narrow gully, the sides of which were covered with buffalo grass. On top of the slope, just after the last of the troops had begun to march through the gully, the rebels fired upon them. The line was 300 yards in length. The rebels were lying in the long grass, while some were in the tops of cocoanut trees. The Colt gun again refused to act, and while Lieutenant Lansdale was trying to fix it he was wounded in the knee. At the beginning of the firing Lieutenant Freeman was shot through the chest and fell dead. The friendly natives retreated at the first fire, the white force was too weak to cope with the rebels and the whole force was thrown into confusion. To retreat was imperative, and the automatic gun was abandoned after the ammunition had been scattered and the breach taken away, rendering it useless.

The allied forces were attacked from three sides. Through the scrub and grass the sailors retired, Lansdale being assisted by his men. The firing of the rebels was severe. Lansdale, who was being assisted by Ensign Monaghan and two men, seeing that he could not get away, urged them to leave him. One of the sailors was shot dead and the other, seeing he could not save his officer, retreated and escaped. Monaghan stayed by his fellow officer. Next morning their headless bodies were found on the battlefield. Monaghan's revolver was empty, as was also Lansdale's. Between them lay three dead rebels. Monaghan, before the last man left, shot the chief, Aino, dead as he was advancing on Lansdale. Deserters from Mataafa's camp relate how Monaghan stood over Lansdale until that officer was shot dead and then tried to escape himself, but was unable to do so. When the American party reached the beach it was found four men were missing besides the officers. They were Edsell and Butler of the Philadelphia and Long and Prout from the British ships.

Dr. Lung, who had been conspicuous for coolness and bravery under fire, took command of the American forces, and on the approach of reinforcements the rebels retired. Several of the Malietoan natives lost their lives. The decapitated bodies of the three officers were recovered next morning and on Easter Sunday they were buried with the heads which had been recovered by a French priest. All the leading American and British residents and officials were present. The Germans were absent, the only one attending being Pastor Margraf, who had known Lansdale in the United States. The German warship Falke had her flag at half-mast and her officers sent ashore two wreaths entwined with the German colors.

In the fight 43 men were killed on the Mataafa side and 50 were wounded.

Robert Hunt, a marine, was knocked senseless during the ambush. The natives thought him dead and cut off his right ear. The shock brought him to, and he escaped.

Captain Hufnagel, the German manager, has been arrested for complicity in the fight. He is on board the Falke under pledge from her commander to return him to Captain Stuart on demand. Affidavits have been made by men engaged in the Vailel fight that a white man was with the rebels directing them throughout the engagement. Hufnagle answers the description of this man exactly. Deserters from Mataafa's forces say that on a previous occasion Hufnagle had narrowly escaped being shot while encouraging the rebels to attack.

Von Buelow, a Prussian cavalry officer, has been deported to Sydney by the German commander. He was seen on April 12 in command of 300 men on the way to reinforce Mataafa.

RECORD-BREAKING CLEARINGS

Show the Interest Taken In New Combinations, Features of the Business World.

New York, May 6.—Bradstreet's says: That this is, indeed, an era of trade and industrial combinations seems evident from the long list of announcements of new consolidations coming to public view this week. Easily first in this direction is the gigantic iron and steel combination said to be in process of formation. Second only to this is the actual floating of the great copper combination. Features of these great enterprises are found in record-breaking totals of daily clearings at the metropolis and at many other cities.

While wholesale trade continues of a between seasons volume, general evidence is forthcoming that the aggregate is in excess of last year's good proportions, and retail demand is encouraging. That the volume of all business booked is in excess of the average is generally conceded. In industrial lines activity is most marked in delivery of goods on orders. Features are the continued heavy shipments of supplies in the iron and steel trade.

The tone of general values is notably strong for the season, a prominent exception being pork and hog products, which have been the subject of bearish manipulation. Cereals are generally firm.

Crop advices are contradictory, but good weather has made for successful planting and growth of spring wheat, while foreign advices continue good and export demand is of only moderate proportions. This, coupled with smaller than expected decreases in world's supplies, acts as a check to values which might otherwise record the damage to the winter wheat crop.

Raw cotton is rather weaker on improving weather and crop conditions, but manufactured goods are very firm.

Wool markets note a change in the buying of large lots of domestic wools for speculation and prices are firm in sympathy with advanced quotations paid for large lots of Australian bonded wool bought for re-export.

Leather and hides are firm, and boot and shoe manufacturers are realizing advanced quotations.

Settlers Are Busy.

Durango, Col., May 6.—Building on several new town sites in the Ute lands is going forward with all possible speed. The filings at the land office number 80. There is no way of estimating the number of actual settlers. They are in no hurry to file. New York parties are looking over the ground with a view to building a railroad through the old reservation from Durango to Albuquerque, N. M. Several large irrigating enterprises are also under way.

LEO TOLSTOI ON PEACE.

Noted Count's Views on the Czar's Conference.

WHY HE THINKS IT WILL BE FUTILE

Calls It "a Hypocritical Arrangement" to Hide the One Means of Obtaining Peace—Refusal to Enter Military Service the Only Way to Universal Disarmament.

It is said that the easiest and surest way to universal disarmament is by individuals refusing to take part in military service. This is most just. I am even of opinion that this is the only way to escape from the terrible and ever increasing miseries of wardom (militarism). But that at the conference which is about to assemble at the czar's invitation the question should be debated whether men who refuse military service may not be employed on public works instead appears to me quite a mistaken idea—in the first place, because the conference itself can be nothing but one of those hypocritical arrangements which aim, not at peace, but, on the contrary, at hiding from men the one means of obtaining universal peace which the foremost men are now beginning to discern.

The conference, it is said, will aim, if not at disarmament, then at checking the increase of armaments. It is supposed that at this conference the representatives of governments will agree to cease increasing their forces. If so, the question involuntarily presents itself, How will the governments of those countries act which at the time of this meeting happen to be weaker than their neighbors? Such governments will hardly agree to remain in that condition—weaker than their neighbors—or, if they have such firm belief in the validity of the stipulations made by the conference as to agree to remain weaker, why should they not be weaker still? Why spend money on an army at all?

If, again, the business of the conference will be to equalize the fighting forces of the various states and to keep them stationary, then, even could such an impossible balance be arrived at, the question involuntarily arises, Why need the governments stop at such armaments as now exist? Why not decrease them? Why need Germany, France and Russia have, say, for instance, 1,000,000 men each, and not 500,000, or why not 10,000 each, or why not 1,000 each? If the diminution is possible, why not reduce to a minimum? And finally, why not, instead of armies, have champions—David and Goliath—and settle international questions according to the results of their combats?

It is said that the conflicts between governments are to be decided by arbitration. But, apart from the fact that the disputes will be settled not by representatives of the people, but by representatives of the governments, and that there is no guarantee that the decisions will be just ones, who is to carry out the decisions of the court? The army? Whose army? That of all the powers. But the strength of those armies is unequal. Who, for instance, on the continent is to carry out a decision which is disadvantageous, say, for Germany, Russia and France allied together? Or who, at sea, will carry out a decision contrary to the interests of England, America and France? The arbitrator's sentence against the military violence of states will be carried out by military violence—that is to say, the thing that has to be checked is to be the instrument by which it is to be checked. To catch a bird put salt on its tail.

But if, as appeared from the explanations that followed the manifesto, it will be an aim of the conference to prohibit implements of destruction which seem particularly cruel—and why, while they are about it, not try to prohibit the seizure of letters, the falsification of telegrams, the spy system, and all the terrible meannesses which form an integral part of military defense—such prohibition to use in strife all the means that exist is just as impracticable as it is to forbid people fighting for their lives to strike the most sensitive parts of the body. And why is a wound or death from an explosive bullet worse than a wound from the most ordinary bullet or splinter inflicted on a very tender part? The suffering in that case also reaches the utmost limit, and is followed by just the same death as results from any other weapon.

The aim of the conference will be not to establish peace, but to hide from men the sole means of escape from the miseries of war, which lies in the refusal by private individuals of all participation in the murders of war. And, therefore, the conference can on no account accept for discussion the question suggested.

Armies will only be diminished and abolished when people cease to trust governments and themselves seek salvation from the miseries that oppress them, and seek safety not by the complicated and delicate combinations of diplomats, but in the simple fulfillment of that law, binding upon every man, inscribed in all religious teachings and present in every heart, not to do to others what you wish them not to do to you—above all, not to slay your neighbors.

Armies will first diminish and then disappear only when public opinion brands with contempt those who, whether from fear or for advantage, sell their liberty and enter the ranks of those murderers called soldiers, and when the men now ignored and even blamed—who, in despite of all the persecution and suffering they have borne, have refused to yield the control of their actions into the hands of others and become the tools of murder—are recognized by public opinion to be the foremost champions and benefactors of mankind. Only then will armies first diminish and then quite disappear and a new era in the life of mankind will commence. And that time is near.

And that is why I think that the refusals to serve in the army are facts of immense importance and that they will emancipate mankind from the miseries of war. But the opinion that the conference may conduce toward this is quite an error. The conference can only divert people's eyes from the sole path leading to safety and to liberty.—Independent.

TARS WILL SAIL FOR PARIS.

Illinois Veteran Naval Reserves' Plan to Reach the Exposition.

If the present plans of the Illinois Veteran Naval Reserves are carried out, 150 members of the organization will go to the Paris exposition in 1900 in their own vessel, sailed by a crew composed of members of the association. The trip will be made by way of the great lakes and the St. Lawrence river.

The association intends to buy a vessel of 130 tons and to use it during the coming season for training purposes on Lake Michigan. Such a boat can be had for about $2,500, and General McNulta and other friends of the organization have agreed to do their share toward raising the funds. John A. Walsh, Bert Mason, Thomas L. Page, S. D. Sadd and other members who fought in Cuban waters during the Spanish war as members of the Illinois naval reserves, are actively at work on the scheme and feel confident of success. Lieutenant W. J. Wilson, president of the organization, has been consulted and promises to do all he can to assist.

The intention is to leave Chicago about April 15, 1900. The little craft will be sailed up the Seine to Paris and anchored as near the exposition grounds as practicable. After seeing the sights of the French capital the party will sail home over the same route used in going. The promoters of the scheme say that if 150 boys go it will cost each member of the party about $30 to make the round trip.—Chicago Tribune.

HELD A REGIMENT IN CHECK

How Engineer Winship Saved a Landing Party.

The following extract is from a private letter dated March 11, received by a naval officer in Washington from a friend in Manila. It relates to Assistant Engineer Emory Winship of the gunboat Bennington. Mr. Winship is from Georgia and was graduated from the Naval academy in July, 1896:

"Winship did a fine thing last week," says the writer. "A landing party of about 125 from the Bennington went ashore on Malabon in several boats, and a launch remained, with Winship and two men as boatkeepers and to watch steam. The landing party advanced foolishly without scouts and precautions and were suddenly set upon by a regiment of Filipinos. They fled for the beach to the boats, pursued by the natives, and were hard pressed. Seeing this, Winship unlimbered the revolving cannon in the bow of the launch and turned it loose upon the pursuers. He kept up a deadly fire, and 30 Filipinos were killed or disabled. He stood off the whole gang, enabling our party to get to their boats safely. He then fell, having received five bullets. Tausig says that but for Winship none of the party would have escaped."

Tausig is the commander of the Bennington.—New York Sun.

IN A ROCK CRYPT.

Mummies of Ancient Cliff Dwellers Found In Arizona.

The mummies of three ancient cliff dwellers have recently been discovered in a hillside near old Camp Verde, A. T. They were found in a crypt dug into the solid rock and tightly sealed by a wall of masonry, the interior of the crypt being neatly plastered. A number of mummies have been taken from these cliffs in times past, all of them being those of pygmies, with a cranial formation distinctly Mongolian. Those recently found are so small as to be those of children. They were wrapped in a single cotton blanket, which was intact and has been saved, except the portion that was between the bodies and the ground.

It is usual for all cloth and even wood found in such crypts to crumble on exposure to the air, but this blanket texture is still firm. A string of rough beads comprising a necklace 30 inches long was also found.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Dog Commits Suicide.

A valuable shepherd dog, belonging to Charles Cooper, met his death at Waukegan, Ills., under circumstances which suggest deliberate suicide. The dog was usually very obedient and when reprimanded for disobedience would always seem to feel bad. The other day his master had occasion to punish the dog. After a chastisement the dog walked meekly away toward the railroad tracks. As a train came along he jumped directly under the wheels and was killed.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Havana's Sewers.

Captain A. W. Cook of Colonel Black's office is working a force of 300 men on Havana's sewers day and night. Owing to the clogged condition of the sewers it was deemed a matter of urgent necessity to open them. By July 1 it is expected that all the sewers of the city will be under control. To properly do the work it is necessary to lift the paving and open the sewers every eight or ten feet. It is thought that the work of constructing the new sewers will commence about the 1st of next October.—Exchange.

FIGHT IS ABOUT ENDED.

Many Marlboro Strikers Think They Have Been Idle Long Enough.

Union Declares That Boycott Remains In Force,

But Will Not Take Cognizance of the Return of Some of Its Members.

Marlboro, Mass., May 6.—The shoe workers' strike, which has continued for nearly 25 weeks, has been practically dissolved by the application of a large number of the strikers for their former positions.

The union does not take cognizance of the return of some of its members as ending the strike, and still asserts that not only is the strike effective, but the boycott declared against the factories of S. H. Howe, John A. Frye, Rice & Hutchins, and John A. O'Connell & Sons remains in force. The union does not class these members, who, after having been reduced to dire straits in serving the union during the strike, returned to work, as "scab" workmen. The joint council of the Boot and Shoe Workers' union has interpreted the situation to the effect that it would be unfair to keep those strikers out longer, who, of necessity, wished to return to work.

The strike involved nearly 3500 shoe workers, 1000 of whom, it is said, have sought employment elsewhere, 1000 are at work in the several factories hereabouts, and 1500 remain idle.

The manufacturers, while not inclined to be severe as to the giving of employment to the strikers, state that they will not displace those already employed, who are capable, for the returning men. As a result of this condition, a large number of the strikers have been refused employment, although there is reason to believe that the experienced operatives will be eventually employed in preference to inexperienced hands.

The manufacturers have been caused no end of inconvenience and financial loss as a result of their being unable to fill orders during the long term of turmoil, and now that the time has returned when the factories can resume their old rate of production, there is much improvement in every line, and general satisfaction that the difficulties may be adjusted quickly.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, May 6.—What was in a sense a victory for the anti-Quincy Democrats was accomplished in the house when the bill to abolish the Boston board of apportionment was admitted in place of an adverse report on it. There was a lively debate on it.

The school repair bill was passed, as was the bill to prevent women and minors from working where intoxicating liquors are sold or prepared for sale.

The house passed the bill to extend the term of the Boston transit commission.

The Dow Cape Cod canal bill was favorably reported in the senate, and the Drummond bill was enacted and sent to the governor.

When the anti-coercion bill came up from the house, Senator George moved that the senate insist and concur in the appointment of a committee of conference. The motion prevailed.

A bill for the purchase of Spanish war regimental histories was engrossed.

The wide tire bill was passed to be engrossed, without debate.

A bill to provide that the governor shall designate justices of the peace, who shall perform the marriage ceremony, was engrossed without debate.

Governor Wolcott gave a hearing to Boston produce men, who remonstrated against the signing of the bill requiring "renovated" butter to be re-marked.

Searching For Crapo's Body.

Narragansett Pier, R. I., May 6.—A diligent search is being made along the Point Judith shore by the life savers in hopes of picking up the body of Captain Thomas Crapo of New Bedford, who is believed to have been drowned by the overturning of his nine-foot craft, the Volunteer. There is some belief among the fishermen that Captain Crapo was picked up by a passing vessel, yet all admit that time enough has elapsed for the rescuing vessel to have reported the fact. The Quonochontang life saving crew say that the Volunteer was in good condition when found; that her sail was unbent with the sheet afoul of the painter. The flag was flying, and in the tiny locker were cans of beef, an oil jacket and numerous other articles. One of the truck wheels used by Captain Crapo in hauling the boat on land was also tied in the standing room.

Consolidation Completed.

Providence, May 6.—Marsden J. Perry, who is identified with the Union Traction company, in an interview on the reported consolidation of street railways in eastern Massachusetts, says that such a consolidation is practically completed. The roads gathered together are those centering at Brockton, the Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill, the Boston and Quincy, the Lynn and Boston, most of the roads centering in Salem, the Newport and Fall River, the Globe street railway of Fall River, and the Taunton street railway. The consolidation will be on a capitalization of $22,000,000.

Glad to See Clark.

Boston, May 6.—Captain Clark, former commander of the battleship Oregon, was the guest of the Society of California Pioneers of New England yesterday. For half an hour a stream of people thronged in and out of the parlors of the United States hotel and shook hands with the captain. Isaac S. Pear and John Coness assisted Captain and Mrs. Clark in receiving. A banquet was served, and when it was concluded Captain Clark briefly addressed the veterans.

Guilty of Assault.

South Paris, Me., May 6.—Albert Blabon, aged 40, was found guilty in the supreme court on a charge of assaulting Mrs. Elbridge Thorne, matron of the Denmark poor farm. Three witnesses told how Blabon assaulted Mrs. Thorne with a club, inflicting injuries which nearly caused her death, and his only provocation was that she had given him a pair of mittens on a cold day, out of kindness. Blabon made a general denial.

Want Cheaper Gas.

Everett, Mass., May 6.—The city government has appointed a committee to consult with the officials of the New England Gas and Coke company relative to the procuring of cheaper illuminating gas. The citizens claim, with the gigantic plant of the New England Gas and Coke company now in operation in that city, that Everett should be able to buy gas as cheaply as any city in the state.

Maine Woods Afire.

Springvale, Me., May 6.—Fire burned over a large portion of the wooded district between Milton, N. H., and Lebanon, Me., yesterday. A crew from the Portland and Rochester road headed off the fire at the south side, and the chances are good that the blaze will exhaust itself. No building has been burned.

Employes Not Paid.

Worcester, Mass., May 6.—One hundred and fifty employes of the Baker-Ricketson company are now clamoring for their wages, which are not forthcoming. The funds of the company are tied up by legal proceedings and the men are unable to get any pay.

Dr. Cook Heard From.

New York, May 6.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the explorer, who, nearly two years ago, sailed for the Antarctic regions with the Belgian expedition, has been heard from. The British steamship Coya, which arrived yesterday from South American ports, brought the latest news of Dr. Cook. Captain Thomas says that while at anchor at Montevideo Dr. Cook boarded the Coya. He said he was coming to New York, but was not able to get ready in time to take the Coya. He would probably, he said, sail by the next steamer.

Strikers Unyielding.

Buffalo, May 6.—The members of the state board of arbitration and mediation worked hard yesterday in an endeavor to settle the existing troubles on the docks. Conferences were held with the strike leaders, meetings were addressed and speeches listened to, and at midnight a conference was going on at the Iroquois hotel, at which were present representatives of all the interests involved, and a most determined effort was made to bring about a settlement of the difficulty. While there is every indication that Contractor Conners is willing to grant concessions to the strikers, in the way of advanced wages and the removal of the saloon bosses, the strikers show a most unyielding spirit. At 1 o'clock this morning the conference between the different interests was closed. Nothing was accomplished.

Bay State Jackies.

Washington, May 6.—The navy department has fixed the dates for the annual drills of the Massachusetts naval militia as of the eight days from Sept. 6 to 14 and Sept. 15 to 23. The start will be made from Boston in each case. The Massachusetts militia will send out 700 men on these cruises, being divided into two bodies of 350 each. The Prairie will take the men aboard. Eight days will be spent entirely at sea by the men, and no time will be wasted in harbors. The department has allotted 300 rounds of ammunition for the cruises, besides subcaliber ammunition in the discretion of the commanding officer, which means practically without stint. Secretary Long has made an order loaning to the Massachusetts militia the converted yacht Inca.

McPartland an Easy Winner.

New York, May 6.—"Kid" McPartland of this city knocked out Jack Bennett of McKeesport, Pa., in the fifth round of what was to have been a 25-round bout here last night. The men weighed in at 133 pounds. The betting was 2 to 1 on McPartland. When the third minute of the fifth round was nearly over, Bennett tried his right for the head, leaving his body exposed, and McPartland swiftly landed a half swinging left upper cut, just below the heart. Bennett dropped to the floor and lay there helpless. His seconds carried him to his corner, and five minutes elapsed before he was able to leave the ring.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—4:32; sets, 6:50.
Moon rises—2:57 a. m.
High water—9:15 a. m.; 9:30 p. m.

An area of high barometer has overspread the Atlantic coast states, causing somewhat lower temperatures, cloudy weather and light rains from the Ohio valley over the south Atlantic states. It promises to be generally fair in New England. Along the New England coast the winds will be variable.

ROOTERS DISAPPOINTED.

Fine Crowd Greeted the Bostons, but Many Got Tired and Left.

Boston, May 6.—The formal opening of the league season in this city at the South End grounds was not a glittering success, from a Boston standpoint. Hanlon's Brooklyn team rendered a pronounced defeat to the home champions, and thereby unlocked the tie for fourth place in the championship race. Besides, the Superbas gave a practical exemplification of the diamond art, while Manager Selee's boys were singularly deficient in hustle, vim and that rallying spirit that looks good even against insurmountable odds. A fine crowd greeted the home-coming of the Boston champions, but the predestined result of the combat caused many of the enthusiasts to leave before the game was finished.

A Peculiar Case.

Louisville, May 6.—George Dinning, the negro who shot and killed Jodie Conn, leader of the mob that came to burn his house, received a verdict of $50,000 against his surviving assailants in the federal court Friday. The jury, composed of white men, gave him the full amount of damages he asked for. The defendants are six farmers of Logan and Simpson counties. Under Judge Evans' instructions to the jury six of the defendants were let out, the evidence being insufficient against them. Lawyers for the defendants say that Dinning will not receive a cent. They will remain in jail for 10 days and then take the poor debtor's oaths. Dinning killed Conn, who, with the defendants, visited his home at midnight in January, 1897, to drive him therefrom. His house was afterward burned. Dinning surrendered, was tried in the Franklin circuit court under militia protection and sentenced to nine years in the penitentiary for killing Conn. He was instantly pardoned by Governor Bradley. Then he moved to Indiana, and brought suit here as a citizen of that state.

Long Journey Begun.

New York, May 6.—Naval Governor Richard P. Leary of the island of Guam, of the Ladrone group, sailed today on the Yosemite for his Pacific ocean station. The Yosemite carries an assorted cargo. There is a canal boat stowed in the hold, a buggy, stoves, ranges, bicycles and goods enough to stock a country store. The 125 marines are under command of Major Kilton. They have a band of 10 pieces. Commander Ide is to command the Yosemite. The voyage will be made by way of the Suez canal. The Yosemite carries a battery of five-inch and rapid-fire guns. Captain Leary will also be postmaster general of Guam. He carries all the paraphernalia of a postal station. Guam is to be made a naval station. Barracks for 500 marines will be erected.

Big Batch of Prisoners.

Wardner, Col., May 6.—Three hundred and fifty miners, accused of participating in Saturday's riot, are now confined here under guard of United States troops. Five hundred troops are in the Coeur d'Alene district and all fear of further outbreaks is past. The charges against the prisoners will be rioting, destroying property and stopping United States mails. It is unlikely that all the prisoners will be tried, but they will be held until evidence is collected against the leaders.

New Postal Scheme.

Washington, May 6.—The postmaster general has ordered that the rural free delivery service of the country be divided into two grand sub-divisions, the western and eastern. The former is to consist of the states west of the Ohio, and its headquarters will be at St. Louis. The other division, comprising states east of the Ohio, will have its headquarters in this city.

Gets Off Easily.

Hutchinson, Kas., May 6.—John Moore, who in March last murdered his five little children and then fired the house to conceal his crime, was convicted yesterday of murder in the first degree, which means a life term in the penitentiary. The murderer pleaded apoplectic insanity.

CANCER CURED
BY ABSORPTION
NO KNIFE.

The result of years of scientific research by America's greatest blood specialist. A pleasant treatment that relieves immediately, cures permanently all forms of CANCERS, TUMORS and CHRONIC DISEASES. Hundreds of wonderful cures effected in and around Boston. Read the following:

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

more tired than when you went to bed, with an unpleasant taste in the mouth, your tongue coated and dry, and having no appetite for breakfast, you are suffering from Dyspepsia.

Numbers of people are suffering seriously from this complaint and its result, when one package of U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLETS will bring about a prompt cure. A few doses will do more for a Weak or Sour Stomach than a prolonged course of any other medicine. Nothing can be used with so much certainty in obstinate cases of Constipation.

These tablets are the outcome of years of study, and are compounded of the finest drugs only, purely vegetable, they do not gripe, produce no reaction. Take no substitute. 10 CENTS PER PACKAGE.

If you cannot get them at your drug store, send 10 cts. for a package of 12 to the U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLET CO., 17 EAST 14TH ST., NEW YORK.

Good Afternoon.

The city should not be in a hurry to pave Hancock street until the street railway puts in a double track. Perhaps the company may be induced to pave the remainder of the street for the valuable franchise.

In increasing the appropiation for extensions, the City Council continues to increase the water debt of the city, as the annual payment on this debt this year is less than $30,000. There are no great or unjust demand for $30,000 of extensions this year, and it would be some satisfaction to reduce the debt a little.

Public convenience and safety demand that Coddington street be widened, and it is hoped that the movement will not meet with the fate of past years. It is an improvement that should not be longer delayed, and should result in betterments to most of the property on the street. When Henry H. Faxon advocates it on the ground of economy it is safe to go ahead.

Whatever the criticism of ex-Chief Packard may be, as to the bill for services of Houghs Neck firemen, the justice of the claim is apparent and the ordinance has since been amended to make it legal. Quincy has had but few officials ready to advance money for the good of the service, regardless of whether there is a good prospect of being reimbursed. Mr. Packard has, however, expended each year for equipment, etc., more than his salary as assistant engineer.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ It is argued against Murray Crane that he would not be an oratorical governor, and this argument may have its effect on those people who look to a governor to be able to make a speech on any subject at any time and place. It is rather hard on some good and notable citizens, however, to practically bar them from political honors because they cannot make orations to the multitude.—Brockton Enterprise.

☞ The state highway commission employs 45 engineers and helpers at an average annual cost of $70,000, that is $1500 a year per mile for engineers. How's that for a "prudent expenditure" of the people's money. The time will come when the people—and especially those towns where the state highways have been built—will kick themselves for ever allowing the incubus to glue itself to the state.—Milford Journal.

☞ It is said that men will show that they are true blue Americans by hanging out the Stars and Stripes. Oh, no; they may be true blue, but there is no certain proof of it in a display of the flag before one's house. It is like a "profession of religion." Unfortunately, you can be a good many kinds of a rascal and join the church. The real test of religion and of patriotism is not in hanging out the flag, but in being true to what it stands for.—New Bedford Standard.

☞ The third week in May has been set apart for visiting the schools of Boston, when the public is given an opportunity to inspect exhibits of specimens of the work actually performed from the paper work of the kindergarten grades to that of the primary grades and the several stages of advancement in the grammer grades, the manual training work of the boys of the district and the cooking and sewing classes of the girls. This is a custom that would seem destined to grow in popularity and become more generally applied in other places where the idea has already been introduced in a limited way. There's nothing like a great free educational show.—Lynn Item.

☞ Worcester is all broken up because three girls in a corset factory wear very short skirts while bicycling. Two policemen were sent to the factory Saturday when the girls went home to give expert opinions, the men neglect their work to watch the girls, and the Worcester Telegram devotes a column with a "scarehead" to writing up the dreadful affair. The silly season has hit Worcester hard.—Brockton Enterprise.

☞ The Massachusetts senate is still a firm friend of the Boston elevated road. This was made evident on Wednesday in the matter of the bill requiring vestibule cars on the electric roads. The bill as agreed to applies only to cities of less than 100,000 population. If there is a necessity for such a law in the latter instance, why isn't it equally necessary in the case of the Boston elevated? It is passing strange how solicitous our legislators are for the welfare of wealthy corporations.—Brockton Times.

The Quincy Census.

Heretofore in Massachusetts, in takeing the census, one enumerator has been required for every 2000 inhabitants. This will give Quincy about twelve, or two for each ward, as the city has a population of upwards of 25,000.

It is hoped that the census of Quincy will be taken by wards, and that intelligent trustworthy men who are interested in the city will be appointed as enumerators. The work must be done in about two weeks time.

The population of Quincy by wards in 1890 and 1895 was as follows:

	1890.	1895.
Ward One,	3,269	3,562
Ward Two,	2,383	2 7 1
Ward Three,	3,741	4,696
Ward Four,	4,164	4,964
Ward Five,	1,805	2,669
Ward Six,	1,364	2,080

The greatest gain was in Ward Three, but the greatest percentage of gain was in the Wollaston and Atlantic wards.

The population of Quincy for the last seven censuses have been:

In 1865,	6,718
In 1870,	7,442
In 1875,	9,155
In 1880,	10,570
In 1885,	12,145
In 1890,	16,726
In 1895,	20,712

Quincy's actual gain for the ten years from 1885 to 1895 was 8,567, or 70.64 per cent. A similar percentage of increase since 1890 would give Quincy a population of 29,541 next year. But the gain was not as rapid between 1890 and 1895. It is safe to say, however, that the next census will show upwards of 25,000.

Malden's Anniversary.

Malden will attain the age of 250 years since her settlement the present month, and the snug sprightly city which now occupies one of the most beautiful sites in our state, on the banks of the Mystic, proposes to celebrate her anniversary on the 22 and 23, with an eclat proportioned to her importance. The city has appropriated $17,500 for the purpose, appointed committee of her most enterprising and efficient citizens, and laid out a programme on a liberal scale, which will not only befit the occasion and make glad the hearts of her own people, but attract thousands, from the surrounding towns and sister cities, all of whom will find the latch string out, and the gates wide open in that spirit of open heartedness and welcome which characterizes the place.

—It adds much to the beauty of any country place, and to its practical value also, to build a few arbors near the house, and have them covered with grape vines, and with grapes also in their season. To sit under one's own vine was one of the old biblical ideas of what is meant by happiness. Yet it is within the reach of every farmer. As the purple clusters hang down from the top of the arbor they give a pleasure far greater than their money value.—Ploughman.

In Texas there have been catalogued over 200 varieties of peaches grown in the lone star state, a distinct name having been found for every one.

STREET RAILWAYS.

Quincy Roads Included in Eastern Mass. Consolidation.

A dispatch to the Herald from Providence, R. I., says:

"Marsden J. Perry of this city, who is chiefly identified with the Union Traction Company, in an interview on the reported consolidation of street railways in eastern Massachusetts, today, said that such a consolidation is practically completed, having secured options on various systems some time ago.

The roads gathered together are those centring at Brockton, the Lowell, Lawrence & Haverhill, the Quincy & Boston, the Lynn & Boston, most of the roads centreing in Salem, the Newport & Fall River, owned by the Newport Street Railway Company, the Globe street railway of Fall River and the Taunton street railway.

The consolidation will be on a capitalization of $22,000,000, one-half of which will be common, and the other half preferred 4 per cent, cumulative. The syndicate will control 700 miles of track and the gross receipts will be $4,000,000. No bonds will be issued. The consolidated system will extend from Newport to the northeastern Massachusetts state line. The Union Traction Company and its connecting lines in Rhode Island and across in Massachusetts are not embraced in the consolidation.

Street Watering.

One of the great economies of a city is the proper watering of its thoroughfares over which the bulk of the travel between distant points is carried on. These main arteries should always receive good care in the form of a thorough wetting down each day during the warm months. Failure to do this means the rapid grinding up and blowing away of the surface coat of gravel. Side streets, so called, require but little care as the traffic over them is but a fraction of that over the main streets, consequently the wear of the surface is infinitesimally small. The City Council, in recognizing this well known principal, has from year to year endeavored to gradually extend the area of sprinkling over these principal streets so that in time such thoroughfares as Hancock, Washington, Beale, Willard, Copeland, Water, Farrington, Adams, Granite, Sea and Franklin will be watered their entire lengths. These are among the most travelled streets in the city, being what might be called "through streets" over which long distanced travel is carried on.

GRAIN-O BRINGS RELIEF

to the coffee drinker. Coffee drinking is a habit that is universally indulged in and almost as universally injurious. Have you tried Grain-O? It is almost like coffee but the effects are just the opposite. Coffee upsets the stomach, ruins the digestion, effects the heart and disturbs the whole nervous system. Grain-O tones up the stomach, aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. There is nothing but nourishment in Grain-O. It can't be otherwise. 15 and 25c. per package.

A Certain Quincy Young Man.

A certain Quincy young man was not a very welcome visitor at the home of one of our young damsels, but he hadn't caught onto the fact. He had noticed, however, that of late, whenever he called the young lady always happened to be out. He called last Sunday afternoon and the same good natured girl came to the door and reported her "out." As he descended the steps he happened to turn around, and just then a curtain that had been down, suddenly thought it was time for "spring" to get in its work, and spring it did. As the curtain suddenly rolled way up to the top of the window, he saw the young lady try to dodge out of sight. He hastily ran up the steps, and as she came to the door he angrily remarked, "Well, I've found you out at last." "It looks more as if you had found me in," she sweetly replied.

You can never tell what's in a house by looking from the outside. You can't even get a good idea of what's in our house by looking at the windows, for we wouldn't have windows enough to show all the good things we've got, if we had 'em clear round the block

We're never out of good things. We're showing just now one of the greatest lines of Men's new up-to-date Suits that we ever had together. We're showing swell Stripes, Checks and Blue Serges in all wool suits, self-faced, well tailored, cut to fit, made of goods that will wear, finished thoroughly inside and out, for $7.50, $8.50, $10.00, that even Quincy's cheap store has never been able to equal before at the prices.

Every purchaser of $2.00 worth of goods for the next two weeks gets a Beautiful Framed Picture of familiar scenes after the war.

FOUR WITH QUINCY.

But the Y. R. A. M. Voted 13 to 5 Against Change.

The Quincy Yacht Club was unsuccessful in its move against the sail rule of the Y. R. A. M. The Herald thus reports a special meeting of the Yacht Racing Association of Massachusetts held at Young's Hotel last evening to act on a proposition to strike out sail restrictions from the definition of cabin yachts.

Almost all of the delegates were called on to express their opinions, and one outsider, Commodore John Cavanagh, was listened to. The vote on the question was taken by a call of the clubs, and the proposed change was overwhelmingly defeated by 13 to 5.

The only clubs favoring the removal of the sail restrictions were Annisquam, Dorchester, Jeffries, Quincy and Wellfleet.

The 13 who favored the retention of the present rule were Boston, Cape Cod, Duxbury, East Gloucester, Lynn, Manchester, Hull-Massachusetts, Mosquito, Old Colony, Savin Hill, South Boston, Squantum and Winthrop. In addition, letters were received from five clubs—Bunker Hill, Nahant Dory, Cohasset, Burgess and Kingston—in opposition to the change.

Many of the delegates who said they were opposed to the present restrictions voted for their retention because they thought it was too late in the season to make any change.

Presentation.

The Sunshine club, which is called together semi-occasionally, were out again last night, and after transacting what little business there was on hand formd in line and marched twenty strong to the residence of their former member, Robert Johnson on Maple place. When the club comes out it is never empty handed, and last nigh was no exception to the rule, for they had with them a handsome couch which was presented to "Bob." The club on this occasion took a new departure in the matter of a presentation speech, by having it sung by the well known Bowditch, whose vocal powers have no equal in this vicinty. Bob feelingly responded, and invited the club in, and served a lunch.

—While there is a general impression that the native Indians are slowly dying out, it appears by census statistics that including the half breeds they are about as numerous as they were a half century ago, when School-craft reported the number of 388,229. By the special Indian census in 1890 there were shown to be 324,464, of whom, however, only 189,447 are returned as full blood. These Indians are divided into nearly 90 tribes which are recognized by the United States, and they are to be found in 30 States and two Territories.—Mass. Ploughman.

Castle Square Theatre.

The elaborate production of "Cumberland '61," at the Castle Square Theatre, has proved so successful that it will be continued as the attraction for the coming week, in order to afford opportunities to many disappointed applicants for seats the last week, to enjoy the performance of this strong drama. The members of the stock company have all been seen to excellent advantage in this production and the good work of the players has won renewed evidence of the popularity of the Castle Square organization. The strong scenic features of the production have again shown the masterly skill of Mr. J. R. Pitman in this line, and the realistic scene showing the burning bridge has been applauded to the echo at every performance. Some most artistic work has also been done in the scenes showing the ruined church in the mountains and the Colonel's residence at West Point. Hoyt's laughable play "A Temperance Town" is in preparation to follow.

Keith's Theatre.

The program at Keith's for the week of May 8 will include Gus Williams, the famous German comedian; Papinta serpentine and myriad dancer; the Six Sennetts, in an acrobatic absurdity, entitled "In Front of the Monkey Cage at the Zoo;" the biograph, replete with interesting and fascinating pictures of every day scenes; Rose Melville, one of the highest salaried actresses on the stage, will appear in a new and original character sketch by Carroll Fleming, entitled "Sis Hopkins' Visit." In this sketch Miss Melville will employ a company of four, besides a bevy of girls who do thinking parts. The Four Cohans, in their amusing comedy sketch, "Running for Office." are underlined for the week of May 15,

MY DREAM COTTAGE.

Away in the cheerful mountains,
Where the chipmunks have made their abode,
There will I build my dream cottage,
Far, far away from the road.

There will I build my homestead,
Where I will sit all day
In a cushioned, cozy corner
And dream the time away.

I'll build of granite bowlders,
With corridors long and wide,
And with a grace of long ago
I'll furnish the rooms inside.

Sitting beneath the willow trees,
Dreaming away the hours,
Inhaling the soft, clear mountain air,
Enjoying the scent of the flowers,

The song birds will sing me my fancies,
The squirrel will gather me food.
I'll live in the stillness of nature;
No mortal shall ever intrude.

NAVAJO JOE.

Navajo Joe is out of luck. Ordinarily his vagaries are not regarded in Wolfville. His frequent appearance in its single street in a voluntary exhibition of nice feats of horsemanship, coupled with an exhibition of pistol shooting in which old tomato cans and passe beer bottles performed as targets, has hitherto excited no more baleful sentiment in the Wolfville bosom than disgust.

But today it is different. Camps, like individuals, have moods. At this time Wolfville is experiencing a wave of virtue. It may have been excited by the presence of a pale party of eastern tourists, just now abiding at the O. K. hotel; gentlemen which the rather sanguine sentiment of Wolfville credits with meditating an investment of treasure in her rocks and rills. But whatever the reason, Wolfville virtue is certainly aroused, which makes it a bad day for Navajo Joe.

The angry sun smites hotly in the deserted causeway of Wolfville. The public is within doors. The Red Light saloon is thriving mightily. Navajo Joe, rendering himself prisoner to Jack Moore, rescue or no rescue, has by order of that sagacious body been conveyed by his captors before the vigilance committee and is about to be tried for his life.

What was Navajo Joe's immediate crime? Certainly not a grave one. Ten days before it would have hardly earned a comment. He has killed a Chinaman. Here is the story:

"Yere comes that prairie dog, Navajo Joe, all spraddled out," says Dave Tutt.

"It looks like this camp never can assoome no airs," remarks Cherokee Hall in a distempered way, "but this yere miser'ble Joe comes chargin up to queer it."

As he speaks that offending personage, unconscious of the great change in Wolfville morals, sweeps up the street, expressing gladsome and ecstatic whoops and whirling his pistol on his forefinger like a wheel of light.

One of the tourists stands in the door of the hotel smoking a pipe in short, brief puffs of astonishment and reviews the amazing performance. Navajo Joe at once and abruptly halts. Gazing for a disgruntled moment on the man from the east, he takes the pipe from its owner's horrified mouth and places it in his own.

"Smokin of pipes," he vouchsafes in condemnatory explanation, "is onelegant an degradin, an don't you do it no more in my presence. I'm mighty sensitive that a-way about pipes an I don't aim to tolerate 'em none whatever."

He sits puffing and gazing at the tourist, while the latter stands dumbly staring, with a morsel of the ravished meerschaum still between his lips.

A Chinaman, voluminously robed, emerged from the New York store, whither he had been drawn by dint of soap.

"Whatever is this Mongol doin in camp I'd like for to know?" inquires Navajo Joe disdainfully. "I shore leaves orders when I'm here last for the immejit removal of all sech. I wouldn't mind it, but with strangers visitin us this a-way it plumb mortifies me to death."

Then comes the short emphatic utterance of a six shooter. A puff of smoke vanishes quickly in the hot air and the next census will be short one Asiatic.

In a moment arrives a brief order from Enright, the chief of the vigilance committee, to Jack Moore. That gentleman proffers a Winchester and the request to surrender simultaneously, Navajo Joe, realizing fate, at once accedes.

"Of course, gents," says Enright apologetically, as he convenes the committee in the New York store, "I don't say this Joe is held for beefin the Chinaman sole an alone. The fact is he's been havin a mighty sight too gay a time of late, an so I think it's a good, safe play, bein as it's a hot day an we has the time, to sorter call the committee together an ask its views, whether we better hang this yere Navajo Joe yet or not?"

"Mr. President," responded Dave Tutt, "if I'm in order, I moves we take this Navajo Joe an proceeds to stretch his neck. I ain't basin it on nothin in partic'lar, but lettin her slide under the general head of bein adapted to public good."

"Do I hear any remarks?" asks Enright. "If not, I takes Mr. Tutt's very excellent motion as the census of this meetin, an it's hang she is."

"Not intendin of no interruption," remarks Texas Thompson, "I wants to say this: I'm a quiet man myself an nacheral aims to keep Wolfville a quiet place likewise. For which all I shorely favors a-hangin of Joe. Like Tutt, I don't make no p'int on the Chinaman. We spares him too easy. But this Joe is allers a-ridin an a-yellin an a-shoutin up this camp till I'm plumb tired out. So I says let's hang him, an suggests as a eligible nook tharfor the windmill back of the dance hall."

"See yere, Mr. President," interrupts Navajo Joe in a tone of one ill used, "what for a deal is this, I rises to ask anyhow?"

"You can gamble this is a square deal," replies Enright confidently. "You're entitled to your say when the committee is done. Jest figure out what cards you needs, an we deals to you in a minute."

"Gents," says Doc Peets, who has sat silently listening, "I'm with you on this hangin. These eastern sharps is here in our midst. It'll impress 'em that Wolfville means business an is a good, safe, quiet place. They'll carry reports east as will do us credit, an thar you be. As to the propriety of stringin Joe little need be said. If the Chinaman ain't enough, if assaultin of an innocent tenderfoot ain't enough, you can bet he's done plenty beside as merits a lariat. He wouldn't deny it himse'f if you asks him."

"Why," urges Navajo Joe disgustedly, "these proceedin's makes me sick. I shore objects to this hangin, an all for a measly Chinaman too. This yere Wolfville outfit is gettin a mighty sight too stylish for me. It's growin that perdad binged tic'ler it can't"—

"Stop right thar," says Enright, with dignity, rapping a shoe box with his six shooter. "Don't you cuss the chair none, 'cause the chair won't have it. It's perliamentary law if any one cusses the chair he's out of order, same as it's law that all chips on the floor goes to the house. When a man's out of order once, that settles it. He can't talk no more that meetin. Seein we're aimin to hang you, we won't claim nothin on you this time, but be careful how you come trackin roun' ag'in, an don't fret us. You sabe? Don't go an fret us none."

"I won't fret you," retorts Navajo Joe. "I don't have to fret you. What I says is this: I s'pose I sees 50 men stretched by committees between here and The Dalis, an I never knows a man who's roped yet on account of no Chinaman. An I offers side bet of $100 even it ain't law to hang people on account of downin no Chinaman. But you all seems sot on this, an so I tells you what I'll do. I'm a plain man an thar's no filigree work on me, an if it's all congenial to the gents here assembled I'll gamble my life, hang or no hang, on the first ace turned from the box, Cherokee deal. Does it go?"

A proposition original and new finds in its very novelty an argument for Wolfville favor. It befalls therefore that the unusual offer of Navajo Joe to stake his life on a turn at faro is approvingly criticised.

"Navajo Joe," says Enright, "we don't have to take this chance, an it's a-makin of a bad precedent as may tangle us yereafter; but Wolfville goes you this time. Cherokee turns the cards for the ace."

"Turn square, Cherokee," remarks Navajo Joe with an air of interest. "Roll your game. I play it open."

"I dunno," observed Dan Boggs, meditatively caressing his chin, "but I'm thinkin I'd 'a' coppered."

The turn proceeds in silence, and as may readily happen in that interesting device named faro a split falls out. Two aces come together.

"Ace lose, ace win," says Cherokee, pausing. "Whatever be we goin to do now, I'd like to know?"

"Gents," announces Enright, with dignity, "a split like this yere creates a doubt, an doubts go to the prisoner, same as a maverick goes to the first man as ties it down an runs his brand on to it. Navajo Joe goes free. However, he should remember this little graze an restrain his methods yereafter. Some of them ways of his is soocidal to say the least, an if he's wise he alters his system from now on."

"Do you know, Cherokee," whispers Faro Nell, as her eyes turn softly to that personage of the deal box, "I'd sooner he goes loose than two bonnets from Tucson." And Cherokee Hall pinches her cheek with a delicate accuracy born of his profession and smiles approval.—Alfred Henry Lewis in the New York Telegraph.

OUR WEEKLY FASHION PLATE.

NEW BELL GORE SKIRT FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

Despite the popular favor in which the skirt is now held there is constant inquiry for new gored skirts that will possess style and yet be practicable for the making up of silk, satin or other narrow-width materials. One of the very latest models of this variety is given in our illustration which is taken from Harper's Bazar and for which cut paper patterns can be obtained. The design has already recommended itself to one of the first among metropolitan modistes, and three models have already appeared among her exclusive clientele. One was in mauve pique, the long gore seams being outlined by white pipings; the second in black faille, the seams being accentuated to within twelve inches of the hem by rows of silk-cord trimming. The lower parts of the seams being untrimmed, the effect gained was that of a flaring ruffle. The third model was of black cheviot with seams trimmed with double half-inch bands of black satin stitched with white. The model from which the illustration was made was of pique. The design is especially simple and suitable for all narrow-width goods, cheviots or serges.

To make the new skirt requires, of silk 20 inches wide, eight and one-half yards; of pique 27 inches wide, eight yards; of cheviot 54 inches wide, three and one-half yards.

When the Handkerchief Was Tabooed

The introduction of snuff into polite society under the Georges brought the handkerchief into very prominent use, and it became an art to handle it with elegance and grace under the very trying circumstances of endeavoring to conceal a sneeze. Among the French formerly to make even the most casual reference to the handkerchief was considered the height of vulgarity. Frenchwomen, if they carried them, contrived never to show them, and this ridiculous practice prevailed even on the stage, where no actress would dare to carry one, no matter how heartrending a scene she might have to appear in.

But this absurd prejudice, if such it may be called, was removed by the Empress Josephine, who used to carry a dainty handkerchief with a deep lace border, which she would often raise to her lips. Her example being followed by her ladies in waiting and later by the entire court, the handkerchief was soon raised to the position which it has retained ever since as an important and indispensable accessory to woman's dress.—Frank H. Vizetelly in Woman's Home Companion.

The Long and Short of It.

There seems to be some uncertainty as to the size of our great mother. The French orientalist Henrion, member of the academy, however, fixed it with a precision satisfactory, at least, to himself. He gives the following table of the relative heights of several eminent historical personages:

Adam was precisely 123 feet 9 inches high.

Eve was precisely 118 feet 9.75 inches high.

Noah was precisely 103 feet high.

Abraham was precisely 27 feet high.

Moses was precisely 13 feet high.

Hercules was precisely 6 feet high.

Alexander was precisely 6 feet h igh.

Julius Cæsar was precisely 5 feet high.

Topic For the Week Beginning May 7—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Patient continuance in well doing.—Rom. ii, 1-11.

In this passage Paul points out to the Jews the fact that they need not hope to escape God's judgment simply because they are Jews. In judgment he declares that God is no respecter of persons, but "renders to every man according to his deeds; to them who by patient continuance in well doing seek for glory and honor and immortality, eternal life; but unto them that are contentious and do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness, indignation and wrath, tribulation and anguish, upon every soul of man that doeth evil of the Jew first and also of the gentile."

There are many discouragements to patient continuance in well doing. Difficulties are constantly putting themselves in our way. In the first enthusiasm of our faith it is easy to meet and overcome them, but as our religion becomes more of an accustomed thing with us it is not so easy to do so. Those for whom we labor are often ungrateful, and forgetting for a time that we are laboring primarily for Him who died for us we become faint hearted and wearied. Results are often not as apparent as we think they should be. The master builder is encouraged by seeing his building constantly growing, the artist joys to see his picture developing before him, but he who labors in spiritual spheres very often has not the encouragement of apparent results, and this is discouraging. These and other things are thorns in the flesh of continuance in well doing, and specially so in patient continuance.

But there are also encouragements to even patient continuance in well doing. The greatest of these is the assurance of the reward for our patient continuance. Eternal life Paul here declares to be the reward, and since it is a gift of God it is positively assured to us. "In due season we shall reap if we faint not." Due season is God's season, and we may safely leave the time with God, knowing for a certainty that in His time and in His way the reward is sure to come.

This fact should be a great inspiration to patient continuance in well doing. All depends upon it. The race is never won until the goal is reached. To begin well, to run well for a time and then to drop out means to fail. "Faithful to death" should be our watchword, for it is unto those who are faithful unto death that a crown of life is promised. That crown is also at death. Here the cross, yonder the crown: here the church militant, yonder the church triumphant. "Be thou faithful unto death."

Bible Readings.—Eccl. ix, 10; Isa. xl, 28-31; Math. xxv, 31-46; John ix, 4; xv, 16; Rom. v, 1-5; xii, 11; I Cor. x, 31; xv, 58; Gal. iii, 1-10; Col. iii, 17; II Thess. iii, 13; Heb. vi, 10-15; Rev. ii, 10.

Salvation Only Through Christ.

Is faith in this truth outgrown? Some say so. But the proofs point to the contrary. When forced to a frank declaration, those who pin their faith on worthy attainments in character and service, such as they claim we can make for ourselves, have to acknowledge that the best men have their faults. No one can be trusted absolutely and always, for he sometimes lacks wisdom, if never virtue. We do not and cannot often attain to any exalted standard of excellence and never reach perfection.

If, then, the best men cannot save others or even themselves, who can? Nobody excepting Jesus Christ, and He can and does. He claimed this when He was on earth, and He began to make good the claim then and has been proving it ever since. It is as truly a matter of fact, of ordinary human experience, that there is salvation in Jesus Christ, and that nobody knows of any other opportunity of being saved than through Him, as the fact of birth or growth or death. It has been regarded and discussed altogether too much as a matter of philosophy and theology. It is much more a matter of solid, practical, everyday fact.—Congregationalist.

Resist the Devil.

The great enemy of God and man is of course the sworn foe of every good work. Among the causes which he heartily hates and persistently opposes is that which carries the glad tidings of salvation to the heathen and seeks to lift up to life and hope the benighted of the earth. Missions to the heathen are so entirely unselfish, in such perfect accord with the purposes of heaven and likely to be so influential in extending the reign of the Lord that it is not wonderful the great conspirator plots and schemes and strives in every conceivable way to discredit and defeat all such enterprises.—Lutheran Observer.

The Difference.

Many appear outwardly righteous before men. They are honest, upright, influential, respected, cultured and many of them wealthy, but when externals are removed and the secrets of the heart are known it shall be found that interiorly one belongs in the heavens, the other in the infernals. "One shall be taken, and the other left."—Rev. E. D. Daniels in Helper.

The Windows of the Soul.

They have very little in this world, but a great deal in the next. They take short views of this life, but long views of the life to come. They have the knack of setting open the windows of their souls for the Sun of Righteousness to stream in.—Theodore L. Cuyler, D. D.

Gestures Versus Thoughts.

The orator who makes gestures so waving and graceful that attention is called to them will often excite admiration. But, commonly, there will be a corresponding decrease in the hearers' estimate of the orator as a thinker and a truth teller.—Christian Register.

You can tell just as well as a physician whether your Kidneys are diseased or healthy. Fill a tumbler with urine and let it stand 24 hours. If it has a sediment, if it is milky or cloudy, discolored or pale, if it is ropy or stringy your Kidneys and Bladder are in a dangerous condition and you do not need a physician to tell you so.

Kidney diseases should be attended to at once, for almost 90 per cent. of our unexpected deaths of today are from that cause. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the only sure cure known for diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder and Blood, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia and Chronic Constipation. It is marvelous how it stops that pain in the back, relieves the necessity of urinating so often at night, drives away that scalding pain in passing water, corrects the bad effects of whiskey and beer, and shows its beneficial effects on the system in an incredibly short time. It is sold by all drug stores at $1 a bottle.

If you would like to test Favorite Remedy free of charge, send your full name and post office address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., and a free trial bottle, together with a pamphlet of valuabe medical advice, will be sent you by return mail, postpaid, providing you mention the Quincy Ledger when you write. WOMAN'S WORLD.

THE CAT FAD AND ONE OF ITS LEADING EXPONENTS.

Some Societies of Women—The Nagging Woman—Several Military Queens—The Muff's Anniversary—A Few Home Hints.

Of all the cats in the world Lady Marcus Beresford owns the dearest, says a London correspondent.

Dearest as pets and dearest as investments!

These wonderful cats are all royalties, and even some are kings and queens in a world all their own.

They are housed palatially and waited upon by servants retained in their service alone.

They live on the fat of the land—a little minced chicken, a bit of delicate white fish, a few finely minced vegetables, the top of the milk!

But there are fashions in pussies as well as in other pets.

One year it is blue Persians, another it is yellow or orange Persians.

The finest known specimens of the Siamese cats are lodged in the Bishopsgate catteries, quite regardless of expense. They are named Tachin and Cambodia. These cats cost £50 each, or more than their own weight in gold. In and of themselves they are most dainty, shy creatures. In color they are very like the familiar pug dog—a soft fawn, marked with deep velvety brown.

Her ladyship has without doubt a great passion for these charming pets, but, after all, Lady Marcus has turned her fad into a very consistent philanthropy It is her custom to present dainty, fluffy little kittens to such friends as fate sends her way who may not be blessed with a superabundance of this world's goods and are not so lucky as to be able to import cats from the palace of the king of Siam.

As Tachin and Cambodia and their descendants are alone in their glory in England, such a gift proves a veritable cornerstone of good fortune to the skillful breeder of these charming animals.

Great skill is needed in rearing them. So far, no other royal Siamese have been so successfully imported to this country of fog and damp.

Their extreme delicacy cannct be overestimated.

Even in the land of their home these pets of the aristocratic wives of the king are not blessed with the traditional nine lives of our own howling Thomas and humble Tabby.

And where the environment is so different the task of rearing demands the utmost care.

However, with proper care and patience cat breeding can be made a paying business and one not so well known in America as it should be.

Not every one can secure royal Siamese cats, but at this day almost any enterprising person can get good Persian stock.

Some Societies of Women.

The Woman's Relief association is an auxiliary of the Grand Army of the Republic and was organized shortly after the war.

The Woman's Republican association is a political auxiliary of the national Republican committee and was organized 30 years ago for the purpose of educating the women of the United States in the principles of the Republican party, especially in the states where woman suffrage is allowed. Mrs. Judia Ellen Foster of Washington is the president and Mrs. Thomas W. Chase of Providence is the secretary.

Among the patriotic societies the Daughters of the American Revolution is the largest and most influential. It was organized in 1890 and now contains 27,432 members. The wife of President Harrison was the first president, the wife of ex-Secretary John W. Foster was the second, the wife of Vice President Stevenson the third, and Mrs. Daniel Manning, wife of Cleveland's secretary of the treasury, now occupies that position. The society is composed of the lineal descendants of the soldiers of the Revolution. Its object is to stimulate patriotism, to preserve relics of Revolutionary interest and to keep alive the sentiments of the patriots of 1776. It is proposed to erect a memorial hall in Washington as headquarters for the society, and $50,000 has already been collected for that purpose.

A rival society is called the Daughters of the Revolution and was organized by dissatisfied members of the other organization and has about 2,000 members.

The Colonial Dames is the title of a society of patriotic women from the original 13 states of the Union organized in Washington in 1891 for the purpose of creating popular interest in colonial history, diffusing healthful information and teaching the young the sacred obligations to their patriotic ancestors. It is composed entirely of women of direct descent from officials and other residents of the original colonies who contributed something to the founding of a commonwealth. Mrs. Robert H. McKee of Saratoga, daughter of ex President Harrison, is the president.

The Mothers' Congress, which has just held its third annual meeting, was organized by Mrs. Theodore Birney, Mrs. Phebe A. Hearst and other public spirited women in Washington for the purpose of promoting the proper training of children. There are now 50,000 members.

The Federation of Women's Clubs is composed of various local associations of women throughout the country, and has a membership of more than 200,000 scattered throughout the United States.

The National Council of Women is a broader organization, which receives delegates only from national or state organizations of women. It holds an annual convention in Washington, at which about 2,000,000 women throughout the country are represented.

In addition to these are various religious and philanthropic organizations like the Woman's Christian Temperance union, the Women's Missionary societies, the Young Women's Christian association and others of Christian and Jewish women that are well known.—William E. Curtis in Chicago Record.

The Nagging Woman.

The man who leaves the breakfast table and enters the public ways with the shame of a home conflict upon him, in which he has contended for his own side of the question, refusing to yield his point to the very last, will not be likely to wear the appearance of a knight, and, if he has submitted meekly to injustice and has felt conscious of being misunderstood, if he has the smallest germ of manhood in his nature, he must writhe under the treatment and cannot step like a conqueror or go forth with the courage necessary to win great things in the world. Such a one must wear the look of the vanquished, no matter how loyal his heart may be or how strong his original purpose for true service.

And what often makes the condition more pitiful is the fact that the husband is large souled, willing to give more than he receives, ready to make sacrifices of his own ease, pleasure and comfort generally while trying to serve his precious purpose for a future fulfillment. Though he closes his eyes against the signs of selfishness in the woman whom he chose as the fairest and sweetest and best, he cannot but feel the awful despair of defeat, all on account of the fascinating, unprincipled woman whom he took to share his life.

The woman who can thus bring defeat to a high souled, unselfish man is the "vampire" that has been portrayed with such unerring skill by Kipling, and many a poor victim of a narrow minded wife might recognize in it his own experience:

Oh, the toil we lost, and the spoil we los,
And the excellent things we planned
Belong to the woman who didn't know why
(And now we know she never knew why)
And did not understand!

* * * * * * *

And it isn't the shame and it isn't the blame
That stings like a white hot brand.
It's coming to know that she never knew why
(Seeing at last she could never know why
And never could understand.

—Mary R. Baldwin in Woman's Home Companion.

Several Military Queens.

It is quite the fashion in Europe to make royal ladies colonels of regiments or admirals of fleets, and almost all the daughters of royal houses hold one or more of these positions, which would place their owners in some very compromising situations if a general European conflict ensued. Queen Victoria is not only colonel of one of the crack English regiments, the Royal horse guards, but she also holds a similar rank in a regiment of Prussian hussars. Her majesty has never donned the short blue tunic and other obligatory uniforms of this latter body, but her daughter, the former Empress Frederick, who is likewise a colonel of cavalry, has often appeared at reviews in the loose braided jacket, fur cap, scarlet tights and gold embroidered top boots of her regiment, a dash of femininity being added in a blue skirt not belonging to the regimental uniform.

The present empress of Germany is a colonel of a body of cuirassiers and at reviews rides at her husband's side in a white riding skirt, white military jacket and plumed three cornered cap. The German empress also holds the rank of admiral in the Russian fleet and is captain in an Austrian military regiment.

The queen of Greece, a Russian princess, is admiral in the Russian navy. Most of the princesses in the Prussian royal house are army officers of high rank, but they content themselves with wearing the colors of their commands instead of riding at their heads in full uniform.

The Duchess of Connaught is captain of a body of artillerymen, and serves under her husband, the duke, who is colonel of the regiment.

The Muff's Anniversary.

Few women are aware that in the present year that very necessary and useful adjunct of a lady's winter toilet, the muff, celebrates its four hundredth anniversary of existence. It first saw the light in Venice in 1499 and was exactly the reverse of what it generally is at present, the smart and fashionable muffs of those days being usually covered with a rich and costly brocade and the fur used as a lining instead of being outside. In other parts of Europe it became a universal article of use in the seventeenth century and was carried not only in the streets in winter, but also in the house and at all sorts of entertainments, and it often took the most eccentric forms, being made sometimes in imitation of dogs and other animals. At the coronation of Frederick III of Prussia, which took place at Konigsberg in 1701, the ladies carried muffs as part of their court dress. In the year 1680 it was adopted even by the sterner sex, and very funny it must have looked, especially as it often assumed enormous dimensions and was worn attached to a silken cord which was passed around the neck of the wearer. Leopard skin was the favorite fur with the beaux of those days. Toward the end of the seventeenth century fur went out of fashion, bright colored stuffs being used in its place, though sometimes white skins dyed pink, blue or green were worn. Toward the close of the eighteenth century it again became the thing for fashionable men to use enormous fur muffs, England this time leading the way with the silly fashion, though the continent soon followed.

AN ENCOUNTER WITH AN UNCANNY CREATURE IN ALASKA.

A Fishing Adventure With Plenty of Excitement When the Monster Came to the Surface—Lively Work Fighting Its Tentacles.

"If any one desires a dash of excitement, I can recommend the fishing of Alaska," said a returned Klondiker. "I had been fishing above Sitka when one day I found myself near a camp of Indians. As I had some game I divided with them and forthwith was invited to a feast of their own providing. We sat around a big wooden dish, in which was something that looked like frogs' legs, but frogs so gigantic that I knew it was something else. It required some courage to eat this dish, but hunger gives a man stamina of a certain kind, so I shut my eyes and began the feast. The article was not so bad as it appeared. It tasted like crab, and some of it had the consistence of the rubber rings which babies chew on. Altogether it was not to be despised, combining food with exercise.

"It was sea spider, so the natives told me, a member of the cuttlefish family. As they were going out on the following morning to fish for more I persuaded them to take me with them. Half of the excitement of fishing here was getting afloat. The bay was an open roadstead into which the sea rolled, and we were some time getting through the seas which, if not mountain high, came very near it. Finally we made the run and dropped anchor in the lee of a little point of rocks where we began fishing. Each man had different tackle, some large, some small lines, and to me fell an outfit which was a cross between a shark and a cod line. Presently the men began hauling in rock cod, using the little candlefish for bait. There is a curious thing about Alaskans. This little fish, which they catch with a comblike arrangement, they eat, if they are so disposed, or, if they want a light, they fasten a fish between two sticks and light its head, when it will burn like a candle. It is a famous country for fish, and it was nothing but pull in for the natives, while I did not have a bite.

"My time was coming, however. I had on a heavy sinker, so that every time the boat lifted I felt a sharp jerk, which deceived me. But once, when the boat rose on a big wave, my line did not give, and I shouted to the Indian next me that I was foul. He took the line, gave a tremendous jerk and received one in return; then, bracing himself back, he began to pull and scream; then all hands screamed, and I understood that a sea spider had the line and also the bottom. I expected every minute to see the canoe go over, as the men went from side to side, now forcing the rail down so that the water poured in, now lifting with a mighty yell, then slacking off so suddenly that they fell in a heap. Finally, after they had screamed themselves out of breath and settled conflicts of opinion, they hauled the rope as taut as possible, taking in the slack, inch by inch, as the canoe sank in the hollow of a wave, then holding on as a big ground swell would raise her.

"This plan seemed certain either to lift the bottom or to sink the canoe, and after several attempts to accomplish the latter something gave suddenly. Amid the greatest excitement the men quickly hauled away. The line came up readily, the fishermen occasionally looking over, endeavoring to see what was on it. One man armed himself with a knife, while a companion held a short handled case knife between his teeth—movements suggestive of the coming of an enemy. Suddenly one of the crew seized a sharp boathook, which, after another look, he jabbed into the unknown and invisible. In response a long, slender tentacle shot into the air and formed a weird interrogation point, then it grasped the pike; then three more appeared, creeping insidiously over the edge of the canoe, at which the natives struck wildly, some shouting to slack the line, others to haul in.

"In the midst of the confusion the sea spider concluded to come aboard. Torn from the bottom, it had come up easily, then, seeing the canoe and possibly thinking it a vantage ground, it grasped it and slid over the side, a mass of living, slimy, reddish brown snakes. When they were raised, I could see rows of suckers, each of which was a veritable airpump, and as there were seemingly thousands of them the sucking power of this spider of the sea was apparent. Blows were aimed at it whenever opportunity offered, but the weird animal fairly slid over the rail, winding one of its arms around an oar. Its head or body hung on the rail—a brown mass the size of a man's head—from which gleamed two greenish yellow eyes. The strange animal changed color like a chameleon. Flushes of red, brown and gray followed one another over it, while from its lower portion oozed, a stream of ink which splashed in our faces as the tentacles flew about.

"There was something so uncanny about the creature that I confess it demoralized me, but the natives, who probably had caught great numbers, struck at it right and left, cutting off the tentacles with their knives and hatchets, trying to save such portions as those upon which I had dined the day before—the thought of which gave me a thrill of horror. It was 15 minutes before they had the life hammered out of the frightful creature, and then it was a question who had won.

"The canoe was now half full of water, as a hole had been knocked in the side, which was finally stopped with a piece of skin. It was five miles to camp, but I preferred walking and had the men put me ashore. I got to the camp in time to meet them and see the sea spider taken out. It had a spread of nearly 25 feet, measuring from the tip of the outspread tentacles. If you want to see how it looked, drop into the Yale museum. They have a model of one a few feet larger."—New York Sun.

SAN FERNANDO TAKEN.

Enemy South of Manila Attempts to Break American Line.

Evidence That the Force Is Short of Supplies.

General Otis Probably Contemplates Starving Them Into Submission.

Washington, May 6.—Manila advices state than Major General MacArthur's division advanced to San Fernando Friday and found that the place had been evacuated by the insurgents, who left only a small detachment to cover their retreat by train. General MacArthur occupied the burning town without loss.

Major General Lawton is still quartered at Balinac:.

The insurgents south of Manila attempted to rush through Brigadier General Ovenshine's line Thursday night. The attempt failed, but the enemy maintained a fusillade of musketry on the Fourth infantry regiment for several hours. The demonstration was ineffectual beyond scaring the inhabitants of Malate.

The outposts of the Idaho and California regiments beyond San Pedro Macati were also attacked during the night.

General Antonio Luna is said to have been wounded in the fighting which occurred Thursday in the vicinity of Santo Tomas. The rout of the enemy at the Santo Tomas fight was complete.

The continued rebel demonstrations south of Manila are causing no apprehension to war department officials, as the brigades of Ovenshine and Hall are said to be ample for every emergency.

Together they have about 4600 men, besides the Ninth and Twelfth regular infantry, who have just arrived at Manila. Ovenshine's brigade consists of the Fourth and Fourteenth infantry, First Washington, two battalions of the First Idaho, one battalion of the First California and Dyer's and Hawthorne's batteries. Hall's brigade consists of the Seventeenth infantry and the First Wyoming.

In view of these sharp demonstrations to the south, the work done by Lawton on his expedition to Laguna de Bay is receiving credit not heretofore accorded to it. One of the main results of the expedition was to destroy the small craft by which the rebels might have crossed the lake and moved north on the rear of MacArthur's forces. Now they are hemmed in on a narrow strip of land between the lake and the ocean, unable to cross the lake, while the march is too long to circle the lake to the south. Thus the work of Lawton is holding the rebels, some 9000 in number, to the south, leaving MacArthur free from danger of an attack in force from the rear.

The report that the Filipinos were trying to break through the American lines is evidence to the war department that this force is becoming short of supplies. It is evidently General Otis' intention to remain on the defensive so long as he can keep this force separate from the main body of Aguinaldo.

It is said General Otis believes that he can starve this southern army into submission. Malate is a suburb of Manila, near the bay. The other point mentioned in the dispatch, San Pedro Macati, is between Manila and Laguna de Bay, and is one of the outposts which protects the waterworks.

The state department yesterday received a dispatch from President Schurman of the Philippine commission, giving the substance of the conferences with the representatives of Aguinaldo, and asking for further instructions. Secretary Hay stated that the dispatch showed a very satisfactory condition of affairs in the Philippines and pointed to a settlement of the differences there.

The reply of the president to Professor Schurman's cablegram, it is understood, stated that he was very anxious to have the peace negotiations concluded at the earliest possible moment, and to this end he desired that no unnecessary or humiliating conditions should be imposed upon the insurgents. It is believed in administration circles that as soon as Aguinaldo is convinced of the sincerity of the American government he will agree to surrender. He will be required, however, to lay down his arms. This will be the principal condition.

Ready to Start North.

Santiago, May 6.—The former Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes, which was sunk in the channel of Santiago harbor during the bombardment by Admiral Sampson's fleet on June 6, and which was recently raised, pumped out and brought to this city for repairs, left her moorings yesterday and was towed to the center of the harbor in readiness to start for Newport News so soon as the towboats arrive. Some practical navigators predict a repetition of the disaster which befell the Infanta Maria Teresa while on her way north if rough weather is encountered; but the Reina Mercedes looks seaworthy.

In Behalf of Labor.

Washington, May 6.—Postmaster General Smith has made a ruling that the sign "United States mail," or other sign indicating the carriage of the mails, must be carried only on such cars on street railway lines as actually at the time are transporting the mails. This decision is in response to a request from the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes, who telegraphed President McKinley a protest against the indiscriminate use of these signs by street car lines, with the apparent design of intimidating employes.

Knew It Was Safe.

Washington, May 6.—M. Taigny of the French embassy, who has returned from New York, where he turned over to the National City bank $5,000,000 of the amount paid to Spain, was informed by President Stillman that the bank had already paid to Spain $15,000,000 without waiting for the warrants from this government, as it was felt these would be forthcoming when wanted.

All is not gold that glitters, and even a water paint can be made so that it has a high gloss. A poor paint often has its distinguishing ear marks, such as short measure, and a smell of benzine, and you must be careful and not leave it out over night lest it freeze up. When you open a can of Chilton Paint, it smells as paint should smell, it covers as no other paint will cover, because it is better made with better materials than any other paint, and it lasts longer, because nothing is put in it in order to cheapen it.

[Articles of Association for the formation of a Street Railway Corporation.]

Stoughton & Randolph Street Railway Company.

WE, the subscribers, hereby associate ourselves together with the intention of forming a Corporation for the purpose of constructing and operating a Street Railway for the conveyance of passengers, agreeably to the provisions of chapter one hundred and thirteen of the Public Statutes, and all general laws in addition thereto or amendment thereof.

The name of the Corporation shall be the Stoughton & Randolph Street Railway Company.

The proposed Railway is to commence at a point on Washington street, at the Easton town line, in the town of Stoughton and County of Norfolk, and to extend through said town of Stoughton to the division line of the town of Randolph, in said County of Norfolk, and through said town of Randolph to a point on Union street, at the Holbrook town line, in the town of Randolph, its terminus.

Its length will be about eight miles, and its gauge four feet, eight and one-half inches, as required by law.

The capital stock of said Company shall be eighty thousand dollars ($80,000).

The seven following named persons, being subscribers to these Articles, and a majority of them inhabitants of Stoughton and Randolph, shall act as a Board of Directors, until others are chosen by the Corporation, viz:—

Edward F. Draper of Weymouth, John Stretton of Stoughton,
Daniel B. White of Randolph, Lucius Clapp of Randolph,
Franklin Worcester of Hollis, N. H., William L. Hodges of Stoughton,
Marcus L. Urann of Easton.

And we hereby severally agree to take the number of shares in the capital stock of said Corporation set against our respective names.

Witness our hands this third day of May, 1899.

A Certain Quincy Young Man.

A certain Quincy young man was not a very welcome visitor at the home of one of our young damsels, but he hadn't caught onto the fact. He had noticed, however, that of late, whenever he called the young lady always happened to be out. He called last Sunday afternoon and the same good natured girl came to the door and reported her "out." As he descended the steps he happened to turn around, and just then a curtain that had been down, suddenly thought it was time for "spring" to get in its work, and spring it did. As the curtain suddenly rolled way up to the top of the window, he saw the young lady try to dodge out of sight. He hastily ran up the steps, and as she came to the door he angrily remarked, "Well, I've found you out at last." "It looks more as if you had found me in," she sweetly replied.

You can never tell what's in a house by looking from the outside. You can't even get a good idea of what's in our house by looking at the windows, for we wouldn't have windows enough to show all the good things we've got, if we had 'em clear round the block

We're never out of good things. We're showing just now one of the greatest lines of Men's new up-to-date Suits that we ever had together. We're showing swell Stripes, Checks and Blue Serges in all wool suits, self-faced, well tailored, cut to fit, made of goods that will wear, finished thoroughly inside and out, for $7.50, $8.50, $10.00, that even Quincy's cheap store has never been able to equal before at the prices.

Beef Court's Findings Satisfy the President.

Miles and Eagan and Maus Come In For Censure.

Former's Allegations Lacked Sufficient Justification.

Was Correct, However, In His Opinion Concerning Canned Beef.

Recommendation That No Further Proceedings Be Taken In the Premises.

Washington, May 8.—The report and findings of the military court appointed to investigate the charges made by Major General Miles, commanding the army, that the beef supplied to the army during the war with Spain was unfit for the troops, has been made public by order of President McKinley, who approves the findings.

The most important features of the report are: The finding that the general's allegations that the refrigerated beef was treated with chemicals were not established; that his allegations concerning the canned fresh, or canned roast beef, were sustained as to its unsuitability for food as used on the transports and as a long continued field ration; censure of General Miles for "error" in failing to promptly notify the secretary of war when he first formed the opinion that the food was unfit; censure of the commissary general (General Eagan) for the too extensive purchases of the canned beef as an untried ration; censure of Colonel Maus of General Miles' staff; the finding that the packers were not at fault, and that the meats supplied to the army were of the same quality as those supplied to the trade generally and the recommendation that no further proceedings be taken in the premises.

The conclusion of the court adverse to further proceedings based upon the charges is as follows: "It has been developed in the course of the inquiry as recited in this report, that in some instances certain individuals failed to perform the full measure of duty or to observe the proprieties which dignify high military command, but the court is of the opinion that the mere statement in the official report of the facts developed meets the ends of discipline, and that the interests of the service will be best subserved if further proceedings be not taken."

There is more or less criticism of General Miles in various parts of the report. Probably the most direct instance is the one which states that, beyond the criticism of officers found elsewhere in the report, "the court finds that against none of the officers commanding corps, divisions, brigades and regiments and their staff officers should a charge of guilt be brought.

"The court also finds that the major general commanding the army had no sufficient justification for alleging that the refrigerated beef was embalmed or was unfit for issue to troops. It also finds that he committed an error in that, having belief or knowledge as claimed, that the food was unfit, that it caused sickness and distress, that some of it was supplied under the pretense of experiment, that other beef was embalmed, he did not immediately report such knowledge or belief to the secretary of war to the end that a proper remedy might be applied."

The censure of Colonel Maus, inspector general on General Miles' staff, is based upon his failure to call attention to charges concerning the beef at Chickamauga contained in a report of inspection made by Dr. (Major) Daly Oct. 26 last, in which he stated his belief that the beef was chemically treated. "The silence of Colonel Maus," says the court, "on so important a matter as the chemicalized beef, reported by Major Daly and personally known to himself, is most remarkable." The remark is also made that General Miles' failure to draw special attention to this report is "unexplained."

Commenting upon General Miles' testimony that he had first formed the opinion last August that the refrigerated beef had been processed, the court remarks: "The court finds that the allegations of the major general commanding to the effect that the refrigerated beef supplied to the troops was treated with chemical preservatives have not been established. The court also finds that so much of the allegations of the major general commanding in respect to the canned roast beef, as relates to its unsuitability for food, as actually used on the transports, and as to its extensive or long continued use as a field ration, are sustained. In the opinion of the court none of the other allegations in relation to the canned fresh beef are sustained. The evidence shows that Colonel John F. Weston, assistant commissary general of subsistence, recommended the adoption of the canned roast beef as a component of the field ration, and to that extent he is responsible."

The report places the quantity of canned roast beef purchased for the war by the commissary department at 6,847,174 pounds, including 350,000 pounds which was brought from Liverpool and other English ports. This amount is characterized as excessive, and the commissary general (General Eagan) is severely criticised in several parts of the document on this score. One of the severest rebukes is as follows: "Considering the little use that had been made of this beef in the regular army the probability that the volunteers were entirely ignorant of it, that its use as a part of the field ration had never been sanctioned by the president or secretary of war, the court can but characterize the action of the commissary general of subsistence as unwarranted and reckless—in that he ordered the purchase of such enormous quantities of a food that was practically untried and unknown, and the court so finds. The court also finds that there is no ground for any imputation whatever of any other actuating motive on the part of the commissary general than the earnest desire to procure the best possible food for the troops. The court pronounces this act of the commissary general of subsistence a collosal error for which there is no palliation."

The court finds that there was neglect in Cuba and to a less degree in Porto Rico in delivering the refrigerated beef. "The court," says the report, "does not wish to state the case more strongly than to say that the finding appears to be warranted that too much time was consumed in distributing this perishable article. The fault, if any there was, rested with the brigade and higher commanding officers and their commissaries and quartermasters, but the testimony is not so definite or specific as to warrant the naming by the court of any particular officer."

"The court is of the opinion that the canned roast beef was not suitable as a travel ration on transport, considering the absence of cooking facilities and the absence from that ration of fresh vegetables and condiments. For use on shore as a food ration, where the companies had their camp cooking equipment, and vegetables were available, canned roast beef is suitable for issue, say two days in 10, but not for two days in succession. In some organizations it seems to have constituted at least one-half of the meat ration and until after the surrender the troops had no means for other cooking than was practicable with the individual kit carried. For such extensive use, or any use, exceeding one day in five, the court finds this beef unsuitable.

"The refrigerated beef is, in the opinion of the court, a suitable ration for troops when it can be issued to them in good condition."

Replying to this direction the court says: "The court finds that at the outbreak of hostilities in April, 1898, the packers of canned beef were engaged in the manufacture of an article of standard quality, well known to the trade and the subsistence department under the name of canned roast beef. The methods of packing then in use were the same as those habitually employed in the preparation of the meat as an article of commerce, and the court does not find that they underwent any change during the progress of the war. The large purchases for the use of the military forces, during the months of May and June, 1898, were made by the order and upon the initiative of the commissary general of subsistence, such purchases being made in every case by officers of his department in the usual manner."

It further says: "That the canned beef was described as 'fresh' because it was not salted, but that the meat was not old or stale; that the refrigerated beef furnished the army was not doctored or treated with any other agency than cold air; that the meat purchased for the army was the meat of commerce; that both kinds—refrigerated and canned—were such as are well known in both hemispheres as commercial articles, of which there is and has been very large consumption not only by the trade generally, but by the United States navy and by the armies and navies of Europe; that no reports of unfitness or unsuitability of the beef sent from the United States were forwarded to the war department by any general officer serving in Cuba or Porto Rico while the field operations were in progress, nor were any such reports received until more than one month after hostilities ceased; that, barring some defects in methods of inspecting the beef on its delivery to the subsistence department, the deterioration of the meat in shipment was due to the fault of no one."

Several pages of the report are devoted to the consideration of the allegation made by General Miles that the refrigerated beef was treated with preservatives, but the statement is made upon the threshold of this question that "but little testimony was submitted by him in support of this contention. The inference drawn by the court from the absence of such testimony is adverse to the existence of the practice alleged to prevail by the major general commanding."

A chapter of the report is devoted to the consideration of the cause of the sickness in the army in the Santiago campaign, but "the court finds it impossible o conclude that either the canned fresh beef or the refrigerated beef appeared to any appreciable extent as causes of intestinal disease."

Speaking of the ration as a whole, the court says:

"As to the effects of the food supply, having regard to both sufficiency and quality, it seems to be clearly established that the army ration as supplied, without modification, to the troops serving in the West Indies was by no means well adapted for use in a tropical climate. If this be true, the unfitness of the ration should have manifested itself by its failure to keep the troops, who subsisted upon it, in the best possible condition for service in hot climates. This, in the opinion of the court, is fully established in evidence. The insufficiency of the food supply in Cuba and the irregularity attending upon its distribution, due, primarily to a marked deficiency in transportation facilities and the condition of the weather and the roads, appeared, to some extent, as causes of disease among the troops who were thus insufficiently and irregularly

General Miles, when asked whether he had any comment to make upon the beef report, replied that he had read it, "but I have nothing to say," he added, "either about the report, the method of taking testimony or the conclusions reached."

"Does that mean that as far as you are concerned you will let the matter rest where the report leaves it?" asked the reporter.

"I have nothing to say," replied General Miles.

Booming Moody For Speaker.

Trolley Car Victims.

Lowell, Mass., May 8.—Cornis Monest, 4 years old, was run over by an electric car here yesterday and instantly killed.

Manchester, Conn., May 8.—John A. Ryan was struck by a trolley car as he was walking on a trestle over the Hockanum river on his way home and instantly killed.

Boston, May 8.—Nelson G. Eldridge, a Brookline provision dealer, was struck and probably instantly killed by an electric car Saturday evening. The motorman felt a jar as the car dashed along a poorly lighted part of Beacon street, and, after stopping, found the mangled remains wedged in the machinery. At the undertaker's yesterday two women, both claiming to be wives of the man, demanded the body, but, owing to the controversy, it was not given to either, and it is expected that there will be some litigation in the matter.

The Buffalo Strike.

Buffalo, May 8.—President Johnson of the state board of mediation and arbitration and representatives of the Western Elevating association called on Bishop Quigley of the Catholic diocese of Buffalo yesterday and asked him to endeavor to induce the grain shovellers to accept the proposition made by Contractor Connors. It is understood that Bishop Quigley requested time for consideration and consultation with the priests in whose parishes the trouble is centered. Nearly all of the grain shovellers are Irishmen and attend the Catholic church. It is thought, therefore, that a suggestion coming from the bishop would carry with it great weight. The monthly meeting at the elevators held a big meeting yesterday. Resolutions were adopted expressing sympathy with the cause of the grain shovellers, and it was unanimously voted that whenever there should be any signs of growing strength on the part of the contractor, Connors, a strike would be declared.

Good Afternoon.

All day Sunday a thick haze hung over Adams and Beale streets. From the top of Third Hill it looked as though there was a fire raging, which was miles in extent. The haze was caused by the thousands of dollars of resurfacing which the city has put into these streets being ground up into dust and blown away simply for the want of proper watering. The highways themselves were nothing but streaks of dust.

Now that the street sprinkling appropriation has been held up in the council, there is a crying need that this whole question should be thoroughly revised and placed on a business basis regardless of political pulls. All of the city's long thoroughfares should be sprinkled from end to end on the grounds of road building economy, if for no other reason. Every citizen who abuts on a heaviiy travelled highway which is not sprinkled by the city, knows from experience, if he is fortunate enough to own a hose, that the small section of the street which he sprinkles becomes a substantial roadway, as solid as a floor, and the abutting portions which are not sprinkled rut up, go to pieces and are in need of constant care from the highway department.

To cut down on sprinkling their entire lengths such streets as Adams, Beale, Chestnut, Washington, Willard, Sea, Hancock, School, Franklin, Water, Canal, Copeland streets and Newport avenue is the most expensive kind of economy to indulge in. It is false economy to spend thousands of dollars in rebuilding these highways and then have them ground up into dust in a short time and scattered to the four quarters of the earth simply for the want of proper watering. Let these heavily travelled highways be taken care of first and the side streets last.

UNDER FIRE.

Four Charges Against Inspector Keniley.

Public Hearing Opened by Board of Health.

Plumbers from Lynn Give Testimony.

The new Board of Health has put its stamp of disapproval on star chamber hearings by opening the doors to the public, at the hearing Saturday night on the charges against J. J. Keniley, the Inspector of Plumbing, by Arthur Craig, H. S. Weymouth, H. N. Briggs, and C. P. Gardner. They, however, should go one step further and provide a larger room than the committee room in the Council chamber, at City Hall which was crowded to suffocation while in the Council chamber were many others who desired to hear but could not get within ear shot of the room.

Chairman Thompson of the Board of Health presided and Mr. Keniley was represented by ex-City Solicitor J. W. McAnarney, and the petitioners by W. W. Jenness, Esq., and Mr. G. B. Bates, who sat at Mr. Jenness side and repeatedly prompted him as to what questions to ask.

Henry H. Faxon was present as was also Julius Johnson and others more or less identified with previous charges against the same official.

But little headway was made Saturday night, although some interesting facts were developed, one of which was that the expert who came from Lynn to examine the jobs said to be wrong, came at the request of a Mr. Page who is employed by Mr. Bates. The latter was last year a candidate for the position held by Mr. Keniley. Another was that one of the buildings at least which the charges claimed was plumbed by Mr. Keniley was in fact plumbed by another party and that it was not inspected and passed by Mr. Keniley but by sub-inspector Landers.

At the opening, Counsel McAnarney said that he was willing to waive the reading of the charges but Chairman Thompson said that as the hearing was public it would perhaps be better to read them which was done by the secretary, Dr. Garey.

The first charge read was that of C. P. Gardner of Atlantic, who claimed he had reason to believe that the stable of Grace Weeden at Germantown was not plumbed according to the ordinances, that the work was done by Keniley, who allowed Landers to pass it, and that it was never reported to the Board of Health.

The second was in the same terms as the first, only the building was that of Arthur Craig. Here it was claimed that the work was done by Keniley, who concealed lead pipe, that union couplings had been used, and the vent in the drug store was not as it should be. This job it was also claimed Keniley allowed the sub-inspector to pass, and failed to report to the Board of Health.

The third was that of H. S. Weymouth of Atlantic, and was that the new city stables were not vented according to the ordinance, yet Keniley allowed them to be passed by Landers and failed to report them.

The complaint of H. N. Briggs was that Keniley received payment in full for a complete inspection of the house of H. R. Chapman of Norfolk Downs before the work was completed. Mr. Briggs also claimed, that at the new house of A. W. Parker on Upland street, the plumbing was not connected with the sewer according to the ordinances.

All of the complaints contained the clause that Keniley was remiss and neglectful in his duty and asked for his removal.

The first witness was William C. Quimby of Lynn. Mr. Quimby testified that he had examined the buildings of Arthur Craig, A. W. Parker, the city stable, the stable of Mrs. Weeden, and in detail described wherein the plumbing was not according to the ordinances.

At the city stable he found a four-inch soil pipe running under the stalls to the manure pit. There was a bell trap under each stall but no trap on the main. The soil pipe did not extend through the roof. There was a small vent to the manure pit. He did not call it a complete job.

In the Craig block he told of the lead pipe he had found beneath the floor and sheathing and of the union couplings with leather washers. In the drug store he found under the sink two traps not properly vented.

At the house of A. W. Parker he found the vertical soil pipe at the foot of the trap which was not allowed.

At the Weeden stable he found earthern drain pipe in use and no vent to the soil pipe.

Mr. Thompson—Who asked you to examine the plumbing of these buildings of which you have testified.

Mr. Quimby—I had rather not state.

Mr. Thompson pressed his question and witness finally said Mr. Page.

Mr. Thompson—Who is Mr. Page?

Mr. Quimby—A plumber in Quincy.

Mr. Thompson—Is he in business for himself or employed by someone?

Mr. Quimby—He is employed by Mr. Bates.

In reply to questions by Lawyer McAnarney, witness said he was told he would be expected to state to the Board of Health what he saw. That he was accompanied on his inspection by Mr. Page and a Mr. Fleet. That Mr. Page met him at the depot; that they went to Bates' store and he had a conversation with Bates.

After a few other minor questions witness was excused.

John Fleet, another Lynn plumber said his testimony would be the same as Quimby's and he was excused.

Eugene L. Murphy, an Atlantic plumber, was about to testify, when Lawyer McAnarney asked for a ruling of the board. Whether if the inspection was faulty and was done by Landers, could it be charged against Keniley?

Lawyer Jenness said, Chapter 455 of the Acts of 1894 provides the Inspector shall report every violation. Here is a case where the Inspector did the work and allowed the sub-inspector to pass it, and did not report it to the Board of Health.

Lawyer McAnarney, in reply said, the Inspector is not supposed to know about a building that the sub-inspector inspected. If he did the work, which, he should later show that he did not, the issue if anything should be against his license as a plumber and not as an Inspector. It was clear by the statute that Keniley could not be held for the acts of Landers.

The Board did not give any ruling on this point but immediately adjourned the hearing until Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock.

Class Trip.

The seventh grades of the Willard school, accompanied by their teachers, Miss Rierdon and Miss Smith, visited places of historical interest in Boston, on Saturday. It proved a red letter day in many of the pupil's lives. A little before the time of departure from West Quincy station, a sum of money was handed to one of the teachers by station agent, saying it was left by a friend to be used for the children during the day. This "Friend" certainly "cast bread upon the waters," for the gift enabled them to extend their trip to noted Cambridge. Many, many thanks to the giver from pupils and teachers.

Timely Discovery.

Shortly before 3 o'clock Sunday morning officer Murray discovered a fire in Brown's lunch room on Hancock street. Entering the building he found that the oil stove used for cooking had taken fire and was nearly melted. Mr. Brown lay on a sofa in the same room sound asleep and but for the timely discovery of the officer he might have been burned,

Fletcher Gallagher of Portland, Maine, visited friends in Atlantic, Saturday.

A grand coffee party is to be held in St. Mary's hall, West Quincy, the coming week.

They now call it the South Quincy boulevard, because Franklin street has been so nicely repaired.

M. D. Lincoln and family of Atlantic have bought a farm in Shirley, and have removed to that place.

H. W. Lull of this city delivered an address at the teachers' institute at Concord last week on "Educative Desk Work."

William J. Thompson of Wollaston, a salesman, has filed a petition in bankruptcy; liabilities $38,416; assets, none.

Another convert to the bicycle is our popular lawyer, John McKnight, who has just purchased a wheel from H. S. Crane.

Mr. Joseph Spear shot and killed a large hawk Saturday. The bird was quietly devouring a young chicken in his hen yard at East Braintree.

G. Perlie Robinson, the celebrated banjoist and teacher of Exeter, N. H., is visiting his brother, W. H. Robinson, of the Q. & B. street railway.

Mrs. Albert M. Parker and little son, of Presidents' hill, are visiting in Waltham and Newton, while Mr. Parker is at Bangor, Maine, on a business trip.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe read a paper to the pupils of the Quincy Mansion school one afternoon last week on "Personal Recollections of Whittier, Longfellow, Holmes and Lowell."

Richard Roberts of West Quincy entered the eight-mile bicycle road race at Randolph on Saturday. His time was 23 minutes, 15 seconds, less than two minutes behind the scratch man.

Visiting delegations from Brockton, Cambridge and Beachmont, with speeches and refreshments, made the meeting of Quincy lodge, N. E. O. P., on Friday evening, an unusually interesting one.

The Sunday Journal printed a group picture of the police officers of Division 2, Boston. Charles L. Badger, formerly of Quincy, who is detailed at the corner of State and Devonshire street was included.

It was a Quincy lady who won the first prize offered by a Boston firm for the best advertisement on the Sorosis shoe. Four cash prizes aggregating $100 were offered and Mrs. T. L. Williams of Foster street receives $50, the other prizes going to Malden, Portsmouth, N. H., and Roslindale.

Pedestrians who cross the lawn around the First church must remember that money and labor is being spent to beautify the centre of Quincy and there are paths to walk on. It would be a good plan to place some signs about the grounds, "Keep off the grass."

The Sunday Herald printed a lengthy sketch of the first railroad in America, constructed in Quincy. It was finely illustrated with views of the old Bunker Hill quarry, the old wharf of the Granite Railway Co., a portrait of Gridley Bryant, etc., etc., making it of historical value.

The exercises at the starting of the Sewer pumping station this afternoon will be of a simple nature. Chairman Shea of the Board of Sewer Commissioners will make a little speech and turn the plant over to the Mayor, who will turn the steam valve and set the pumps in operation.

There was a large attendance of relatives and friends at the funeral services of Mrs. Charles S. Adams at her late home on Brook street, Wollaston, on Saturday afternoon. The services, which were extremely simple, were conducted by the Rev. Rufus B. Tobey. The body will be interred at her birthplace at South Bernick, Me.

U. S. Bodwell of Quincy Neck had a handsome yacht stolen last summer at Nantasket beach, and he searched high and low to discover her whereabouts. Two painters of Quincy Point, while at work at the beach last week found her stripped of everything but the mast, at Point Allerton and notified Mr. Bodwell.

SKULL FRACTURED.

A Finn Murderously Assaulted —A Mystery.

There was a serious assault case at a Finn boarding house at 26 Smith street, Sunday noon, as the result of which Herman Pyornie lies at the point of death at the City Hospital with a compound fracture of the skull, and Constance Crobac is under arrest charged with assault upon Pyornie with intent to kill.

What caused the assault is up to the present time a mystery. From what can be learned it seems that the Finns had gathered in a room after dinner engaged in conversation. According to the story of those present it was a peaceful conversation. Suddenly Crobac jumped to his feet and seizing a six cut bush hammer struck Pyornie a powerful blow upon the forehead.

Pyornie fell unconscious to the floor, and during the excitement word was sent to the police. Officer Bradley was soon on the scene and had sent word to Chief Hayden, who also arrived.

The officers found Pyornie laying bleeding upon the floor and the men present talking in an excited manner. They insisted that no words had passed between the men and could give no reason for the assault.

Dr. Dion who was called found that Pyornie had received a compound fracture of the skull, and was in so dangerous a condition that he was removed to the City Hospital.

Crobac was locked up upon the charge of assault with intent to kill with a dangerous weapon. Later in the afternoon when it was learned that the chances of Pyornie's recovery were doubtful, Crobac was taken to the Hospital where he was identified by the injured man as the one who made the assault.

This morning the attending physician says the case is a serious one, and the chances are against Pyornie's recovery. Crobac was arraigned in court and held in $2000 to await the result of Pyornie's injuries.

Beer on Tap.

There was a little party at Mrs. Mullane's boarding house on Quincy avenue Saturday night, and in order that it should not lack for interest a half barrel of beer was imported from Boston and placed on tap. Along toward midnight the beer began to get in its work, and an hour later a free fight was in progress inside the house and on the outside was a howling crowd of spectators that had gathered by the noise. Officer Murray then came along and entering the house found three men in one of the rooms fighting, while Mrs. Mullane was trying to act as peacemaker. The clothing of the men had been almost torn off during the row and they were covered with blood. Mrs. Mullane was also bleeding from a cut in the head and it was a hard looking sight. The other boarders in the house were up, but not in the room where the fighting was in progress. The three men, viz. Thomas Kelley, Jerry Kelliher and John Burkhill were placed under arrest for disturbing the peace.

Down stairs the tap of the beer barrel was open and the floor covered with beer. Broken crockery was also scattered all over the floor and the place looked as though a cyclone had struck it.

☞In the rush and struggle of business and amid the anxieties and cares of household life, thousands of men and women are taking life too seriously. There is need of hard work if success is to be achieved in any direction. Sorrow and perplexity are part of earth's discipline and must be expected, but above and beyond all these, if triumph is to crown laudible efforts, if real victory is to be gained, there must be postive joy living.—Beverly Times.

☞One woman has knocked the Somerville board of trade all askew by applying for membership. There was no provision in the by-laws to forbid her admission, but after wrestling with the petition for an hour, an amendment to exclude women was proposed and laid over till the next meeting. The Somerville trade boarders have not got beyond being scared by George William Curtis' burlesque warning, "Suppose, Mr. Chairman, you should wake up some morning and find yourselves a board of alderwomen instead of aldermen."—Worcester Spy.

☞The Waltham News says that the curfew was not established in that city for the welfare of the young people, as the Item erroneously supposed, adding "It is the old folks who need a curfew law—and watching." This admission, that it is the ancient Walthamites who are off tick and run down, is one of the most alarming conditions which could be supposed or imagined, and indicates that the city needs a new main-spring.—Clinton Item.

WEYMOUTH

Mr. Waldo C. French of Weymouth, a shoemaker by trade, and for fifty years an Odd Fellow, died on Saturday, aged 83 years. He leaves a widow and one daughter.

The large catchers of alewives at Weymouth, taken daily by Charles L. Prescott, of Quincy interest large numbers.

An audience that filled the large edifice to overflowing attended the memorial exercises held at the First Baptist church Sunday evening. Rev. F. B. Cressey delivered a very able address and an interesting program was furnished by members of Reynolds Post 53, G. A. R., and the Ladies' Aid Society.

Fell With a Lamp.

There was some little excitement on Newcomb place Sunday night, and a serious fire was narrowly averted. It was shortly before 8 o'clock when Mr. Frank Holmes started upstairs with a lamp. A few minutes later his wife hearing a crash and fall rushed upstairs and found that the lamp had been overturned and set the bed clothing on fire, and that her husband lay on the floor in a faint. Mrs. Holmes shouted for help and gave battle to the flames, which she succeeded in extinguishing. Neighbors who had arrived summoned a physcian, who attended Mr. Holmes. It is supposed that he had an attack of heart trouble and fell which caused the fire.

There was an unusual busy session of the district court this morning. The following cases were before His Honor:

Samuel Bothwell, Daniel Cronin of Quincy, John Maguire and Michael Curley of Milton were fined $5 each for drunkenness.

William Connors was sent to the House of Correction for three months for drunkenness at Weymouth.

Nicholas Hendrickson, Frank Erickson, Hendrick Henderson, John Burkhill, Jerry Kelliher and Thomas Kelly were fined $7 each for disturbing the peace at Quincy.

James H. Butler was arraigned for violation of the Park Commission's rules by riding a bicycle otherwise than upon the streets, and was fined $5.

Ann Buckley was arraigned for assault on Mary L. Donaher at Quincy. Case continued until Friday.

Mary Delaney was arraigned for assault on Leo Mullaney at Quincy. Case continued three months.

Constante Crobac was arraigned for assault with a dangerous weapon on Herman Pyornie, with intent to kill, at Quincy. Case continued until May 17, Crobac being held in $2,000.

The continued case of George L. Shaw for drunkenness at Weymouth was called and again continued until July 1.

The continued case of Martin White for drunkenness was called and was defaulted.

AN OFFSET TO "ANTIS."

Big Meetings at Chicago Express Approval of the Government's Policy.

Discharged Its Duty In Dealing With the Filipinos.

No Terms to Offer but American Terms of Unconditional Surrender.

Chicago, May 8.—Three big mass meetings were held in Chicago yesterday to voice approval of the policy of the administration with reference to the Philippine islands, and to protest against the sentiment expressed a week ago at the "anti-expansion" meeting in Central Music hall. Yesterdays meetings were held in the Auditorium, the Central Music hall, and the First Methodist church, and, in spite of inclement weather, the aggregate of attendance was probably 10,000.

Appropriate resolutions were read by General John Black and adopted unanimously at all of the meetings. They were as follows:

First—We recognize that a condition of war prevails in the Philippine islands between the government of the United States and certain men who are in insurrection against the lawful authority of the United States. We believe that such condition of insurrection has arisen from a course of events which when once instituted has moved in irresistible sequence to the present situation—that this course of events began with the barbarities practised by the Spanish government toward the inhabitants of the island of Cuba. These barbarities were continued by the Spanish authorities in spite of our protestations and entreaties through a series of years for an amelioration of these dreadful conditions, and finally culminated in the destruction of our war vessel, the Maine, in the harbor of Havana. Every step which followed has been inevitable sequence of the preceding events—war between the two nations, the success of American arms and the consequences which attach to the conquest of an armed foe. Among these consequences were the occupation of the Philippine islands by the American naval and military forces, and the substitution during the remainder of the war of a sovereignty of the conqueror for that of the conquered.

In the Philippine islands, with the exception of a single year, Spanish sovereignty has been complete since the 16th century. Spain collected the taxes, held the fortifications, appointed all the civil officers, Spanish viceroys, Spanish judges, Spanish courts administered the laws which were proclaimed by the Spanish governor and enforced by the Spanish army and navy. The sudden destruction of this sovereignty compelled the substitution of the sovereignty of the conqueror. No other government in the archipelago was competent to receive the authority surrendered by Spain. Our government had to accept and assume the responsibilities of the situation and execute the duties devolved upon it by the change in the administration of the laws. The only alternative was to surrender the islands to anarchy or to foreign and selfish intervention. Her course was compatible with duty or with the dictates of humanity. Therefore after the conquest in the harbor of Manila it was incumbent on our government to protect life and property throughout the archipelago.

We recognize and declare the facts to be that from the 13th day of August, 1898, until the 4th day of February, 1899, peace prevailed in Manila under the protection of American arms—that on the day last named an insurgent force assailed our army in its fortifications and encampments under the cover of darkness—and by this act of aggression inaugurated hostilities, the first result of which was intended to be wholesale massacre and the destruction of property within the city.

We recite with sorrow the fact that the chief encouragement extended to the insurgents has been from some of our misguided fellow-citizens; and to them must be ascribed much of the bloodshed and ruin which has followed.

We further declare that the government of the United States has sought in every honorable way to secure cessation of hostilities, as evinced by the appointment of a commission fully authorized to treat with the insurgents and to offer them peace and amnesty, and by the action of our military and naval authorities, who have at all times been ready to protect those who would surrender their arms and cease their warfare against the government of the United States.

We point to the fact that these efforts of peace have been contumaciously rejected by the insurgents until it became manifest even to them that they were waging a hopeless war.

Second—We declare our belief in the high honor and just action of our army and navy in the Philippine islands. We believe that our government has taken every step that it should take to secure peace and order. We believe that the administration representing the government has highly and fully discharged its duty in the premises. We consider it our part to share the burdens of our government, rather than to embarrass its efforts and thus prolong the conflict of arms.

Third—We know that at this very hour our soldiers in arms are face to face with an armed foe; and until the close of hostilities we know only our country, its army and navy, and its executive. We pledge to them, while our flag shall be in battle, our unfaltering support.

Fourth—We, as Americans, take pride in the achievement of our army and navy, both in the war with Spain and in the present military operations in the island of Luzon. The heroism of officers and men alike has shed renewed luster on American arms. The cause in which they have fought was and is a just one. They are now fighting for the security of the lives of peaceable non-combatants throughout the archipelago, and in just reprisal for an unprovoked attack. We believe that the sending of seditious appeals to the American troops, engaged in hostilities, is an act of treasonable character, and that every appeal to them to abandon their colors or disregard their duty as soldiers merits the lasting condemnation of every patriot.

Fifth—The government of the United States should be, and we believe will be, true to its principles in the disposition of all questions that may arise in the future in our relationship with the people of the Philippine islands.

Sixth—We regard the great issue of the hour to be the success of our country in the performance of the duty which it owes to civilization. Until this is assured—until armed insurrection has ceased—we have no terms to offer but the American terms of unconditional surrender.

"WHIP THE WHOLE LOT"

What General Mascardo Expects to Do When He Meets Americans.

Our Army "Taking It Easy" at San Fernando.

But Little Sympathy For Insurrection Shown by Natives In That Quarter.

Manila, May 8.—To clear the Filipinos out of Bacolor, about five miles southwest of San Fernando, will be the next task of the Americans. General Mascardo has a force of 6000 men there, well armed and possessed of plenty of ammunition. His troops have never met American soldiers, and they think, according to the reports carried to San Fernando, that they can "whip the whole lot."

Bacolor is well entrenched and thousands of natives are working like beavers, digging trenches and carrying the dirt in baskets. Mascardo uses his riflemen for fighting only, but compels the Bolomen and Chinese, and even the women, to labor incessantly.

The rebels have an outpost about a mile beyond San Fernando with a trench that holds between 200 and 300 men. From that point several volleys were fired Saturday night upon the camp of the Twentieth Kansas regiment.

Neither Major General MacArthur nor Major General Lawton moved yesterday, although each reconnoitered the country in his own vicinity for some miles from headquarters, developing the presence of small forces of the enemy. In the vicinity of Laguna De Bay the rebels are extremely active, but the lines of General Ovenshine and Colonel Wholley, who is commanding General King's brigade during the latter's illness, have been materially strengthened, and there is no danger in that direction.

The armed steamers Laguna de Bay and Cavadonga, under Captain Grant, have gone to Guagua, about five miles southwest of Bacolor, presumably to establish there a base of supplies for the troops engaged in the northern campaign.

It is rumored that Mabini, president of the cabinet and minister of foreign affairs in the so-called Filipino government, who is a radical, is to be succeeded by Paterno, the framer of the Spanish treaty of 1896. This change is regarded as significant at the present juncture.

The entrance of the Americans into San Fernando was virtually unopposed. The Filipinos, who expected the invaders to approach from the sea, had that side of the town strongly guarded, but there was only one line of trenches beyond San Tomas. Two battalions of the Fifty-first Iowa regiment, which swam the river north of the city, were smartly peppered while in the river, but the rebels disappeared as soon as the Americans reached the shore. In the meantime the hospital squad had walked across the bridge into the city, supposing the Americans were there. They encountered no natives.

The few Spaniards and Filipinos who were left welcomed the Americans and opened their houses to them. General MacArthur accepting entertainment at the hands of Senor Hizon, a sugar magnate.

If the inhabitants of the San Fernando region are to be believed there is little sympathy with the insurrection in that quarter. Before evacuating the city the rebels burned the church and the public buildings and looted the Chinese quarter. They drove many rich Filipinos, with their families, out of the city before them, as well as hundreds of Chinese, to prevent them from helping the Americans. They cut the throats of some. Many Chinese hid on roof tops or in cellars and some escaped by cutting off their queues. There are 50 fresh graves in the churchyard.

The country beyond Calumpit is full of all sorts of ingenius trenches and pitfalls in the roads, with sharpened bamboo. Fortunately the Americans escaped the latter.

In the swamps near San Tomas, where General Wheaton's troops did their hardest fighting—the men sinking to their waists in mud—are many bodies of Filipinos, smelling horribly.

The army is really enjoying life at San Fernando, which is the most picturesque and wealthy town the Americans have entered since the occupation of Manila. It is largely built of stone, the river is close at hand, and high hills almost surround it. Many sugar factories indicate a thriving industry in that respect, and there are numerous fine residences. General MacArthur's permanent headquarters is established in the best house in town, which is richly decorated with frescoes and carved woods.

The troops are encamped around in the suburbs and are beginning to think they may be quartered there during the wet season.

After Bacolor has been cleared water communication with Manila may be established. Along the roads to Calumpit the fuel wagons and bull teams dragging provisions have to be ferried one by one across two rivers; but the Filipinos have several launches in the river Delta.

The American troops are much exhausted by the campaign, except the Iowa troops, who are comparatively fresh. The regiments of the division average less than 50 men to a company, and all have a weather-worn appearance.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—4:30; sets, 6:52.

Moon sets.

High water—11 a. m.; 11:15 p. m.

During Sunday a barometric depression developed over the middle Mississippi valley and a second slight depression appeared over North Carolina. These developments were attended by showers and thunder storms. The temperature changes have been slight. The Mississippi valley storm will move eastward, attended by showers and thunder storms from southern New England to the Carolinas. By tomorrow the rain area will probably overspread the New England states. The winds will increase from easterly.

CONGRESSIONAL APPROPRIATIONS.

Total of $674,981,022 at Last Session, With Future Contracts Aggregating $77,047,274.

Washington, May 8.—The volume relating to appropriations, new offices, etc., required by law to be prepared and published at the end of each session of congress, under the direction of the committees on appropriations of the house and senate, has been completed for the third session of the Fifty-fifth congress. A summary of the appropriations shows the grand total of $674,981,022.

The details by bills are as follows:

Agricultural	$3,726,022
Army	80,130,204

Dewey Enjoying Good Health.

San Francisco, May 8.—On the steamship City of Pekin, from China and Japan, was Dr. E. Page, passed assistant surgeon, U. S. N., and surgeon on the flagship Olympia for the past year and a half. He makes the following statement regarding Admiral Dewey's health: "Admiral Dewey is in perfect health. He has not been more than 20 miles away from Manila since a year ago May 1, and he has not felt the necessity of a physician's care in that time. The reports concerning the admiral's physical condition have been grossly exaggerated. The climate of Manila is enervating of course, but the commander of the fleet has been no more affected by it than any one else. The people of California will be disappointed at not seeing Admiral Dewey, for he has determined to return to the United States in the Olympia by way of the Suez canal.

The navy department has just made an allotment of the appropriation of $60,000 for the assistance of the naval militia of the states supporting such organizations. The sums allotted include the following: Connecticut, $1661.70; Massachusetts, $5456.04; Rhode Island, $1741.

more tired than when you went to bed, with an unpleasant taste in the mouth, your tongue coated and dry, and having no appetite for breakfast, you are suffering from Dyspepsia.

Numbers of people are suffering seriously from this complaint and its result, when one package of U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLETS will bring about a prompt cure. A few doses will do more for a Weak or Sour Stomach than a prolonged course of any other medicine. Nothing can be used with so much certainty in obstinate cases of Constipation.

These tablets are the outcome of years of study, and are compounded of the finest drugs only, purely vegetable, they do not gripe, produce no reaction. Take no substitute. 10 CENTS PER PACKAGE.

If you cannot get them at your drug store, send 10 cts. for a package of 12 to the U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLET CO., 17 EAST 14TH ST., NEW YORK.

PREACHER IS MISSING.

Brockton Officers Hold a Warrant For the Arrest of Rev. Mr. McLeod.

Several Members of Church Have Seceded.

Elders Asked For and Received Resignation, to Which Laymen Objected.

Brockton, Mass., May 9.—A judicial commission of the Boston Presbytery met in this city yesterday and investigated certain charges against Rev. William Theophilius McLeod, who was temporary pastor, until a few weeks ago, over the Presbyterian church here. This commission decided to suspend McLeod from the gospel ministry until satisfactory proof of his innocence is presented. McLeod is understood to be in Charlottetown, P. E. I., his former home, and likewise it is stated that he has preached there since his hasty departure from this city.

The charges against McLeod have been in the hands of the police for some time, and a warrant for his arrest was issued at the time the case was first called to their attention, and before the church folks had taken action. The allegations are very serious and deplorable. When there were reports of certain acts of the clergyman much commotion was created, the definite result being the division of the membership of the church over which McLeod was then exercising pastoral relations.

The board of elders in the church first brought the charges to McLeod's notice, and asked for his resignation, which he tendered them. Then the church, by a vote of 44 to 18, refused to accept it, but as McLeod was not the settled pastor, the action of the elders was irrevocable. Forthwith, about 50 of the 80 members of the church seceded and formed the Independent Presbyterian church. The members claimed that their action was not through sympathy or friendship for McLeod, but because the government of the church, through the elders, was arbitrary, and because they were allowed no part in the proceedings in which McLeod was called to account.

The inquiry yesterday afternoon was held behind closed doors, but among the witnesses called were some of those upon whose statements the police obtained a warrant for McLeod, but too late to secure his arrest.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, May 9.—General excitement is caused among the veterans of the Civil war by the civil service bill which has passed the senate and which gives veterans of the Spanish war preference in matters of appointment to the public service, thus practically excluding veterans of the war of '61 from the hope of further public employment.

In executive session the legislative committee on metropolitan affairs finished its work for the session, and voted to report, with some dissenters, the bill providing compensation for residents of Ashland in connection with metropolitan water improvements, and to refer the Clinton and Princeton bills, of the same purport, to the next general court.

Bills relative to watering streets in Boston, establishing the boundary line between Massachusetts and New Hampshire, for a stained-glass window for the main staircase from Memorial hall to the representative chamber, to repay expenses for damages from fire and pay for fire alarms at the Westboro insane hospital, were engrossed in the senate.

A bill to regulate and supervise electric wires in the town of Arlington was taken from the table and rejected, a general bill on supervision of wires having been enacted. An adverse report on a petition for incorporation of the Boston and Eastern Express company was accepted.

The motion to refer to the next general court the bill for replacing the tracks on Tremont street, this city, was rejected, 8 to 25. The bill was then engrossed without a count.

At the opening of the house session Mr. Davis offered a resolution of sympathy over the illness of Representative Frost of Lawrence, who has been sick for some time. The resolution was adopted.

The committee on ways and means reported favorably on the bill to provide a representation at the Pan-American congress, and also reported a resolve for the payment of $2000 to Annie H. Corson for injuries received while in the employ of the state normal school at Bridgewater.

Reconsideration was voted on the bill to require railroads to equip their cars with platform gates, which had to be engrossed.

Thompson Goes Free.

Portland, Me., May 9.—In the United States circuit court the case against Sidney A. Thompson of South Thomaston, charged with the alteration of United States notes and the passing of the same, was nolle prossed by District Attorney Dyer and Thompson thus goes free. It is understood that this result is due to an omission by the district attorney, who failed to include allegations in the indictment under which the prisoner could have been held to answer without depending on the evidence that was ruled out by the court.

Box Makers Quit Work.

Haverhill, Mass., May 9.—The employes of O. S. Currier & Son, paper box manufacturers 23 in number, went out on strike yesterday on account of a price list offered by the firm and rejected by them. The list is the same as posted in four other shops and gives a 20 percent advance in wages. The firm discharged all the help and then claimed that no strike was on. The help claim that the strike is in force, as the union took the initiative.

Another Dividend.

Laconia, N. H., May 9.—The trustees of the Belknap Savinks bank of this city have voted to pay a dividend of 20 percent, payable on and after June 1. The Belknap Savings bank went into liquidation about 2½ years ago, and this is the third dividend declared, the first two being for 5 percent each.

Burglars Sentenced.

Manchester, N. H., May 9.—Arthur Archambeault and Adelard Perreault, the two burglars who attempted to rob the shoe store of William P. Farmer a few weeks ago, were yesterday sentenced to a term of years in the state prison. Archambeault received 12 years and Perreault 10 years.

Required Forty-Seven Stitches.

Boston, May 9.—Leonard Atkinson, a checker at Hotel Clarendon, was assaulted yesterday by E. C. McUpton, a colored bell boy, who slashed Atkinson 11 times in the face with a razor. The boy escaped, while Atkinson, after going to the hospital, had 47 stitches taken in his wounds.

A Fatal Ride.

Lynn, Mass., May 9.—Maurice Basker, 30 years old, who was stealing a ride on a freight train from Portsmouth to Boston, fell between the cars in Swampscott and was killed. His fall was caused by his attempt to avoid the conductor. He belonged in this city.

New Railway Opened.

Dedham, Mass., May 9.—The Norfolk Western street railway was opened yesterday. The road is the fourth to center in Dedham, and runs to Westwood and to Medfield, a distance of eight miles. For three years the road fought for a location in this town.

Death Lurked In Water.

Hartford, May 9.—It has been ascertained that impure well water in Bloomfield has been the cause of the death of three children named McNaughton. Two horses have also died from drinking the water.

Robert Kummer's Body Found.

Medford, Mass., May 9.—The body of Robert C. Kummer was found in Mystic lake yesterday by R. R. Ingraham and Edward Byrnes. They found the body on the first trial. The funeral of the two brothers will occur tomorrow.

Failed to Return.

Boston, May 9.—Horace G. Allen sent his office boy, Frank Blanchard, 15 years old, to the bank yesterday to cash a $370 check. The boy and the money are still missing.

Chinese In Cuba.

Washington, May 9.—The Chinese legation here has made a strong protest to the state department against the extension of the Chinese exclusion act to Cuba, this having been one result of a recent executive order extending the immigration laws of the United States to Cuba and Porto Rico. Yung-Kwai, an attache of the legation, said that, in view of the fact that the Chinese would make the best kind of citizens for the settlement of Cuba, he believed that the order would be modified so as not to exclude his countrymen. "The dowager empress," he added, "has recently granted the most liberal protection to Americans and wishes to become more closely allied with America, and this country will be going against its own interests if it refuses to meet China half way." Secretary Hay later said that the matter was under consideration by the state department.

Situation Unchanged.

Buffalo, May 9.—Buffalo vessel owners are much disturbed over notices received from grain shippers in Chicago and Duluth stating that damages will be claimed in every case where grain taken on time contracts does not get to the seaboard promptly. It is said that many cargoes now lying in the harbor here should have been in New York last week, and the loss to the shippers and ocean carriers will be large. The situation in the harbor remains unchanged. Contractor Conners claims to be working 12 elevators with full force of men, but the slow movements of the boats to and from the elevators indicate that the amount of work being done is limited.

Bath Cost Him $15,000.

Calumet, Mich., May 9.—Marcus Sterk, a Red Jacket saloon keeper, is minus $15,000 which he carried in his inside vest pocket. It is suspected that the money was stolen from his clothing while he was taking a bath in the public bathhouse.

CHARGES TO BE INVESTIGATED

Before Dr. Briggs Shall Be Ordained as a Protestant Episcopal Minister.

New York, May 9.—Bishop Potter has received a letter from Rev. Dr. B. F. De Costa of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, which, it is thought, may effectually prevent the ordination of Dr. Briggs without a formal investigation of the charges against him. In his letter Dr. De Costa said:

REV. DR. BRIGGS.

"I beg to say that I am prepared to bring a specific charge against Dr. Briggs of teaching contrary to the standards of the Protestant Episcopal church; that I claim my right to a hearing before a committee empowered to investigate public rumors."

In speaking of the letter Dr. De Costa said that it was his canonical right to be heard. He added that he did not speak for himself alone, but for others. Asked whether he thought Bishop Potter would ordain Dr. Briggs quietly without giving notice to the diocese, Dr. De Costa said that it was an unwritten law of the church that such matters must be given publicity, and it would be worse to violate such a law than to go contrary to the written statutes. He further said that it looked very much now as if Dr. Briggs' ordination would be postponed, if not entirely omitted. There was scarcely time for due notice to be given before the date set for Dr. Briggs' departure for Europe.

In reply to a question as to what were the plans of those opposed to the ordination, Dr. De Costa said that the next move was the bishops. Should Dr. Briggs be ordained before he sailed, it was likely that proceedings against him would not be begun before his return in the fall. The regular order of procedure would be for three presbyters to prefer charges.

Good Afternoon.

During the past two months the fire department has frequently been called out to answer alarms which proved to be brush or grass fires for which it was needless to call out the whole department. In many of these cases the alarms were pulled in by young boys, more for the sake of seeing the apparatus respond than for the necessity of its aid in extinguishing the fire. In cases where assistance was needed it would have only been necessary to notify the driver of the nearest piece of apparatus or the chief by telephone, to have obtained the desired aid. To such an abuse has the use of the fire alarm been put that Chief Engineer Williams has issued orders forbidding any person under sixteen years of age from pulling in an alarm, and any boy doing so will do so at their own peril and parents should caution their children in case they discover a fire not to meddle with the fire alarm box, but to notify some older person.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The newspapers are telling us that there are 50,000,000 English sparrows in Massachusetts. They haven't got through counting the gypsy moths yet.—Lynn Item.

☞ The Republican party apparently will not have a monopoly of contests this year, for there is to be a good, square, stand-up battle for the Democratic nomination for governor of the commonwealth. The candidates are the Hon. Alexander B. Bruce of Lawrence, the nominee last year, and Representative Wilmore B. Stone of Springfield. Mr. Bruce says he is a candidate, and so does Mr. Stone.—Milford Journal.

☞ The old idea that "the king can do no wrong," is reversed in the minds of the socialists of Holland so as to read the czar cannot do right, judging by the way they view the peace conference to be held at The Hague, and which is to consider his suggestion in regard to disarmament.—Brockton Times.

☞ Governor Roosevelt's refusal to pardon a wife-murderer, who is sixty years old and who has been in prison twenty-two years, is based on the sound reason that it was a miscarriage of justice when the man escaped with his life, and that he does not care to repeat the injustice by pardoning such a criminal.—New Bedford Standard.

☞ Before we attempt to ascertain whether the natives of our new possessions are capable of self government we might ask ourselves if we are capable of it. The verdict of the legislature seems to be that we are not.—Fall River Herald.

☞ The people are sick and tired of this travesty and perversion of that humane provision which presumes the innocence of the prisoner until guilt is proven. Criminal lawyers in their zeal for their clients, are themselves largely to blame for the popular lack of confidence in the courts, for at times some of them seem to forget that they are officers of the court and are interested in the maintenance of the majesty of the law, as well as in the defense of their client.—Augusta Ga., Chronicle.

TO LEAVE SERVICE.

Many Old Co. K Men Ask for Their Discharge.

The amory of Co. K was open Monday evening and several who have served in the Massachusetts Militia or as United States Volunteers were present, including Capt. Kincaide.

No meeting, either informal or formal was held, and as announced last week, none will be held until the company is recruited to its full strength.

In the minds of many, the militia and volunteers are mixed up, and they do not understand how Henry L. Kncaide, who resigned at Camp Meade, still has a claim on the captaincy. The milita, however, is a State organization, and the volunteers were in the United States service. Mr. Kincaide was captain of the militia company previous to the war, and also volunteered under the second call. The militia company, which was composed of 60 men was furloughed, that the members might volunteer, with the understanding that when the regiment was discharged from United States service they might again return to Co. K, of the Massachusetts militia.

The Fifth Massachusetts regiment of volunteers was mustered out at Camp Wetherell recently. Of the 106, about 40 were members of the militia company (Co. K of Braintree) and they with the 20 who did not volunteer for the war, may continue in the Massachusetts militia. During the war the terms of service of one or three years of many of the 60 expired and it is optional with them to continue. Any of the others who do not wish to continue longer in service may also get their discharge on recommendation of the captain.

Capt. Kincaide personally interviewed the men assembled Monday night, and most of them desired their discharges. When the number of vacancies are known Co. K will be immediately recruited. Capt. Kincaide says already several have expressed a desire to enter the service. The amory will be opened every Monday evening but no meetings will be held.

Accident to Steamer.

The alarm from Box 45, at 8.15 Monday night, was for a brush fire and was needless. While responding to the alarm an accident happened to the steamer, and driver Brown had a narrow escape from a serious if not fatal injury. The aparatus was flying along Copeland street when the forward axle broke in the centre, throwing the two wheels onto the driver, who jumped onto the back of the horses and thus saved himself. Inside of an hour a pair of wheels and axle had been secured and the piece of apparatus was again in service.

May Festival and Operetta.

Music Hall, Atlantic, was the scene of a pretty May Day festival, Saturday afternoon. The Ladies' Benevolent society of the Congregational church took this way of giving the Sunday School a treat. Ice cream and cake were served to the children and a jolly time was the ordes of the day. The committee of arrangements under the direction of Mrs. Theodore Parker, are to be congratulated upon their success. In the evening, under the same auspices, the operetta of Bo Peep was given in Music Hall. The operetta was well rendered and together with the readings by Miss Austin, formally of Atlantic, and the music by the orchestra, furnished a delightful entertainment. Great credit is due Mrs. Edward Croker, who drilled the young people for the operetta, and had all the arrangements for the evening in charge.

Highland Whist Club.

The Highland Whist club held its banquet at the United States Hotel, Boston, on Saturday evening, May 6th.

All members were present and a very enjoyable evening was spent, After dinner the club played the game of Hearts for a change.

President Bowker at appointed time 10.45, held the least number of hearts and Mr. Merrill second.

Mr. Bowker had first choice of presents which were furnished by the lady members of the club.

All members expressed themselves as passing a very pleasant season, and trust a similar club may be formed another season.

—The Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company elected Lieutenant Edward P. Cramm as commander at a meeting Monday evening. Col. Henry Walker, who was commander when the Ancients went abroad, was also a candidate.

—Judges Bishop and Stevens of the Superior Court Saturday allowed the exceptions taken by counsel for John H. Chance, convicted of the murder of drug clerk Russell, and they will be taken to the Supreme Court.

SEWER IN USE.

The Pumps Formally Started Monday.

Twelve Miles of System Now in Operation.

Some Historical Data of Interest Presented.

With a few turns of the valve Mayor Keith Tuesday let the steam into the chests and set the pistons of the 5,000,000 gallon pump at the pumping station of the sewer works in motion. The accumulated sewerage in the well beneath the station began to be forced toward the outlet at Squantum and the plant of the Quincy Sewerage System was in operation.

In response to invitations by the Commissioners a number of the city officials, members of the City Council and other citizens, had gathered to witness the formal starting, among them were: Councilmen Nash, Jameson, Hultman, Hill, Keith, Newcomb and, McLennan; City Treasurer Burke; Chief Engineer Williams; Dr. C. W. Garey of the Board of Health; City Messenger Tirrell, ex-Councilmen Fred B. Rice, Sewer Commissioners Shea and Schenkelberger, Engineer Branch, T. H. Kingston, the contractor who erected the building, Mark E. Hanson, members of the engineering corps of the department and others.

It was intended to set the plant in motion at 2 o'clock but as ex-Mayor Hodges, who appointed the first sewer board was expected, the ceremonies were delayed. He, however, failed to arrive, and at 3 o'clock, William T. Shea, Chairman of the board, assembled the guests in the pump room and briefly outlined the history of the plant which was as follows:

Act of Legislature authorizing the city to construct a Sewerage System, approved April 17, 1895.

Sewerage Act accepted by vote of the city, July 9, 1895.

First Board of Sewerage Commissioners appointed by Mayor Hodges, Aug. 10, 1895. Board consisted of Paul R. Blackmur, Herbert T. Whitman and William T. Shea.

Board of Sewerage Commissioners organized with Paul R. Blackmur as Chairman, Sept. 30, 1895.

The City Council adopted a system of sewerage and sewage disposal, May 18, 1896, and on the same date the Mayor was authorized to execute an agreement with the City of Boston for connecting the sewerage system of the City of Quincy with the outfall sewer of the City of Boston at Squantum.

On July 13, '96, an appropriation of $5,000, was made by the City Council, "for plans, engineering, legal and such other expenses, as may be required for the establishing of the Sewerage System of the City of Quincy."

On Jan. 22, 1897, the State Board of Health approved the Sewerage System as adopted by the City Council.

The first appropriation of the sewer construction was made by the City Council, April 26, 1897. This appropriation was for $120,000.

The first trench was opened, June 7, 1897.

Contract for building foundations of the Pumping Station, signed May 27, 1897.

Foundations for the pumping station built by John Cashman.

Pumping station built by T. H. Kingston.

Pumping machinery furnished by the Deane Steam Pump Co.

Capacity of pumps, 3,000,000 and 5,000,000 gallons in twenty-four hours.

Sewers built to date, May 8, 1899:

Main brick sewers, 1.9 miles.

Main pipe sewers (15 inch to 24 inch), 1.25 miles.

Lateral sewers, 13.51 miles.

Total sewers built to date, 16.66 mile.

Of these about 12 miles are now ready for operation and the balance except the sewer in Copeland street will be ready in a few weeks.

Chairman Shea then requested Mayor Keith to start the plant, and with uncovered head he stepped to the valve and at 3.05 o'clock turned it, and the pump was in motion. Engineer Elihu T. Spear then took the machinery in hand and soon had it running as smoothly as though it had been in operation for months.

As soon as this ceremony was over Caterer Nash served a light lunch for the Commissioners. The well under the plant which was by this time empty was visited and the building inspected. It is a modern plant in every respect, and one of which the city can well feel proud. At present there are nearly one hundred services connected with the system, but it will be but a short time before this number is largely increased.

Still Precarious.

The condition of Herman Pyornie, who was murderously asasulted Sunday by Constance Crobac and is now at the Quincy City Hospital, is a little more favorable this morning, although he is still in a precarious condition. Monday afternoon Chief Hayden, Inspector McKay, and J. E. Tirrell, Esq. visited the City Hospital and took Pyornie's statement of the affair.

According to his statement there was no provocation for the assault. He says they were all seated in the room. There had been no argument and what conversation there was among those present was of a peaceful nature. Suddenly, without warning, Crobac jumped up and seizing the bush hammer delivered the blow which felled him. These two parties had always been on peaceful terms, and had never had any words of any kind.

Keystone
SILVER WHITE
Gelatine

Possesses every quality that gelatine should have. Its perfect purity and cleanliness are apparent as soon as you open the package. Its convenience is evident the minute you dissolve it (dissolves readily and quickly in hot water—making a clear, firm jelly). The most prominent chefs praise and have written many recipes for Keystone Silver White Gelatine. Leading cooking authorities indorse its purity and convenience; experienced housewives appreciate its great economy—package makes one-third more jelly than the same quantity of any other gelatine.

Ask your grocer for Keystone Silver White Gelatine. If he does not sell it send us his name and we will mail you a free sample package and recipes, by famous chefs. Full size box mailed for 15 cents.

Gives Weymouth an Up to Date Electric Plant.

The formal opening of the new eletric light and power plant of the Weymouth Light and Power Co., took place Monday afternoon in the presence of a large number of citizens. The new plant is situated at the upper mill of the old Weymouth iron foundry, and is the best equipped plant in New England. The power for the operation of the plant is water, which flows through a large iron pipe from the pond above the dam, a distance of four hundred feet to the wheel in the plant which operates the machinery.

The plant is equipped with two handsomely painted 200 horse-power generators, one named John R. Graham and the other Douglas M. Easton. The machines are of the latest type, and are known as "the phase," which means that the machines will furnish current for arc or incandescent lights and for power, as desired. In ordinary plants a separate machine is needed for each. It is only necessary to state that the two new machines are to do the work of the eleven at the old plant, to judge of their power.

The machines were put in operation a few minutes before 6 o'clock by Master Edward Montros Graham, by the breaking of a bottle of wine over a pie arranged lever which released the check on the shaft. As soon as the machinery had been started, and a thorough inspection had been made of the plant, the guests were given a lunch in the office of the company.

At 7.30 o'clock, the inauguration banquet in honor of the event, was held at Odd Fellows hall, and was participated in by about two hundred, many of whom were from Quincy.

The menu was one calculated to be as mystifying to the layman as is the electrical machinery, for it was made up of such items as Ohmes soup, Ammeter fish rheostart wast with fuse dressing, Graham ideas, preserved amperes, Kilowath, carbon smoke, etc.

After the banquet Mr. Peter W. French, President of the company, called order and introduced Douglass M. Easton, as master of ceremonies, and as such he is all right. The first speaker was John R. Graham, who was introduced as a man who grows great because he cannot help himself. He was the motive power of this great plant.

Mr. Graham spoke in his usual happy entertaining manner, and told of the various steps that had been taken to bring the plant to what it was today, and what he hoped for the future.

Other speakers were Col. Butler Ames, Mr. Hill, Bradford Hawes, Fred M. Hersey, Martin E. Hawes and T. H. Emerson.

At the close of these exercises dancing was in order until midnight.

Hen Thieves.

Hen thieves are about, and during the past few days several hen yards have been visited and fowl carried away. Friday night two hen coops on Albertina street were raided and eighteen hens stolen from one and nine from the other. Last night the hennery of Mrs. A. Carter, corner of Granite and Goffe street, was selected and her twelve hens taken. Appearances would indicate that all the jobs were done by the same parties, for the hens were killed in the yards evidently by cutting the throat and were then picked, for in each of the yards was blood and a quantity of feathers. In each case hens that were setting were taken off the nests and killed, but in the Albertina street cases were afterward thrown away. This goes to show that the parties who are committing these acts are taking the fowl to market. The thefts have been reported to the police and Inspector McKay is at work upon the cases.

Verdict for $3,500.

The jury of the Norfolk Superior court at Dedham, today returned a verdict of $3,500 in the Mulhall cases. There were two suits, one by Mary Tierney vs. John Fallon et. al., an action of tort brought by plaintiff as administratrix of the estate of Patrick Mulhall to recover $5,000 damages for his death. Mulhall was killed July 24, 1896, by the fall of a derrick at Quincy.

The other suit by Ann Mulhall vs. John Fallon et. al., an act of tort to recover $5,000 damages. Case tried in connection with one above, the action being brought by the mother. J. E. Cotter and J. W. & J. J. McAnarney for the plaintiff; Dickson & Knowles and Alfred Hemenway for the defendants.

TODAY'S COURT.

James Sullivan was arraigned for drunkenness at Quincy. Case continued until May 16.

Nelson C. Simmons was arraigned for drunkenness at Quincy. Case continued until June 9.

PROTEST CALLED FOR

Against "Arbitrary and Illegal" Action of Postal Authorities.

Atkinson Pamphlets Considered by Anti-Imperialists.

Peace Society Has Something to Say Concerning Conditions In the Philippines.

Boston, May 9.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Anti-Imperialist league, at which ex-Governor Boutwell presided, the following letter to Edward Atkinson was adopted:

"The executive committee of the Anti-Imperialist league thought it proper to privately communicate at once to the same persons to whom, as you advised us April 22, you had written to suppress your intention of mailing your pamphlets to soldiers in the field—that the league did not desire to circulate its literature in this manner. An inadvertance in expression, doubtless accidental, might otherwise have conveyed to the recipients of your letters the impression that you had referred to the league's publication and their distribution.

"Whatever difference of opinion may exist as to the propriety of the circulation which you suggested (but which we understand has not been attempted) there should be only one opinion as to the far more serious issue which has been raised by your experiment of sending copies of your pamphlets only to Admiral George Dewey, President Schurman, Professor Worcester, General H. G. Otis, General Lawton, General Miller and J. F. Bass, the correspondent of Harper's Weekly, and which was reported to have been taken from the mails by order of the postmaster general.

"Against this act of arbitrary and illegal power which would hardly be attempted by any government of Europe, except, perhaps, that of Russia, the league calls on all good citizens to protest against a serious blow to Republican institutions which are now so gravely threatened by imperial policies at home and abroad."

At a large meeting of the American Peace society in Tremont Temple the members strongly condemned the present policy of the government in the Philippines, which was described as wicked, unjust and unfitting any Christian nation.

President Robert T. Paine presided, and L. H. Pillsbury of Derry, N. H., acted as secretary of the meeting. In his annual report, Corresponding Secretary Trueblood called the present war in the Philippines contrary to American principles, unjust to the natives and dangerous to this country, upon which it is likely to fasten a frightful burden of militarism. President Paine, in discussing the report, criticised the administration, and Rev. Scott F. Hershey, William E. Sheldon, Mrs. Lucia A. Mead and Mrs. Hannah J. Bailey of Winthrop, Me., followed in the same order.

Otis' Report.

Washington, May 9.—The war department officials seem to be more than ever encouraged over the situation in Manila. Yesterday's report of General Otis indicates that the American troops are well disposed. It has been evident that the insurgents who were operating in the swamps and jungles east of General MacArthur have been very annoying, but the army gunboats have made it too hot for them to remain. General Lawton appears to be pushing northward some 15 miles to the east of MacArthur. The Rio Grande river lies between them, and there the gunboats evidently are at work. The portions of the dispatch which the department has not made public refer perhaps to the future movements of the two divisions of the army.

Shooting Records Broken.

Peoria, Ills., May 9.—Charles A. Young of Springfield, O., broke 211 straight inanimate targets, unknown angles, yesterday, making a new world's record. The previous record was held by J. J. Hollewell, who broke 154 straight at Philadelphia last year. In the team shoot another world's record was established. C. M. Powers of Decatur, Ills.; Charles Young of Springfield, O.; Fred Gilbert of Spirit Lake, Ia.; Rolla Heikes of Dayton, O.; Ed Fudford of Utica, N. Y., broke 193 straight. The previous record was made at Lincoln, Neb., last week. This squad only missed 11 out of 500 targets.

Watson Going to Philippines.

Washington, May 9.—The navy department has selected a successor to Admiral Dewey to command the Asiatic station. Orders were issued yesterday detaching Rear Admiral Watson from command of the Mare island navy yard and ordering him to report to Admiral Dewey at Manila to relieve that officer when he feels that he can be spared there. Rear Admiral Kempff, at present on waiting orders, has been ordered to succeed Admiral Watson in command of the Mare island navy yard.

General Henry Released.

San Juan, May 9.—Brigadier General Davis, who has been appointed to succeed Major General Henry as military governor of Porto Rico, arrived here yesterday. He was warmly welcomed. General Henry and General Davis were given a reception at the theatre by the school children of San Juan. Matters here are in excellent condition for the new military governor, harmony prevailing generally. Major General Henry sailed for the United States today.

Three Inches of Hailstones.

Wadley, Ga., May 9.—A terrific hailstorm passed over Jefferson county yesterday. The hail was three inches deep at this place and some of the stones weighed over three ounces. Fruit and vegetable crops are totally destroyed.

Killed a Negro.

Cumberland, Md., May 9.—William Parish, a negro, was shot and killed yesterday by John Meyers, white. Meyers, it is said, caught the negro attempting a felonious assault upon an aged white woman at Sulphur Spring Hollow.

BARRELS OF SAMPLES.

Over Two Hundred Thousand Trial Bottles Sent Free by Mail.

By special arrangement with the manufacturers of that justly famous Kidney medicine, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, the readers of the Quincy Ledger are enabled to obtain a trial bottle and pamphlet of valuable medical advice absolutely free, by simply sending their full name and post office address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., and mentioning this paper.

Of course this involves enormous expense to the manufacturers but they have received so many grateful letters from those who have been benefited and cured of the various diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder and Blood, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia and Chronic Constipation, and all weaknesses peculiar to women that they willingly send trial bottles to all sufferers.

Upon investgation it was found that 91 per cent. of those who had used the trial bottle had received such benefit from it that they purchased large sized bottles of their druggists.

It matters not how sick you are or how many physicians have failed to help you, send for a trial bottle of this great medicine, it costs you but a postal card, and benefit and cure will most certainly be the result.

Put some urine in a glass tumbler and let it stand 24 hours, if it has a sediment or if it is pale or discolored, milky or cloudy, ropy, stringy or ropy, your Kidneys or Bladder are in a bad condition. Dr. David Kennedy's Favoirte Remedy speedily cures such dangerous symptoms as pain in the back, inability to hold urine, a burning scalding pain in passing it, frequently desire to urinate, especially at night, the staining of linen by your urine and all the unpleasant and dangerous effects on the system produced by the use of whiskey, wine or beer. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is sold at all drug stores at $1.00 for a large bottle; six bottles for $5.00.

It is not necessary for the Chilton Paint Company to obtain letters of recommendation, on the "patent medicine" order of business, because to any one and every one who has ever used Chilton Paint, it refers. A painter who desires to do good work will put Chilton paint upon a dry surface and brush it out well. Often times one coat will do as much work as two of ordinary paint. If the shade of paint now on your house is satisfactory, and you wish only to brighten it up and protect the wood, select the nearest shade of Chilton Paint to what you now have, put on one coat and you will be surprised to see how little it takes and how cheaply the whole thing can be accomplished.

Stoughton & Randolph Street Railway Company.

WE, the subscribers, hereby associate ourselves together with the intention of forming a Corporation for the purpose of constructing and operating a Street Railway for the conveyance of passengers, agreeably to the provisions of chapter one hundred and thirteen of the Public Statutes, and all general laws in addition thereto or amendment thereof.

The name of the Corporation shall be the Stoughton & Randolph Street Railway Company.

The proposed Railway is to commence at a point on Washington street, at the Easton town line, in the town of Stoughton and County of Norfolk, and to extend through said town of Stoughton to the division line of the town of Randolph, in said County of Norfolk, and through said town of Randolph to a point on Union street, at the Holbrook town line, in the town of Randolph, its terminus.

Its length will be about eight miles, and its gauge four feet, eight and one-half inches, as required by law.

The capital stock of said Company shall be eighty thousand dollars ($80,000).

The seven following named persons, being subscribers to these Articles, and a majority of them inhabitants of Stoughton and Randolph, shall act as a Board of Directors, until others are chosen by the Corporation, viz:—

Edward F. Draper of Weymouth, John Stretton of Stoughton,
Daniel B. White of Randolph, Lucius Clapp of Randolph,
Franklin Worcester of Hollis, N. H., William L. Hodges of Stoughton,
Marcus L. Urann of Easton.

And we hereby severally agree to take the number of shares in the capital stock of said Corporation set against our respective names.

Witness our hands this third day of May, 1899.

President Goes to Hot Springs, Va., For Rest and Recreation.

His General Health Is Declared to Be Good,

But Excessive Smoking Is Said to Have Made Him Extremely Nervous.

Washington, May 9.—President and Mrs. McKinley left the city last night for a vacation of a week or 10 days at Hot Springs, Va. The party included also George B. Cortelyou, the assistant secretary to the president; Dr. and Mrs. P. M. Rixey and Mr. Barnes of the White House clerical force. The president's health is good, but he feels the need of rest and recreation, and hence all official business during his absence will be attended to as far as possible at the White House.

President McKinley is becoming as inveterate a smoker as was General U. S. Grant. To this is attributed his present nervous condition. He smokes continuously from the time he goes into his office at 9 a. m. until he retires about midnight.

His official visitors find him with the inevitable cigar, and when the door of the cabinet room is opened to admit visitors a blue haze of tobacco smoke puffs out, and Mr. McKinley is seen engaged in adding more than his equal share thereto.

Since the occupation of Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines, admirers of the president holding commissions in the army and navy have sent him many presents of cigars. The first specimens to reach him were from Manila. They were the familiar long, black cigars of that city.

Almost every returning officer of the army from Cuba and Porto Rico has a box or two of cigars for the president. These are specially made for the chief executive, and contain the finest tobacco grown in the islands.

This prodigality of supply has doubtless tempted the president to an excessive use of tobacco, which he would have otherwise have avoided. He excuses himself to a degree for his constant smoking by asserting that it has a beneficial effect upon the neuralgia with which he has recently been suffering.

MILES ON BEEF COURT'S FINDINGS.

Emphatically Asserts That He Has No Comment, Criticism or Statement to Make.

Washington, May 9.—"The president is commander-in-chief of the army and my superior. He has approved the findings of the Wade court of inquiry. Therefore I have no comment to make. It would be an unsoldierly act were I to do so."

With these words General Miles replied to a Star reporter who saw him with regard to the probable action he would take in view of the adverse report of the court.

"Will you formulate a protest to the president?" was the next question.

"I have nothing to say; no, sir," replied the general.

"Will you inspire a congressional investigation?"

"No, sir, I will not talk on the subject."

"Do you believe congress will rectify the matter?"

"I do not know what congress will do, nor have I any means of knowing in advance what verdict the results of an investigation might develop. I have no comment, criticism or statement to make in this matter, and you may take it as certain that any alleged interviews or intimations to the contrary said to come from me or near me are wholly and unqualifiedly false. I was, and am now, actuated solely by the consideration of health, lives and integrity of the army. My duty is done."

Dewey's Home Coming.

Washington, May 9.—It is stated at the navy department that Admiral Dewey will come from Manila direct to New York when he returns to the United States. However, it is added the admiral will not start until the commission, of which he is a member, has completed the work it has undertaken, at least so far as it relates to the restoration of peace to the islands.

The reason for bringing the flagship Olympia to New York instead of having her come to San Francisco, where she was built, is said to be primarily because Admiral Dewey expects to make the passage on his own flagship, and also for the reason that the Mare island navy yard threatens to be overwhelmed with repair work as soon as the numerous vessels of Dewey's fleet begin to return to the United States. The Olympia is in need of a thorough overhauling, having been away from her home station longer than any other of the vessels in the Asiatic fleet, and rendered more than the usual amount of hard service during her absence.

Wholesale Depredations.

Washington, May 9.—Inspector Nessler of the interior department, who has been investigating violations of the timber laws in the Chippewa reservation in Minnesota, reports to the department that he has found 7,000,000 feet of green timber, which has been cut by contractors under the pretense that it was dead and down timber. Secretary Hitchcock has wired him orders not to deliver this timber to the contractors until they pay the necessary additional $3 per 1000 feet, the price fixed for the green timber by the government being $5 per thousand, and only $2 for dead. This extra payment will inure to the benefit of the Indians.

Charges Not Sustained.

Washington, May 9.—The secretary of the treasury has made a report to the president upon the charges recently preferred by Samuel Gompers against the conduct of the bureau of engraving and printing under Director Johnson. The secretary of the treasury fails to find the charges sustained in any material degree either by the result of the investigation referred to or by the work of the bureau since that time.

BROOKLYNS SHUT OUT.

Fine Fielding, Double Plays and Bunching of Hits Did the Trick.

Boston, May 9.—Almost perfect support of Victor Willis' pitching, coupled with a series of three double plays which cleaned the bases of trolley dodgers like a Maxim gun, gave Boston another shutout to the tune of 5 to 0.

The game was one that kept the 2800 fans on tenter hooks at times, because of the chances of scoring offered the Superbas, to the full realization of which they did not seem able to rise. Tame as a whole, the game was punctuated with flashes of real ball and ginger fielding which more than made up for innings of commonplace playing.

Mr. Selee's men made all of their runs by scientific bunching of seven of their eight hits in the first and third innings, and then Pitcher Hughes settled down into mysteriousness, reminding down into mysteriousness, reminding the spectators of the Hughes at Baltimore last spring, when he held the Bostons down to circles in the hits column.

Ten More Millions Gone.

New York, May 9.—A messenger from the French embassy at Washington yesterday delivered at the National City bank two additional treasury warrants of $5,000,000, drawn against the subtreasury. This makes a total of $15,000,000 out of the $20,000,000 which the United States agreed to pay Spain for the Philippines. The warrants received passed through the clearing house today and are charged against the account of the sub-treasury. As in the first transaction, the National City bank acted for the Deutsche bank of Berlin, which is said to have paid the full amount of the indemnity to Spain some time ago. Exchange has been bought for about all of the $20,000,000, and an advance in rates is most improbable.

The Government Handicapped.

Chicago, May 9.—Some shrewd Chicago men have hit upon a plan by which they hope to defraud the United States government out of thousands of dollars without being brought to justice. Their scheme is to gather up all the second class advertising mail matter of large commercial houses, ship it to Mexico by freight, change their American money into Mexican money at a ratio of 2 to 1, buy Mexican stamps, then mail the matter back to the United States, thus saving ½ cent on every letter. A careful examination of the laws, the promoters claim, has satisfied the postal authorities that the government is unable to do anything in the case without legislation.

The Glass Combine.

Muncie, Ind., May 9.—Glass men now regard it as settled that the American Window Glass association, which goes out of existence May 30, will be supplanted by the American Glass company, which will be capitalized at $30,000,000, and will control, it is claimed, more than 90 percent of the country's window glass production. A singular thing in connection with the formation of the combine is the persistence with which most of the independent plants have refused to option themselves. There are those who assert that the combine will control only 75 percent of all window plants, and that new independent plants are being built.

Evidence of a Wreck.

Wilmington, N. C., May 9.—Wreckage that has been thrown on Smith's island, at the mouth of the Cape Fear river, it is believed, is from the schooner Edna and Emma, which cleared from this port April 14, with a cargo of lumber, for Baltimore. It is probable that she capsized in a windstorm, when a short way out, and that all on board were lost.

Lovers Buried Together.

Beemer, Neb., May 9.—The bodies of Joseph Harnby and Mary Vlack, daughter of a farmer, were buried in the same grave yesterday. The girl killed herself because she was suffering from an uncurable ailment. Harnby, to whom the girl was engaged, asked permission to see the remains, entered the death chamber and shot himself dead.

Temptation to Students.

Princeton, N. J., May 9.—Ex-Senator Vanderbilt went before the council of Princeton yesterday and complained that Princeton has 24 "speak easies." Many of them, he said, were open all night and on Sundays. He says an investigation is likely.

Doesn't Believe In Matrimonial Ads.

Doniphan, Kan., May 9.—District Judge Stuart has refused to grant a divorce to Ellen Phillips from P. O. Phillips. "This court will not lend its power in dissolving a marriage brought about by a matrimonial paper," said Judge Stuart.

Ambitious Pedestrians.

New York, May 9.—Sixteen muscular looking chaps started in the six-day go-as-you-please race at the Grand Central palace yesterday. The pistol was fired at 1 o'clock, and the ambitious ambulators fairly leaped away, all striving to take the lead for a few brief minutes at least. Honors for the first day go to Peter Hegelman, a New Yorker, who has a good lead over his nearest opponent. Those who made things most interesting for him are Guerrero, who hails from Minnesota, and Cox, an Englishman.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—4:28 a. m.; sets, 6:53 p. m.
Moon sets—8:16 p. m.
High water—12 m.; 12:30 p. m.

The storm has moved from the middle Mississippi valley rapidly eastward. The temperature changes have been unimportant. The indications are that the middle Atlantic coast storm will pass north of east over the ocean, and that fair weather will prevail in the interior, preceded by showers along the New England coast. Strong northeasterly, backing to northerly winds, are indicated for the New England coast.

more tired than when you went to bed, with an unpleasant taste in the mouth, your tongue coated and dry, and having no appetite for breakfast, you are suffering from Dyspepsia.

Numbers of people are suffering seriously from this complaint and its result, when one package of U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLETS will bring about a prompt cure. A few doses will do more for a Weak or Sour Stomach than a prolonged course of any other medicine. Nothing can be used with so much certainty in obstinate cases of Constipation.

These tablets are the outcome of years of study, and are compounded of the finest drugs only, purely vegetable, they do not gripe, produce no reaction. Take no substitute. 10 CENTS PER PACKAGE.

If you cannot get them at your drug store, send 10 cts. for a package of 12 to the U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLET CO., 17 EAST 14TH ST., NEW YORK.

KEEPING DOWN COST.

Shoe Trade Adversely Affected by the Advance In Leather.

Actual Refusal of Orders at Current Rates.

Expedients Resorted to by Manufacturers to Prevent Loss of Money.

Lynn, Mass., May 10.—The advance in prices for shoes has not yet materialized, and some orders for the fall season, which have been already placed by several Lynn firms, show practically no increase over the rates prevailing through the season now coming to a close. The higher prices of all grades of leather and especially of sole leather has been the means of forcing the shoe manufacturers' margin of profits down to very close limits, and many claim that, under the conditions now existing, they are turning out some grades of shoes at a positive loss. The excess of competition has prevented any form of concerted action which would lead to a rise in prices, and the outlook is discouraging in respect to any general increase in the rates in the near future.

A large shoe firm doing business in Lynn has sent a circular to its customers among the jobbing houses, declaring that it cannot continue to manufacture shoes at the low prices heretofore received for them, and will refuse to fill any orders in future until a reasonable advance, which will correspond with advanced prices of leather and increased cost of manufacture in general, is granted them. This firm has stopped work on all orders except such as were received previous to its sending out the circular.

Another method which is being resorted to in order to keep the expense of manufacturing within the limits of the receipts is to "take it out of the shoe," or to economize in time and material in particular lines of shoes, for which higher prices cannot be secured. This policy of economy in every detail of manufacture, consistent with keeping the quality of the shoe unimpaired, is being practised by many of the Lynn manufacturers.

There are manufacturers, however, who do not regard this method the proper remedy for inadequate prices, but, on the other hand, look on it as a source of annoyance and inconvenience to those who adopt it. It is pointed out that at this time shoe buyers are on the alert and watch the consignments received by them for any indications of cheapening in the process of manufacture. On such discoveries being made, the inevitable result follows of shoes being returned and of misunderstandings and strained relations between the manufacturer and the buyer.

A shoe manufacturer who has built up a long-established business in Lynn, in speaking of this subject, said: "Prices are too low, and something must be done if we are to make shoes without actually losing by it, to say nothing of making a fair profit. But I think that 'taking it out of the shoe' is not the way to meet the difficulty. When we speak of raising the price of a certain shoe, it implies that we intend to keep that particular style or grade of shoe on the market. What I would suggest is to increase the value of your shoe, put more into it, instead of less, and change your style and raise your price at the same time. In other words, stop making the shoe that you are not making a fair profit on and put a new shoe on the market. I have been making a certain kind of medium-priced shoe, for which I have been getting 92½ cents a pair. I have taken this shoe, altered its shape, style and general makeup, expending more in its manufacture than before, and now I turn out an article that I get $1 a pair for. Of course I figure not to put in all the additional 7½ cents, so that I derive a benefit from the change as well as the consumer. It is much more difficult to raise the price of a shoe that gets known in the market as a $1.50 shoe, or a $2 shoe, than it is to place an entirely new article on which you can set a price from the outset."

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, May 10.—The legislature, by a large vote, refused to abolish capital punishment in this state, so that the electric chair, which is now in Charlestown prison awaiting a victim, will have another lease of life. Not only did the lawmakers decide in favor of electrocution, but they refused to pass a law which would give to juries in cases of murder power to recommend a degree of murder not punishable by death.

A bill for $50,000 to be appropriated for the representation of the state at the Paris exposition was reported. The bill was referred to the joint committee on ways and means, which must report it back to the house, where all money bills must originate.

Bills were engrossed as to notices of petitions for construction of wills and authorizing the Worcester and Clinton Street Railway company to act as a common carrier of merchandise, baggage and United States mail.

The adverse report on Princeton's claim for damages from construction of the metropolitan water system was accepted.

The order offered in the house for an investigation into the prudential and industrial life insurance business as carried on in the state was rejected after a brief debate.

Reconsideration of the vote engrossing the Boston sewer loan bill was refused after a lively debate, by a vote of 62 to 96 on a rollcall.

The committee on metropolitan affairs and water supply, sitting jointly, reported a bill giving selectmen of any town along the Sudbury river or its tributaries the right of petition to the supreme court for a determination as to the amount of damages such towns may sustain by reason of the extension of the metropolitan water system along that river or its tributaries.

The committee on towns reported a bill repealing the act establishing a fire department for Danvers.

The committee on labor reported leave to withdraw on the petition and bill providing that in case of a strike or lockout the state board of arbitration shall be called in, shall examine all the books and investigate all the business of the concern or corporation.

Governor Wolcott signed several bills, among them being the act to authorize trust companies to act as executors and in other fiduciary capacities; the act relative to public warehouses and other depositories; the act authorizing additional clerical assistance for the clerk of the Boston municipal court; the act relative to supplying certain cities and towns with water from the metropolitan water system; the act to incorporate the Waltham, Ayer and Pepperell Street Railway company; the act relative to inks for public records, and) to making such records by means of typewriting machines; and the act relative to clerical assistance for clerks of courts throughout the state. The Boston aldermanic bill was also signed.

A Pathetic Event.

Boston, May 10.—The double funeral of Captain Samuel S. Rumrill and his wife, Mary E. Rumrill, occurred at the home of their son in Somerville yesterday. The interment will be at Southwest Harbor, Me. A few weeks ago Mrs. Rumrill came from Wiscasset on a visit to her son, Captain Rumrill being on a voyage. She was taken ill two weeks ago, and at about that time the captain reached home. He came to Somerville and was taken ill of pneumonia, dying on Sunday. The shock of his death was too much for Mrs. Rumrill and she passed away Monday. Both Captain and Mrs. Rumrill were natives of Tremont, Me., and residents of Wascasset.

Bostonians on Lynchers.

Boston, May 10.—A representative gathering of citizens of Boston, at the People's church last night, served as a protest against the recent mob outrages in Georgia. Colonel Higginson, who commanded a colored regiment in the Civil war, presided, and among those who spoke were former Attorney General Pillsbury, Rev. Samuel Crowthers of Cambridge, Archibald M. Grimke and Rev. A. A. Berle. A number of letters from other men of prominence in public life were read, including one from Governor Wolcott. All the speeches were in a vigorous vein, condemning lynchings and mob rule in the south.

Strikers Return to Work.

Biddeford, Me., May 10.—The 400 machinists in the Saco and Pattee machine shops, who have been on a strike for a 20 percent advance in wages, returned to work today. Notices were posted in the machine shops yesterday announcing that there would be a revision of rates paid as promised the employes, the advance dating from May 1, the adjustment of rates to be arranged by the overseers of each department. This is virtually the same amount as was promised by the management before the strike.

Suicide Runs In the Family.

Danbury, Conn. May 10.—Andrew Briggs, a wealthy farmer living in New Fairfield, drowned himself in a pond yesterday. He first put a dog collar around his neck, to which he attached a heavy rock, and then plunged head foremost into the water. He was 50 years of age and unmarried. Six other members of the family had previously committed suicide, all under sensational circumstances.

Claims Bryan as Relative.

Boston, May 10.—Lena Bryan, who was arrested yesterday as a pickpocket and shoplifter, was arrested during the holidays on the charge of picking pockets. She was sentenced to serve three months in the house of correction and had completed the term only a few days ago. She claims to be a relative of William Jennings Bryan.

Female Forger Sentenced.

Boston, May 10.—Miss Frances L. Adair, formerly of Newport, R. I., who confessed to a number of forgeries of small checks, was sentenced yesterday to the house of correction for a year. Miss Adair's friends tried hard to have her placed on probation.

Quiet at Rockport.

CHARGES OF HERESY.

Drake University Badly Torn Up Over a Theological Investigation.

Des Moines, Ia., May 10.—The trustees and students of Drake university are in trouble over charges of heresy against Professor Oscar W. Morgan, professor of biblical languages and literature. Professor Morgan says five years ago his ideas about the inspiration of the scriptures began to change and study of the higher criticism has convinced him that the accepted orthodox ideas are unreasonable. He does not believe the bible is a divinely inspired record of Hebrew history, but that it is human account of the history of the people in many ways divinely guided. The orthodox students in his classes petitioned the trustees against this kind of teaching and the trustees decided to change Professor Morgan to the chair of Hebrew and classic Greek, which will bring him little in contact with the theological students. It developed in the investigation that some of the other members of the faculty held views similar to those of Professor Morgan, and this was influential in preventing Morgan's dismissal from the institution. Students friendly to Professor Morgan have distributed through university place copies of an anonymous circular assailing the divinity students who had attacked the professor. Efforts to discover the authorship of the circular have thus far failed. The university is badly torn up.

And Dewey Deserves It.

Washington, May 10.—Admiral Dewey, upon his return to the United States, is to be presented a monster testimonial consisting of autograph letters from nearly every member of President McKinley's cabinet, governors of states and prominent United States senators. The secretary of the treasury says in his written opinion of Dewey that he regards him as one of a galaxy of men who have made the American name honorable and illustrious. The secretary of state writes that no artificial commemoration of such a victory is at all needful to preserve it forever in the American heart; the secretary of the navy expresses similar views; the secretary of agriculture reminds Americans that Dewey, in a day, added an archipelago to the possessions of the United States; the secretary of war writes that he gladly adds his tribute of praise to Dewey, and the postmaster general enthusiastically seconds the proposition to emphasize the gratitude of the people.

Would-Be Robbers Sampled Contents.

Washington, May 10.—The official mail bag from the Paris foreign office, which reached the French embassy yesterday, was in a damaged condition, a hole being rent in one end large enough to permit a hand and arm to be inserted and the contents of the bag examined. Comparison of the contents with the official list of enclosures showed that nothing had been removed, and the seals on the various official communications were unbroken, probably because an inspection indicated that no funds were enclosed. The reports of late of the payment to Spain of $20,000,000 through the medium of the French embassy may have led to this mutilation of the French bag. The hole was too carefully made to be the result of an accident.

Loyal Probably Lost.

Seattle, Wash., May 10.—It now seems probable that the schooner Loyal, which sailed from Seattle one year ago for Kotzebue sound, Alaska, with 11 persons on board, has been lost.

Youthful Gambler Comes to Grief.

Boston, May 10.—Harry W. Drinkwater, an 18-year-old clerk in the employ of Henry C. Moses, a wool dealer, was arrested yesterday for the embezzlement from Mr. Moses of $170, all of which, he afterwards confessed, he had lost at poker.

Tramp Printer's Fate.

Portsmouth, N. H., May 10.—Jeremiah Quinn, aged 41 years, a printer, who had traveled from town to town, was found dead in the York Harbor depot waiting room last night. It is supposed his death was caused by excessive drinking.

Gasolene Stove Exploded.

Wilder, Vt., May 10.—Mrs. James Watson was so seriously burned in their home last night that death resulted within two hours. One of their children was also seriously burned. The fire was the result of a gasolene stove explosion.

Denial of Railroad Trust.

Philadelphia, May 10.—The alleged railroad trust reported from Cleveland, in which the Pennsylvania railroad figures, was laughed at by the officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, who stated that the first they had heard of the combine was through the papers. One official said that the distribution of the roads was well laid out by whoever wrote the article, and that every railroad company was both willing and anxious to have the best connections available, but that a trust was all moonshine.

Still Tramping On.

New York, May 10.—At 1 o'clock this morning there were only 11 contestants on the track in the six-day race, the other three taking a rest. Hegelman was still in the lead, but was five miles short of his 12-hour record of Monday. Following is the 1 o'clock score: Hegelman, 145.6; Guerrero, 141.0; Cox, 136.2; Day, 131.9; Click, 131.2; Tracey, 131.2; Barnes, 118.5; Igo, 117.1; Hansen, 110.8; Craig, 98.8; Noremac, 91.10; Geary, 88.11; Demming, 90.6; Dawson, 66.2.

Good Afternoon.

As usual Wollaston's fire losses last year were larger than those of any other ward. The total loses in the city amounted to $39,108. Wollaston's share of this sum amounted to $10,710. For years the fire losses in that ward have exceeded those of any other, generally averaging from 25 to 35 per cent. of the total. This is mainly owing to the fact that about all of the property in which a fire has happened to start is valuable and the distance from the central sation is so great (10 minute drive) that the fire attains a good headway before adequate apparatus can be brought to bear on it. The time to successfully fight a fire is when it is in its incipient stage. This cannot be done so long as a permanent equipped fire station is two miles distant. In ten minutes time a small blaze at the start assumes the size of a big fire. After the inevitable dose of medicine which drives all communities to purchasing additional apparatus has been administered,—a conflagration—the city will purchase another steamer. In the meantime let us hope that it will not be Wollaston which will get the singing as she has had her share in years past.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Every form of foolishness has its particular rage. It is always gratifying to note the decline of any evil. The statistics clearly show that cigarette smoking is on the wane. For six years prior to 1896 their productions steadily increased. That year the output was 4,180,000,000. The figures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1898, show that there was manufactured about 1,000,000,000 less, and in the face of that fact there was an increased foreign demand. In the crusade that has been waged against the cigarette the press has been foremost. The evidences were so palpable as to the results of using them, that the young men of the country have noted them and are letting them more severely alone. It is a compliment to America's young manhood —Beverly Times.

☞ "Who, in this age, can keep an egotistical secret? If the angel were now to appear to St. Ann, with the announciation, she would go and give it away to a 10-cent magazine, like Diana of the crossways. This accounts for all the silent women getting husbands and knowing a good thing when they have got it, declares the irrepressible George Alfred Townsend, who makes no charge for the pointer.—Lynn Item.

☞ Rev. Alan Hudson endeavored to find a remedy in his Sunday evening for the tenement house horrors of ill-ventilation and squalor. He favored a law which would make it an offence punishable by imprisonment for more than two to occupy one room, because he had seen misery where six had been obliged to occupy a single room in Boston. The question seems to be how it would benefit workingmen to whom the sermon was directed, to have such a law; and how he could get three rooms for his family of six when circumstances makes it absolutely necessary for him to pack them all in a single room. The workingman seems to have about all the law interfering with him at present that he can stand. Laws as a rule are not made by the workingman and very few of them are for his benefit.—Brockton Enterprise.

☞ John D. Long is the soul of geniality, but the Springfield Republican has found out that he has claws when unjustly and unfairly assailed.—Milford Journal.

$5,000 FOR HOSPITAL

Bequest of the Late J. Francis Hayward Received.

The trustees of the City Hospital have received from Mrs. K. W. Hayward the sum of five thousand dollars to establish "The J. Francis Hayward memorial bed."

Mr. Hayward was a successful business man, and was at the time of his death, May 7, 1897, treasurer of the Cable Rubber Company of Boston. He resided on Mill street in his city, and was regarded as one of our solid men, but was retiring and accomplished good in a quite way. For many years he was a warden of Christ church, and in 1890 was elected in spite of his protest as a Councilman from Ward Two. During his year of service he was one of trustees of the City Hospital elected by the City Council, and became interested in the work of the institution.

Mr. Hayward is the seventh person to coontribute $5,000 to the endowment of the Quincy Hospital, the others being Jeffrey R. Brackett, Charles Fancis Adams, Pauline R. Thayer, John Quincy Adams, Joseph W. Robertson, family of N. H. Emmons. Other generous bequests have been received and the endowment fund now amounts to over $45,000.

A Kind Act.

One of the most substantial acts of kindness which has come to public notice lately is the gift amounting to about $700 which the Wollaston Unitarian society with the kindly aid of many of the prominent Unitarian clergy in this part of the state is to give Mrs. Blanche Pentecost Bagley, the widow of the late pastor of the society, the Rev. James E. Bagley. These clergyman gave their services free to the church for several months, the money which they might have received to be given by the society to Mrs. Bagley. This money the society sets aside and in July will pay to her the above amount.

Installation Tonight.

A Congregational council will convene at the East Milton church at 3 o'clock this afternoon to examine Rev. Andrew H. Mulnix, the pastor-elect, and if every thing is satisfactory the reverend gentleman will be installed this evening at 7.15. The order of service will be:

Organ prelude.
Minutes of the Council, read by the scribe.
Anthem—"Hark! Hark, My Soul!" Shelley.
The Prayer of Invocation, the Rev. Alexander P. Bourne, Exeter, N. H.
Solo—"Sancta Maria," Miss Emily F. Baxter.
The Scripture Lesson, the Rev. Henry E. Oxnard, Lawrence.
Hymn No. 154, sung by the congregation.
The Sermon, the Rev. Prof. John Wesley Churchill, D. D., Andover.
The Prayer of Installation, the Rev. Edwin N. Hardy, Quincy.
Response, choir.
Hymn No. 370, sung by the congregation,
The Right Hand of Fellowship, the Rev. Edward C. Camp, Whitman.
The Charge to the Pastor, the Rev. Henry S. Huntington, Milton.
Anthem—"Oh! for a Closer Walk with God.' Foster.
Greetings, the Rev. Theodore I. Reese, Milton; the Rev. William H. Rogers, East Milton; and the Rev. Roderick Stebbins, Milton.
Closing prayer, the Rev. Arthur Truslow, Hingham.
Hymn No. 139, sung by the congregation.
Benediction, the pastor.
Organ postlude.

Concert at Colonial Hall.

A large number of the prominent people of the city were interested in the concert given Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A., and Colonial hall was filled with an appreciative audience. The entertainment was largely by home talent and was much enjoyed. It included piano selections by Jennie Hocking Hunt, soprano solos by Miss Florence R. Emery, cornet solos by Miss Ethel Edgecomb, readings by Miss Marion Sherman, violin solos by Miss Elsie C. Davis, solos by Mr. E. Walter Arnold, and piano solos by Mr. E. Landis Snyder.

A goodly sum was realized for the new furniture for the Young Men's Christian Association.

☞ The passage of a bill by the New York legislature, to tax public corporations upon the value of their franchises, is regarded by experts as the most drastic measure of its kind ever enacted in this country. It has already attracted the attention of legislators and economists in every large city in the United States. Under its provisions great corporations which use the streets and highways in the conduct of their business, must pay into the local treasuries a proportionate part of their earnings. In New York city alone the increase of valuation will be about $200,000,000. Elevated roads, surface roads, underground roads, gas and electric light companies, telephone and telegraph companies—in fact, all corporations which receive grants of locations in the streets, will be affected.—Milford Journal.

NEW G. A. R. HALL.

Large Audience at the Benefit Entertainment.

A grand entertainment was given in Hancock hall, Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Woman's Relief Corps, No. 103, of this city. Their object was to raise funds to build a G. A.R. hall and judging from the large number who patronized the concert, filling the hall, all are in unison to have the hall. Local and out of town talent gave the entertainment which was very well rendered, and the farce by the members of the W. R. C. completely captured the audience. Mrs. C. W. Moore was exceptionally fine in her little song.

The programme included: selections by Greene's orchestra; humorous selection by Mr. A. Costello; violin sole by Master Oliver Greene; ventriloquism by the blind entertainer, Mr. W. A. Coles, with Tommy, Katie and Joe; song, by little Miss Miriam Greene; sketch by John H. Cripps and John J. Murphy, musical specialists; cornet solo by Miss Abbie Greene; and "Whistling Regiment," by Mr. W. A. Cole.

The cast of characters in the farce, "A housekeepers trial with help," included:

Mrs. Angie D. Loud, Miss Cora A. Dyer, Mrs. Kate A. Hayden, Mrs. Cylinda J. Richardson, Mrs. Emma Newcomb, Mrs. C. W. Moore and Mrs. Isabella R. Holmes.

All lovers of Shakespeare will be glad of the opportunity to hear Mr. Henry A. Clapp at the High school hall tomorrow evening on "The Tragedy of Macbeth." This is the last lecture, but one, in the Teacher's Association course.

On Sunday, the Rev. C. A. Langston of the Unity church, South Boston, will preach at the Wollaston Unitarian church; May 21, the Rev. W. S. Jones of Newton Highland; and on May 28 probably the Rev. Roderick Stebbins of Milton.

Eugene H. Sprague, Representative to the General Court has presented to each of the eleven schools and to the School Department, a copy of the Manual for the General Court. The School Department is also indebted to Representative Eben W. Sheppard for Reports of the State Board of Education.

Frank H. Preble attained his majority Tuesday and in the evening a number of his intimate friends of Quincy, Watertown and Canton gave him a surprise party. The evening was passed in a pleasant manner with whist. Refreshments were served. During the evening the host was presented with a number of birthday remembrances.

Mr. Charles Wilson brought into our office on Monday some of the handsomest cherry blossoms we have ever seen. They were gathered from a tree on the estate of the late Gilbert Blaisdell on Granite street. The blossoms are not unusually large but the petals were very numerous, twenty to thirty to each flower, appearing almost like a little rose. What is still more singular, the tree never bears any fruit. If a shoot could be grafted to a dwarf cherry tree it would make a beautiful shrub.

ON EVERY HAND.

This Continent Quivering with Energy Says Brooks Adams.

Brooks Adams, Esq., of this city was among the guests of the Sculptors and Mural Painters at New York on Friday May 5, and the Sun prints this notable portion of his address:

"Whose hearts has not kindled with enthusiasm before the arch which tells us of the nations triumph or the column to commemorate the glory of the victor? These great works are as eloquent to us today as to the men who reared them, for they tell of passions which cannot be vulgarized, and they speak a language that shall never die.

"I ask you American artists, Have we no national life which fires your imagination and stirs your blood? I tell you this continent is quivering with an energy besides which the energy of Rome is as the shock of the galley to that of a battleship; I feel it is about me on every hand. Our people are possessed with a premonition of their destiny.

"I was in Porto Ricco last February and one sultry morning, strolling upon the ramparts of San Juan, I fell upon a regiment of regular infantry at drill. I suppose three-quarters of that regiment were volunteers of a few months' service. They did not look like any troops I ever saw; they were rough fellows in blue shirts and slouch hats, and they did not line up as regularly as I have seen men do in Germany and England. But I watched them finish their parade, and as they marched off the ground, I knew that in all my life I had never felt such power.

"Only the other day I travelled from Pittsburg to New York and from New York to Albany, and in this whole round globe there is no sight which can compare. That great artery through which throbs the life blood of this nation, is to what has existed elsewhere as the Hudson is to the Thames. We must accept the world as we find it. Probably mankind has lost the passionate devotion which created Chartres and Bourges; that magic instinct for form which was the heritage of the Greek has died; but one great emotion still remains to us, we have a country, and we have the sense of power which made the dignity and majesty of Rome. That is the emotion which is destined, if we survive and flourish, to be the dominant instinct of our land. That emotion shall, I trust, become incarnate through you."

Mr. Charles R. Lamb, who was responsible for the idea of the joint dinner, was called upon by the chair to explain why it was held, and in a single word emphasized the central thought of the dinner committee, "Opportunity," making the point that by the opportunities only which came to men in their lives was their record made important or not, and quite electrified his audience by making the simile that if the Spanish war just ended was to be fought next year instead of last the name which springs voluntarily to our lips when we think of the heroes of that war would have been on the retired list of the navy, and Admiral George Dewey would not have gone down to posterity, as he will, equal in rank with Farragut and Nelson, thus emphasizing the fact that the opportunity is necessary for the man to prove himself. He followed it by pertinent examples of the work of Augustus St. Gaudens, Mr. Daniel French, and both Presidents, Mr. J. Q. A. Ward and Mr. John La Farge.

Thomas Cole.

The news from California of the death of Thomas Cole causes profound sorrow in his native place, West Quincy, where he was beloved and esteemed.

It would be inappropriate by the unkindness of comparison to make an estimate of the character of this man of fine mind and heart. It is no disparagement of the many good men of West Quincy to award a distinction to this favorite son, which was freely accorded him while here, and after an absence of twenty years, will as freely be given him now.

A man of attractive personality, prepossessing, he continued to progress; he lost no friend. Of more than ordinary intelligence, his conclusions were generally accepted.

Strong and gentle, conscious but never imperious, his place in any assembly was assigned.

Leaving home in early youth to live with all kinds of men to be found in the new west, in mining camps and quarries, he might be supposed to slide from the unpopular faith of his fathers into an easier religion, or no religion, but he never forgot the beginning of wisdom and no profanity nor vulgarity sullied his speech and his presence was a preventative of slander. He was a good son, a good brother and a good neighbor. Truly "The kind are the elite of earth and the elect of heaven."

A. O. U. W. Smoke Talk.

A largely attended smoke talk was held Tuesday evening at Wilson's hall under the auspices of Merrymount lodge, A. O. U. W. After a brief business meeting of the lodge the doors were thrown open. Cigars were then passed, and after all had their Havanas well lighted, Master Workman Ela called the meeting to order and with a few words of welcome introduced Grand Supervisor A. L. Bateman as the presiding officer.

Mr. Bateman made a brief address on aims and objects of the order, and was followed by Past Grand Master Workman John C. Althorn of Waltham and Grand Overseer Orville A. Ward. These gentlemen in a concise manner explained the workings of the order and the many benefits to be derived by those who associated themselves with it. They urged upon those present the necessity of their affiliation with some fraternal order and showed wherein the Workmen was one of the best, if not the best of the many such organizations.

At the close of the addresses an appeal was made to those present not members to make application and as a result several came forward and filled out application blanks.

"EMBALMING" OF FOOD

Extensively Practised by Producers, According to Experts' Testimony.

Beef, Milk and Butter Among the Articles "Doctored."

Use of Antiseptics Declared to Have Become Alarmingly Great.

Chicago, May 10.—Freezine, preservatine, freeze-em, rosaline and laktine are the things few people know of, but that they take these adulterants into their stomachs was stated by Professor A. S. Mitchell, analytical chemist of the Wisconsin dairy and food commission to the senatorial committee on pure food investigation yesterday. Professor Mitchell gave the committee some important information. As a result Senator Mason has had several manufacturers subpoenaed, and they will be called on to tell the committee something about these compounds.

"The use of antiseptics as preservatives," said Professor Mitchell, "has become alarmingly great. They are used as coloring and to stop the development of germs in dairy products; also in chopped meats, bulk oysters, fish, ham, and possibly corned beef."

The chemist first told of his test of a liquid known as "freezine." Professor Mitchell said that the stuff had been used extensively by farmers to keep milk and butter, it being the custom to mix it with the former in small quantities and pour quarts of it into vats for the preservation of butter. "This 'freezine' I have found to be nothing less than almost pure formic aldehyde," narrated the expert. "This is a chemical that acts disastrously upon the tissues of the stomach, and I can only surmise the results when milk diluted with it is used constantly by a family. When butter is placed in vats filled with this stuff, the porous commodity takes up no small amount of the liquid, with a result that can only be conjectured."

The professor told of his experiments with a fluid sold extensively to butchers for the purpose of making their Hamburger steaks last and keep up a healthy appearance. "This liquid contains a great percentage of what is known as sulphide of soda, with a complement of coloring matter," he continued. "It is styled an antiseptic, and in certain respects is. This must be borne in mind, however, that where fermentation and waste are arrested the digestive properties are consequently destroyed."

Dr. Wiley, the government expert, who examined the anticeptic, said he identified it as practically the same chemical which was used during his experience at a medical college to preserve cadavers, and was now occasionally put to service in disinfecting houses where smallpox patients resided.

The testimony assumed the form of a debate as to whether or not the use of alum in the manufacture of baking powder was injurious to the public health.

George W. Roe, a chemist, stated that the injurious characteristics of alum were destroyed in the process of baking.

Professor Hallberg, former editor of The Western Druggist, and Professor Mitchell, combatted this theory and expressed the opinion that alum should not be used as an ingredient unless the public was aware of the fact by labels on the cans.

The common bases for the majority of jellies manufactured nowadays, according to several witnesses, are the cores of apples, utilized after they have been evaporated. This substance, it was claimed, is mixed with glucose in large quantities, with sugar in small quantities, and then colored and flavored to suit the outside design on the package.

Didn't Understand the Law.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., May 10.—Foster L. Cook, a young farmer of Amenia, was convicted here of bigamy and held for sentence. Last year in North Dakota he secured a divorce from his first wife, to whom he was married in 1890 in Chatham, N. Y. Returning to this state, he married Edith M. Tompkins, a schoolteacher of Amenia. This led his first wife to cause his arrest for bigamy. She also obtained a divorce from him, naming the second wife as co-respondent. Cook admitted the marriage, but swore that he was unaware that he was committing a crime, and believed that the Dakota divorce gave him the right to marry again.

Hope of Speedy Settlement.

Buffalo, May 10.—While the strike situation remains unchanged, after a day of great quietness, there is still hope of a speedy settlement of the trouble. The grain shovelers still persist that nothing will satisfy them except they succeed in abolishing the existence of contractors and middle men. They assert that they can furnish bonds to guarantee that they themselves can handle all of the grain transported by the Lake Carriers' association. The Lake Carriers' association and Contractor Connors are now willing to make more radical concessions to the scoopers than any yet announced.

A Mississippi Mixup.

Okolona, Miss., May 10.—Dr. William Murphy became involved in a dispute with Charles D. Clarke over a bill which Dr. Murphy claimed Clark owed him. A fight was precipitated. Clark, with a knife, slashed Dr. Murphy and severed the jugular vein. Howard Murphy, son of the physician, then shot Clarke dead. Walter Clarke, brother of Charles D. Clarke, and Howard Murphy then began a duel to settle the matter. Pistols were used. The men fought viciously, and both were killed.

A Twenty-Five Rounder.

New York, May 10.—There was a large crowd present last night to witness the 25-round encounter between Frank Erne, the Buffalo lightweight, and George McFadden of New York. The men weighed in at 134 pounds to battle under the Marquis of Queensbery rules. Erne was the favorite in the betting at 100 to 70. The exhibition was a fine one. The contest was given to Erne on points.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

The works of the National Fertilizer company at Bridgeport, Conn., were entirely destroyed by fire, as well as valuable machinery and 1200 tons of phosphate. The loss will be $25,000. The fire was caused by a spark from a locomotive.

WITH INTENT TO KILL.

Roland Molineux Arrested on Charge of Assault on Cornish.

Had Been Acquitted of the Adams Poisoning.

Sensational Turn In the Case Which Has Long Agitated New York.

New York, May 10.—Roland B. Molineux was arraigned before Judge McMahon yesterday and at once discharged, the jury having failed to find an indictment in the Adams poisoning case. No sooner had he left the courtroom than he was rearrested on a charge of having assaulted Harry Cornish by sending poison through the mails with intent to kill. He was taken before Judge Jerome in the court of special sessions.

His lawyer, Bartow S. Weeks, accompanied him before Justice Jerome and argued that the charge was the same as that upon which the grand jury had just acted and that the proceeding was illegal. Justice Jerome adjourned the hearing until this afternoon. Molineux was held.

There was great excitement in the criminal court building when it became known that the grand jury had failed to find an indictment against Molineux. The sign that the polling was about to begin was given soon after 3 o'clock, when the officials of the district attorney's office walked out of the grand jury room. Soon it was announced that the inquisitors were ready to appear before Judge McMahon, who had kept his court open for them.

When the grand jury appeared in Judge McMahon's courtroom there was a large crowd present. The foreman of the grand jury announced to the judge that the charge against Molineux had been considered and had been dismissed. There was a hush in the courtroom while the body was polled, and it was found that seven of the members had voted for indictment and 11 against it, five being absent. Word was sent immediately to the Tombs and Molineux was told of his good fortune.

Shortly before 4 o'clock Molineux, in charge of an officer, appeared in the courtroom. He faced the crowd and the judge calmly. When he arrived before the bar Judge McMahon asked: "Is there any further charge against the prisoner?"

"There is no existing charge," said Assistant District Attorney Blumenthal. "Discharged," said the judge, abruptly.

There was not a trace of feeling on Molineux's pale face. He stood a moment and then, taking his hat, started to walk out of the courtroom. He was met at the railing in front of the bar by his counsel, Bartow S. Weeks, who had rushed from his office on hearing the news. Weeks grasped the hand of the young man, shook it and said some encouraging words. Then Molineux smiled. Weeks laid his hand on the man's shoulder and they walked out of the courtroom. At the door they were met by Detective Carey, who presented a warrant, issued by Judge Jerome of the special sessions court, charging Molineux with the assault on Cornish in sending cyanide of mercury with intent to kill him.

Weeks protested without avail. Assistant District Attorney Osborne was present and the party went to the chamber of Judge Jerome, where the warrant was read.

Weeks declared this charge should not stand, as it was based on the evidence which the grand jury had ignored in the murder plea, but the judge refused to consider this plea, declaring that the warrant could not be dismissed unless Weeks could show that the specific charge of assault had been ignored by the grand jury.

Osborne admitted that if Molineux was held on this charge the case would probably be submitted to another grand jury with a view of connecting the prisoner with the Adams poisoning. The judge declared that as one grand jury had acted in the matter he could not approve such an idea.

In the midst of the argument it was decided to continue the case until today.

Judge Jerome fixed Molineux's bail at $10,000. Bail was furnished today and then Molineux left the Tombs.

Victory For Standard Oil.

Columbus, O., May 10.—The Standard Oil company won a point in the supreme court when a decision was handed down dismissing the contempt proceedings against Malcolm Jennings, a newspapare man. Jennings was subpoenaed as a witness in the Standard Oil suits by the attorney general, who endeavored to show that the witness was conducting a news bureau in the interests of the Standard Oil company. Jennings refused to give a list of papers to which he furnished such matter, and was cited for contempt. The supreme court held that the information asked of the witness was not important, and therefore that the witness was not in contempt.

Hull Not Damaged.

Charleston, May 10.—While attempting to enter the channel between the jetties yesterday, the Raleigh, going at 8½ knots, ran aground on the spit of north shoal, abreast of the outer black buoy. Late in the afternoon, when the tide filled, the cruiser was pulled off and proceeded up the harbor to her anchorage. It was stated by her officers that a superficial examination disclosed no injuries to her hull.

Acceptable to Both Sides.

Washington, May 10.—In the highest German quarters it is stated that there is no doubt whatever that the German government will be able to command the requisite majority to pass the government measure relating to the inspection of meat, foreign and domestic, now before the reichstag, and for this reason there is said to be no ground for the apprehension expressed in this country that the adverse action on the bill in committee would prejudice the negotiations between the United States and Germany. The bill now pending in the reichstag is to a considerable extent the result of negotiations between Berlin and Washington, and is acceptable to the government authorities on both sides as well as to the American meat industries.

Gun Exploded.

Sandy Hook, N. J., May 10.—A 15-inch Rodman gun was exploded yesterday by a charge of 100 pounds of smokeless powder. The gun was buried in the proving ground 18 feet in the sand, and the discharge was made by electricity. The men are digging to find out what has become of the shell that was inside the gun, containing 100 pounds of gun cotton, to which a Gatham safety fuse was attached. The Gatham people claimed that the gun cotton would be recovered in perfect condition, even if the gun and shell were exploded. The test was to show the safety of handling gun cotton in guns fired by powder charges.

Time Wasted.

Washington, May 10.—All hope of reconvening the joint American-Canadian commission in August has been abandoned. The conference adjourned after having made good headway, as it was thought at the time, toward the drafting of an agreement, owing to an unexpected and insurmountable obstacle in the shape of the lumber and boundary questions. The joint conference adjourned to meet in August with the understanding that meantime the governments of the two countries would test public sentiment.

Executive Clemency.

Washington, May 10.—The president has commuted to three years the life sentence of Clyde Bennington, convicted in California in 1898 of robbing the United States mails. This commutation is granted in consideration of the valuable aid rendered the government by the prisoner in the prosecution of his colleagues. In the case of Ellsworth P. De France, convicted in Nebraska in 1893 of highway robbery of a mail messenger and sentenced for life, the president has commuted the sentence to 15 years.

Train Chained To Tracks.

Guthrie, Okla., May 10.—Two freight trains and a passenger train on the Santa Fe road were stopped by Sheriff Newblocke and an armed force of deputies at Norman yesterday and chained to the track. The engines were locked and chained and traffic stopped. All this property was levied on to collect $7000 taxes owed by the company for 1898. The company tendered the county all the taxes, less a mill levy for school which was in dispute, and the company now has a suit in the court enjoining collection.

Bandits Cap'ured.

Santiago, May 10.—Maurice Baldwin, an American newspaper correspondent, and three Cuban companions were attacked near Bayamo by seven bandits. Baldwin and his companions covered the bandits and ordered them to drop their arms. One of the bandits, resisting, was wounded in the leg. The entire party of seven was captured and turned over to the gendearmerie.

Father and Son Drowned.

Yarmouth, N. S., May 10.—Norman Harris and his eldest son, aged 16 years, of Sandford, were drowned while engaged in lobster fishing. It is supposed the boat capsized in a squall and the anchor went overboard and kept the boat in position. Mr. Harris was about 40 years old, and leaves a widow and nine children.

Haskell Denies It.

Toledo, May 10.—Charles N. Haskell, whom Attorney General Monnett accused of being a party to offering him a bribe to drop the prosecution of the Standard Oil cases, says that he absolutely had nothing to do with offering a bribe to anyone. He stated that he was in no way connected with the Standard Oil company.

Dogs Must Be Licensed

ON OR BEFORE APRIL 30th,

Or the Owners or Keepers Thereof are

LIABLE TO A FINE

CITY OF QUINCY.

[Extracts from the Laws of this Commonwealth.]

Every owner or keeper of a dog of three months old or over, shall annually on or before the THIRTIETH DAY OF APRIL, cause it to be REGISTERED, NUMBERED, DESCRIBED and LICENSED for one year from the first day of the ensuing May, in the office of the Clerk of the city or town wherein said dog is kept, and shall cause it to wear around its neck a collar distinctly marked with the owner's name and its registered number.

Any owner of a dog may at any time have it licensed until the first day of the ensuing May; and a person becoming the owner or keeper of a dog after the first day of May, not duly licensed, shall cause it to be registered, numbered, described and licensed as provided in the preceding section.

The FEE for every license shall be TWO DOLLARS for a Male dog and FIVE DOLLARS for a Female dog.

Whoever keeps a dog contrary to the provisions of this chapter shall forfeit FIFTEEN DOLLARS, five dollars of which shall be paid to the complainant and ten dollars to the treasurer of the county in which the dog is kept.

Every owner or keeper of dogs kept for breeding purposes may receive annually a special license authorizing him to keep such dogs upon the premises described in such license. When the number of dogs so kept does not exceed five, the fee for such license shall be TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS; when the number of dogs so kept exceeds five, the fee shall be FIFTY DOLLARS, and no fee shall be required for the dogs of such owner or keeper under the age of six months.

Any owner or keeper of a dog not duly licensed, which becomes three months old after the thirtieth day of April in any year, shall, whenever it is three months old, cause it to be registered, numbered, described and licensed until the first day of the ensuing May, as provided in Section 80 of Chapter 102 of the Public Statutes, and shall cause is to wear around its neck a collar distinctly marked with its owner's name and its registered number.

CONFEDERATE DEAD.

Shall Their Graves Be Cared For by the Federal Government?

Question Warmly Discussed at Charleston Convention.

President McKinley's Suggestion Has Many Adherents and Opponents.

Charleston, S. C., May 11.—The following resolution, introduced at the first session of the Confederate Veterans' reunion in this city yesterday by General Stephen D. Lee of Mississippi, precipitated a heated discussion:

"Whereas, in Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 20, 1898, the President of the United States of America gave utterance to the sentiment: 'That the time has come when the United States should share in caring for the graves of the Confederate dead; and, whereas, this utterance of the chief executive of the nation demands from us, the survivors of our dead comrades-in-arms, a frank and generous response to so lofty and magnanimous sentiment.

"Therefore, be it resolved by the Confederate Veterans, in annual convention assembled, that in this act of President McKinley, and in its reception by our brethren of the north, we recognize authoritative evidence that we are again a united people, and one in determination to exhibit to the world the gentler, as well as the sterner traits of American character, and that we accept the statement of our chief executive in the spirit in which it was made, believing that such legislation by the general government, as he has suggested, would show clearly the advance that the American people have achieved in those higher virtues that adorn a great nation."

Chaplain Jones said he thought the resolution should be referred to the committee on resolutions to be regularly appointed. General Lee said he hoped the resolution would be adopted without reference. Dr. Harris of Florida said that from the very nature of the resolution he did not think they should be referred. It would be as well to take a direct vote on them right at this time. Mr. Busby of North Carolina said he thought they should be referred. It would do no harm to refer them; no disrespect was intended. Every loyal Confederate appreciated the courtesy and good intentions of President McKinley in what he had said at Atlanta. But, Mr. Busby said, there ought to be a distinction between graves in the north, between graves in Chicago or Columbia and those on the fields of Virginia and the south. There was a difference between the graves and their care. Here there were those who willingly and cheerfully took care of the graves of the noble heroes (pointing in the direction of the box filled with ladies), and in the north there might not be these loving hands.

After this it was decided without further discussion that the resolutions be referred to the committee on resolutions.

GENERAL J. B. GORDON.

The business session of the reunion was called to order by General C. J. Walker, commanding the South Carolina division, in the handsome auditorium erected for the occasion by the city of Charleston. Its enormous floor space was crowded and thousands were unable to gain admittance. When General John B. Gordon, the commander-in-chief, appeared upon the stage he was greeted with thunders of applause. The bands struck up "Dixie" and the veterans cheered and cheered again. In calling the assemblage to order, General Walker spoke of Charleston's invitation to the veterans to meet at the birthplace of secession, and said that the gavel he was using was that which, in 1860, had been used to call to order the secession convention. The chairs used by the officers yesterday and the table of the presiding officer were the same as used on that memorable occasion.

Dr. J. W. Jones, the chaplain general, then invoked the divine blessing upon the convention. He asked it of "the God of our common country," and prayed that all Confederates might be true to the principles of "constitution and freedom for which our fathers fought," and that "these principles might be handed down to our children and children's children." He invoked the divine blessing upon the President of the United States and all in authority.

Mayor Smyth extended to the visitors a welcome. General Gordon was then escorted to the front of the stage, and his appearance was the signal for a storm of applause. Cheers and shrill yells for the commander-in-chief mingled with the crash of the bands, and hats, handkerchiefs and flags were waved frantically.

When order was finally restored the old Confederate commander was presented by General Walker and delivered an eloquent address. He spoke with all the vigor, eloquence and grace which have won for him a national reputation as an orator.

General Gordon said: "I should esteem it a still higher honor to stand here today as the herald of both the host and guests in proclaiming a message of good will to all our countrymen and to send the fraternal greetings of this people, of all Confederates, and of their children to all patriots of all sections; to unite with our American brethren of every state in ascribing to the guiding hand of God the unparalleled victories of American arms in the late war on land and sea; and, lastly, by the memory of the fathers, whose spirits live in their sons, to pledge the south's unfailing support to every worthy cause for strengthening the bonds of American unity, and thus accelerating the onward march of the republic in its benign mission to humanity."

After the applause had subsided, General Gordon led Mrs. Stonewall Jackson to the front of the stage, and she was enthusiastically applauded. As he presented Mrs. Jackson and in the first lull General Gordon said:

"I will shake her hands for you all," and in an instant he added: "I will do more than that; I am going to hug her for you," and with that he did what he said he was going to do, which met the hearty approval of the vast throng.

The parade of the veterans occurred in the afternoon. They marched through a dense crowd of cheering people. Led by General Gordon and Wade Hampton, a long line of grizzled men who had followed these leaders and the other captains of the Confederate armies during the Civil war, marched sturdily to inspiring strains.

At intervals along the line the fluttering of a war-worn and shot-torn battle-flag brought forth cheers, while heads were bared as the frayed emblems of a dead cause gleamed over some organization whose name is a household word in the south.

Including kindred organizations and guests there were about 5000 persons in line, probably 3000 of them veterans.

Something Unusual.

Albany, Ga., May 11.—Frank W. McCarthy, one of the most prominent colored citizens in southwest Georgia, died here Tuesday night. His funeral occurred yesterday, and was attended by an immense concourse of both whites and blacks. For the first time in the history of Albany, a town of 8000 inhabitants, every store and office was closed in honor of a negro.

Oregon's New Commander.

Washington, May 11.—Captain Barker, the senior officer of Dewey's fleet and the commander of the battleship Oregon, will be the next commanding officer to come home. The navy department has arranged to have Captain George F. Wilde, at present in command of the Boston, also at Manila, to relieve him. The cruiser Boston is to come to the United States.

Hagelman Still Leads.

New York, May 11.—Only 12 men remain in the 72-hour go-as-you-please race. Hegelman is still in the lead. The score at 1 o'clock this morning was: Hegelman, 211.7; Cox, 203.4; Glick, 198.6; Guerrero, 180.7; Tracey, 188.5; Igo, 181.9; Barnes, 173.0; Day, 166.1; Hansen, 162.9; Noremac, 140.2; Craig, 139.5; Geary, 126.1.

An Unprofitable Lecture.

Stubenville, O., May 11.—Mrs. Anna E. George delivered her first lecture at the Olympia in this city last night. The house seats 1200, but only 14 persons paid the admission fee to hear her. The lecture was practically a sketch of her life.

Opposition to Briggs.

New York, May 11.—The Tribune says: It was learned last evening that a majority of the members of the standing committee of the diocese of New York are opposed to the ordination of Dr. Briggs. This committee is the bishop's advisory council, and is the representative body of the diocese, being made up of both priests and laymen.

St. Louis Is Delighted.

St. Louis, May 11.—The third-class cruiser Nashville, the first sea-going war vessel that ever came up the Mississippi river thus far, arrived here yesterday. Vessel and crew were enthusiastically received.

Peace Delegates Reach London.

London, May 11.—Captain Mahan and Seth Low, delegates of the United States to the disarmament congress, reached this city yesterday with their assistants. They will start for The Hague next Tuesday.

Filipinos Set Fires In Manila and Tried to Prevent Extinguishment.

Aguinaldo's Followers Considering Peace Prospects.

Philippine Commissioners Favor California Constitution as a Model.

Washington, May 11.—The adjutant general has received the report of General R. P. Hughes, provost marshal general of Manila, giving an account of the fights which occurred in Manila in the early days of the Filipino rebellion. The report is endorsed by General Otis, who says that General Hughes was present in person during the period covered and directed all the operations, and that his tact and vigilance saved the city from conflagration.

General Hughes' report shows that the fires were clearly incendiary, and that even after they started the Filipinos tried in every way to prevent their extinguishment. The firemen were shot at by persons concealed in houses, and efforts were made to puncture the hose.

General Hughes commends the troops for the services they performed, and also speaks in high terms of the English volunteer brigade. The troops were detachments of the Twenty-third infantry, Second Oregon, Thirteenth Minnesota and Tenth Pennsylvania.

Yesterday's Manila advices say that reports from the insurgent line, which, however, have not been confirmed, say that a meeting of the Filipino congress has been held at San Fernando. There was no quorum present, but, in spite of this fact, some business was transacted. The reports add that, although those who attended were mostly partisans of Aguinaldo, a strong desire for peace was expressed.

Major General MacArthur will probably remain at San Fernando until fresh troops can be forwarded to him from this city to replace some of the volunteers, who have been become exhausted from the long campaign.

Filipino riflemen to the number of 8000 are entrenched on three sides of Bacolor. The Americans, however, are fully able to hold the city if Monday's attack was a specimen of the enemy's fighting ability.

The United States Philippine commission has been considering a provincial constitution for the island of Negros, which was framed by Colonel Smith and leading natives. It is largely modeled after the constitution of California. While it has many good points, the commission will probably recommend a uniform government for all the provinces. This constitution, it is intended, will give the natives self-government, cooperating with the military regime. Work upon the constitution has been apportioned to the several members of the Philippine commission. The report of President Schurman will give special attention to national, provincial and municipal government; Colonel Charles Denby will consider the organization of courts, and Professor D. C. Worcester will investigate tribal, physical and commercial features of the island. All the members of the commission are consulting with resident experts.

General Otis has cabled to Washington that it is inadvisable, on account of sanitary conditions, to send to the United States the bodies of any more of the troops who lost their lives in the Philippines until after the close of the rainy season and the cold weather sets in. This recommendation of General Otis has been approved by the secretary of war.

Our Coal of Superior Quality.

Washington, May 11.—The French government is making inquiries as to American coal with a view to adopting it for the use of the French navy. Lieutenant De Faramond, the naval attache of the Frennch embassy here, was ordered to examine the coal now in use on American warships and, having completed his inquiries, is now preparing a favorable report to the French admiralty. Letters from Admiral Dewey reciting the experience of the squadron at Manila, and giving the preference to American over British coal, were submitted to him. Lieutenant De Faramond's observations lead him to the conclusion that the American coal makes a slight percentage more smoke, but that it has less ash and clinker than the Cardiff coal, which is the standard the world over.

These People Have Faith.

Montreal, May 11.—A remarkable demonstration took place at St. Hilaire yesterday. Caterpillars, which last year played havoc with apple and sugar orchards, seem to be more numerous and vigorous than before. A crusade against them was formally opened in the parish church, where mass was solemnized, after which a religious procession, headed by the priest, N. La Fiamme, and the choir boys, followed by 150 or more parishoners, marched through the infected section with fervent prayers, asking divine assistance in their battle against the plague.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The Boston Herald struggles hard to make a plausible explanation of Edward Atkinson's conduct in striving to sow the seeds of discord among American army officers in the Philippines, but makes a sorry mess of it. Mr. Atkinson is old enough to know better, and because he is old enough and intelligent enough to otherwise employ his energies he should be punished.—Haverhill Gazette.

☞ Combinations are not as baneful as many may suppose; some good may grow out of them which will be of benefit to the industry at large, and equally so to the consuming trade. Such a combination, however, must have a business reason for its existence, otherwise it will make for harm. Combinations which are formed for the purpose of unloading old plants at high prices on the public may succeed in accomplishing their ends if they are rightly manœuvered, but their existence will be ephemeral, and whatever money is made in them will be made quickly. Such combinations are really few in number, and those which are successfully launched are the very few exceptions, the one out of the thousand. The public has had its eyeteeth cut, and it is not as susceptible as it was to the plausible arguments of the promoter.—Textile Manufacturers' Journal.

London's Sunday newspaper experiment looks as if it was likely to collapse,— and London will be well rid of a deluge of slush. If a Sunday newspaper, could be like any other paper, it would be well enough,—but the difficulty is that an office which turns out a pretty good paper six days a week, manufactures, as a rule, an abomination on the seventh.—New Bedford Standard.

☞ The common duty of the hour, whether one be an expansionist or anti-expansionist, is to sustain the policy of the government in the Philippines while the war is in progress there. Less than this is recreancy to patriotic obligations. Men may differ in regard to the ultimate disposition of these islands, but such difference has no business to assert itself until the time is ripe for such assertion.—Brockton Times.

☞ There are two ways in which the Federal government can effectually encourage the expansion of American shipping. One is by discriminating duties, and the other is by means of subsidies. Subsidies play the same part in encouraging ship building and the ocean carrying trade in America bottoms that prospective duties do in encouraging the establishment and growth of American manufactures. The principle is essentially the same in either case. The Republican party, which is the champion of protection, cannot afford to withhold indispensable assistance to our neglected merchant marine.—Minneapolis Tribune.

LATEST!

A DISCOVERY.

Revolvers Found at Johnson's Wharf.

Did One Kill the Shaw Burglar?

Guilt of Officer Larkin's Man More Apparent.

The finding of two rusty revolvers Wednesday under a pile of lumber at Johnson's wharf brings to mind again the excitement caused one morning last December, by the finding of a dead burglar in the residence of Hon. John Shaw; of the fruitless efforts of the police to identify the dead man or to clear up the mystery surrounding his death to determine who fired the fatal shot.

It will be remembered that on the morning of the shooting, Officer Larkin apprehended a man at the corner of Mill and Washington streets, who acted in a suspicious manner, but who was allowed to depart. At that time nothing had been heard of the robbery.

The theory of many was that the burglar entered Mr. Shaw's house and that as he was about to leave he was accidentally shot by his pal who then ran down Washington and Pond streets toward Johnson's lumber wharf and then up Mill street to the point where he ran into the arms of Officer Larkin.

Among the effects of the dead man was a woolen mitten in which were a number of cartridges of 38 calibre, and the medical examiner at the autopsy gave it as his opinion that the shot that killed the man was a 38 calibre cartridge. Neighbors heard a shot fired and Mr. Shaw's family heard a fall which shook the house.

The police were baffled at every point and although a search was made for a revolver none was found. An inquest was held but developed nothing new. Several times the dead burglar was recognized, or parties thought they recognized him, but the parties either turned up alive or were proved not to be the party supposed.

Other newer matters came up to divert the attention of the public and the interest in the affair subsided, and when the dead man was removed to Mt. Wollaston cemetery the affair died a natural death.

Wednesday while at work about the wharf moving lumber, two revolvers were found tied up in a handkerchief.

The handkerchief was of the cheap variety and had a colored border. The revolvers were also rusty as though they had been exposed to the weather The revolvers were of the Iver-Johnson type, of 38 calibre. In one of them all of the chambers were empty and the other contained four balls and an empty chamber. In the handkerchief were five cartridges of the same calibre. They were turned over to the police in whose possession they now are.

The police will endeavor to trace the ownership of the revolvers if possible by their numbers but it is doubtful if anything ever comes of it.

The belief, however, is strengthened that the fellow apprehended and later released at the lockup, was the party who fired the fatal shot. If this theory is true he has doubtless put many miles between him and Quincy, and as the dead man has been under ground for some months it is doubtful if the police will be successful, in establishing the identity of the dead man or the party who fired the shot.

Miss Vining Buys at Hull.

At an administrator's sale of land in Hull, Monday, Miss Floretta Vining bought a large plot, which embraces from twelve to fifteen thousand feet of shore front. The property is situated at Point Allerton, and comprises a number of old buildings which the new owner will have removed. Miss Vining is an advocate of the plan to have Nantasket controlled by the Metropolitan Park system, and the purchase may assist in carrying out the commissioners' idea. Her new acquisition is in that part of the town which easily can be beautified and improved, and its purchase by her is said to be regarded with great satisfaction by the permanent as well as the summer citizens.—Boston Transcript.

ECCENTRIC WILL.

Hanover Millionaire Leaves Singular Directions.

The funeral of Edward Y. Perry, the Hanover millionaire, took place on Wednesday and was in accordance to the following letter: "When I am dead," Mr. Perry had written, "put me in a plain pine coffin, covered with gray cashmere. Let my body remain in my rooms until the morning of the third day, and then put it in the casket. In the afternoon of the third day let all who will assemble in my rooms, and if any wish to speak let them testify to facts that they have known, but I wish no fulsome eulogy. It is my wish that this letter be read at that time. I wish that my body remain then until unmistakable signs of decay occur, and then be quietly buried or entombed. It is my desire that no bell mark the passing of my life. I wish no ornamental slab or expensive monument over my grave, but a simple, plain slab, with nothing graven thereon except my name and the date of my birth and death. I object to an array of flowers, except possibly at the tomb."

Mr. Perry was an agnostic. For many years he and his wife lived in a cosey suite of rooms on the second floor of the building at the corner of Broadway and Cross streets, right by the south Hanover station. In the store below, which he would let only on conditions that the tenant would sell neither tobacco liquor nor corsets, all of which he hated with all the strength of his character, there is the post-office for the village and the ordinary general store of the country town.

Mr. Perry was well known all over the district, and many stories of his strongly-marked characteristics are told. He did not believe in a hereafter, professedly, though one of his oldest friends and one-time partner, Edward M. Sweeney, says: "He was a man who all his life tried to make himself believe that there was nothing after this life, and died unsuccessful."

He was born in Pembroke in 1812, and was orphaned at a very early age. He grew up in the home of his grandparents, living the life of the ordinary country boy till he went into the tack factory at South Hanover. He was frugal, had good business ability, and apparently the Midas touch, for everything he touched prospered, and turned into money. He was a prudent investor and drove good bargains.

He became a partner in the tack factory, and applied his returns from this in many businesses, and in real estate loans in Plymouth county. He built the Hanover Branch Railroad, and became the president of the company. When the road was sold to the Old Colony, he retired from the railroad management. Several well-known firms in Boston have had the use of his money, and many young men in Hanover have been set up in business by "E. Y.," as the townspeople call him.

His wife died in January, and by her own request, he allowed a minister to perform the usual burial rites of the Christian church.

By request of Mr. Perry his will was read before his body was removed from the house. He left his house and estate to his wife, or to her heirs if not living, and $20,000 to his wife which is likely to revert to the estate. After minor bequests he gave the use and improvement of a number of estates to occupants.

The executors named are William F. Bates and Morrill A. Phillips of Hanover, and Henry W. Chandler of Whitman. They are given the fullest powers the imagination of the testator could draw, and the bulk of the immense estate is left entirely at their command, "to be used as income to be expended for the relief of the poor in Hanover, Hanson and Pembroke, preference to be given to those nearest Hanover, and no help to be given to cases which are supported at all by the town. The help is for people needing fuel, food, shelter, medical attendance or clothing, and for young men and women, indigent, and desirous of providing themselves with education."

Another provision in the will provides that if any person wishes to build a house on the Seth Perry estate in Hanson, the trustees shall give them one acre of land for each house, the number not to exceed 10.

One curious stipulation of the will is that no income shall be had for the dead man's money, for "usury." It was one of his fixed beliefs that interest drawing money was wrongfully employed.

—A meeting of the Hull-Massachusetts Yacht Club was held at the club's winter quarters, Rowe's wharf, this week and it was decided to build a dormitory addition to the clubhouse at Hull. This will contain twelve rooms The treasurer was empowered to make necessary arrangements as to pay.

The term of ex-Mayor Porter on the State Board of Health expires this month, and he has also resigned as one of the trustees of the Soldiers' Home, to become a member of the Civil Service Commission.

It was ladies' night on Wednesday evening, and Mrs. James H. Penniman scored 80 per cent., the largest number that has ever been scored in the Granite City club rooms; Mrs. Dexter E. Wadsworth took the second prize.

Mr. Frederic A. Tupper, recently of the Quincy High school, must look out for his health in the Boston schools. The Transcript of Wednesday said: "It is possible that after today's session of the Brighton High School the doors will close for twelve or fourteen days, in order that the much-talked-of sanitary improvement may be made."

A sociable took place in Bethany chapel, Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, which is raising funds to send delegates to the Detroit convention. There was a pleasing entertainment, including selections by the Highland orchestra of Woburn, vocal numbers by Miss Brown and readings by Miss Jump. There was a social hour during which ice cream was served.

Pastor Installed.

The installation of Rev. Andrew H. Mulnix on Wednesday was a happy day for the East Milton Congregational church and the people of Milton generally. The candidate passed the examination very successfully at the council in the afternon, and the ladies of the church served an excellent supper during the intermission between the afternoon and evening services.

The church was crowded at the installation service in the evening, and the parts were interesting and the music good. The sermon of Dr. Churchill was particularly strong, and he emphasized the need in the clergy of a positive religious life.

Three of those who took part were college mates of the new pastor at Amherst, viz: Rev. Arthur Truslow, Rev. E. C. Camp and Rev. E. N. Hardy. This fact together with the happy greetings of local pastor made it an interesting occcasion.

Rev. A. H. Mulnix has studied a year in Europe and has acceptably supplied the pulpit some months.

Sunday will be observed as Ascension Sunday at Trinity Church, Weymouth. The music and services will be in harmony with the day, and Rev. William Hyde will preach special sermons on the "Ascension of Christ."

The Parish guild of Trinity church, Weymouth, will meet at the residence of Rev. William Hyde in Weymouth Heights on Thursday evening, May 18.

The jury disagreed at the Superior court in Dedham Wednesday in the cases of Henry Lefebvre vs. Braintree & Weymouth street railway company.

The Weymouth High school nine defeated Hingham High on Wednesday 25 to 11.

—Judge Taft of Gloucester found the five strikers brought before him for rioting on wharf of the Rockport Granite Company all guilty, but continued the cases until May 22 for sentence, as the prosecution did not desire punishment but to prevent a reoccurrence of such affairs.

KENILEY HEARING.

Whole Evening Occupied on One Charge.

Parker House Not According to Ordinances.

Builders and Plumbers Testify for Petitioners.

The hearing on the charges against Inspector of Plumbing Keniley was continued Wednesday evening by the Board of Health at City Hall. The hearing, like that of last Saturday, was public and was very largely attended. But little headway was made however, and it looks as though it would take all summer to finish it.

At the start it was decided to take up one charge at a time and the first selected was that in relation to the A. W. Parker house on Upland street.

H. N. Briggs was the first witness. He testified that he was a carpenter and builder, and had built the block of G. B. Bates, and was building Mr. Bates' house. He had also built houses at Wollaston Park. He had examined the Parker house and found that the vertical soil pipe entered the trap.

In answer to questions by Lawyer McAnarney he said he had heard parties talking about it and went up to see for himself. The reason he filed the complaint was because he found the ordinance had been violated. He had not looked at any other houses to see if ordinance had been complied with.

When questioned further he said he had heard Mr. Bates and Mr. Wentworth talk about the house. He was not asked particularly to go there.

Later under pressing cross examination, witness said he filed complaint at the suggestion of G. B. Bates. Witness was then examined as to the number and size of pipes he saw.

G. B. Bates testified that he had examined the Parker house. There was one stack which came from the roof through the two bath rooms, from which tubs, bowls, etc., were connected, and then ran direct into cellar to the trap. He also explained the location of the pipe by a drawing.

Witness was cross examined in relation to what the soil pipe was and what he considered that pipe to be.

Lawyer McAnarney attempted to introduce a letter written to the Board of Health last year by Mr. Bates recommending Mr. Keniley, but it was ruled out for the present.

Mr. McAnarney said he simply wanted to show the feeling between the two parties.

Mr. Thompson: That feeling is very evident.

Mr. McAnarney: You have considerable feeling, Mr. Bates, against Mr. Keniley have you not?

Mr. Bates: No.

Mr. Thompson: Do you consider this pipe in the strict sense as a vertical pipe?

Mr. Bates: Yes.

Mr. Thompson: What s the objection?

Mr. Bates: Solid matter dropping down is liable to unseal the trap and let sewer gas into the house.

Victor J. Emery, a Wollaston plumber said he had not seen the Parker house but he was shown plan and questioned.

He always supposed any kind of a soil pipe that connected with the trap was a vertical pipe. He did not think the job in accordance with the ordinance.

Dr. Garey: Would you call that a good job of plumbing?

Mr. Emery: It has been done in some cases. He had done jobs like it. There would be danger if there were leaky points.

Mr. Thompson: If you were called to do that job would you change it?

Mr. Emery: That would depend upon circumstances.

Mr. McAnarney: Are you familiar with the Elcock houses.

Mr. Emery: Yes, I did the plumbing.

Mr. McAnarney: Was not the soil pipe connected similar to this?

Mr. Emery: I think it was a running trap.

Mr. McAnarney: Who asked you to come here?

Mr. Emery: Mr. Gardner, Mr. Craig and Mr. Briggs.

George Ames: Also told of the relation of the soil pipe and trap, as testified by other witnesses. He should say it was not in accordance with the ordinance.

Mr. McAnarney: Who asked you to come here?

Mr. Ames: Mr. Briggs asked me to look at the job, and I went there with E. J. Sandberg.

In reply to a further question by Lawyer McAnarney, witness said Sandberg wanted him to go, and said there was to be a hearing on plumbing later.

Mr. McAnarney: You are the man who plumbed the Craig block.

Answer, yes.

Mr. McAnarney: Did you ever plumb a house where the vertical pipe joins the trap.

Mr. Ames: No. I have seen houses on Cranch hill plumbed like it, but could not give name or numbers of houses or the plumber. No practical man would do it. Witness further said he was present to answer questions.

Mr. Thompson: Who told you to make that reply?

The question was evaded and no direct answer given.

Mr. McAnarney: Have you seen anyone in reference to being a candidate for the position if Keniley was removed.

Mr. Ames: Yes, it had been suggested in general conversation. I have told no one that Mr. Bates was working for me.

Mr. Thompson: Would you do a similar job the same way or different?

Mr. Ames: Not under the present law; it would not pass.

Mr. Thompson: Is the law your only objection?

Mr. Ames: We have the laws to go by.

Eugene C. Page said he was one of the examiners for applicants for plumbers' licenses, and he worked for Mr. Bates. He also told the same story about the pipe at the Parker house. He did not call it a proper job under the city ordinance.

Mr. McAnarney: You have talked this case over with Mr. Bates and considered what the proper method was?

Mr. Page: Yes.

Mr. McAnarney: If cover of trap was removed you could tell if trap was unsealed?

Mr. Page: Yes. Witness further said he had seen houses plumbed similar to this but could not tell how many. He could not say that he had been concerned in putting in a similar trap. The first time he went to the house he went alone and the second time with Mr. Quimby and Mr. Fleet.

McAnarney: Do you remember hearing this remark as you were leaving "Oh that is not a vertical soil pipe?"

Mr. Page: No. Witness further said in answer to questions by Mr. McAnarney that he had talked about being a candidate for the office if Keniley was removed with Messrs. Quimby, Fleet, Wentworth and Bates.

Mr. McAnarney: You was not hoping it would become vacant?

Question objected to.

This concluded the tesitmony for the petitioners on the Parker charge. The defense reserved its testimony until all of the petitioners case were in.

It was then arranged between the Counsel that they would visit the City Treasurer's office and come to an agreement in regard to the charge that bills had been paid Keniley on certain jobs before that job was completed.

The hearing at 9.30 was adjourned until Thursday, May 18, at 7.30.

Dr. Everett a Candidate.

Among the fifteen candidates nominated for the five vacancies in the board of overseers of Harvard college to be filled on commencement day, is Dr. William Everett of this city, who was graduated in 1859. A brief sketch follows:

William Everett, '59, is a resident of Quincy, Mass., and is the master of Adams Academy. He was a tutor at Harvard from 1870 to 1873, and assistant professor of Latin from 1873 to 1877. He has received from Harvard the degrees of A. B. '59, A. M. '62, LL. B. '65 and Ph. D.; from Cambridge, B. A. '63, M. A. '70; Williams, A. M. '69, Litt. D. '89, LL. D. '93, all hononorary. He was a member of the Fifty-Third Congress. A number of lectures have been written and published by him, as well as a Phi Beta Kappa poem, and three boys' books.

Cars Derailed.

As a loaded gravel train was coming from the Granite branch to the main line of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R., just south of the Atlantic station Wednesday afternoon, the rear truck of one of the cars jumped the track, and threw the cars in such a manner as to block both the outward and inward tracks. After some delay the wrecker came out from Boston, but it was nearly two hours before the line was cleared. Meanwhile trains going both ways were stalled, and the street railway did a rushing business transporting passengers. A large crowd who had heard of the accident, gathered and watched the clearing of the tracks.

TODAY'S COURT.

Albert F. Clapp and Eva Duchicoult were arraigned for lewd and lascivious cohabitation at Randolph. Case continued until Saturday.

The liquors seized from Charles D. Perigo at Weymouth, were forfeited.

The liquors seized from Julia Driscoll at Braintree were forfeitted.

Defeated by Umpire.

The game between Adams academy and Frye school Wednesday was a most notable exhibition of what an umpire may do if he is disposed to favor his own side, right or wrong. The game up to the eighth innings was interesting enough, and by good playing the Academy nine had a lead of six runs, the score being 15 to 9. Then the umpire for Frye school gave base-on-balls time after time, though it was evident that his judgment was outrageously unfair. By this method he forced in four runs for his friends. His decisions on the bases were equally partial.

The Academy boys played as good ball as could be expected under the circumstances, and won the game fairly as far as playing went. In the ninth inning another flagrant decision of the umpire led to decided objection on the part of the home nine, and acting on the advice of the teachers of the school, the captain took his men from the field and allowed the Frye school nine to claim the game by a score of 9 to 0.

The battery work of Doble and Burchsted was excellent, especially when they were being cheated by the umpire out of good plays which were rightfully to be credited to them.

The behavior of the visitors on the field, and at the schoolhouse after the game, showed that whatever boys may learn at their school, they do not learn good manners. The Adams Academy nine will never again play any team from Frye school.

Below is the score as it actually stood when the home team left the field:

K. of H. Anniversary.

Merry Mount lodge, Knights of Honor, celebrated its twenty-second anniversary Wednesday evening at Music hall, upon which occasion the four-act drama of New England life, entitled "Past Redemption," was presented by the St. John's C. L. & A. A. dramatic club. The impersonations of the several characters in the cast was practically the same as upon previous presentations by the club, and were well taken. Mr. John W. Walsh was stage manager and was assisted by J. P. Ross. The cast of characters included: John J. Bradley, John J. Phelan, Edward H. McGinty, George A. Cahill, John C. McGuane, J. Smith, Thomas F. Shea, Richard J. Grey, George Whitting, Miles Burke, Miss Annie Keegan, Miss Julia Duffy, Miss Nellie McCarthy, Miss Mary Doran. About 400 were present.

Strikes Debated.

At the Quincy High school, Wednesday, the debate was: Resolved, that strikes are a benefit to the laboring man. It was discussed by the following speakers: Mr. Swift, '99; Mr. Murphy, '99; Mr. Lewis, 1900; Mr. Hayward, 1900; Mr. Northcott, '99; and Mr. Wade, '99.

Miss Hultman rendered a pleasing piano solo.

The board of decision then gave its decision in favor of the negative.

The election of officers then took place, the following nominations being made, and those with an asterisk being elected:

President,—*Mr. Wade, '99; Mr. Sargent, '99.

Vice President,—*Mr. Keyes, 1900; Mr. Hayward, 1900.

Treasurer,—*Mr. Lewis, 1900; Miss Vogler, '99.

Secretary,—*Mr. Ballou, 1900; Mr. Lanton, 1900.

The End In Sight.

Buffalo, May 11.—The trouble between Contractor Connors and the grain shovellers is nearer a settlement than at any time since the shipping season opened. The prospects now are that before the end of the week the whole matter will be straightened out, the grain blockade will be raised and the men will be at work. The strike leaders are now prepared to make terms along the lines laid down in the last proposition made by the lake carriers, which provided for the appointment of a general superintendent who would have entire charge of the unloading of grain at this port and who was to be appointed by Bishop Quigley and paid by the Lake Carriers' association, Mr. Connors, the present contractor, merely to draw his commission until the end of the year, when his contract expires. This change of attitude was brought about by a conference held at Bishop Quigley's residence last night.

Looks Bright For Molineux.

New York, May 11.—There was a long argument in the Molineux case before Justice Jerome in the court of special sessions yesterday. Bartow S. Weeks, counsel for Molineux, contended that as the grand jury had passed upon the identical points at issue, Justice Jerome had no jurisdiction. Then Mr. Weeks announced that he was ready for trial, and the district attorney stated that he was also ready. After further deliberation, Mr. Weeks stated that he would waive examination and asked Justice Jerome to fix bail. The justice said that in waiving examination the case was taken out of his hands and was in the hands of the grand jury, and he refused to accept or fix any bail. It is expected that, as the grand jury refused to find an indictment against Molineux in the first instance, it will do so again.

FOR "KITING" CHECKS.

Peculiar Methods of a Boston Woman Have Led to Her Arrest.

Alleged Offense Committed For Those She Loved.

Could Not Make Her Deposits In a Bank Keep Up With Checks Drawn.

Boston, May 11. — Another young woman, whose methods of doing business with checks did not meet the approval of the police, was brought into police headquarters yesterday afternoon. Her name is Carrie M. Anderson. She is 25 years old and lives with her mother and grandmother at 33 Michigan avenue, Dorchester.

She was arrested on complaint of Houston & Henderson, a Washington street dry goods firm, and it is said that this firm cashed Tuesday and yesterday two checks of hers for $40 each, which are said to have been worthless. For some time past Miss Anderson has been a public stenographer with an office in the Hancock building on Devonshire street, and previous to that she had been in the employ of a well-known florist. She had kept a bank account at the International Trust company, but her business methods were such as to compel that company to ask her to stop further business with it.

She then transferred her account to the Beacon Trust company, and from April 11 to April 25, when the company closed her account, she made many deposits and drew many checks. The checks cashed by Houston & Henderson were drawn on the Beacon Trust company. Her method was the old one of "kiting" checks. She would make a deposit; and then draw a check for a much larger amount, hoping to make another deposit before this check went through the clearing house.

This scheme worked for a while, but she could not make her deposits keep up with the checks drawn, and as a result she is said to be $300 behind. The police say that their attention was called to her some time ago, and that she was warned then that if she continued she would surely get into trouble.

Miss Anderson seemed to feel keenly her situation. She said that she had to contribute largely to the support of those at her home, had become indebted and adopted the above method to help herself out of her difficulty.

The police believe that if the charges against her are true, the offense was committed for the sake of the beloved grandmother and of the mother, who had hastened to her daughter's side the moment she received information that the girl was in trouble.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, May 11.—In the house yesterday the bill to tax foreign corporations having a place of business in this state was rejected.

Mr. McCarthy offered an order from the committee on rules providing for evening sessions during the rest of the session. Mr. Saunders opposed the order, on the ground that experience had shown that the legislation resulting from night sessions had not been of the best kind, and that it was impossible for all of the members to attend. At Mr. Saunder's request, the order went over until today.

The amended order for 10-minute speeches during the remainder of the session was adopted.

The committee on ways and means reported a bill creating Wachusett mountain a public reservation.

The order for an investigation by the district police into the employment of women and children in the straw manufacturing business in this state was adopted by a majority of two on a rising vote.

A bill was reported in the senate extending the provisions of the $7 per month "state pay" act of last year, so as to include all Massachusetts soldiers or sailors who enlisted from Feb. 14, 1898, when the Maine was blown up, to Jan. 1, 1899.

Governor Wolcott appointed Henry S. Dewey of Roxbury and George L. Wentworth of Weymouth as the new associate justices of the Boston municipal court. Arnold A. Rand of Charlestown was appointed trustee of the Soldiers' home, Francis M. Thompson of Greenfield, judge of probate; John M. Harlow of Woburn, state trustee of the Massachusetts general hospital, and John W. Wiggin of Boston, surveyor general of lumber.

Claims Illegal Detention.

Waverly, Mass., May 11.—J. G. Simpson, a lawyer, who had been an inmate of the McLean asylum for the insane for several years, has escaped from that institution. The authorities of the asylum say that they are making no effort to follow him. Mr. Simpson was seen in Providence Tuesday night. He claims that his detention at the asylum has been unwarranted, as he is perfectly sane, and that all his demands for examination by a board of experts have been denied. He now expresses the intention of taking legal steps to prove his sanity. The hospital authorities refuse to discuss the statements made by Mr. Simpson.

Double Funeral Service.

Medford, Mass., May 11.—The double funeral of Edward and Charles Kummer, who were drowned in Mystic lake last week, was held from Grace church yesterday. The floral tributes from friends were profuse in number, the chancel being heaped up with the beautiful pieces. The bodies were in white caskets, and over them were heaped roses and pinks. When the service inside the church was ended another and shorter service was held outside, owing to the large attendance. During the funeral the police arrested three men whom, they claim, were picking pockets.

Alleged Theft of Stamps.

Stamford, Conn., May 11.—Dr. John E. Hill, teacher of mathematics at the Stamford high school, has been suspended pending the result of his trial on a charge alleging theft. Dr. J. B. Chittenden of New York claims that a collection of cancelled postage stamps valued at $1800 had been taken from his room when no one but Hill was present. Hill admitted taking the stamps, but stated that he had only borrowed them and had no intention of committing theft. He was held for the superior court under $2000 bonds.

Two Sons Cut Off.

New Haven, May 11.—George A. Vibbert of Danbury, son of the late Dr. William E. Vibbert, who, at the time of his death, about seven years ago, was rector emeritus of St. James Episcopal church, Fairhaven, has filed an application in the probate court asking for a reopening of the probating of his father's will. In his will, drawn in 1887, Dr. Vibbert left $10,000 to his wife and $5000 to each of his three sons, but by two codicils made later his absolute bequest of $5000 to two of his sons was revoked and the money left in trust.

Movement to Remove Duty.

Boston, May 11.—The New England Shoe and Leather association dined at the Brunswick last night, and W. H. Moody was the chief speaker at the post-prandial exercises. A movement was started for the repeal of the 15 percent Dingley tariff on hides, which is of importance in Massachusetts. The association proposes to enlist in the movement every similar organization in the country, and to hold in the fall, in Boston, a national leather trade vs 15 percent tariff meeting.

Lucky to Escape Alive.

Hanover, N. H., May 11.—Harry Hutchins and Ray W. Firth fell three stories in the freight elevator at the Wilder laboratory yesterday. When the elevator had nearly reached the basement the weights broke and fell upon the elevator. Firth, however, escaped being hit, but Hutchins was rendered unconscious by the weights striking him. After four hours Hutchins regained consciousness, and he is in a fair way to recovery.

A Philanthropist's Gift.

Boston, May 11.—The American board of commissioners for foreign missions announces a gift of $10,000 from an unknown benefactor. The money was left at the commissioners' rooms by an unknown messenger in a letter which had no signature. The communication said the funds were to be used "by the board in whichever way, in their judgment, will best promote the interests of the Master's kingdom."

Among Strangers.

Boston, May 11.—Ten Filipino sailors from the ship Low Wood were discharged yesterday, receiving their papers from the British consul. Not one of the men can speak a word of English, and each had $60 in his pocket upon leaving the office of the consul. It is expected that they will reach New York by some means, and will endeavor to ship back to Manila.

Robbed of Money and Goods.

New Haven, May 11.—Isaac Stein, a pack peddler of Boston, reports that he was held up and robbed by three unknown men while walking on the railroad tracks in the outskirts of this city Tuesday night. He claims that he was overpowered after a struggle and robbed of $32 in cash and goods valued at $50.

A Fatal Mistake.

Laconia, N. H., May 11.—Eli Beaupreau, aged 58, a shoemaker, residing at Belmont, drank from a bottle containing a preparation from which he was about to make cement and died from the effects. Beaupreau supposed he was drinking alcohol. The poisonous compound contained carbon de sulphide.

Gored by a Cow.

Spencer, Mass., May 11.—Mrs. Georgiana Coleville of this town was seriously and perhaps fatally gored yesterday by a cow that suddenly became infuriated. The woman was horribly torn by the beast's horns and is in a precarious condition.

Twelve Thousand Men Involved.

Pittsburg, Kan., May 11.—The conference between the coal operators of southeastern Kansas and the miners' executive committees adjourned after a session lasting all day, without arriving at a settlement of the mining troubles. President Mitchell of the national organization, U. M. W. A., has been wired the result and the executive committee is now awaiting his next order which, it is stated, will undoubtedly direct a suspension of work in all the mines in this district, whose operators have mines in the Indian Territory and Arkansas district. The suspension, it is estimated, will involve 12,000 men.

Poison In Buttermilk.

Buena Vista, Ga., May 11.—At a colored revival meeting near here a can of buttermilk was provided, from which a dozen persons drank freely. All were rendered deathly sick. Rev. N. D. Donoway died in a few hours. Two other preachers are also expected to die. It is believed the milk was poisoned from contact with the metal vessel containing it.

Sea Captain Stricken.

New York, May 11.—Captain E. S. Trask, a wealthy sea captain of Bangor, Me., was found unconscious in his room at the South Ferry hotel yesterday. He was removed to a hospital, where Dr. Turner said the man was affected with apoplexy.

Harry Must Be Jealous.

London, May 11.—At the annual dinner of the Newspaper society last evening Harry Furniss, the newspaper artist and illustrator, deprecated the growth of Americanism, which, he said, was "eating the root out of honest English journalism."

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—4:26; sets, 6:56.

Moon sets—10:01 p. m.

High water—12:45 a. m.; 1:15 p. m.

The storm which was central over Manitoba has moved slowly eastward. During the next 24 hours the rain area will be carried over the Atlantic coast states in the form of thunder storms. In New England showers will be followed Friday by fair weather. Strong southwesterly winds will prevail along the Atlantic coast.

NOPS' FANCY CURVES

Proved Too Difficult For Bostons to Solve and They Got Whitewashed.

Boston, May 11.—The champions again suffered all the pangs of defeat and were made to look like second-raters by the Baltimore Orioles. Not that the Bostons played a poor fielding game or made any particular bad breaks, but that when hits meant runs Nops seemed as unsolvable as the riddle of the sphinx. And the Bostons could produce no Edipus.

Boston had several chances when a single hit would have meant one or more runs. Men even went as far as third base when only one was out. Yet the single hit to knock the run in never came. The fielding was good enough, except with an error from Stafford, and another from Collins in the same inning. Stafford dropped an easy fly, after getting under it, right at the left field fence. Collins should not have been obliged to try for the ball which caused his error, but Kloby was slow, and the gilt-edged fielder was letting no chances slip by and made a good try.

One of the largest Insurance Companies in the world keeps all of its property painted with Chilton Paint. This Company has found out that if it wishes to rent a building more money can be obtained and a better class of tenants if the building is painted and looks attractive, than if it has a neglected appearance. It has found out that if it wishes to sell property, much more can be secured for it if it has been painted, and that the cheapest paint in the world to use is the Chilton. BARRELS OF SAMPLES.

Over Two Hundred Thousand Trial Bottles Sent Free by Mail.

By special arrangement with the manufacturers of that justly famous Kidney medicine, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, the readers of the Quincy Ledger are enabled to obtain a trial bottle and pamphlet of valuable medical advice absolutely free, by simply sending their full name and post office address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., and mentioning this paper.

Of course this involves enormous expense to the manufacturers but they have received so many grateful letters from those who have been benefited and cured of the various diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder and Blood, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia and Chronic Constipation, and all weaknesses peculiar to women that they willingly send trial bottles to all sufferers.

Upon investgation it was found that 91 per cent. of those who had used the trial bottle had received such benefit from it that they purchased large sized bottles of their druggists.

It matters not how sick you are or how many physicians have failed to help you, send for a trial bottle of this great medicine, it costs you but a postal card, and benefit and cure will most certainly be the result.

Put some urine in a glass tumbler and let it stand 24 hours, if it has a sediment or if it is pale or discolored, milky or cloudy, ropy, stringy or ropy, your Kidneys or Bladder are in a bad condition. Dr. David Kennedy's Favoirte Remedy speedily cures such dangerous symptoms as pain in the back, inability to hold urine, a burning scalding pain in passing it, frequently desire to urinate, especially at night, the staining of linen by your urine and all the unpleasant and dangerous effects on the system produced by the use of whiskey, wine or beer. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is sold at all drug stores at $1.00 for a large bottle; six bottles for $5.00.

SHE USED A RAWHIDE.

How Mrs. Newcourt Sought Satisfaction From Alleged Persecutor.

Woburn Stablekeeper the Victim of Her Wrath.

Says She Got In One Good Blow, but Hartshorn Claims That She Didn't.

Woburn, Mass., May 12.—Mrs. Bertha Newcomb publicly horsewhipped Livery Stable Keeper John A. Hartshorn on Pleasant street, the city's main thoroughfare yesterday, directly opposite the police station and in the driveway leading to Hartshorn's stable.

Mrs. Newcomb is about 30 years old, rather attractive in appearance and very well known in Woburn. She is the daughter of George W. Norris, a lawyer, and is the wife of William R. Newcomb, employed in the Russell counter factory here.

Hartshorn did not meekly submit to the lashing she gave him, it seems, but it is alleged responded rather vigorously, and it is claimed by Mrs. Newcomb that he choked her severely in the struggle.

Her reason for the assault, she says, is that from Hartshorn for a year and a half she has suffered repeated insults, and, goaded to desperation, she decided to whip the man herself. She succeeded in getting in one blow.

Mrs. Hartshorn was standing at the entrance of the driveway leading to his stable talking to a customer when Mrs. Newcomb approached him and began lashing him with the rawhide which she had concealed in her bosom. Samuel Leeds, a hack driver, who witnessed the occurrence, said that after Hartshorn had recovered from the first blows he grabbed her by the throat and backed her up against a fence, where he held her hands. A policeman arrived on the scene an instant later, and after separating them, sent Mrs. Newcomb home in a hack.

"The only thing I am sorry for," said Mrs. Newcomb later, "is that I did not give it to him harder. I went down to his stable for business and I meant to do it. My husband and I have been suffering from his insults long enough. It has been over a year and a half since Hartshorn began to annoy us. I spoke to my father about it, and he told me to leave him alone, to treat him with disdain, but this I could not do. If it had not been for the law, I would have killed him.

"Every occasion that presented itself he would make insulting remarks to me, while I was out driving or on the street. Yesterday I bought a rawhide, and a good one, and this morning I marched down the street with a determination to give him all I could.

"He was talking with a friend on the street. I went abreast of him, and said to him, looking him straight in the eye: 'Well, Mr. Hartshorn, what have you got to say to me this morning?'

"He answered me so insultingly and so viciously that it aroused me in an instant, and I jumped at him, striking his face as hard as I could. He grabbed me by the throat and pushed me against the fence, when he struck me in the breast and then held my hands. There were several men across the street, and they yelled at me: 'Whip him, whip him.'

At that moment Officer Mulkeen came running across the street. He cried: 'Stop hurting that woman; she's all right. Stop, I tell you.'"

Mr. Hartshorn gave out an interview last night in which he said that Mrs. Newcomb failed to strike him once with the whip, and accordingly he suffered no injury. He said that Mrs. Newcomb accosted him while he was in his own doorway, and her clumsy fumbling about her waist made him think she had a revolver, and so he was prepared for the attack. He says that when the whip appeared he caught the lash and wound it around Mrs. Newcomb's wrists so that she was unable to use the whip. He further claims that he had not insulted Mrs. Newcomb, or made any remark to or about her. Her animus, Mr. Hartshorn claims, grows out of his attempt to collect a bill for carriage hire contracted on 60 occasions by a friend of Mrs. Newcomb. The failure to get the bill settled led him to write a sharp letter to the friend, and in the controversy, Mr. Hartshorn says, Mrs. Newcomb's name was brought in.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, May 12.—The house spent some time yesterday in discussing the question of evening sessions in an effort to hurry things up so that prorogation may come by June 1, but it finally decided to meet earlier and sit later in the daytime, without evening meetings.

Mr. Dean asked reconsideration of the adverse vote of Wednesday on the bill for the state assessment of personal property, but reconsideration was refused.

The bill to extend the time of service of workingmen's trains was debated at some length and was finally rejected on a rollcall by a vote of 61 yeas to 82 nays.

The house spent most of the afternoon in a prosy discussion of the bills concerning injuries to employes of corporations and the liability of employers in such cases.

The senate passed the bill exempting certain trades unions from the laws governing fraternal beneficiary organizations.

The judiciary committee closed up its docket by reporting reference to the next general court on the petition for the incorporation of the International Construction and Power company, to establish street railways, electric lighting and power plants, etc., in the colonial possessions of this country. This report is made with the idea of placing the matter upon the table, and if a proper general bill can be devised, the committee will support it.

The bill to repeal the sewer rental tax was ordered to a third reading.

Governor Wolcott signed bills enacted by the legislature relative to the registration and protection of labels, trademarks, stamps, etc.; relative to fines and forfeitures under laws protecting fish and game; providing for the purchase of additional land for the accommodation of the state normal school at North Adams; providing for the payment of $150 by the state to Thomas W. Mack, for the loss of a horse which dropped dead while being ridden by Colonel Locke of the governor's staff. The governor also signed the Boston assessor's bill, which provides that the assessments of poll and real estate taxes in Boston shall be done by representatives of both the Republican and Democratic parties, jointly; also, the bill which provides that all repairs on school buildings in Boston shall in future be done under the direction of the Boston school committee, and not by the superintendent of buildings in Boston.

Shooting Affray at Boston.

Boston, May 12.—Joseph Frye, colored, was shot down in his tracks by Milton Davis, another colored man, who resides with his wife at 2 Linden court, yesterday. Frye, who is 22 years old, has a bad bullet wound in his abdomen, and it is feared he may not recover. Late yesterday afternoon he was put under ether, and the surgeons succeeded in locating the bullet and removing it. The shooting was the direct result of the homecoming of Davis Wednesday afternoon, when, as he claims, he found Frye with his wife, and ordered the man out of the house. Hot words ensued, but no blows were struck at that time. Davis in accounting for having a revolver, states that Frye threatened him with bodily harm, and he deemed it necessary to carry the weapon in order to protect himself. Yesterday the two men met again on Cambridge street, and the quarrel was resumed. It is claimed by Davis and witnesses of the shooting that Frye held a long brass rod in his hand, and, after a few words with his enemy, struck the latter over the head with the rod, inflicting a severe scalp wound. Davis then whipped out his revolver and fired three shots at Frye, the first of which took effect.

To Succeed Dingley.

Lewiston, Me., May 12.—The Second congressional Republican convention to nominate a candidate to succeed the late Congressman Nelson Dingley, was held here Thursday. After preliminaries, C. E. Littlefield was unanimously nominated. He said in part: "The action of the administration in declaring and prosecuting the war, the negotiation of the treaty of peace reaping its fruits met the approval beyond question of an overwhelming majority of our people. It is too late to discuss the wisdom of the acquisition of control over territory in the Orient. That responsibility has already been assumed. We must properly discharge it at our peril. It has been too much to expect that these great, untried questions can be settled without mistakes. The world moves, and we must move with it. If we err, I believe we should err looking forward and not backward."

None the Worse For "Bunking Out."

Waltham, Mass., May 12.—Raymond Palmer, the 3-year-old child of John Palmer of this city, who wandered away from his home Wednesday, was found yesterday in the woods back of Bear hill, over three miles away, by a member of the fire department. The child was too young to realize the perils of the night, and was as chipper as could be. He slept in the woods, and when found was in a playful mood. The fire department was called out. The firemen, thinking that there must be a fire, responded with the apparatus, but when they arrived at the box they learned that the cause of the alarm was to search for the child.

No Bargain With A'ger.

Detroit, May 12.—Senator McMillan has arrived from Washington. Asked whether he had read General Alger's announcement of his senatorial candidacy, and his statement that McMillan had told him he would not be a candidate, Senator McMillan said he had seen the announcement, but that General Alger must take the responsibility of having made it. "During the entire time for over a year at Washington," said the senator, "and during the very many casual conversations I have had with Secretary Alger, we have not mentioned the senatorial matter, at least not in regard to his candidacy and my stepping out. There is the very strongest feeling among Michigan Republicans that I should seek re-election."

CLOSELY CONTESTED GAME.

It Was Marred by Rain, However, and Lasted but Seven Innings.

Boston, May 12.—The champions vindicated their claim to the title by defeating Baltimore in a closely contested game, that lasted seven innings, by the score of 4 to 1.

At this stage of the game the rain, which had been falling for some time, proved too severe, and the game was called in spite of the energetic protests of the bleacherites, who, having paid admission, and knowing that as the game had been played no rain checks would be forthcoming, demanded a full game of nine innings. But the rain won, and the game was stopped.

The game was of a totally different character from the exhibition afforded in the previous game. The Boston men had their eye on the ball, and kept it there. When a hit was needed it usually came, and there was no reluctance about starting it. The Bostons went at McGinnity, who filled the box for the Orioles, from the call of time, and never let up. Charlie Nichols did the twirling for the home team, and was at his best, though hardly forced to exert himself.

The Labor World.

Dover, N. H., May 12.—All the weavers in the Cocheco mills who have been out on strike have voted to return to work on Monday, the action being taken after a conference between their representatives and Agent Fish of the mill. At the conference Agent Fish submitted a letter from the company, saying that the right was reserved of hiring or discharging any one the company saw fit. The company further states that all the weavers may return to their looms on Monday, and those who were employed in No. 4 mill, where the looms are being taken out, will be supplied with other machines. The fact that the men belong to any labor organization will not be deemed a sufficient cause for dismissal.

Norwich, Conn., May 12.—The long drawn out strike at the Ponemah mills, Taftville, is about to be ended. Of the 1500 employes who went out on a strike more than 400 are now at work, and additions to the number are being daily received. Fifty hands presented themselves for work yesterday and were accepted. Most of the returning workers are non-union men, and the union men will not discuss the situation. The strike has not been a nottable one, inasmuch as there has not been the slightest disturbance on the part of the operatives, and no attempt has been made to interfere with the non-union help that have returned to work.

Worcester, Mass., May 12.—The Rice, Barton & Fales foundry, which is one of those affected by the molders' strike, started up yesterday with non-union laborers, but no opposition was made by the strikers. Police were on duty around the works all day.

Stirring Up Strife.

Havana, May 12.—The Cuban papers, La Discusion and El Reconcentrado, seem determined to cause trouble. The former, in a bitter editorial, declares that the payment of $75 for an exchange of arms is merely an attempt to place the Cubans in the power of the Americans. The article, which is believed to be inspired by Manuel Sanguilly, says: "These traitors have caused all the complications which have placed our country in the existing conditions, conditions that, if continued longer, will cause ferocious and bloody strife between the Cubans and Americans."

Eleven Men on the Track.

New York, May 12.—When the 72-hour foot race started again yesterday only 11 men came to the scratch. Hanson remained off the track for a short time and then took up his 12-hour walk. Hegelman, Cox and Glick were the three first in the race, so far as their scores went, and they held this position practically all through the day. The 1 o'clock score was: Hegelman, 281.10; Glick, 268.4; Cox, 261.11; Tracey, 258.6; Guerro, 241.1; Igo, 239.0; Barnes, 233.1; Day, 226.11; Craig, 199.5; Geary, 160.1; Noremao, 151.2.

Good Afternoon.

A Saturday half holiday is regarded as a pretty good thing in Massachusetts, but it seems there is a limit, for at St. George, N. B., fifty granite cutters and polishers at the works of Epps, Dodds & Co. are on strike. The strike was caused by the decision of the owners to stop work on Saturday during the summer.

While the discovery of revolvers not far from the residence of Mr. John Shaw may strengthen the theory that the man escorted to the lockup by Officer Larkin was the pal of the dead burglar, the solution of the killing is no nearer at hand than at the time. The necessity of detaining suspicious characters at the lockup until the court convenes in the morning is, however, very apparent.

Real estate men will be more at ease, now that the bill to repeal the sewer rental tax is to be passed. After having been assured that the payment of an assessment would relieve Boston property from further cost, it was not right to charge a rental. An annual rental in itself would be all right, but where assessments have been adopted a change is impossible. Under the assessment system the sewer is more generally used.

The property holders of Quincy are pretty sure to get good plumbing jobs, if the requirements of the new ordinance are what they should be, so long as everybody is watching the inspector of plumbing, and holding him strictly to account. There are cases, however, where some little deviations from the set rules would be more satisfactory to all concerned. While this warfare continues property holders will be put to unnecessary expense, and bills of the plumbers are always large enough.

When a contest for a party nomination for office can be conducted without engendering hard feeling within the party, the voters in general will be better pleased with the nomination made, and the best man will usually be nominated. For this reason many did not object to a contest between Lieutenant Governor Crane and Attorney General Knowlton for the Republican nomination for Governor of Massachusetts this fall. But Mr. Crane, who was first in the field, was looked upon as the logical candidate, and the announcement of Mr. Knowlton's candidacy did not secure the support anticipated by that gentleman. Only an aggressive fight, which might have been disastrous to the party, would have given the latter any show. Happily for the Republicans, Mr. Knowlton has withdrawn before any feeling was engendered, leaving the way clear for the nomination and election of W. Murray Crane of Dalton, a successful business man, popular in the western part of the State, and satisfactory to the people at large.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The adverse vote of more than three to one Wednesday at the statehouse against the abolition of the death penalty shows that the agitation of the subject isn't making any converts in Massachusetts.—Milford Journal.

☞ It makes all the difference in the world what kind of a burden a man carries as to how he complains of the load. Twelve pounds of baby makes some men tired unto death in less than two hours, whereas one hundred and thirty of sweetheart used to sit on the same lap from 8 P. M. to 12, without a murmur from the owner of the lap. Half a mile to church is a long walk, when a ten mile tramp after a handful of worldly pleasure is nothing but recreation.—Exchange.

☞ The city of Newton is in quite a turmoil over the retention or dismissal of Mr. Aldrich as superintendent of schools there. Mr. Aldrich is one of the most advanced and well-known educators in the country, and is most favorably known among the teachers and citizens of Marlboro, where he has spoken many times and made many friends and admirers. The state of affairs seems to resolve itself only into an effort of people of old-fashioned predjudices against the newer and advanced methods of which the gentleman is a most able exponent. If Newton does not know a good thing when it has it there are plenty of other places in the country which will be only too glad to profit by that city's blindness and Mr. Aldrich will not long want for a high position in the educational world.—Marlboro Enterprise.

☞ The Massachusetts legislature needs an umpire to call balls and strikes, and tell the statesmen when they are out. The whole bunch has gone dopey, and stubs its toes every time it tries to run a bill around the bases. Twice bills have been run home without following the base lines, and the general court played like a girls' nine, and run the bills around again. In that way the city council's yea and nay vote bill, and the Dumond law were finally run in and scored so that experts can tell what they mean.—Worcester Telegram.

☞ The American revolution had its tories, the civil war had its copperheads, and the Spanish-Philippine war has its "aunties." It seems that all the aggressive actions of this nation, whether offensive or defensive, are bound to breed a race of traitors; certain minds are so constituted that they cannot consider rationally any movement contrary to their theories, and they too readily surrender to the impulse of their prejudices. Persons of that character became very troublesome during our previous wars, and had to be harshly dealt with. And some of them bear the same relation to the trouble with Spain.—Beverly Times.

☞ A Missouri court has decided that a debtor need not pay his debt to a trust. The only effect of this will be to make the trust insist on cash down, which will be a good thing for both parties. It would be a good thing if the courts all over the country would decide that debts could not be collected by legal process. The result would be that business would be done on the cash basis. The credit system is not only the cause of a great deal of distress to debtors, for it is very much easier to get into debt than to get out of it, but it leads to many business failures and is the mother of panics. If some of our numerous reformers who seem to see in capital the only enemy of the country, would attack the credit system they would be doing the country a service.—Malden Mail.

☞ A competition which overloads the market and depresses prices below the limits of cost is as little to be desired as the suppression of competition and the exaction of profits upon a fictitious capitalization, and the Fall River manufacturers are promising to demonstrate the possibility of avoiding both of these wasteful and injurious extremes.—New York Journal of Commerce.

☞ We have a suspicion that it takes as much moral courage for an up-to-date boy to hold his own among boys without fighting as by fighting. In all our experience as a boy, lad, or youth we never knew one who fought who was then or who has been since noted for moral courage. In our teaching days and in our knowledge of children through our own children we have not chanced to know a single fighter with whom moral courage was a characteristic feature. There have undoubtedly been such cases, but they have not come our way. One swallow does not make a summer, and one fighter who develops moral courage does not prove the rule. Our opinion is that the man that has not the moral courage to stand up to an argument when he is hit hard is the man that descends to fisticuffs.—Journal of Education.

GOVERNOR'S WIFE.

A Guest of Adams Chapter, Daughters of Revolution.

About Two Hundred Ladies Were Presented.

A Proud Day for the Daughters of the Revolution.

On Thursday afternoon the hospitable members of Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, again opened wide the doors of the John Adams birthplace and received their friends from three to five, when a reception was given in honor of Mrs. Wolcott, wife of His Excellency, Governor Roger Wolcott.

Although the old house is quite spacious all the rooms were filled almost to overflowing long before the hour of the reception. The whole house was thrown open for the inspection of the guests. At the door were stationed two members of the Boys' Brigade of South Braintree, who received the cards of admission, the house not being open to the public on Thursday, but reserved for invited guests.

Mrs. Nelson V. Titus, regent of Adams chapter, and Miss Abigail Adams, representing the Adams family, and also a member of Adams Chapter, received with Mrs. Wolcott. The guests were introduced by Miss Harriet B. Pierce, Miss Belle Nightingale, Miss Simmons and Miss Annie L. Prescott.

On the reception committee were Mrs. A. H. Gilson, Mrs. Charles H. Sprague, Mrs. Eugene Dyer, Mrs. Frank Granger, Mrs. William F. Cummings, Mrs. Geo. T. Magee, Miss Harriet Phillips, Miss Mary L. Hinkley. Mrs. Frank Brewer and Mrs. Eugene Dyer served frappe assisted by the committee.

The Ladies' Cecelia orchestra of Boston, one of the favorite orchestras for receptions of this kind, played almost continuously and their selections were much enjoyed.

No attempt was made to elaborately decorate the house, the chapter preferring to have the old beams, fireplaces and furnishings in the natural state. There were a few flags and a profusion of cut flowers, violets and yellow cowslips predominating and carrying out the colors of the society, buff and blue. In the parlor there was a large bouquet of pinks from the conservatories of Mr. Clark of Randolph. Mr. Clark has been trying for some time to grow a blue pink to blend with the yellow pink, which is quite a compliment to the daughters and their society colors. He has so far perfected the pink that he has secured a mauve shade, and will soon no doubt accomplish his desire and produce a blue one. The bouquet was presented Mrs. Wolcott.

There were wood fires in the big fireplaces which looked cheerful.

Guests were coming and going throughout the reception so that it is hard to estimate the number attending, but it is thought over two hundred had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. Wolcott.

Adams Chapter has the name of being very hospitable and charming entertainers, the latch-string of the door of the Adams house always hangs out, and inside a welcome awaits all comers.

Among those present were: Rev. and Mrs. E. N. Hardy, Dr. Gallagher, Mr. and Mrs. Hoehn, Mr. Charles A. Howland, Mrs. E. C. Butler, Mrs. Buckingham, Mrs. George G. Saville, Mrs. Edward Russell, Mrs. Theophilus King, Mrs. William B. Rice, Mrs. James H. Stetson, Mrs. Theodore Hardwick, Mrs. Wilson Marsh, Miss Carrie E. Small, Mrs. E. W. H. Bass, Mrs. Wilson Tisdale, Mrs. Frank F. Prescott, Mrs. Perry Lawton, Mrs. Roger H. Wilde, Miss Prescott, Miss Alice K. Prescott, Mrs. Walter T. Babcock, Miss Babcock, Miss Mary E. Dearborn and many well known Quincy people.

There were a great many guests from Boston, among whom were noticed: Miss Elizabeth Porter Gould, Mrs. George W. Yeaton, first vice president of the Daughters of 1812; Mrs. Annie G. Murray, Mrs. Laura Wentworth Fowler and regents of many chapters in and around Boston.

Those Revolvers.

Chief of Police Hayden telephoned to the Iver-Johnson factory Thursday to see if any trace of the owner or purchaser could be found of the two revolvers found under the lumber at Johnson's wharf. The numbers of the two revolvers were given but the firm was unable to give the police any clew.

Civil Trial List.

The following cases are marked for trial at the civil session of the District Court next Tuesday:

179—Reade vs. Friguglietti.
189—Heyer et al vs. McGovern.
190—Wright & Ditson Corporation vs. McGovern.
32—Stuart vs. Wiley, Jr., & tr.
100—Cresto vs. Titus.
101—Cresto vs. Titus.

Will Camp in August.

Co. K will probably go into camp early in August. At a conference of Adjutant General Dalton and the Militia officers on Thursday a proposition was made that the Second Brigade should go into camp first in the early part of August, to which a demurrer was offered that the Fifth and the Eighth had just got out of the United States service and that neither was equipped. Upon the statement from the Quartermaster General that it was his expectation to equip the entire militia by July 1, no objection was made on the part of the Second Brigade and while no matters were definitely settled at the adjournment of the meeting, it was provisionally agreed that the Second Brigade should go to Framingham first on or about the 5th of August for the week's camp to the 12th, while the First Brigade will take the last week in August practically or make its camp for some week between the 20th and 30th of August.

Norfolk Lodge.

Norfolk Downs hall was filled to its utmost capacity Wednesday evening, it being the fifth anniversary of the A. O. U. W., No. 178. A first class concert was given the first part of the evening, including speeches by A. G. Andrews, P. G. M. W., and John C. Bickford S. F., which were both very interesting. The artists were: James Smith, cornet soloist; Ella A. Horton, piano solo; W. H. Daley, Miss Catherine Dacey and Master Andrew Todd, vocal numbers; John Crowne, recitals; Joseph A. Vincent, violin; C. W. Page and C. L. Sanborn, duet; and the orchestra. A collation was afterwards served in the upper hall. Dancing was then enjoyed until 2 A. M. Robinson's orchestra furnished music.

Children's Outing.

It generally makes one happy to give pleasure to the children, and a Brockton idea which has proved a success might well be copied. The Enterprise says, "The Woman's Educational Union has begun to talk about the annual excursion of the children to Nantasket. For several years the union has made this trip a part of its regular business and pleasure, and there is nothing else that has given it the popularity that this has done. Some of the boys who went on the first excursion are now young men for themselves, but they have not forgotten the good times which they enjoyed as children, with members of the union as chaperons. The ladies hope to be able to take a large crowd of children this year as in the past and all the children hope to be included in the party."

Talk on Music.

The Eutopian Society holds its last meeting for this season on Monday evening, May 15, in the vestry of the Baptist church, Wollaston. Mr. Louis C. Stanton of Newton will give a talk on music, illustrated with selections for piano and violin, in which he will have the assistance of Miss Adelaide Thomas, violinist. This society is not sectarian, as many have supposed, but is designed for the advancement of the young people of Wollaston and vicinity, without regard to their church connections, and it is hoped that a generous number will accept the invitation, which the society extends to all interested, to become its guests on this occasion. The hour is 8 o'clock.

Tragedy of Macbeth.

The lecture under the auspices of the Teachers' Association at the High school hall Thursday evening was by Henry A. Clapp on "The Tragedy of Macbeth." The speaker condensed his two lectures on the subject into one, and for an hour and a half held the closest attention of his hearers. His interpretation of the character of Macbeth and Lady Macbeth, as to what influenced them in their action and results was very fine. He saw no hope for Macbeth but saw some signs of contrition for Lady Macbeth. He emphasized the difference between remorse and contrition, classing the latter as a higher stage of development. There was a fair attendance at the lecture, including several teachers from Hingham.

Smith Was Second.

Over fifty were entered in the golf tournament of the Country club at Brookline, Thursday, and a Boston paper says, probably no stronger representation of Massachusetts golfers ever gathered at one particular place. Wollaston players showed up well, Mr. T. T. H. Smith being second in both the gross and the net score.

The best gross score was 88 and the best net 84. The Wollaston men scored as follows:

	Gross.	Net.
T. T. H. Smith,	90	85
R. R. Freeman,	94	86
W. U. Swan,	97	89
E. C. Tarbell,	108	93

HERE AND THERE.

Local Brevities of the City of Presidents.

Mrs. Forschner of Madison street has a new Columbia bicycle.

The City Council Committee on Public Buildings meets tonight.

Nature appears brighter today because of the shower of Thursday.

Miss Mary Taylor, daughter of Warren Taylor has been quite ill the past week.

Rain has been so uncommon of late that many were caught by the shower on Thursday.

Work was commenced Thursday on the completion of the Brook street section of the sewer.

The Hon. Geo. A. Marden was a guest atthe house of Mr. H. B. Brown, Putnam street' Wednesday night.

Mr. Newell O. Parker of Belmont street has one of the handsomest beds of pinks in Wollaston in his garden.

Mr. Frank Bugbee of Lestershire, New York, is spending a month's vacation at his home in Norfolk Downs.

Mrs. Perry of Saxton River, Vt., formerly Mrs. Dexter of Cross street, is visiting friends in town for a few days.

The new hotel at Adams Shore looms up when viewed from many parts of the city, and therefore must have a sightly location.

Miss Alice Hatch, teacher at the Washington school, who has been at home sick this week, has returned to the school.

It is not perhaps generally known that Mr. Henry C. Rogers has been elected treasurer of the Weymouth Electric Light and Power Co.

Master T. B. Pollard of the Washington school, Quincy Point, takes this afternoon his class, the 8th grade, to visit points of historical interest about Boston.

Some malicious persons entered the granite yard of Berry Bros. on Willard street, Wednesday night, and cut the fall of their derrick and carried off some of the rope.

The gravel train which was derailed Wednesday at Atlantic was employed by Cogan Bros. & Forschner of Atlantic in hauling gravel from Montclair to Crescent Avenue.

Chief of Police Hayden reports that Pyoner, the Finn, who was murderously assaulted last Sunday, and who is now at the City Hospital, is doing well with a fair chance of recovery.

One of the large electrics could not get up the hill at the bridge near the Atlantic station Wednesday evening at 6.30 and had to wait until one of the smaller cars came and pushed it up.

Edward J. Colbert, who was taken with a hemorrhage over a week ago, is improving slowly and will be able to be carried to his home in a few days. He is now in the city hospital, Boston.

Petitions are being circulated at Wollaston requesting the City Council to pass the refunding order. Fear of a $20 tax rate this year is causing some uneasiness among the large property owners.

H. W. Lull, superintendent of Quincy schools, will lead the discussion on "Born Short," at the 64th meeting of the New England Association of School Superintendents today. He is an ex-president and one of the executive committee.

The schooner Hattie Mayo of Portland, Me., while attempting to leave Johnson's lumber wharf Wednesday night, got aground in Town river and ran onto a small island. She waits for high tide or the assistance of a tug to pull her off.

Unity Club.

At the meeting of the Wollaston Unity Club this evening papers on "Education," and "Home Life and Social Distinctions in Italy" will be read by Miss Small and Mr. Harry Porter, both of Quincy. Mr. C. N. Allen of Boston will give a talk on the violin industry of Italy, and violin and vocal music will vary the programme. This will be the last meeting of the season.

☞ Furniture and Pianos moved. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

TODAY'S COURT.

The continued case of Ann Buckley for assault on Mary L. Donaher at Quincy was heard. Mrs. Donaher went to the Buckley residence for a ball belonging to her boy. Ann claimed that Mary called her a liar. Mary denied the charge and claimed Ann hit her over the head with a coal shovel. The court said Ann was not guilty and ordered her discharge.

REPORTED.

Ways and Means Committee Favor Boulevards.

No Reduction or Change in the Bills.

And Report to Legislature is Unanimous.

[Special to the Ledger.]

The following dispatch was received from Representative Sheppard at 2.30 this afternoon.

The Ways and Means Committee has just reported both the park and boulevard bills without any change in amounts—$500,000 and $300,000.

The report was unanimous.

The boulevard bill contains provisions for the Quincy boulevard, which is likely to be built if it can be done within the estimate.

MILTON.

Gray and Staples, the two young men who disappeared from East Milton six weeks ago, returned home Wednesday. They say that when they left home they walked to Skowhegan, Me., from which place they went to Bangor and other Maine cities, bringing up in Portland on Tuesday. That night they stole a ride on a freight train and arrived in Boston early Wednesday morning, and then walked home. During the last five days they claim to have walked 210 miles and were weary and footsore when they reached Milton. What they did for grub on the trip they have not told.

The Union club of East Milton and the Enterprise club of Milton Centre, have arranged for a series of three games of ball for a silver cup. The first game will be played Saturday at the park.

The marriage of Mr. George Barry and Miss Josie Gallagher is announced for early in June.

There has been some shake up in the police department by the Selectmen. Edward M. Connors has been dropped from the force. John H. Tucker, driver of the patrol wagon, goes on duty nights in Connor's place, and John Shields has been appointed driver of the patrol wagon.

Walter Bates has moved into the old post-office building on Granite avenue.

Burns, the plumber, has moved his family back to Wollaston.

James McGue of Granite avenue is quite ill with the grip.

Eugene Gray is the new engineer of the steam roller.

After Capt. Slocum.

The Quincy Yacht club has opened negotiations with Capt. Joshua Slocum of yacht "Spray" fame of New York, and is endeavoring to persuade him to come over to Boston and incidentally to Quincy and address the members at the smoke talk, June 7. It will be recollected that Capt. Slocum sailed from Boston alone in the yacht "Spray," a small yaul rigged vessel, in the spring of '95, for a voyage around the world. He circumnavigated the globe in a couple of months over three years, arriving off the New England coast in June '98. His longest run was from Cape Sable to Gibralta, which was made in 29 days. One run of 1200 miles was made in 8 days. From Boston to Sidney, Australia, his little craft logged on an average of 100 knots a day. He made the run from the Cape of Good Hope to the West Indies in four and one-half days. During his voyage he had countless adventures and hairbreadth escapes. He is a fine conversationalist, and as he spins his yarns in his quiet, sailor-like fashion, they make a series of adventures exceeding anything Clark Russell ever wrote. It is extremely doubtful if the club can coax him over from New York, but if it does, the members will have a rare treat.

☞ The force of custom is indeed great. Christ himself seldom used a text. His talks were generally on practical subjects of everyday life. It would seem that this ought to be sufficient for those who stickle for precedent. But because preachers for some hundreds of years have used texts, it is a mild form of heresy to go without.—Kansas City Journal.

WILLIAMS,
104 Hancock St., Quincy.

A NEIGHBORLY NEIGHBOR.

Who Probably Wishes He Didn't Have Any Neighbors.

Mr. Goodheart (a suburban resident)—Good morning! What can I do for you this bright and beautiful spring morning?

First Neighbor—I noticed you hadn't begun making garden yet, and I thought I'd just step over and borrow your spade.

Mr. Goodheart—Certainly—certainly. Here it is. Good day.

Second Neighbor—How do, Mr. Goodheart? Will you let me have your hoe for a few minutes?

Mr. Goodheart—Y-e-s. Certainly.

Third Neighbor—Good morning. I see Mr. Spinks has your spade and Mr. Pinks just passed me with your hoe, and, as you can't do anything with a rake and hoe to break ground, I concluded I might just as well drop in and borrow your rake. Thanks.

Fourth Neighbor—I see you are not making any use of your wheelbarrow, and—

Mr. Goodheart—I will need the wheelbarrow the moment I begin making garden.

Neighbor—Oh, yes, of course. But you can't make garden without a spade and hoe and rake, you know, and I'll rush back with the wheelbarrow quick as I see the spade coming back. Thanks.

Mr. Goodheart—Now don't forget that I shall need this wheelbarrow just as soon as Mr. Spinks comes back with my spade.

Fourth Neighbor—Oh, I'll have plenty of time to get through with the barrow! Spinks told me he'd be busy with your spade for a month.—New York Weekly.

"Folks never knows w'en dey 's well off," said the old colored citizen. "I was walkin in de bresh wid Br'er Williams yestiddy en what you reckon come ter pass?"

"Dunno!"

"A rattlesnake springed his rattle right at us, en Br'er Williams wuz so confuse he didn't know which way ter jump—so he jumped squar' in de river, into de mouth er a ten foot alligator!"

"En what did you do?"

"Who—me?"

"Yes."

"I jumped in de river, too, but de alligator didn't bother me, kaze he had all he could do ter swaller Br'er Williams. Wid him hit wuz 'fust come, fust served!'"—Atlanta Constitution.

Conditionally In Favor of It.

"You entirely misjudge me," said the street railway manager. "I am not opposed to municipal ownership."

"You're not?" they exclaimed.

"Certainly not. Indeed I may say I am heartily in favor of it conditionally."

"What do you mean by conditionally?"

"Why, I am in favor of it if the municipality will buy me out at my own figures."—Chicago Post.

Mixed Feelings.

"How did you feel when they read your letters in court?" asked the friend whose intimacy was great enough to warrant impudence.

"Well," said the young man who had just emerged from a breach of promise suit, "I was divided between chagrin at the asininity of the ideas and admiration for the literary style."—Indianapolis Journal.

Expert Opinion.

Student—These college authorities are idiotic. They want to know whether they should drop Latin and Greek from the course.

Debate May Be Warm.

"What! You have taken to practicing fencing?"

"Yes; you see, I've been appointed to take part in the discussion at the universal disarmament conference at The Hague, and—well, it is impossible to tell, of course, just what may happen."—Chicago Record.

In Doubt.

"What is that bit of furniture to which you cling so closely?" asked the tourist.

"I don't know exactly," answered the Samoan. "I'll have to wait till this trouble is over to be sure whether it is a scepter or a piece of kindling wood."—Washington Star.

The Unpleasant Feature.

"I don't mind digging up your flower beds, Harriet."

"Well, what is it you are making such a fuss about?"

"I don't like your standing around bossing me."—Chicago Record.

Friendly Assistance.

"Can I help you to anything?" asked Boarder No. 6.

"Yes," replied the newcomer at the foot of the table. "You might give me a clue to this hash."—Philadelphia North American.

An Interesting Address by General Wheeler at the Confederate Reunion.

Charleston, May 12.—The Confederate veterans held but one session yesterday, which shortly after noon gave way to the Winnie Davis memorial exercises, at the conclusion of which an adjournment until today was taken. The announcement that General Joseph Wheeler was to speak filled the Auditorium, and the hero of two wars was given a rousing reception by the immense audience. His speech, in part, follows:

"The history of our country, when compared with that of all the eras that have preceded us, shows that our civilization has produced the highest class of men and the noblest type of soldiers. Defeat but exasperates, adding desperation to vigor and energy to determined resolve. It was the teaching of fathers and mothers who fled from the oppression of caste and class, braved the unfathomed ocean and landed upon these shores, confronted by wild beasts and savage Indians that the highest honor and greatest privilege was to fight for country, its safety and its honor. If the people of the north excel in some qualities, it is also true that those of the south excel in others. It has been said that tenacity of purpose, thrift and perseverance predominated in the northern character. This may probably be so, but it also is true that other characteristics are more noticeable among the people of the south."

General Wheeler declared that the military history of the southern people has been a prominent feature in history from the first settlement of this country. He cited Washington and the other southern commanders of the Revolution, Winfield Scott and Andrew Jackson and the other heroes of the war with Mexico, and then passing to the war between the states, he said:

"In the greatest battles of the Civil war, you contended with men of endurance, fortitude and courage; men with the same birthright of freedom, imbued with the same spirit of liberty; men who were as conscientiously contending for what they deemed the right of the federal government, as you for what you just as firmly held to be your rights. It was a war fought to settle questions that for more than half a century had been matters of the most earnest, and I might say bitter contentions, increasing in intensity, until an appeal to the God of Battles was rendered inevitable so that no arbitrament save that of the sword was possible. When the south yielded, it was to the unlimited resources of the federal government.

"The armies of the south laid down their arms, but not one iota of their belief in the truth and justice of their cause did they surrender. With energy and determination they met the new problems confronting them. Above the carnage, above the wail of widows and the cry of orphans, above the desolated homes, above the fields overgrown with new forests, there arose a new civilization and a new union, one niche in whose temple holds a figure whose name shall be honored throughout the ages. Lee, whose matchless skill, whose soldierly spirit, whose wonderful endurance, was only equalled by the grandeur of soil which accepted the fiat of war, lived out to its full close, the noblest life recorded in all history for the admiration of posterity. The lifetime of a generation has softened the memories of that conflict, and side by side, both north and south have stood together in battle against a foreign foe."

General Wheeler touched upon the question of expansion by declaring that southern soldiers and southern statesmen had ever taken a prominent part in all movements looking to the enlargement of our territory. "History for all time," he said, "will record that it was under southern presidents that we have wrested from the wild Indians the greater part of the 822,388 square miles which lay between our thin lines of settlement on the ocean and the Mississippi river; and under southern presidents that we have added to this domain an area nine times as great as the present area of the 13 original states. It is a matter in which the southern people may well take pride that during all the great progress and advancement of our country, including the armed contest of last year, and which I am glad to say now appears to be happily ended, no section of our land has been more devoted to the cause of our country and to upholding its honor and prestige than the people of the southern states.

"The position in which the American people find themselves today was not sought by them, but is the logical result of conditions thrust upon the country by a course of events beyond our control. If it be said they were foreseen and predicted, it must also be admitted that no power in our grasp could have stayed the tide, and now we stand before the gaze of civilization confronted by grave responsibilities. The supreme test of American institutions is involved, and the American system of government is on trial.

"If there be any who contend that we should not permit the island of Cuba to become a part of the United States, and the people, if they desire it, to enjoy all the rights of American citizenship, I have only to point to the official declarations of our great statesmen, commencing with Thomas Jefferson and running through almost the entire period of the first half of this century. During that period our honored statesmen and presidents, from Jefferson to Buchanan, laid down in their messages and state documents the imperative necessity of making the pearl of the Antilles a part of the United States."

General Stephen D. Lee's resolution accepting President McKinley's suggestion that the federal government should assume the care of the Confederate graves is now in the hands of the committee on resolutions.

ORIGINATE IN HATE.

Bishop Hood Thinks Peculiar Politics Is at the Bottom of Southern Lynchings.

New York, May 12.—At the Afro-American M. E. conference, in session here yesterday, Right Rev. J. W. Hood, D. D., presiding bishop of the New York annual conference, delivered the annual address, taking as his subject, "The State of the Country." In the course of his remarks, the bishop referred to the recent lynchings in the south. He said:

"I boldly assert that these outrages originate in the deep-seated race hatred in the communities where they occur. If there are black men so beastly as to be guilty of the horrid crime of which they often charged, that is no excuse for the lynching, because in any clear case against the black man punishment is certain and swift by legal process. There are no vexatious delays in his case. I am entirely satisfied that some have been legally put to death who were innocent of the crime. If the negro escapes he must prove himself innocent beyond the shadow of a doubt. I am entirely satisfied that in some cases the crime charged had no foundation in fact, but was made up for the purpose of justifying the race hate.

"A peculiar kind of politics is at the bottom of nearly all these outrages—politics which has for its purpose the denial to the black man of the civil and political rights which are enjoyed by others. In most cases the pretense that there is any other cause for them is a sham, a deception, a fraud."

Henderson and the Speakership.

Chicago, May 12.—Congressman Henderson, Iowa's candidate for the speakership, passed through Chicago yesterday. He said: "I have announced that I am a candidate for Speaker Reed's place, and I am encouraged by my prospects of success. The situation may be summed up as the south and west against the east. A western man will be chosen for speaker unless all signs fail."

QUAY'S LATEST MOVE.

Supports Bingham For Speaker In Order to Injure Dalzell.

Business Men's League Takes a Whack at the Boss.

Asked to Make Good His Boast of Readiness to Go Before the People.

Philadelphia, May 12.—A dispatch from Washington says that Senator Quay has made a characteristic move in the speakership contest, by having General H. H. Bingham of Philadelphia announce himself as the Pennsylvania candidate, not with any expectation that General Bingham will be elected, but to satisfy the demand of many Pennsylvania Republicans for a Pennsylvania candidate, and at the same time shut out Representative Dalzell, who is supported by the anti-Quay Republicans. General Bingham's candidacy will not interfere with that of Representative Sherman of New York, the only eastern candidate with any hope of election.

It is also stated that Senator Quay wants Representative Dalzell left off the committee on rules, to which he was appointed by Speaker Reed because of the latter's personal friendship for him. However, he may agree to give up this point if Representative Dalzell agrees to support General Bingham as the Pennsylvania candidate for the speakership, in spite of the fact that, as a member of the committee on rules and as a member of the committee on ways and means, Representative Dalzell has been much more prominent in the house than has General Bingham.

The Business Men's Republican league of Pennsylvania, which organization last fall put forth special efforts throughout the state to secure the election of anti-Quay candidates to the legislature, last night issued an address to the people of the state "congratulating them upon the progress made by the forces of good government during the past year."

The address says the majority of the members elected to the general assembly, for the first time in nearly a score of years, was anti-Quay and repudiated Mr. Quay, "the head and front of that corrupt and vicious political system that so long has been a reproach to the state."

This anti-Quay body, the address says, exposed and defeated all forms of machine-conceived corruption and legislative jobbery. Continuing, the address says that "the appalling chapter of crime, as developed by the legislative investigating committee, showing a far-reaching conspiracy to corrupt and bribe members of the legislature to vote for Mr. Quay for United States senator, should alone deprive from his support every self-respecting voter of the state."

The principal state officer to be chosen at the November election is state treasurer, nominations for which office will be made at the approaching party conventions, and the league's address, in concluding, takes up this topic as follows:

"The control of the state treasury, which has been the fountain head of corruption in the past, is not less important now, though the passage of the anti-Quay interest bills compels the payment of interest on state deposits.

"The Business Men's league has never placed in the field a candidate for any office and desires only that proper men be nominated. It is an organization of Republicans who wish to prevent party disruption and disaster, with the conviction that nothing but heroic action will save the party from ultimate state and national disgrace and defeat. For the purpose of settling this controversy before the presidential contest of 1900, we would make the following suggestion as a means of terminating the strife within the Republican ranks:

"Let Mr. Quay himself become the machine's candidate for state treasurer at the ensuing election. Mr. Quay has boasted of his readiness to go to the people for vindication. He, as state treasurer, inaugurated and fostered the system of 'personal profit by the use of public moneys,' which has been an important issue in this contest. He represents, in every sense, the evils against which self-respecting Republicans have revolted; he is the source and incarnation of the evils of the system which bears his name. Let him thus make the issue distinct and direct—leaving the final decision to the people. If Mr. Quay fears to submit his candidacy to the people and, in the face of his repudiation by their representatives, insists upon claiming a seat in the United States senate, through the unlawful act of a subservient governor, he will intensify and prolong the contest until he is repudiated by a future legislature, and precipitates disaster and defeat upon the other candidates who bear the stamp of his machine."

Wireless Telegraphy Yet In Infancy.

Washington, May 12.—General Greely yesterday made the first authoritative statement as to the progress making in the development of wireless telegraphy under the auspices of the United States signal corps. The important conclusion is reached by General Greely that the wireless system is not likely to supplant the ordinary method of telegraphic communication. The results so far obtained have been uncertain.

Villagers Turned Out.

Hollis, N. H., May 12.—The dwelling house of Joseph Mayo was burned yesterday and the flames spread to a large cooper shop and several residences, which were partially destroyed. The whole village population turned out as a bucket brigade and did effective work in saving property.

New Hampshire's War Expenses.

Washington, May 12.—The secretary of the treasury has issued a warrant to the governor of New Hampshire for $28,358 to reimburse the state for expenses in raising troops for the war with Spain.

Bound to Kill Herself.

Providence, May 12.—Celeste McKenney, 58 years of age, the wife of Harrison C. McKenney, a lawyer, got into a bathtub full of water and while drowning shot herself behind the right ear with a 32-calibre bullet. She had been ill with a seemingly incurable disease for some time, and while she had made no direct threats to kill herself, has remarked that when a person reached her age and was sick the greater part of the time they had a right to take their own life.

Will Not Be Candidate For Governor.

Boston, May 12.—Attorney General Knowlton is not to be a candidate for governor this year after all. His announcement is the sensation of the day in political circles. It was made through the letters given out publicly through the press, one of them being addressed to the Republican voters of Massachusetts and the other to Lieutenant Governor Crane.

Tried Hard to Get Away.

Webster, Mass., May 12.—Emma Nelson of Providence was arrested here yesterday. She had jumped her bond of $1000, and when pursued by the officers here she jumped into a river. She was secured and turned over to her bondsmen, who took her to Providence. The charge against her is keeping a disorderly house.

Students on the Rostrum.

Hanover, N. H., May 12.—The debaters of Dartmouth won the fourth annual debate with Williams last night, having the affirmative side of the question: "Resolved, that the present tendencies of labor unions in Great Britain and the United States are detrimental to industry and dangerous to individual liberty."

Public Business Tabooed.

Hot Springs, Va., May 12.—President McKinley ventured from his apartments and the porches on each side of them only twice yesterday, except for his bath. Each time he went for a short walk with Secretary Gage about the grounds. The president gave little attention to public business. He has many of the daily newspapers from all sections sent to him, and these he reads assiduously. He did not leave his rooms after dinner last night.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—4:25; sets, 6:50.
Moon sets—10:42 p. m.
High water—1:30 a. m.; 2 p. m.

The low barometer area which covered the central valleys and the lake regions has moved eastward off the Atlantic coast, attended by showers and followed by clearing weather. The indications are that a northwest storm will move rapidly east. By tomorrow the rain area will probably extend over the Atlantic coast states.

DRINK GRAIN-O

after you have concluded that you ought not to drink coffee. It is not a medicine but doctors order it, because it is healthful, invigorating and appetizing. It is made from pure grains and has that rich seal brown color and tastes like the finest grades of coffee and costs about 1-4 as much. Children like it and thrive on it because it is a genuine food drink containing nothing but nourishment. Ask your grocer for Grain-O, the new food drink. 15 and 25c.

Dogs Must Be Licensed

ON OR BEFORE APRIL 30th,

Or the Owners or Keepers Thereof are

LIABLE TO A FINE

CITY OF QUINCY.

[Extracts from the Laws of this Commonwealth.]

Every owner or keeper of a dog of three months old or over, shall annually on or before the THIRTIETH DAY OF APRIL, cause it to be REGISTERED, NUMBERED, DESCRIBED and LICENSED for one year from the first day of the ensuing May, in the office of the Clerk of the city or town wherein said dog is kept, and shall cause it to wear around its neck a collar distinctly marked with the owner's name and its registered number.

Any owner of a dog may at any time have it licensed until the first day of the ensuing May; and a person becoming the owner or keeper of a dog after the first day of May, not duly licensed, shall cause it to be registered, numbered, described and licensed as provided in the preceding section.

The FEE for every license shall be TWO DOLLARS for a Male dog and FIVE DOLLARS for a Female dog.

Whoever keeps a dog contrary to the provisions of this chapter shall forfeit FIFTEEN DOLLARS, five dollars of which shall be paid to the complainant and ten dollars to the treasurer of the county in which the dog is kept.

Every owner or keeper of dogs kept for breeding purposes may receive annually a special license authorizing him to keep such dogs upon the premises described in such license. When the number of dogs so kept does not exceed five, the fee for such license shall be TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS; when the number of dogs so kept exceeds five, the fee shall be FIFTY DOLLARS, and no fee shall be required for the dogs of such owner or keeper under the age of six months.

Any owner or keeper of a dog not duly licensed, which becomes three months old after the thirtieth day of April in any year, shall, whenever it is three months old, cause it to be registered, numbered, described and licensed until the first day of the ensuing May, as provided in Section 80 of Chapter 102 of the Public Statutes, and shall cause is to wear around its neck a collar distinctly marked with its owner's name and its registered number.

Unity Club.

At the regular meeting of the Unity club which was held at the vestry of the Wollaston Unitarian church last evening these officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year.

President,—Charles E. Finch, Jr.

Vice Presidents,—George H. Collyer and Mrs. Alma Faunce Smith.

Secretary and Treasurer, — Miss Marion Sherman.

Executive Committee,—Frederick H. Bishop, Dr. W. G. Curtis and Mrs. Wilson Marsh.

The report of Mr. Clifton Baker, the retiring secretary and treasurer and the sixth annual of the club, showed that the total paid membership of the club was 164; average attendance, 76; largest attendance 149; and total attendance 1,144. The finances were in good shape and a balance in the treasury.

The report of Mr. Avery Bennett, the librarian, was read and adopted.

The amendment to see if the club would change the night of the regular meeting from Friday to Wednesday was defeated by 45 to 16. The evening's programme was in charge of Mrs. Alma Faunce Smith.

Miss Small of the Woodward Institute read a paper on "Italian Education." Miss Small related the adventures which befell her in her quest of information regarding Italian education, and how, finally after pouring through, numerous ponderous volumes she secured the desired information from Dr. Brignatti, the Italian consul at Boston.

Mr. Henry W. Porter of the High school spoke upon the "social distinctions" of Italy.

Mr. C. N. Allen of Boston delivered a scholarly address on violins and violin making. The instrument upon which he illustrated his remarks and also upon which he usually plays was over 200 years old and valued at $2,500.

The musical programme: Allegro from Sonata in D for violin and piano —Beethoven, Mr. Allen and Mrs. Smith.

Song with violin obligato, "For all Eternity" — Mascheroni, Miss Sarah M. Hall.

"May Morning"—Denza, Miss Hall.

To Raise Church Debt.

The Methodist church of Atlantic is starting in to raise its debt of $2,100. The plan adopted in principle is old but in the method of carrying it out is quite new. Three sets of dime cards are issued; each card contains four dime holes. The first series are numbered 2; the second, 3; the third and last 4. Each person receives one card of No. 2, four cards of No. 3, and sixteen cards of No. 4. To their friends they give one card of No. 3 and four cards of No. 4. This person redistributes the cards No. 4, which ends the soliciting. Full instructions is printed on each card.

It would seem that such a plan could not help but be productive for no one in Quincy who is at all public spirited and would like to see our institutions prosper will refuse to give a dime. Then again the series is not limitless like the endless chain arrangement.

So each one seeing the end of the series from the beginning will endeavor not to let it lapse. Besides no letters are to be written.

W. Y. C. Events.

The regatta committee of the Wollaston Yacht club have made up the following club events for the season of 1899:

BRAINTREE CLUB.

The last meetings of the Literary club for the season were combined in one and held at the house of Mr. Ewart, on Mount Vernon avenue, Monday evening. The quotations were from "Henry Fourth" and "A Mid-Summer Night's Dream."

The first paper of the evening was upon "Ancient Tapestries" by Dr. Charlotte E. Page. In her absence this paper was read by Miss Josephine Norris. The paper on "The Influence of Machinery upon the Textile World," was not given on account of her absence.

"Machinery and methods employed," was given by Mr. J. W. West. The third paper was a comparison of American and European Journalism by Mrs. F. W. Crooker.

In the second the reading of the play, "A School for Scandal," was concluded.

The business meeting followed and the committee on nominations reported and the secretary was instructed to cast a ballot electing the following named officers for the coming year:

President,—Otis B. Oakman.

Vice President,—Albert E. Avery.

Secretary,—Miss Josephine Norris.

Board of Instruction,—John W. West, chairman, Joseph A. Ewart, Oscar Gallagher, Mrs. F. W. Crooker and Miss Celia Stacy.

A letter was read from Mr. E. E. Abercrombie, thanking club for its kindness in continuing him so long as its president, and wishing success to his successor and the club. A letter from Miss Sarah Arnold of Boston was also read. Miss Grace Ward was admitted to membership.

A vote of thanks was extended to the officers of the club for the highly satisfactory programme which has been carried out.

The financial report which was read by Miss Norris showed a balance in the treasury.

A communication was read by Mr. Ewart from Prof. Clayton of the Blue Hill observatory, and arrangements are being made to have the annual outing of the club at Blue Hill, at such time as Mr. Clayton may notify that the kites are to be flying.

TRAINS IN COLLISION.

Number of Persons Killed Estimated at From Fifteen to Twenty.

Extra Crashed Into an Express at Exeter,

Many Passengers In Cars Which Were Telescoped Were Terribly Mangled.

Reading, Pa., May 13.—Shortly before 10 o'clock last night a collision of passenger trains occurred on the Philadelphia and Reading at Exeter station, six miles below Reading. The express train, which should have left here at 3:30 p. m. for Philadelphia, was behind schedule time in leaving and stopped at Exeter for orders. A special train from Harrisburg bearing excursionists who had attended the Hartranft monument unveiling at the capitol left here 20 minutes later than the express train, and at Exeter, while proceeding at a rapid speed, crashed into the express. Several cars of the express train were wrecked and from 15 to 20 persons are reported killed. The number of injured will reach 50.

The regular express train from Pottsville for Philadelphia connected at the station in Reading with a train from Harrisburg, which was crowded with excursionists who had been to the state capital to witness the ceremonies in connection with the unveiling of the Hartranft monument.

Many of the Harrisburg passengers at Reading went aboard the Philadelphia express, but it being found that all could not be accommodated, it was decided to send an extra train to Philadelphia to run as the second section of the express. The extra train left 20 minutes later than the express.

At Exeter the express stopped for orders, and while standing still the extra train crashed into it while moving at great speed. Three of the rear cars of the express were telescoped and the first car of the extra train was also wrecked.

The passengers in these cars were terribly mangled, many being killed outright, while others had limbs and bodies maimed.

Word was at once sent to Reading and a special train with physicians and nurses was sent to the scene as quickly as it could possibly be put in readiness.

The second relief train left Exeter at 2:50 a. m. It brought to Reading 20 additional bodies. Most of the seriously injured were brought here on the first relief train. The rest of the injured were taken to Pottstown and Morristown.

The northbound train has been cleared and the first train through to this city from Philadelphia was the Buffalo express, which left Philadelphia at 11:36 p. m.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, May 13.—In accordance with the order passed Thursday, the house began its session at 10 o'clock—sitting until 1. It came in again at 2 prepared to sit until 5, unless a motion to adjourn should bring relief.

After a protracted discussion, the house passed to a third reading the bill to extend the veterans' preference act to Spanish war soldiers. Mr. Marden secured an mendment giving the veterans of '61 first preference. Several vigorous speeches for and against the bill were made.

The bills for parkways and general park expenses, reported by the metropolitan affairs committee some weeks ago, were sent in with the endorsement of the ways and means committee. They call for total expenditures of $800,000.

The bill to require railroad companies to equip their cars with platform gates was passed to be engrossed. Three bills to amend the employers' liability law were rejected one after the other without debate.

The bill for the appointment of a commission to equalize the salaries of state and county officials was rejected without a division.

The house rejected the bill to abolish the contract system on public works.

In the senate, passage to third reading of the Cape Cod canal bill was lost by a vote of 16 to 17.

A bill was reported extending the time for the construction of the Millbury, Sutton and Douglass railroad to Oct. 1, 1900.

Senator Parsons introduced a resolve to amend the resolve already passed for a practice school at the Westfield normal school.

Senator Whittlesey moved to reconsider the engrossment of the bill to exempt trade unions from the fraternal beneficiary law, and had the motion tabled to await action on the bill to amend that law, now in the house.

Bills to incorporate the Berkshire and Canaan Street Railway company, and in favor of the Widow of House Messenger Joseph Cameron, were engrossed.

Harvard Beats Yale In Debate.

Cambridge, Mass., May 13.—After a series of three defeats, Harvard retrieved her position in debate by a victory over Yale in the contest held in Sanders' theater last evening. The debate was closely contested and the judges were absent from the room 40 minutes before coming to a decision. The greatest excitement prevailed when, after explaining the difficulties that beset the judges in making up their minds, Professor Gardner of Brown university announced the result. Cheers for Harvard and for Yale were given with great enthusiasm. Harvard had the affirmative of the question: "Resolved, that the present method of electing United States senators is preferable to a method of election by popular vote."

Adulteration of Honey.

Chicago, May 13.—The senatorial committee on pure food investigation devoted most of yesterday to the subject of honey, and it was shown by expert testimony that not only was glucose used to a great extent for adulterating this article of food, but that jobbers were using fraudulent methods in handling the trade for honey substitutes. It was also shown that glucose was not necessarily deleterious to health when used as an adulterant.

"WHAT SHALL WE DO FOR DEWEY?"

New York Times Suggests a Plan Whereby the Whole Nation May Honor Him.

New York, May 13.—The New York Times, in an editorial entitled, "What Shall We Do For Dewey," says in part: It is quite true that, according to our precedents, we have not been niggardly in recognition of the great services of "Commodore" Dewey, as he was a year ago. But there is a persistent and prevailing feeling that we ought to do more; that the American nation in some unofficial and spontaneous way should recognize the services of Dewey as the British nation recognized the service of Wellington when it presented him with the estate Strathfieldsay.

Evidently it will not do to exclude from the national testimonial to the admiral any American citizen who desires to bear his part in it. Why not appeal directly to the public through its immediate organs and agents, the newspapers? There are some 20,000 periodicals in the United States. Among them are 2119 daily papers, which represent the sentiment of the United States. Let us assume that only one-fourth part of these are in a position to act as collecting and distributing agents for a national Dewey testimonial, and that each one of these 500 is willing to pledge itself to the collection from its readers, and the transmission to the appointed trustees, of the sum of $500 for that fund. The aggregate of these subscriptions would be $250,000. Half of this should go to the erection of a residence for the admiral in whatever place in the United States he might prefer to put it, and the other half for his personal use.

We believe that more than the number of periodicals we have named would be eager to be included in the project. There is no reason why the aggregate should not be correspondingly increased. This would be truly a national and popular subscription. The admiral would not be at liberty to refuse it, since it would not be the creation of an obligation on his part, but only the recognition of an obligation on the part of the nation. He would not be able to refuse it if the whole amount were deposited, as it could and should be deposited, subject to his order, before his arrival upon his native shores.

The President of the United States, the secretary of state and the secretary of the treasury would be appropriate custodians of the fund, and their willingness to assume its custody may be taken for granted.

As to Deweys Health.

New York, May 13.—The secretary of the board of trade and transportation, who, on behalf of that organization, had extended an invitation to Admiral Dewey to attend a dinner to be given in his honor at any date that the admiral might select, has received a cablegram from Admiral Dewey, dated Manila, in which he declares it impossible to accept the invitation, adding: "Condition of health necessitates rest and quiet."

Chicago, May 13.—Judging from the wording of a cablegram received from Admiral Dewey by the Illinois Manufacturers' association, the health of the admiral, despite medical assurance to the contrary, is none of the best. The message is as follows:

"Many thanks. Impossible to accept invitation now. Condition of health necessitates rest and quiet."

The cablegram was in reply to one sent by the association asking the admiral to become its guest upon his return to this country and urging strongly upon him the advisability of coming by way of San Francisco and across the continent.

Strike at Lawrence.

Lawrence, Mass., May 13.—Nearly 300 girls employed in the mending room of the Washington mills quit work yesterday on account of dissatisfaction with the wages paid them. Until a few months ago the girls averaged from $7 to $9 per week. Now their wages range from $4 to $6. The girls are employed to repair defects in the finished cloth. They are paid a uniform price of 25 cents per piece for all classes of work. The pieces average 51 yards in length. Lately the girls have been getting a line of work which consists largely of heavy cheviots. The cloth contains more defects than any other kind, consequently the girls have been unable to earn as much money as formerly. Another reason alleged is that owing to the employment of incompetent and inexperienced foreigners in other departments of the mills defects are numerous.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

John F. Zebley, investment bond broker, New York, has filed a petition in bankruptcy. The total liabilities are $717,689, of which there is nominally secured $391,328.

A scaffolding at the Lancaster mills at Clinton, Mass., gave way and Patrick O'Malley and Michael Kerrigan were badly injured. Three others were also somewhat injured.

Charles Stearns, aged 80, a retired cotton planter and a well-known abolitionist, died at Hyde Park, Mass.

The Boston, Revere Beach and Lynn railroad will make an all-round reduction of fares on its lines, equalling 50 percent, so that the prevailing rate will be 1 percent per mile. The cut is made to meet competition of the electric lines.

General Viscount Kawakami, chief of the headquarters staff of the imperial army of Japan, is dead. General Kawakami rendered his country brilliant services during the Chino-Japanese war as vice chief of the headquarters staff. He was regarded as one of the most famous soldiers of his time.

The statement is authoritatively made that Vice President Hobart expects to leave Washington for Long Branch, N. J., during the last week in May. He continues to improve.

State Auditor Kimball of Massachusetts has issued a card declaring that he shall be a candidate for auditor of accounts at the next Republican state convention.

The large box factory and wood working establishment of F. P. Bartlett & Co. at Westboro, Mass., was partially burned. Loss about $7000.

Acting Secretary Meiklejohn has notified Acting Postmaster General Heath that the war department, under the law, cannot furnish the postoffice department with United States flags for display over the postoffices in Porto Rico. Mr. Heath expresses the hope that sufficient funds for the purpose may be furnished by private enterprise.

A HAIR-RAISING FINISH.

Hub's Fans Got a Scare, but Their Favorites Pulled Out and Won.

Boston, May 13.—Boston administered a second beating to the Orioles, winning out after a hair-raising brush at the finish—7 to 6.

Four errors and nine hits was the record of the champions. The errors were for the most part costly, that of Lowe in the ninth costing two runs and giving the Boston fans a scare that will last in their memory for some time.

Ted Lewis pitched for Boston and did effective work until the ninth inning. In the ninth he was superseded by Victor Willis, who was also effective. But Willis got the wrong end of the decisions on balls over the outside corner of the plate from Gaffney and sent two men to bases on balls. No hits were made from his delivery during the inning which he played.

McKenna was in the points for Baltimore. He has the curves of an old timer, simply terrific in size, and puzzling to the best batsman. For seven innings he had the champions breaking their backs reaching after wide ones which just eluded the bat. In the eighth he seemed to let up a little and allowed three clean, hard hits, though most of those up to this time had been of the scratch variety.

Another Hub Shooting Affray.

Boston, May 13.—A revolver in the hands of an impetuous boy wounded a man who was trying to act as peacemaker in a quarrel in a stable at 41 Stanhope street. The man is now at the city hospital threatened with death. The boy is a prisoner, held to await the result of his impetuosity. The victim is Joseph Kennedy. The prisoner is Thomas A. Drew, 19 years old. The trouble originated between Drew and a driver named Michael Kinch. Drew says that during his scuffle with Kinch, Kennedy struck him a blow on the neck, and that he wheeled about, drew his revolver and fired at Kennedy. After the shooting, young Drew left the stable, put his revolver in his pocket and walked to a restaurant, where he was calmly engaged in eating his dinner when an officer found him.

Trouble Ahead.

Hazleton, Pa., May 13.—If the United Mine Workers attempt to force the non-union men employed at the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company's collieries at Honeybrook and Audenried to join the union the company will order a permanent suspension of work at those places. Announcement to this effect has been officially made. President Duffy of the United Mine Workers of this district had previously notified all miners and laborers employed in the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre company's collieries that after May 19 members of the Mine Workers' organization would not work with men who do not at that time belong to the union.

Opposed to Duty on Hides.

Brockton, Mass., May 13.—The Brockton board of trade held a well attended meeting last night, at which the proposition of asking congress to revoke the tax of 15 percent on hides was presented and vigorously discussed. The movement for a change in the Dingley tariff law in its provisions on hides was started in Boston on Wednesday evening at the dinner of the New England Shoe and Leather association, and it is expected to extend throughout the country.

Roumanians Praying For Rain.

Bucharest, May 13.—On account of the long continued drouth prayers for rain were said in every town and village in Roumania yesterday. At Brailla, the chief port of the country, all business was suspended, and a procession of thousands marched to the fields of dying wheat, where supplications were offered for three hours, ladies, peasants and gypsies kneeling and praying for relief from the merciless heat of the sun.

Still Unsettled.

Buffalo, May 13.—A conference began at 9 p. m. last night at the residence of Bishop Quigley between the committee of 10, of which Bishop Quigley is chairman, representing the striking grain shovellers, and Messrs. Corrigan, Wilson and Douglas, representing the Lake Carriers' association. At 1 o'clock this morning the conference adjourned without having reached a settlement.

Mrs. Siegel Has Just Completed This Alliterative Trio.

Mrs. Henry Siegel, wife of the president of the big New York and Chicago firm of Siegel-Cooper company, graduated from the woman's class in law of the New York university last night. When she married Mr. Siegel, it was said that love and literature had attained a climax in her life, because her first novel, "Juleps and Clover," came from the press just two hours before the wedding. And now it is a combination of love, literature and law. Last night's graduating class included a number of other prominent women of that city.

MRS. HENRY SIEGEL.

It is not thought for a moment that Mrs. Siegel is going to open an office and hang out a sign reading "Marie Vaughan Siegel, Attorney at Law." But she is one of the few women who realized the value of a legal education and demonstrated her realization by taking a course in the women's law class. In the class graduating last night there were 48 women, and but few of them have any intention of practicing. It is thought that Mrs. Siegel may have a line of literary work in view that could be aided with a clear idea of general law. Mrs. Siegel is the daughter of Judge Vaughan, the veteran Illinois jurist, and a cousin of former Governor Campbell of Ohio. She is also related to Cardinal Vaughan. She is well known in New York literary circles, having been a frequent contributor to the leading magazines as Mrs. Marie Vaughan Wilde. She first met Mr. Siegel when he was a reporter on the New York World. They were married in April, 1898.—Chicago Times-Herald.

A Novel Menu.

A clever woman on Capitol hill gave a card party one evening last week, and in the serving of the supper which followed the playing, she achieved a novelty—or at least it was a novelty to me, and it seemed well worth copying. Every guest was given a bill of fare, on which the identity of each dish was concealed by a paraphrase, and was allowed to order what he chose to eat. One man who ordered "Adam's ale" and "Blue points" was served with a glass of water and toothpicks blued at one end. A call for "cold comfort" brought an ice. "A woman's weapon" was, of course, tongue. "Christian charity" was, oddly enough, a ham sandwich, and "sweetbreads" were cakes, while "half and half," being interpreted, was an apple cut in halves. The menu was long enough to afford any amount of fun, and the clever little woman who thought it all up relates her triumph with pardonable pride.—Washington Post.

Ristori's Charm.

Adelaide Ristori, Countess del Grillo, is very fond of society. In spite of her age she is still charming and is full of wit and good stories. She always carries a charm which she believes has protected her against the evil eye. It is a bird's claw set in gold and it has but one rival in her affections. With it she always carries the pen with which, at Ristori's request, Queen Isabella of Spain signed the pardon of a condemned man. The ex-criminal lives in Barcelona and often writes to Ristori, addressing her as "Madre Guardia."

Marriage Portions From the State.

Providing marriage portions for young girls is the object of a government fund in Italy. It would be almost impossible for a girl in that country to be married without a dowry, and this form of charity is said to be most highly appreciated by the recipients. The annual sum subscribed for this purpose and distributed every year is $2,500,000. The recipient has to prove a good character and reputation by many witnesses to show that she has no means available and that the young man who wishes to marry her has a trade.

Lady Salisbury's Gift.

Lady Salisbury, wife of the British prime minister, is a niece of the celebrated Mrs. Opie, and, like her, has remarkable literary gifts. In the days when she and her husband were known in society as Lord and Lady Robert Cecil they were both contributors to The Saturday Review. According to his friends, the present prime minister is singularly lacking in ambition and it is often stated that had it not been for his wife's influence and sympathy he would never have attained his present position.

Mrs. Booth Not Broken Down.

Mrs. Ballington Booth writes from California to a friend that the reports about her having broken down are untrue. Her physician believes she can stand the trip if she is careful. She says: "I assure you I never wanted to live more than I do now. I rest between my meetings. I am having good success and large audiences and find the Volunteers a strong and active body, doing good work throughout the south and west."—Woman's Journal.

YOUNGSTERS LASHED.

Severe Punishment Dealt to Deserters From a British Warship.

Birch Applied So Severely Blood Was Drawn.

They Had Intended to Slip Away and Join the United States Navy.

Halifax, May 13.—Within the last few days there have been numerous desertions from H. M. S. Comus and other war vessels in port. Among those who have deserted were two youths, aged 18 and 19 years, respectively. They were detected yesterday boarding an outward-bound steamer by two of the military police, who placed them under arrest. The deserters had divested themselves of their uniforms, and when apprehended were attired in civilian clothes.

The capture of the deserters by the military police has caused considerable ill-feeling between the soldiers and sailors. The boys were taken on board the Comus and handed over to the naval authorities. An inquiry was held and the prisoners were ordered to be stripped and beaten with the birch. One was sentenced to 24 lashes and the other to 12 lashes. The birch used was steeped for two days, and it was in excellent order when the youths were lined up on deck to receive the flogging.

The punishment to the older boy was administered by the sergeant-at-arms and the ship's corporal was obliged to perform the unpleasant task of beating the other. The youngest was beaten first. The second stroke of the birch cut into the skin and brought the blood, and notwithstanding the great pain, the young fellow endured the full penalty of the court. The other lad also received his full number of lashes. He, too, suffered intense pain, his skin being covered with blood before the last stroke of the birch had cut into it.

This severe punishment was administered to two boys who had been recently transferred from a training ship to the Comus.

For the capture of the boys the military police received a reward of £3 each. The sailor boys shipped on the steamer as stokers and intended to land at an American port and enlist in the United States navy. They had read advertisements in the Halifax papers soliciting applications for those desirous of joining the United States marine corps.

OF FAVORABLE CHARACTER.

Firmness In Nearly All Branches of Business. Bank Clearings Continue Large.

New York, May 13.—Bradstreet's says: Reports as to trade conditions are generally favorable, notable among these being advanced quotations for many grades of iron and steel, increased activity in building lines reflected in heavy sales of lumber at prices tending upward, a firmer tone in the cotton goods market, sympathized in by the raw product, bank clearings surpassing all records for this week of the year, railroad earnings maintaining recent gains and business failures down to the minimum. Offsetting these in some measure might be cited the seasonable quieting down of wholesale distribution, particularly for dry goods and clothing, but the most notable of all the further weakening of cereal values, lowered quotations of hog products and some shading of prices in sugar, copper and tin. The demand in iron and steel does not weaken. Production of pig iron, though at a maximum, is still inadequate and stocks of pig iron show a further decrease.

In textile lines the features of the week have been the practical "pegging" of the price of print cloth for the next six months as a result of the large sales by combined Fall River interests. This has imparted firmness to all branches of the trade and affected quotations of the raw staple also. It seems evident that the first real inspiration in the wool industry must come from abroad. Heavy buying of Australian grades for re-export has been again the feature, but coupled with this are reported liberal sales at leading markets of domestic wool to go abroad.

Hides and leather are in good demand and firm, while the manufactured product is moving well at recent advances.

Bank clearings for the week aggregated $1,984,379,216, 8 percent smaller than the preceding week, but 14 percent larger than in this week a year ago, nearly twice as large as in corresponding weeks of 1896 and 1897, and 71 percent heavier than in 1895.

Business failures for the week number 169, against 250 in this week a year ago, 251 in 1897, 265 in 1896 and 210 in 1895.

Starved to Save Brother.

Boston, May 13.—The Cuban industrial relief fund has received a letter stating that an American investigating party found three children nearly starved to death in a home in Havana. There were two boys and a girl. The girl had taken upon herself the care of the two little brothers, and had denied herself food that they might live. In her heroic effort to save the lives of her brothers she had not kept enough food for herself and she succumbed to starvation.

Strike Practically Ended.

Norwich, Conn., May 13.—At a meeting of the Weavers' union yesterday the weavers who precipitated a strike at the Ponenah mills, Taftville, about six weeks ago, decided to return to work Monday and so notified Superintendent Eccles. The weavers were dissatisfied with a new schedule of wages that went into effect April 1. The action of the union practically ends the strike.

For Free Use of Knife.

Boston, May 13.—Charles Martin was yesterday sentenced to state prison for the indeterminate sentence of five to eight years. Martin was found guilty of assaulting three men with a knife with intent to murder, and was also found guilty of another indictment charging him with malicious injury to property.

DEATH OF ROSWELL P. FLOWER.

Attack of Heart Failure, Brought About by Acute Indigestion.

New York, May 13.—Former Governor Roswell P. Flower died last night at 10:30 at the Eastport Country club, at Eastport, L. I.

Mr. Flower had been a sufferer from gastritis for a long time, with every now and then an acute attack. For a month or two past he had been a regular visitor at the Eastport Country club, in the hope that he would find some relief in the outing. He appeared in robust health Thursday morning, and yesterday morning when he arrived at Eastport, where he intended to remain until Monday, his health was apparently excellent. The attack from which he suffered yesterday came on suddenly and was of a more severe type at the outset than any he had previously suffered from.

ROSWELL P. FLOWER.

Roswell Pettibone Flower was born in Theresa, N. Y., Aug. 7, 1835. His father was born in Greene county, N. Y., and his ancestors came from Connecticut. Roswell was the sixth of nine children, and when his father died he was 8 years old. He worked with his brothers on two farms his mother owned, and spent his time between school sessions in the hardest kind of labor. He became deputy postmaster of Watertown, N. Y., in 1853, and kept his place six years at a salary of $50 a month. He then became a partner in the jewelry firm of Hitchcock & Flower, bought out his partner at the end of two years, and continued in the business until 1862.

Mr. Flower came to New York in that year to take charge of the estate of Henry Keep, whose widow was Mrs. Flower's sister. Mr. Keep owned a great many railroad and other stocks, and during the months before his death he spent much time instructing Mr. Flower about them, he thus gaining an insight into Wall street and its methods.

Mr. Flower always was a Democrat. In 1881 he defeated William W. Astor for congress, after a hot campaign in the Eleventh district. His majority was 2100, while Levi P. Morton had carried the district at the last previous election by more than 7000 votes. Mr. Flower refused a renomination. He was elected governor of the state in 1891.

Good authorities estimate that Mr. Flower's profits in the last 18 months in Wall street have exceeded $10,000,000. He had become in that time the acknowledged speculative leader in the financial markets of the United States.

Mr. Flower married Sarah M. Woodruff, a daughter of Morris M. Woodruff of Watertown, on Dec. 26, 1859. Three children were born, of whom only one survives, Emma Gertrude, the wife of John B. Taylor. Mr. Flower had been for years one of the wardens of St. Thomas' Episcopal church, on Fifth avenue.

Barker In Temporary Command.

Washington, May 13.—Admiral Watson will sail from San Francisco next Tuesday on one of the regular Pacific mail steamships, but cannot possibly reach Manila before the middle of June. Orders have been issued placing Captain A. S. Barker in command of the Asiatic squadron after Admiral Dewey's departure until relieved by Rear Admiral Watson. Captain Barker is now in command of the battleship Oregon. As soon as relieved of command of the squadron Captain Barker will start for home under a leave of absence.

Room For Improvement.

Havana, May 13.—The heavy proportion of meat, the scarcity of vegetables and the absence of fruit make the army ration not the most suitable tropical diet. The company cooks, by commuting part of the ration and buying other things, are doing fairly well, but army officers recognize that the statutory ration can be and should be improved. General Brooke has appointed a board for an inquiry into the matter, with instructions to report as soon as practicable.

Wreck and Fire.

Utica, N. Y., May 13.—At 2:35 this morning, New York Central train No. 33, the southwestern limited, while in the yard in this city, was run into by American Express train, No. 31, resulting in the destruction of a Wagner car, an express car and the engine of the latter train. The wreck caught fire, but was extinguished by the local fire department. One man was so badly hurt that he may die. No one else was hurt.

Falmouth Woods Ablaze.

Portland, Me., May 13.—Fire is still raging in the woods in the town of Falmouth. Some 1000 acres have been burned over and the flames have not yet subsided. The hundreds of men fighting the fire have had difficulty in saving farm buildings several times, and at one time it was feared the flames would reach the village. Should there be a high wind the danger to property will be great.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—4:24; sets, 6:58.
Moon sets—11:16 p. m.
High water—2:15 a. m.; 2:45 p. m.

In the Atlantic states, the west and the southwest, generally fair weather has prevailed. The temperatures have also fallen considerably in the central west, while in the southwest, the greater portion of the lake region and middle Atlantic states and in New England they have risen. Generally fair weather is indicated for Sunday, except that showers are probable on the New England coast. On the Atlantic coast, fresh to brisk south to southwesterly winds will prevail.

VETERANS OF SOUTH

Consider the Questions of Confederate Graves and Lynchings.

Women Should Care For Dead of Seceding States.

Philippines Pointed to as an Object Lesson Concerning Clash of Races.

Charleston, May 13.—The reunion of the United Confederate Veterans closed yesterday. At the opening of the day's proceedings, General Gordon introduced General Benham of the South Carolina Sons of Veterans, who delivered an address. He was followed by Commander Kirk of the trans-Mississippi department. His remarks were of the nature of an eulogy of the Confederate soldiers. General Gordon then presented General Robert E. Lee, Jr., who was cheered to the echo.

General S. D. Lee presented the report of the committee on history, which was unanimously adopted. This was one of the most important matters before the convention, and the reading of the report was listened to with close attention. The report alludes to the war with Spain as a factor in obliterating the shadows of the war between the states, and refers to the prompt response of the southern states to the call for troops as showing the whole country the depth and fervor of southern patriotism. Continuing, the report says:

"President McKinley displayed the spirit of the American soldier when he chose from his former foes the gallant Wheeler, the steadfast Fitzhugh Lee, the chivalous Butler, and many others of our own brave comrades, to marshal the hosts of the Union. We are glad that General Wheeler had another opportunity to exhibit the fighting qualities of the Confederate soldier, and that Lieutenants Hobson, Victor Blue and Worth Bagley in the navy showed the country of what stuff our young men are made. Once more the blood of north and south has been poured out together—no longer beneath contending standards, in the bitterness of war between states, but now beneath one flag, to the glory of one country. These dead, at least, belong to us all. The last hateful memory that could divide our country is buried with them. About their graves kneels a new nation, loving all her children everywhere the same."

Alluding to the question of Confederate graves, the report says:

"The recent generous words of President McKinley, commending the Confederate dead to the nation's care, are the expression of a sentiment growing everywhere, that the deeds of the Confederate soldier are the glory of the whole country, and that his memory is worthy to be cherished wherever self-sacrifice commands sympathy or brave actions strike a responsive chord in noble hearts."

Coming down to the question for which it was appointed, the committee says that its duty is now little more than to keep watch upon the histories of the day, and to stimulate historical research and publication and regard the prospect for fairness and candor in history as much improved by the Spanish war.

The committee also alludes to the race question, expresses the opinion that the "race problem is not apt in the future to be so blinding to a true appreciation of southern history," and says: "The recent movement to put the supremacy of the more educated and capable race upon a constitutional and legal basis, thus banishing the spectre of misrule from our borders, is steadily gaining progress."

Continuing, the report says: "The reception given our benevolent intentions in the Philippines is certainly of a character likely to inspire a wholesome respect for the matter of governing people of another blood which have started late in the race of civilization. We are not likely in the future to hear so much about the rights of men who have not yet learned to govern themselves to govern others by their votes. The doctrine of the Declaration of Independence that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed had something of a shock in the war between the states, and the island subjects of the United States will find little comfort in reading that celebrated instrument by the light of subsequent history. The difficulties of the race problem abroad ought to bring a charitable judgment of the same thing here at home, and we may certainly expect our northern brethren to meet us hereafter rather in a spirit of inquiry than of rebuke."

The committee recommended that an effort be made to banish from the schools any books which teach false lessons, either of fact or sentiment, and to this end suggests the appointment of a committee whose duty it shall be to examine school histories in use.

A reception was held last evening, the feature of which was an address by Colonel H. L. Turner of Chicago. Colonel Turner has been a guest of the city during the reunion, and his address was an eloquent allusion to the reunited country. He was frequently applauded, and the sentiments he uttered evoked much enthusiasm.

Captain Coghlan of the Raleigh was among the distinguished guests who occupied seats on the stage, and on being introduced made a graceful address. He sketched the battle of Manila bay, and paid a glowing tribute to Dewey, saying that where he led men must follow.

The convention was brought to a close by the re-election of General John B. Gordon as commander-in-chief and all the old officers.

Louisville was chosen as the next place of meeting.

No Trusts In Texas.

Austin, May 13.—The house of the Texas legislature, by a vote of 101 to 3, finally passed the anti-trust bill as it came from the senate Tuesday. The bill as passed is decidedly more drastic than the Arkansas law. It absolutely debars any pool or trust from doing business in the state and prevents its goods from being used in the state. The bill will be sent to the governor at once.

Mrs. Cushman K. Davis

Wife of U. S. Senator Cushman K. Davis of Minnesota and U. S. Peace Commissioner to Paris, writes:

"I have used Fairbank's Fairy Soap on the most delicate silks, laces and fine embroideries, without the slightest injury in any way to these fabrics. I therefore cordially recommend it to any one desirous of securing a soap with which to cleanse delicate and dainty materials. It is also invaluable for the toilet, rendering the skin soft and white. In fact, for general use I have found nothing to compare with Fairbank's Fairy Soap."

more tired than when you went to bed, with an unpleasant taste in the mouth, your tongue coated and dry, and having no appetite for breakfast, you are suffering from Dyspepsia.

Numbers of people are suffering seriously from this complaint and its result, when one package of U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLETS will bring about a prompt cure. A few doses will do more for a Weak or Sour Stomach than a prolonged course of any other medicine. Nothing can be used with so much certainty in obstinate cases of Constipation.

These tablets are the outcome of years of study, and are compounded of the finest drugs only, purely vegetable, they do not gripe, produce no reaction. Take no substitute. 10 CENTS PER PACKAGE.

If you cannot get them at your drug store, send 10 cts. for a package of 12 to the U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLET CO., 17 EAST 14TH ST., NEW YORK.

Good Afternoon.

Should Quincy have a fire in the middle of the afternoon which destroyed six buildings we might never hear the end of criticism of our fire department, yet such was the fact in the Brighton district of Boston yesterday, when thirteen buildings took fire.

The petition in favor of the refund order in the City Council is a good move, and should be extended to all wards, but the time is short, as the order comes up for a reading at the meeting of the Council next Monday evening. Were it necessary for the credit of our city that so much of the debt be paid this year, the tax payers would take their medicine and try to be cheerful. But it is unnecessary for any city, firm or individual to pay in one-year thirty per cent. of its bonded debt. The Legislature has seen the wisdom of extending Quincy's maturing debt, and that the legislation has not injuriously affected the credit of the city is shown by the fact that the sewer loan just made was upon better terms than ever. With the refunding of $100,000, a lower tax rate will result, and what is better, it can be maintained.

Many who are not members of the Social Democratic party will agree with several of the conclusions reached by Mrs. Lease in her address, and that the proper adjustment is by the ballot. Public ownership of water, sewer, gas, electric lighting, etc., is desirable and is being accomplished, but Quincy was not convinced that it was policy to own water works until the convenience and financial success had been proved, and thus far since the purchase the city has been unable to reduce the net debt $1. Self respecting people will take exception to the statement that we are a nation of paupers, or that the tendency is that way.

That trusts are a menace is admitted on all sides, but their ultimate success is not assured. Efforts are being made to legislate against the trusts, but they are difficult to restrict, and it will require time. To appeal to the prejudices of the people and to tell half truths is a great injury to the country.

Locally, Quincy has very few who are very rich and also very few who are very poor, and we find the former usually ready in support of schools, hospital, library and charitable ways to help the latter, and with no desire to crowd them down. Storekeepers will testify that bills are paid fully as promptly by the so-called laboring class, as by the so-called capital class. And failures of business men show that they are no more successful as a whole than the industrious mechanic. No man ever earned a million dollars or came honestly by it, but our conditions are not all wrong because there are millionaires. Millionaires, murderers burglars, etc., are exceptions, not common, but are often times given too much prominence.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ A woman presided at a school committee meeting the other evening. The surprising fact of this matter is that the lady was ready to admit herself to be the senior member in order to obtain the honor.—Brockton Enterprise.

☞ The President's suggestion that all graves—those of the federals and confederates alike—should be cared for by the government seems to have aroused a divided sentiment in the south, just as there were those who demurred to the idea in the north. While the south appreciates the spirit of the presidental suggestion, there are many in that section who believe that the care of the confederate graves should be the exclusive duty of the south itself. This was shown at the reunion of the United Confederate veterans in Charleston the present week.—Brockton Times.

☞ If Memorial Day is to continue to mean anything, it must be divorced entirely from the gay and reckless pleasures which monopolize the average holiday. We do not see how this can be done unless Sunday is chosen for the exercises. We have always believed and often said that Sunday is the proper day for Memorial Day. All regular religious services could then be suspended, and the churches unite with the soldiers and their friends in the sacred observances in honor of the hero dead. The oratory of the day, which is rapidly degenerating into Fourth-of-July clap trap and demagogery, would be likely to be improved in tone and quality and purpose.—Athol Transcript.

☞ I have long felt that the time must come when the people of this country would rise up in their might against the present system of cramming into youthful heads all sorts of "isms" and "ologies," to the almost utter exclusion of the practical branches of education, especially as represented by the three "R's"; and it is a source of gratification to me that the citizens of my own city of Newton have taken the initiative in a movement which some time must sweep over the whole country—a movement to substitute in our schools at least fairly thorough instruction in a few of the practical branches for the smattering in the many impractical branches now given. —W. E. Hickox, of Hickox's shorthand school.

American Women In London.

American women in London seem to be making themselves very much at home just now. They are apparently on the best of terms with their English cousins, with whom they get on most amicably. An inordinate fondness for the giving of fairs, or, as they call them, bazaars, is characteristic of English women. Just now it is proposed to give one which will surpass all previous efforts of a bazaar nature. There will be 24 stalls, representing the European countries, America and the British colonies, as well as literature, stage land, flower land and other realms not down on the map. Mrs. John W. Mackay will have charge of the American stall, and with her will be her daughter, Princess Colonna, Mrs. Clarence Mackey, Mrs. Bradley Martin and Mrs. Ronalds. Lady Randolph Churchill will preside in stage land, and a number of American women, including the Duchess of Marlborough, the Countess of Craven and Mrs. Arthur Paget, will occupy flower land.

A more familiar phase of American women's activity is the formation of a club very much on the lines of the New York Sorosis. The new London club is called the Society of American Women In London, and it begins existence with 76 members.—Harper's Bazar.

APPEAL TO CLASSES.

Mrs. Lease Lectures on Need of Socialism.

An audience of about two hundred, a number of whom were women gathered at Plumer's hall last evening to listen to the lecture under the auspices of the Social Democratic club, by Mrs. Mary E. Lease of Kansas. Her subject was "The necessity for socialism."

That Mrs. Lease is an orator of rare ability, none who heard her can doubt, and for an hour and a half she held the closest attention. She was earnest in the extreme yet at times her witty sarcasm could not but provoke a smile and call forth applause from sympathizers with the cause.

Mrs. Lease was introduced to the audience by Philip J. Halvosa, and opened her remarks by saying that Herbert Spencer defines evolution as a series of changes. The laws of our father's time were not good for today. History tells us every change is preceded by agitation. An evolution is before us, and a change is taking place. Religiously we say bear one another's burdens, but in business it is every man for himself.

Our social code is not warfare against Christ but against a canibalistic class which allows the legislation favored to devour the lives of our fellow men. The remedy is simple. Take away the authority from the few who have abused it. People are ground down by millionaires.

It is no longer a question of profit for toil. Today it is a question of existence of toil. Our entire industrial system is wrong. Under it an average man earns $13 and gets but $1. To restore justice, that the laborer may have every iota of what he earns, we must have public ownership of our industries. They have passed into the hands of the few and we have poverty on one hand and luxury on the other.

The theory of Socialism is to have the industries restored to the people and operated for the public good. Political dishonesty, Legislative degeneracy, have become such a disease that there is not a man but becomes a servant of the syndicates instead of the people he represents.

The conditions of poverty today are unnecessary, and when we rise to our duty we will remove poverty. Every scheme for taxing land is wrong. Occupation and use should be the only title of land. Apply the demand "if he does not work he shall not eat" to the millionaire as well as the vagrant. Free access to the land is the method that will prevent poverty.

Every advancement has been over a thorny path, yet it must be apparent that humanity moves and we stand, at a beginning of a readjustment. We have never yet enjoyed liberty in its true form. Machinery has entered every department of human labor and human labor has been forced out. Human hands are unable to compete with the wonderful machinery and we are confronted with the mighty problem of over production. The giants of machinery have consumed the work of the laborer and are now trying to consume each other. Large trusts are absorbing small trusts.

Let us learn from trusts the lessons of corporation. If they have found it necessary to unite, the voters should unite to oppose the trusts that are opposing them. The power to tax is the power to destroy. The power to tax can only be acquired by the ballot. If this republic is to be perpetuated we must realize the power of the ballot. The lavish use of money has become a factor in elections.

There is not an article on the Dingley bill that does not take from the people and add to the trusts who have their hands on the throat of the government. Under the two great parties these trusts have been created. Can we expect them to destroy the child of their creation? It is absolutely impossible for them to deal with trust. They have fulfilled their mission and dissolution is taking place. We have been pleading for our rights for a quarter of a century. Today I challenge you to point out one line of financial legislation that has been enacted for thirty years that has not eminated from Wall street or been in the interest of Wall street.

A new adjustment is necessary. You must forget your parties and unite for your homes and children in Social Democracy, the only party that demands government ownership, that knows no sect, that demands justice for toilers. We have a socialism of aristocracy and we are trying to have a socialism of democracy. We cannot put off much longer the settlement of this question.

Under the existing laws you may be candidates for the poor house, no matter how well you are off today. We have in the past had ministers who dined with the rich and preached to the poor. If churches are true to their mission, they will begin a crusade against the power that is oppressing the people.

Our opportunities have been taken away from us and are in the hands of the few. We propose to right wrongs by the ballot. We propose to begin locally and to extend to every State in the country.

In closing Mrs. Lease urged her hearers to join the Social Democracy and unite at the polls and bring about a restoration of things that are yours.

THE POOR AND RICH.

Appealing to Prejudice is Pulling Down.

The Socialistic lecture of Mrs. Lease last evening recalls an essay on "Building Up and Pulling Down," which makes interesting points, viz:

In every community are two classes, constructionists and destructionists. One builds; the other destroys. One is the element of progress; the other of stagnation. The predominance of one of the other determines the character and fixes the destiny of the community. The destroyers have much the lightest job. Building is difficult; pulling down easy. Temple of Diana was years in building; a fool destroyed it in a night. A cow kicked over a lamp and destroyed Chicago. The very existence and growth of the city in which we live are an illustration of the dominance of the progressive over the retrogressive. Every educational institution, every public improvement it contains is a monument to the signal triumph of public spirit, and the result of some fierce struggle between enterprise and obstruction. If there ever was a people who should be inspired by the genius of progress it should be one which enjoys in such rich degree its achievements.

There is no denying that with many pulling down is popular. Men get into office by attacking existing conditions, appealing to popular prejudice, and posing as advocates of economy. It is often easier to get office by this kind of demagoguery than by advocating progress. The man who will obtain office by such methods is dangerous. His affected interest in the people is wholly spurious. He will pull them down and sell them out as quickly as he will anything else. His business is to destroy and he hurts everything he touches. It is a great pity that the people so often allow themselves to be thus hoodwinked. We live in an age of progress, and whosoever stands in its path is an enemy to the race. Follow him and we should return to the days of barbarism. In this age of churches and schools and hospitals and public improvements we are demonstrating the wisdom and fulfilling the command of the holy writ, to live for our neighbors, and he who does not so live is at war with God and man, an anachronism, a misfit, a fraud, and merits, as he generally receives, universal contempt.

One of the favorite methods of pulling down is that of appealing to the prejudice of the poor against those who have property. The demagogue is a great iconoclast. He can do more in a day towards destroying than half of a community can do in a month towards building. Unfortunately many are susceptible to these appeals when artfully made. There is no more dangerous member of the community than he would thus array those against each other, whose interest are identical. It is only in a community where business men are prosperous that labor can get employment, that money is plentiful, and wages satisfactory. Suppose we had a half dozen manufactories giving employment to hundreds, perhaps thousands of our people. Would that be to the injury of the very many, male and female, who are now idle among us, anxious for employment? Are the proprietors of such establishments public enemies?

What would this country be today but for its public spirited men? It is exceedingly fortunate in that its public leaders in the past were builders and not destroyers. What would it have been if those who fought them had succeeded? Suppose it had no university or colleges, or schools, or rock-roads or railroads? All these were distinctly and bitterly fought by elements of the same kind as those which exist today. Think of this city and country without them, and you get an idea of what both will be if the same kind of people succeed now. The future of this town and county depends upon the ability of the builders to overcome the destroyers. Can we do it? Or shall we surrender to selfishness and demagoguery and obstruction?

OPENING OF UTE LANDS.

Wild Scramble For Territory Opened In Colorado.

SEVERAL EXCITING RACES RUN.

Hundreds Witnessed the Novel Sight. How "Barry" Sullivan Staked His Homestead—Hot Race Between 20 Boomers, Cowboys and Mexicans. E. R. Friday's Swim.

Arboles, Colo., was the scene of a mad race for the Ute lands which were opened for settlement at noon the other day by proclamation of the president. The excitement was intense and several sensational incidents marked the formal process of staking homesteads. Three distinct races were run within a mile of each other and several hundred persons witnessed the novel sight.

Barry Sullivan, a newspaper man, lawyer, labor agitator and sheriff's deputy, a graduate of Harvard and a man of considerable culture, is one of the picturesque figures that came down with the throng from Durango. He had a piece of land picked out, and, in his determination to get it, he drew his revolver upon a Mexican who undertook to interfere. Sullivan had himself sworn in as a deputy at Durango so as to be protected, but he did not make any show of authority for Arboles, Archuleta county. The Mexican yielded, and Sullivan staked his homestead. It is a magnificent tract, located in the fork of the Piedra and San Juan rivers. Why this land was not sought by any one else is the interesting part of the story. On the maps which have been circulated about Durango it is marked as allotted to the Indians. Sullivan, however, declares that he has absolute proof that the maps are wrong, and he knows he took no risk. He had his attention called to the land last November, and has waited for it in secret. The Oklahoma crowd declare he is a "sooner" on the ground, and that he was on the reservation when the noon hour arrived.

There was a hot race for another section of land in the same vicinity. Twenty boomers, cowboys and Mexicans lined up on the southern boundary of the state and waited for the signal from Dr. Allen of Chickasha, I. T. As the men dashed away J. C. Ward of Denver was nearly killed by his horse.

The race was a sight to be long remembered. The horsemen dashed through the sage and raised a dust that almost concealed them from the spectators. Mort J. Bayes of Pagosa Springs reached the desired section inside of a minute and jumped to the ground without waiting for his horse to stop. Seeing a stick, he drove it into the ground in the presence of half a dozen witnesses, who had followed on horseback, and then attached a small American flag to it. The rest of the horsemen plunged on over an irrigation ditch, and one narrowly missed falling into it. They dashed into the San Juan river and swam to the other side, looking for some other quarter section.

The best thing that was done in the way of swimming the river was by E. R. Friday, who, Barry Sullivan says, got the second best piece of land. It is located on a mesa, and the town site people are anxious to get on it, but Friday is in with the Oklahoma crowd, and the latter are jubilant. Friday comes from Turrett, Chaffee county, where he has been conducting a hotel.

After the run the boomers started back to Arboles. At a narrow log footbridge across the San Juan river they found two Mexicans who demanded 10 cents each from them for permission to cross. This astounding proposition met with opposition, and when the Mexicans persisted one of the party threatened to use his pistol. "This bridge belongs to the United States government, you fools," he exclaimed with an oath, "and you'd better get out of the way or we will give you a bullet and a bath!" No trouble of any kind is expected, though Jewett Palmer, sheriff of Archuleta county, chose this as the point in his jurisdiction where his attention was most likely to be needed. He had several deputies with him, but they had little to do.

The Ute Indians are entitled under the law of 1895 to 374 allotments out of the entire tract. All the remainder of the area, about 636,000 acres, will be subject to entry under the desert, homestead, timber and town site laws and the laws governing the disposal of coal, mineral, stone and timber lands, and many of the Indian allotments will be leased by white men at reasonable rates. The lands embrace both valley and mesa or uplands, but the supply of water for irrigation is many times greater than will be called for. The soils are the semiadobe, sandy loam and red—the former being particularly adapted for the growth of grain and grasses, while the soils last named are unequaled for the growth of vegetables, alfalfa and fruit trees. Owing to the percentage of gypsum in the bottom lands, the yield of clover is as high as 3½ tons to the acre.

Aside from the agricultural future of this great area of virgin soil, the stock industry gives promise of almost unlimited growth. The plateaus afford range for tens of thousands of head of cattle, horses and sheep, while tributary mining camps supply an abundant market, noted for good prices.—New York Herald.

A Convict's Clever Escape.

Tim Hogan, the mail box robber, serving five years' sentence for that crime, escaped from the Ohio state prison the other evening by having friendly convicts nail him up in a box sent out and supposed to contain cigars. He was seen to open the box and to run out of the Columbus and Hocking Valley railroad depot soon after the box was delivered at Columbus.

ROUND THE WALLS OF HAMADAN.

Orchards stretch their bloomy span
Round the walls of Hamadan.
Purples deepen on the grape,
Lyric brooks make blithe escape,
Yet are all the glories gone
That the lord of Macedon
Saw ere drew the revel on,
And the Bacchic orgy ran
Round the walls of Hamadan.

Gone the great sun temple where
Golden stair rose over stair.
Gone the gilded galleries,
Porticoes and palaces,
And the plaintive night winds plead
For the memory of the Mede,
Sob for alien ears to heed,
Pilgrim train and caravan,
Round the walls of Hamadan.

Naught of all the radiant past,
Naught of all the varied, vast
Life that throbbed and thrilled remains,
With its pleasures and its pains,
Save a couchant lion lone,
Mute memorial in stone
Of three empires overthrown—
Persian, Median, Parthian—
Round the walls of Hamadan.

All the splendor vanished, still
Wheels the world for good or ill.
Where's the wisdom hoary sage
Shall unriddle us this page?
Temples toppled from their base,
Victor race o'errunning race,
Yet, within the ancient place
Mirth and love of maid and man
Round the walls of Hamadan!

To Suicides Commencing.

The advertisement in the newspaper ran as follows: "Suicides commencing—These should write for appointment to Rex Blake, 72 Uppingdon Gardens, South Kensington."

Herbert Streuth, artist, received an appointment for 2:30 on Wednesday afternoon. He called at the South Kensington address and was shown into a solidly furnished library, where a podgy little old gentleman with white hair shook him warmly by the hand and bade him to be seated.

"I am very pleased to see you, Mr. Streuth, and I trust that I may be of some service to you—in fact, that we may be of service to each other. But I must begin by asking you a plain question, which you will answer truthfully and in one word. Is your intended suicide connected in any way with severe poverty or overwhelming financial losses?"

"No," said Streuth, "I am considered, I believe, to be fairly well off."

"Delighted to hear it," said Mr. Blake, rubbing his chubby hands together, "now we will proceed. I tell you frankly that with me this thing is a business and nothing but a business. If you decide that I can serve you I shall expect a moderate fee. Now, what are the principal objections to suicide?"

"The law does not permit it," said Streuth.

"Precisely, but in the case of the successful suicide the law is not asked. It says that you may not take your life away, but if you do it cannot compel you to take it back again or punish you in any way. We can leave the law out."

"There is also the religious objection," said Streuth.

"Many very religious people," replied Mr. Blake, "have not found it cogent. Take the case, by no means an uncommon one, where the death of one man may be an inestimable benefit to many to whom he is really sincerely attached. Is an act of self sacrifice to be regarded as a crime? No; it seems to me that each suicide must be judged on its own merits, taking into consideration the motives and beliefs of the person suiciding. Any other opinions?"

"I know none," Streuth answered. "In fact, I have not been thinking much about it. I want to get out of things. I don't ask myself if there are any objections or not. I don't care if there are any objections."

"You surprise me," said Mr. Blake. "You are an artist, and yet it has not occurred to you that the manner of the suicide is of essential importance. The throat cutting is very dirty, and the same objection applies to the use of firearms. Have a little foresight. Imagine what you look like afterward, and the state of the bedclothes, and all the rest of it."

"I was intending," said Streuth, "to drown myself."

"I have here," said Mr. Blake, "a little work on forensic medicine. There are some interesting chapters on the signs by which you can tell the length of time the body has been in the water. Did you ever hear of adipocere? There is an elegant little description of it in this passage. Just read it."

Streuth took it and read a few lines. "I can't stand this," he said; "it is too nauseous."

"I thought you would see it in that light," Mr. Blake replied. "People mostly do when I put it to them. You really can't tell what a river's going to do to you. It may give you back at once, or it may keep you for a bit. Even if it gives you back at once you don't look pretty. Here's a description of the face of a man taken out of the Thames on"—

"You needn't go on with that. I have given up the idea of drowning myself. There is still poison. A little prussic acid and the bother is all over."

"Excellent," said Mr. Blake. "If you know the right dose, you die almost immediately. But you've got an awful moment. If you don't know the right dose, you have a very bad time. You will be found with your hands violently clinched, your eyes glistening and your pupils dilated, and you will shriek just before your death. Unpleasant, isn't it?"

"Well," said Streuth, "there are other poisons."

"All are open to objections. Chloral may kill you comfortably or make you sick. Other anæsthetics may lead to your being discovered while in a state of unconsciousness, but not dead, and the treatment they give you then is not pretty. Many quick poisons are painful, very painful, and in any case you leave your body about after. So untidy—such a want of neatness! Every suicide is anxious to wipe himself right out, to get away from public attention. If he leaves that body about after, people sit on it and say that he was temporarily insane, and one of the jury is rude to the coroner, and the coroner is severe to one of the jury, and the whole thing gets into the papers and the family is disgraced, and everybody feels that the death was grossly inartistic."

"I don't know," said Streuth, "if you imagine that by telling me these things you can deter me from the end which I have in view. If so, pray do not waste your time and mine any further."

"I had no such idea," said Mr. Blake. "All I wish to do is to give you a chance of committing suicide in the best possible way. No pain, no scandal, no untidy body lying about afterward. A simple, mysterious disappearance, your own self respect saved, and the feelings of your family spared."

"Well," said Streuth, "what is it?"

"Fire, plain fire, that is all. Near Weybridge there is a certain furnace which is kept going day and night. Its heat is enormous. There are no half measures about that furnace. The very moment you go into it you are dead. Half an hour afterward nothing of you is left that is recognizable as ever having been human. I will give you directions and admission card in exchange for your check for £5 so soon as that check has been cleared."

Streuth pulled five sovereigns from his pocket and put them on the table.

"I will take the directions and card of admission now."

"Certainly," said Blake. "This little plan makes your way clear from Weybridge station. It is six or seven miles, and you will have to walk it. Cabs can be tracked."

"I quite see that," said Streuth.

"For similar reasons you must not inquire your way. You cannot miss it; the plan is on a large scale and every possible landmark is indicated. When you reach the furnace (which is supposed to be used in connection with some brick works), you will find a deaf mute as night porter in charge. Hand him the ticket, and he will show you by signs what to do."

Streuth took the ticket and plan, shook hands and went out.

He was a passenger in the last train to Weybridge that night.

Three days afterward Streuth, with a smile on his face, called once more on Mr. Blake. Mr. Blake did not seem at all surprised to see him.

"Let us speak plainly," said Mr. Blake. "You were afraid of the fire?"

"I was," said Streuth.

"Everybody is. It is the most awful element, having in it something of the supernatural. I have sent 175 suicides to that place and only three handed their tickets to the night porter."

"And did the three commit suicide?"

"No! They came out again. Not one of them has committed suicide or ever will. You won't, for instance."

"No," said Streuth; "common sense has dawned. After all," he muttered, "she is not the only girl in the world."

"Many of my clients," said Blake smilingly, "give me some little present, some trifling souvenir on their return."

Streuth put his hand into his waistcoat pocket. As he fumbled with the coins he said, "Suppose that one of those three who did give up his ticket to the porter had committed suicide, you would have stood a fair chance of getting yourself into a mess."

"Not at all," said Blake genially, "not at all. To prevent the possibility of accidents there isn't any furnace."

He swept the sovereigns from the table into the palm of his hand.

"Most liberal of you, I'm sure."—Barry Pain.

TUXEDO SHIRT WAIST FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

A greater variety of shirt-waist designs have been displayed this season. They are to be had with rounded, pointed, and scolloped yokes, and gathered, side-pleated, and box-pleated lower parts. This week's illustration which is taken from Harper's Bazar adds to the list of waist patterns a very pretty and exclusive design of a madras shirt-waist, with pointed front yoke and a slightly rounded back yoke. There are three box-pleats in the lower part of the back of bodice, which measures one and one-eighth of an inch at the top, and slopes into narrow dimensions at the waist, where a double row of stitching secures them. The line for this stitching is marked on the pattern. The front of the bodice has two box-pleats, on each side of the opening, and a removable band, which reaches from the collar to waist, simulates a center pleat. A shaped collar-band accompanies the pattern, but white collar pattern is not included. The sleeves are narrower than any shown with previous patterns, and are finished with rounded turn-back cuffs. The narrow velvet belt is fastened with a filigree buckle. This design may be effectively used for white fabrics in combination with "all-over" embroidery and stripes of insertion between the pleats. French flannel, or the variety of figured flannel known as "Finnette" if made with bias and straight effects will prove desirable mediums for this pretty model.

To make the garment for a person of standard size will require four yards of madras, gingham, French or Finnette flannel 27 inches wide, or two and one-half yards of nainsook and two-thirds yards of "all over" embroidery.

The Hotel Porter's Neat Joke.

In the barber shop connected with a big down town hotel works a colored porter who chatters incessantly. The hostelry has had the misfortune to be the scene of an unusually large number of violent deaths recently, and the porter has plenty material for conversation.

He loves to dwell upon a suicide or a murder and is looked upon as an authority on the death record of the hotel. The other day he was brushing a customer's coat and commenced the following conversation:

"Say, boss, hear 'bout de horrible murder on floor Y dis mornin?"

"No!" exclaimed the man. "Is it possible there has been another?"

"Sure 'nough," said the negro, devoting renewed energy to the brushing operation.

"Who was killed?" asked the man.

"Oh, a wall paper man done went up dere and hung up a border."

The customer paid his bill and left. The colored porter went into the checkroom, where he could laugh as hard as he wanted.—Chicago Journal.

A Mule Chews Tobacco.

Balaam's donkey is doubtless the only one that ever spoke to man, but it seems that there are some trying to imitate man's ways. A Fayette county farmer has one of this sort. Old Silas for years had his stall in a tobacco barn, where it often chanced that scraps of the soothing weed got into his rations. Perhaps he regarded it as a kind of sauce; anyhow, he finally became attached to it, like his master, and now he can't do without it. If he fails to get his morning's chew, it is useless to harness him to anything. He will not budge a peg—his no means no. His master knows what the trouble is. He goes down in his pocket, fishes up his own twist and makes a peace offering. The old mule almost laughs as he rolls the quid into his cheek and proceeds to his work as meekly as a lambkin. His master claims that Silas is as good a judge of a "chew" as of oats.—Winchester (Kan.) Democrat.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning May 14—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—God's covenant and ours.—Ps. cv, 1-10. (A Christian Endeavor pledge meeting.)

A covenant is a mutual compact between two or more persons. Abraham and Abinelech made a covenant. Joshua made a covenant with the people. Jonathan and David made a covenant. The covenants of God with man practically partake of the same characteristics. It is obvious, however, that in any covenant between God and man God must make the initial movement. God agrees or pledges Himself to do certain things dependent upon certain action by man. In the covenant of works He promised man eternal life on condition of perfect obedience. In the covenant of grace He promises to man eternal life, dependent upon man's faith in Christ. God's covenant has been essentially the same in all ages, though its form has been constantly changing to suit the changed conditions of human life. At one time it was the promise of the woman's seed; to Noah the promise of forbearance; to the patriarchs the promise of a son; to Moses the promise of a prophet; to the monarchy the promise of a king; to Isaiah the promise of a suffering servant, and then at last in Christ all forms men realized. The incarnate son of God was the woman's seed, Abraham's son, David's royal child and successor and Jehovah's servant. Thus God always has and always will keep his covenant.

But we also may covenant with God. We may make solemn and sacred pledges to God that we will perform certain duties in life. Every Endeavorer has made a covenant with God. The Endeavorer's covenant is the Christian Endeavor pledge. God's attitude toward His covenant with us should decide for us our attitude toward our covenant with God.

1. God remembers His covenant. "He hath remembered His covenant forever." God never forgets His promises to us, but, alas, how often we forget our promises to Him! How many Endeavorers have forgotten their solemn covenant with God. Let us take God as a model and not forget our covenant.

2. God is impressed with the solemn and sacred character of His covenant. He confirmed it with an oath, swearing even by Himself that He would perform it. How lightly many Endeavorers esteem their promises to God! They would not fail to meet a friend upon appointment, yet how often they fail to keep their appointments with God.

3. God's covenant is an everlasting covenant. It was not for a day, but forever. There should be more of this divine character of permanence and perpetuity in our covenant with God.

Bible Readings.—Gen. xvii, 1-8; xxii, 10-18; xxvi, 1-5; xxviii, 10-22; xxxv, 9-15; Joshua i, 6-9; Ps. lxxxix, 34; cxi, 1-5; Isa. liv, 10; lv, 1-3; Luke i, 68-80; Rom. xii, 1, 2; Heb. vi, 10-15; viii, 6-13; x, 28, 29.

Our Work Done by Others.

It is often said that our work is done in these days by other pulpits, presses and churches. If it is so, the fact is our condemnation. For our work no one can do unless we fail to do it ourselves. This is a point worth dwelling on. It is the willingness to see our work done by others that affords others their opportunity. Somebody must do the work, the Lord's work certainly. We are set to do our share. Nobody else is appointed to our task nor will be till we slight it. If we do, the work will not go undone, we may be sure of that. No matter. Spring to the task before thee, O brother; fling away doubts and fears; put a cheerful courage on; let the strokes fall; be sure thy share in the completed result will be as large, as important, as glorious, as thy fidelity in the work. The only way any one can take away our reward is by taking away our task, and no one can take our task if we are prompt and willing to do it ourselves.—Universalist Leader.

The Sensational Preacher.

One of the most serious obstacles in the way of the church of Christ in our day is the sensational preacher. The freedom permitted in some churches for the eccentric utterances of men under the pretense of preaching destroys the sanctity of the pulpit and brings untold damage to the influence of divine truth among men. Egotism, the seeking of notoriety, the ad captandum vulgus, are disgusting exhibitions of a rotten humanity wherever found, but in the Christian pulpit they are criminal. No doubt all the denominations have had their mortifications in this line. If church discipline cannot be brought to bear, the weight of public opinion in the churches and out of them should be felt. Stay away from such a ministry, and let your absence be your witness.—Central Presbyterian.

Prayer For Colleges.

Our colleges for the most part were founded by Christian men. The great universities of the world were religious in the origin. Our American colleges were theological before they were biological or philosophical or sociological institutions. In most of the charters of the older institutions of learning religion holds a prominent place. What the fathers planted posterity should foster. Prayer for colleges is but the expression of this important truth.—Christian Intelligencer.

The Two Candles.

I saw two candles; one unlighted lay;
The other lighted stood,
And a pale man beneath its slender way
His nightly toil pursued.

In patient zeal he drew his failing sight
O'er many a mystic page,
And with the harvest of that quiet night
He turned to bless his age.

But when the pearl of dawn dissolved in day
The candle flashed its last,
And yet that other candle perfect lay,
Unchanged by all had passed.

"Better," I said, "to live and waste in living
Than lie in useless sleep.
Who gives to others what is worth the giving Cannot both give and keep."

—Wade Robinson.

The leading railroads centering in New York almost entirely use Chilton Paint. Chemists acknowledge its superiority and the practical painter appreciates that theory and practice in this case do not disagree.

These great corporations want the most durable article because they cannot afford to often stop their cars for the purposes of repainting.

Some railroads go even so far as to specify when having cars built that Chilton Paint, and only Chilton Paint, shall be used upon them, and bridge engineers often specify that bridges shall be painted only with Chilton Paint. If these great corporations, who make a study of economical methods and materials, use Chilton Paint, can you afford not to profit by their experience?

AWAKENING OF CHINA.

Wonderful Development Since the War With Japan.

VALUE OF RECENT CONCESSIONS.

Factories Established, Railroads Constructed and Mines Opened. Richest Portions of the Empire Thrown Open to Foreigners—Extension of Privileges.

Recent statements indicating an agreement between the English and Russian governments touching their future course with reference to the trade of certain sections of China lend interest to a publication just issued by the treasury bureau of statistics entitled "Commercial China In 1899." This document, as its name indicates, presents a careful survey of present commercial conditions in China, showing the situation of railway lines, navigable waterways now opened to the commerce of the world, the treaty ports, which are the commercial doorways of China, and steamship and cable lines.

The imports and exports in the last quarter of a century are shown in detail, with the growth of demand for each of the important articles, the principal countries from which they have been drawn, and the growth of the commerce between China and the United States, especially the sales by the people of the United States to those of China.

A part of this publication which discusses the commerce of the Yang-tse-Kiang and West river valleys is of especial interest because of the recently published assertion that an agreement has been made between the British and Russian governments by which Russia confines her commercial ambitions, for the present at least, in northern China.

The valleys of the Yang-tse-Kiang and West river, which occupy central and southern China, are shown by this report to be the great commercial section of the empire, and their importance has been greatly increased by recent events. One of these is an agreement by the Chinese government that no section of the Yang-tse valley shall be "alienated" to any foreign government so far as relates to trade privileges, while another of equal importance is the opening of the West river to the commerce of all nations, free from any "alienation" or special privileges to any.

That the Yang-tse and West river valleys are by far the most important part of China from a commercial point of view is apparent. Two-thirds of the foreign commerce of China passes through Shanghai, at the mouth of the Yang-tse, which is the Mississippi river of China. The Yang-tse extends westwardly from the Pacific to the extreme boundary of the empire proper and penetrates an extremely fertile, productive and densely populated area.

Next in importance to Shanghai, from a commercial point of view, are Canton and the British possession of Hongkong, which is adjacent to Canton, both of them being practically at the mouth of the West river, which is also an extremely important waterway and route of commerce to the interior.

A recent edict by the Chinese government adds greatly to the importance of these two rivers. This edict permits foreign steam vessels to ply on the navigable waters of practically all inland streams, this privilege being extended to small steam vessels, which may go to the head of navigation in all treaty port provinces. Another edict recently issued permits foreigners to visit all parts of the empire for business or trade purposes.

The importance of these three agreements, by which the commerce of the Yang-tse and West river valleys remains open to all nations desiring to compete for it, by which foreign steam vessels may penetrate for business purposes to the head of navigation on these and other streams, carrying with them foreigners for pleasure or business purposes, and by which foreign manufactures and the machinery which makes them are much more freely admitted than formerly, can scarcely be overrated. Commenting on the rapid development of events in China, the publication of the bureau of statistics says:

"The more rapid development of the privileges of foreigners in China and of the introduction of modern commercial methods dates from the treaty of Shimonoseki, made between China and Japan in 1895, at the close of the war between those nations, and followed by a commercial treaty in 1896. The important features of these treaties were that they opened the waters of the principal rivers and canals to the citizens of other nations, giving foreigners the right to purchase goods or produce in the interior of China, to rent warehouses without the payment of special taxes or exactions and to engage freely in all kinds of manufacturing industries in the treaty ports; also to import all kinds of machinery, paying only the stipulated import duties thereon, and on products manufactured by them in China paying only such inland transit dues as are leviable on imported merchandise (the latter provision having been somewhat modified, however, by the commercial treaty). While the China-Japan treaty specifically conferred these privileges only on Japanese subjects, they at once became applicable to the subjects of other nations having full treaty relations with China under the 'most favored nation' principle.

"The prompt result of this was a movement from all parts of the business world in the direction of China and the establishment of business and manufacturing industries not only in the old treaty ports, but in the new ones which were opened by the Japanese treaty and by subsequent action of the Chinese government. This was followed by other evidences of a disposition to adopt modern methods. The railroad from Peking to Tien-tsin was quickly completed by the Chinese government, and agreements were made looking to the construction by foreign capital of other lines thousands of miles in length; telegraphs were extended, electric roads and lights introduced in the principal cities, mining and manufacturing concessions freely granted; the West river, which penetrates southern China from Canton westward, was opened to commerce, and finally permission was given for small steamboats to penetrate to the interior limits of navigation on all the rivers of the provinces containing treaty ports. The effect of this is already seen in the establishment of factories and business houses, the construction of railroads, the extension and multiplication of steam navigation lines and the opening of mines in the great sections where the iron and coal deposits are said to be the greatest in the known world."

A JURYMAN'S PRAYER.

Lew B. Lee Asks For Guidance In the Sommers Trial at Frankfort, Ky.

The incident of the other day's proceedings in the Sommers trial at Frankfort, Ky., was the unusual act of Juror Lew B. Lee, a sanctified Methodist, in praying loudly to the Almighty to direct the actions of himself and his fellow jurors in the straight and narrow path in arriving at a verdict. The prayer was made shortly after the case was given to the jury at 9:25 o'clock in the morning.

The room to which the jury retired to make its verdict is directly over the courtroom in which the trial was held, in the second story of the courthouse. The jury had retired but a few minutes, and Judge Cantrill was hearing the motions of attorneys in the courtroom below, when loud shouting was heard. It disturbed the court, and Sheriff Suter was directed to see what was the matter. Supposing that the shouting came from the county jail, which is close by, the sheriff rushed in that direction, followed by a crowd from the courthouse. When he got outside, he discovered whence the noise came. He ran up the stairs to the jury room and found Lee standing in the midst of his fellow jurors, with eyes and arms uplifted, and calling loudly on the Lord to direct the action of the jury.

Those close enough to hear his words say that Lee called upon the Almighty to look down upon the jurors assembled and direct them in the proper course to be pursued in reaching their verdict. He prayed that they be shown the case in its true light, that they might do nothing that would injure an innocent man. He reminded his fellow jurors that they would have to meet all of the parties to the case in the world to come, and they should govern themselves so as not to be reproached then. Juror Lee closed by saying that he felt that the Lord would direct him in the case.

Lee is a reputable farmer of Franklin county. He has served a number of times as a juror in the Franklin circuit court, but never before prayed openly in the jury room. He is said to be an earnest believer in the sanctification idea. After deliberating the entire day the jury reported that it was unable to reach a verdict. — Louisville Courier-Journal.

AN ECCENTRIC DOCTOR.

Pays Extravagantly For Plating His Teeth With Gold.

Dr. M. A. Robbins, an eccentric doctor from Rome, Adams county, has been at Portsmouth, O., amusing himself and shocking the citizens.

His latest freak was the paying a local dentist $100 for gold plating his teeth. As the doctor's teeth were simply perfect the dentist at first refused to do the work, but finally agreed to. After the work was completed the doctor examined the job by means of a hand mirror and, being satisfied, handed $100 to the dentist and refused the change. The dentist remarked that had he owned the doctor's teeth he would not have allowed a dentist to touch them for $10,000.—Special Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Fighter Funston of Kansas.

He has raised a shout for Kansas—bleeding Kansas—on the air,
And the flying Filipinos—how they flew!
On each and all occasions he's been in it ev'rywhere
And always in a manner strictly new.
Ev'ry morning, noon and nighttime this ferocious fighter's name
Comes floating o'er the sea of battle news.
No matter what the hazard, oh, he tries it just the same,
And Funston hasn't foozled—not a fooze!

He has swum (swam, swimmed) the rivers with a towline in his teeth,
With the bullets hailing, raining, all around;
He has shown that he's entitled to a lovely laurel wreath
And the finest golden medal to be found.
He has chased the frenzied foemen up and down the vacant lot;
He has filled them full of weariness and wooze!
In the fiercest fights he's figured—he's been ev'rywhere 'twas hot,
And Funston hasn't foozled—not a fooze

He has borne the brunt of battle like a Trojan boy of old;
He has breathed of sickening smoke about a ton.
He has tried to coax the savage into freedom's cozy fold,
And the coaxer he has used has been a gun.
He's been Johnny-on-the-spot, and he has moved that spot around;
He has been a Charley boy they couldn't lose;
Since the game began he's covered, oh, a wondrous lot of ground,
And Funston hasn't foozled—not a fooze!

But now, alas, they've started to compare this hero chap
With Hobson—such a silly thing to do!
For he's married, and he couldn't take an osculating snap
And carry it with flying colors through.
Such a thing was never heard of—why, the blushing maids divine
To pucker up their lips would all refuse.
No married man successfully could smack-smack down the line,
So Funston will not foozle—not a fooze!

—George V. Hobart in Baltimore American.

DESIGN FOR STABLE.

Easy to Build, Neat In Appearance and Costs Little.

[Copyright, 1899, by George Palliser, 32 Park place, New York.]

Barns and other outbuildings are often very unsatisfactory and unsightly appendages to country homes. They are apt to be too conspicuous, to look cheap and tawdry, and so injure the general appearance of the residence they are connected with. My idea of such structures is that they should either follow the style of the house or be in a contrasting and yet harmonizing style and that they should be nicely painted and trimmed, so that they will not seem like blots on the landscape.

Small stables and like structures may be both cheap and picturesque, but as great care ought to be taken in their make up as in that of a house. For such buildings simple lines and forms are preferable. A plain square form is the roomiest. Avoid corners, angles and breaks. These are costly, hard to handle and eat up space to no advantage. For the floors nothing is so good as cement. First fill in the space about three to four inches deep with ashes. Ram and tamp in solid with water and work in a little sand and cement on top, just enough to set and knit the ashes together and form a foundation for the finished surface to adhere to. Then put in about three inches of top finish, composed of five parts of broken stone or gravel, three parts of sharp sand and one part of portland cement. Let these be mixed in a water tight box. First mix by turning over twice while dry; then add water and mix twice again; then fill in your floor space and put it down solid, true and firm, with a wooden hand float or rammer. While it is still green go over it in squares and finish with a plastering trowel, working the top up with a little fresh, dry cement and sand, and you will have a fine hard stone surface, impervious to water, and, if properly graded to outlets and drains or gutters, a floor that will last a lifetime. This is a rat and vermin proof floor, always best for any stable. The stall floors must be drained, and it is best to place two inch plank in the center of these, which can be flush with the cement floors as a better protection for the horse when he lies down and for better drainage as well, although it is better to use a patent stall floor, with a movable slat floor, even at the added cost, as it is most cleanly and pays for itself yearly in the saving of bedding.

The floor is, for above reasons, the most important part of a stable. The framework may be simple and sheathed with only one thickness of novelty or ceiling boards. The corner boards and trim also may be of the simplest kind, similar to the design here shown. The stalls must be lined and sheathed up. Spruce is best for this use. The fixtures, such as rack and mangers, may even be dispensed with, as no horse objects to eating from the floor, which is his natural inclination.

This stable was erected in a country town for a doctor. It is a serviceable structure, easy to build, easy to pay for, as it costs little, and is handy and well arranged. When properly painted, it shows well and wears well.

WINDOWS AND DOORS.

Harmony of Shades and Curtains Must Be Considered.

Fortunately people are beginning to abolish the thick, heavy curtains for windows, which at the best gave a dark, gloomy effect to the rooms inside and a sense of desolation to the house from outside. The light, flimsy, artistic curtains now coming in vogue accomplish the purpose of all curtains. They soften but do not exclude the light, and they dress the window artistically, whether viewed from the inside or outside. If sash curtains are used at all, they should be made of the thinnest dotted or figured muslin and hung on small brass rods, so they can be drawn to one side. But sash curtains are not necessary except in special rooms. They are not used for the vestibule doors. In their place a curtain should be strung from a brass rod to cover the whole of the glass. Over this a thin silk shade of some color to harmonize with the interior decoration of the hall should be hung to pull down at night. This makes it impossible for outsiders to peer into the hall when the lamps are lighted, and at the same time it gives a bright, cheerful aspect to the vestibule. The silk shades are also hung on brass rods and arranged to draw back by small cords and tassels.

The harmony of shades and curtain must always be considered. It is much better to have curtains of dotted or figured muslin than to have a few front windows decorated with handsome silk ones and the rest of the windows with cheaper grades. Some use expensive curtains for the windows on the first floors and dotted muslin for those on the second and third.—New Voice.

ON THE ANXIOUS BENCH.

And Likely to Stay There a Very Long Time.

One of the great magazines accepted a sonnet from an unknown author—the first manuscript he had submitted to it. A check was inclosed in the letter of acceptance.

Then the author sat down and waited. He waited for the sonnet to appear.

After three years—during which period he was a regular purchaser of the magazine—he ventured to call the editor's attention to the fact that the sonnet had not been published.

The editor replied, in substance, as follows:

"Dear Sir—We cannot say when your poem will appear. There are just 975 ahead of it, and we only give place to three poems a month. It will come, however, in its regular order."

Then the author went out and figured just how old he would be when the 975 were exhausted and rolled up his sleeves and went to work and shook the dust of literature from his poetical feet.—Atlanta Constitution.

A Spring-Time Epidemic.

There is an epidemic in the air accompanied by distressing symptoms which, strange to say, no school of medicine can alleviate or cure. Generally it is early in the spring that it makes its appearance in the larger cities, attacking without distinction the rich and the poor, the strong and the weak. There is a feeling of enervation, a distaste for one's daily duties, and intense longing to get away from the sights and sounds of the city; to go far away to a country of still waters, and rushing rivers, of mountains and of forests, whose atmosphere is redolent with the sweet odors of the pine tree and the balsams.

The proper course of treatment, if it be possible, is to permit the patient to follow his inclinations. The very knowledge that he is to do so and the making of the necessary preparations will, to a great extent, mitigate his sufferings and the change of scene and occupation will infallibly complete the cure.

Of course every pond, lake and stream in Northern New England offers exceptional advantages for the fisherman, but Maine is a region particularly adapted to early fishing. Among the more prominent resorts it is expected that by the middle of May the ice will have entirely disappeared from the lakes and the outlook is that the season will be the best for years. Every devotee to angling has some particular spot to which he takes himself for his season of sport, but for the novice it is really a task to select a rendezvous, so numerous and inviting are the camps.

Carrabassett, Moosehead, Eustis, Phillips, Megantic, the Aroostook and Washington County regions, Lakes Winnepesaukee, Sunapee and the mountain streams and a score of other near-by locations are perhaps the most favored ones. To reach the regions of angling is now-a-days an easy task, for the train service from Boston and vicinity to all of the fishing points of Maine and Northern New Hampshire, is arranged with the end in view of providing that which is most desired by the sportsman. The Passenger Department of the Boston & Maine R. R., Boston, publishes a book, entitled "Fishing and Hunting," that is replete in imformation for the sportsman. If you are interested send a two cent stamp as above directed and you will get it together with a folder of trains and rates.

Keith's Theatre.

The programme at Keith's for the week of May 15 will include: Papinta, the "myriad" dancer, who has been scoring a bigger hit than ever before; the Four Cohans, in their screamingly funny sketch, "Running for Office;" Waterbury Brothers and Tenny, one of the greatest teams of musical comedians in the varieties; Laredo, celebrated contortionist; Hughey Dougherty, blackface monologue comedian; Drawee, a skilful juggler; Charles Kilpatrick, the noted one-legged trick and fancy bicycle rider; Fred Herbert's dogs, a wonderful troupe of canine performers; Tom Hefron, the monopede comedian and dancer, and many others of note. The biograph will have its usual compliment of new motion pictures, including some of the big Odd Fellows' parade at Everett, and hurdle jumping by members of the Patapaco Hunt Club of Milton, mounted on prize winners of the recent Boston horse show.

—The city of Malden is going to celebrate its 250th anniversary on an elaborate scale. Something like $18,000 has been appropriated and efficient committee have completed the arrangements for the gala event, which gives promise of an exceedingly interesting occasion. The celebration will commence Saturday, May 20 with exercises by the school children, and on Sunday appropriate religious service will be held. Monday and Tuesday will be devoted to public gatherings with addresses by eminent speakers, a banquet, parade, athletic sports, etc. The city will be arrayed in holiday attire, and the decorations will be unusually extensive and elaborate. Those in charge of the affair will spare no effort to add to the pleasure of the thousands of guests expected to be present.

Mr. Jas. R. Qualey has purchased the Storrs place corner Elm and Washington streets, for $8,000. He will make extensive repairs and will probably move there as soon as completed.

Rev. O. O. Ordway has accepted a call from North Haven, Me., where he expects to go soon.

Mr. Wellington is making estimates on some 2,000 ton vessels and if he succeeds in getting them that little drawbridge at Quincy Point will have to give way to a larger one.

A wharf 300 feet long is to be built at the Fore River Engine works and a basin is being made 350 feet long, 175 feet wide, and 10 feet deep at low water, for use in finishing large vessels.

An accident happened at Kelley's gold mine, Thursday, by which a horse, cart and Mr. Hender's out-building were all turned bottom side up. There was nothing to hinder a continuance of work, except a little unnecessary inconvenience.

The Grand Army boys will make a slight change in the order of Memorial day services this year. They will march to Braintree, to Plain street, and to the Pond street cemeteries. After the dinner the usual speeches will be dispensed with and the Woman's Relief Corps will give an entertainment in the Town Hall.

The pupils of the Monatiquot school are to have another spelling contest Tuesday evening. May 23, in which the fifth and eighth grades will compete with the sixth and seventh grades. The contest will include both oral and written spelling. The written work will be given at the afternoon session of that day and announced at the evening contest.

The death of H. F. Packard at his home on Hancock street, Thursday afternoon, was a great shock to his many friends, for he was sick only three weeks. He was taken sick on the 18th of last month, complaining of a backache and weakness. He went home and from that time he gradually sank until he died as stated above.

Castle Square Theatre.

The Castle Square theatre management announces a production of Charles H. Hoyt's satirical comedy "A Temperance Town," as its attraction for the coming week, engagements having been made with Messrs. George Richards, Eugene Canfield and George Ober to appear with the regular stock company in the characters they created in the original production of the play some years ago. The play has enjoyed great popularity with Boston audiences in its earlier productions here, and the coming Castle Square performance will undoubtedly again demonstrate its attractions for the local amusement public. The cast arranged is as follows: Launcelot Jones, George Richards; St. Julien Jones, Eugene Canfield; John Worth, Charles Mackay; Squire Belcher, J. L. Seeley; Kneeland Pray, Lindsay Morison; Frank Hardman, N. H. Fowler; Uncle Joe Vial, George Ober; William Putnam, Tony Cummings; Wes. Perry, J. R. Pitman, Jr.; Judge Graham Doe, George Ober; Foreman of Jury, Wm. W. DeWolf; Ruth, Lillian Lawrence; Patience Hardman, Jennie Kendrick; Roxana, Mary Sanders; Arabella, Marian A. Chapman; Mary Jane Jones, Fannie Addison Pitt; One of the Crossman Children, Little Doris Bramson.

CONVICT'S NEAT PLOT.

How a Prisoner Planned to Escape From Sing Sing Jail.

JAMES MILLER USED HIS WITS.

Made a Mask of Plaster to Place on the Top of a Dummy That Was to Represent Him In His Cell at Inspection—Discovery of the Plan by Warden Sage.

Warden Sage of Sing Sing prison recently nipped in the bud one of the most curious as well as one of the most ingenious attempts at escape ever made by a Sing Sing convict.

The adroitly concocted plot, moreover, which the warden succeeded only by the merest chance in spoiling has demonstrated that, complete as the system of watching the men, locking them up and accounting for them in their cells was supposed to be, there is in it a loop through which a particularly slippery convict might wriggle his way to liberty. The sharp eyes of Convict James Miller, after a residence in the prison of only a few months, detected this exit to the outer world, and the sharp wits of Convict Miller at once began to work on the problem of how he could take advantage of it.

The men are marched in from the prison yard in groups, each with his hand on the other's shoulder in the shuffling prison lock step. As the groups pass through the portal of the great dormitory they file off in different squads to the respective tiers of cells where they belong. Here they are lined up, each one before his allotted cell, and when they step inside the combination lock, fastening a whole row of cells at one turn of the key, is thrown and the men are bolted in for the night.

After the locking up comes inspection. It is not enough to see the men go into the cells. They must be seen, each one erect, ready for inspection and identification. To this end the prisoner as soon as the lock is thrown is required to stand at attention in front of his cell door until the guard has passed and tallied him. Convict James Miller, who occupied cell No. 180 on gallery No. 4, saw through this elaborate system a hole. The idea would have been hopeless had he not been what is called a "hall man," which is a convict who keeps the galleries clean and looks after the beds and who does not have to march in lock step with the rest.

He must enter his cell, however, when the others do and stand erect before his cell door and be inspected by the guard after he is locked in. The weak spot which Miller discovered in the system was that there existed a certain laxity in allowing the hall men to go and come from the house where the bedding is kept in another part of the prison. The hall men do not have to get a pass to go to the bedding room and do not have to report when they get back.

Miller planned to make an excuse to change a pillow on a cot and thus go to the bedding room. He decided to do this a few minutes before the men filed in to be put into their cells. In the shuffle he hoped he would not be missed and would be in the bedding room with easy access to the yard and the walls. There would still be the cell inspection. Instead of the striped figure and well known features of Convict Miller standing before the cell door the guard would see only vacancy, and instantly an alarm would be given.

Miller decided that he must have some sort of a representative to take his place at the cell door when the inspection was made, and he decided to manufacture a dummy. The dummy must have a head, and, what was hardest of all, the head must have features that sufficiently resembled those of Convict Miller to deceive a guard standing not more than two feet away.

To solve this difficulty Convict Miller hit upon the device of making a plaster of paris mask of his own face, and to do this he set about getting together some plaster of paris. This was not so very difficult. The article is kept in the jobbing room, and several convicts have access to it. One of these Miller took into his confidence to a certain extent and soon had several pounds of the material. He knew he must have grease on his face when he applied the plaster, and this he obtained by getting vaseline from the apothecary shop from time to time on various pretexts and carefully hoarding it.

When all was ready, he mixed the plaster of paris in his cell wash kettle with water and worked it to about the proper consistency. Then he pressed his greased face down into the mass, leaving a well defined mold. Next he scraped the vaseline from his face, and with that and what he had left greased the mold itself. Into this he pressed more moistened plaster of paris, and when he lifted the cast away the result was a perfect reproduction of the features of Convict Miller.

It was, of course, of a ghastly white color, and Miller got a number of colored pencils. He had only gone so far as to make large black pupils for the eyes when his plan was discovered and his work of months was undone. Miller had not the remotest suspicion that anything was wrong up to the moment the blow fell. Early one evening Warden Sage suddenly sent for him to come to the prison office.

"Miller," said the warden, "do you know anything about blacksmithing?"

"No, sir," said Miller.

"Nor anything about ironwork?"

"No, sir."

"Oh!" said the warden indifferently. "I didn't know but you did. It's of no consequence. That's all."

So Miller, bewildered, was conducted to his cell, and when he went to look for his precious face cast it and all his other treasures had vanished.—New York World.

STUDENTS' GHOST DANCE.

Weird Midnight Scene In the Pennsylvania University Quadrangle.

The vaunted "student self control" of Pennsylvania is a thing of the past and the university authorities will doubtless feel called upon to put some restrictions on undergraduates. The cause of it all was a smoker held by the architectural society the other night in House H of the dormitories. Student enthusiasm ran high and others living in that house joined in the fun. The contagion spread and soon 200 students were rolling and tumbling on the grass of the triangle, clad only in nightshirts or pyjamas.

In vain did the proctors of House H strive to keep down such unseemly spirit; then, giving up the task, they began to procure names for the university authorities. And some good names they had to take. Not only the most popular athletes—members of the varsity football and baseball teams and crews, but sons of prominent university officers and promising scions of Philadelphia's most prominent families joined in the unusual revel.

Such a sight was never witnessed before at Penn. The triangle would not hold the celebration and it spread to the "quad" or old athletic field. There a huge fire was kindled and piled high with brush, boxes and fenceposts. In the glare of the firelight round and round danced 100 varsity students in a crazy revel. They danced and whooped with the agility of Sioux. Then they took a turn at athletics, turning handsprings and hurdling over the benches on the field. Then a doleful dirge was chanted, and it gave way in turn to the "Oskewowo!" and other college yells. "We're going to outdo Princeton," chirped one merrymaker, and so they did.

The sight of white robed university students dancing in a blaze of light at midnight was certainly a novel sight to every resident of West Philadelphia who saw it, and hundreds looked on. Every window along Woodland avenue, Thirty-seventh and Spruce streets for two squares was crowded, and a squad of policemen looked on in awe from the Twenty-first district station. "We won't interfere as long as they keep off the streets," said one officer, and the students knew that. Not since the night of the midnight cannon firing last fall has there been such a sensation furnished by student pranks, and this, like the former frolic, will probably be hushed up as quietly as possible on account of the high standing of many of the participants. The most that is expected is a drawing of the lines of authority a little tighter over "student self control."—Philadelphia Press.

CHURCH FOR PORTO RICO.

Bishop McLaren of Chicago to Organize One In San Juan.

Chicago claims the honor of establishing the first Episcopal church in the West Indies. The first congregation of this denomination in Uncle Sam's new possessions will be formally organized at San Juan, Porto Rico, with a membership of 36. Bishop McLaren of the Chicago diocese recently forwarded to San Juan documents authorizing the establishment of an Episcopal church in that city and appointed the Rev. George B. Pratt to assume charge of the new congregation as rector.

Mr. Pratt was formerly assistant rector of the Church of the Epiphany, Chicago, and is now in Porto Rico, engaged in religious work. He left the United States last February as the personal agent of Bishop McLaren, with instructions to visit Porto Rico and the adjacent islands for the purpose of making a careful survey of the field. He has since sent a number of favorable reports to the bishop on the outlook in the island and made strong recommendations for active missionary work among the natives.

As the result of his efforts Bishop McLaren several days ago received a petition signed by 86 residents of San Juan asking to have a church founded in that city and pledging $300 a year toward defraying the expense of the undertaking. Major General Guy Henry, the military governor of the island, was the first to sign the petition. Among the other signers are Colonel J. W. Russey, Major George W. Fishback, Captain Charles F. Mason, Major L. Breckemann, William Fawcett Smith, Paul C. Hulton, U. S. A., Carl R. Meltz, Captain H. A. Reed, Dora W. Hogan, Maria MacCornish and Bertha Zahn.

Last Easter morning a number of army officers and merchants gathered at a private dwelling in San Juan to worship, and at the conclusion of the service those present decided to found a church. It was decided to name it the Church of St. John the Baptist. The decision to found the church and send Mr. Pratt from Chicago as the first rector is the result.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Football Center on the Firing Line.

Dave Burnett, big center of the football team of Stanford university, is with Battery A, Utah artillery, in the Philippines. In a letter written after an experience on the firing line, he says: "One's feelings under fire are curious, fear passes away, except a dread that one may be driven back. One looks at others and admires them and thinks that everybody is brave but himself. You wonder why a man standing beside you remains there; you think he is foolish and probably tell him to get down. You will notice some little thing and pay no attention to anything of importance."—Boston Journal.

Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." AGUINALDO WEAKENS.

Wants a Filipino Commission to Present His Views to Americans.

The Latter Inclined to Favor the Suggestion.

President Schurman Gives a Farewell Luncheon to Admiral Dewey.

Washington, May 15.—The following dispatch from Major General Otis, giving the status of the military situation as it now exists in the operations against the insurgents, was received at the war department yesterday under date of May 14:

"The situation is as follows: Lawton, from Baliuag, has taken Ilde Fonso and San Miguel, to the north, with slight loss, and driving a considerable force of the enemy. Gunboats and canoes accompany 1500 men under Kobbe up the Rio Grande river from Calumpit. MacArthur remains at San Fernando, covering the country. Yesterday a messenger arrived from Aguinaldo expressing the wish to send a commission to Manila for a conference with the United States commission to arrange terms of peace. Directions were given to pass a body of representative insurgents to Manila if it should present itself.

"It is reported that at Zamboanga insurgents attacked Spanish troops on the 11th instant, using quick-firing guns and arms captured from Spanish gunboats. Spanish general and two officers wounded. Few casualties among troops. Spanish garrison now besieged. Water supply cut off, and troops calling for relief."

Press advices from Manila say that the civilian members of the United States Philippine commission are favorable to meeting with a Filipino commission, which was suggested on behalf of Aguinaldo by Lieutenant Reyes, who came to General Lawton under a flag of truce, bearing the proposal.

It is thought by the American commissioners that the idea may have resulted from a recent meeting of the so-called Filipino congress at San Isidro. Definite information on this point, however, cannot be obtained, though the local Filipino committee, which is in close communication with the leaders of the rebellion, is doing its utmost to secure peace.

Ten members of Major General Lawton's band of scouts, under W. M. Young, the old Indian fighter, entered the town of San Miguel, about 15 miles north of Norzagaray, not aware of what place it was. They found 200 Filipinos there, but the rebels, taking the scouts for the advance of General Lawton's army, fled after firing a few shots. Young and another scout were wounded, and have been brought to Manila.

The Ninth infantry and a mount of six guns have been sent to the front.

Professor Schurman, president of the United States Philippine commission, gave a farewell luncheon yesterday to Admiral Dewey, at which Professor Dean Worcester and Colonel Denby of the commission, with General MacArthur, Mrs. Lawton and others, were present. The health of the admiral was drunk with the utmost cordiality.

As Viewed by Sevela.

Madrid, May 15.—Premier Silvela, in an interview regarding the attack by the Filipinos upon the Spanish garrison at Zamboanga, island of Mindanao, in which two Spanish officers and three men were wounded and one man was killed, said:

FRANCISCO SILVELA.

"It is very painful to us to have suffered these losses in a territory that does not belong to us. We left these troops in the Philippines in the hope that they might aid in securing the release of the Spanish prisoners in the hands of the Filipinos. Our efforts in this direction have been useless. Aguinaldo refuses to treat with us, and a Frenchman (M. Dumarais) who had offered on our behalf to treat with the enemy was killed by them.

"America has not yet succeeded, as she has no more authority than we had. We cannot leave troops any longer in a territory that we are not obliged to defend, and I have telegraphed General Rios to use three steamers for the immediate transportation of our troops from Zamboanga and Yolo (?) and to acquaint Major Gengral Otis with these instructions, so that the American commander may possess the territories we are abandoning."

IS ADMIRED BY ALL.

Dewey Sure to Be Accorded a Warm Welcome by Foreign Nations.

Washington, May 15.—Admiral Dewey's homecoming by way of the Mediterranean is likely to give occasion for distinguished honors from the navies of Europe, most of them being represented by extensive squadrons in those waters, and some of them having their chief naval stations at Mediterranean ports. Already Ambassador Cambon has cabled the attention of the authorities at Paris to the return of Admiral Dewey by way of the Mediterranean and the probable sailing of his flagship Olympia past the French naval ports in Algiers. These are opposite the British possessions of Gibraltar and Malta, at the entrance to the Mediterranean, and are easy and natural stopping places along that route. It is hardly expected that the admiral will touch at Toulon, the great naval seaport of France. At all the ports of French Algiers he will be accorded every honor due not only to his high rank, but to the universal esteem in which he is held by the naval fraternity.

The British authorities have taken no steps thus far to have the admiral stop at British ports, but it is stated by one of the British officials that Dewey will be assured a most enthusiastic reception if he stops at any British station, and undoubtedly steps will be taken to induce him to touch at Plymouth and Portsmouth, the southern naval depots of England, if there are any prospects of his acceptance.

In any event, it is said, the admiral is quite likely to stop at Malta and Gibraltar, as these are the usual coaling places, and this will give a opportunity for an expression of British esteem for him. In the event that the admiral could be induced to stop in England en route home, it is said that he will probably be met at Aden or Port Said by a British escort.

They Earned Their Money.

New York, May 15.—Peter Hegelman won the 72-hour go-as-you-please race, with a score of 407 miles. The record for the time is 416 miles 602 yards, made by Gus Guerrero in Boston on April 8, 1891. At one time in the race just finished, at the 56th hour, Hegelman was ahead of the record by 200 yards, but he did not hold the advantage long. Of the 16 men who started eight finished, with scores to their credit as follows: Hegelman, 407.0; Glick, 393.4; Tracey, 387.4; Cox, 382.0; Igo, 361.0; Day, 346.7; Barnes, 352.10; Geary, 224.2. Five of the men will get prizes of $...., $100, $75 and $50, and the other three will get their expenses paid. Barnes, 62 years old, a veteran of the Civil war, gathered in a handful of dollar bills from the sympathetic spectators during the closing hours by running his 350th mile in Grand Army hat and coat.

To Talk With Brooke.

Havana, May 15.—General Gomez has sent a message to Governor General Brooke that he will call at headquarters today for a further conference regarding the payment of the Cuban troops. The appointment for the interview is the result of a direct inquiry as to what General Gomez intended to do in view of the resignation and non-appearance of all the Cuban officers nominated by him to represent the several corps in the distribution of the $3,000,000. General Brooke is unwilling to consider Gomez as insincere or as acting in bad faith; but the governor general still retains the discretion reposed in him by President McKinley to abandon the effort to disband the late insurgents with the gratuity and to send back the entire amount to the United States.

Trausvaal Troubles.

London, May 15.—The Cape Town correspondent o' The Daily Mail says: At a meeting of the commandants on the western border of the Transvaal Saturday instructions were issued to the burghers to prepare to take the field at a moment's notice from Pretoria. The negotiations are still pending for the proposed meeting between President Kruger and Sir Alfred Milner, governor of Cape Colony and British high commissioner for South Africa. Mr. Chamberlain, British colonial secretary, it is said, will not assent to the conference unless the Transvaal executive pledges himself to initiate bona fide reforms.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—4:22; sets, 7.
Moon sets—Morn.
High water—3:45 a. m.; 4:30 p. m.

Fair weather has prevailed in the Atlantic coast and southern states. Over the northern half of the country the temperature is below the seasonable average. By tonight a rain area will probably extend over the middle Atlantic states, and reach New England by Tuesday. Along the Atlantic coast the winds will shift to easterly and become fresh.

SCHOONER WENT DOWN

Disappeared So Suddenly That Crew Had No Time to Escape.

Seven Sailors Went to the Bottom With Her.

Captain May Have Escaped, but His Wife and Child Were Drowned.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 15.—The schooner Nelson, with a cargo of coal, foundered in Lake Superior, off Grand Marais, Saturday evening and carried down all hands, with the captain, his wife and child, it is believed, although a late report from Deer Park, Mich., says that the captain was saved. The Nelson was in tow of the steamer Folsom, with another schooner.

The beach at Grand Marais was but four miles under the lee of the boats and Captain White determined to try the dangerous expedient of turning the tow in the sea, and running before the wind for White Fish Point. Before the turn was finished the Nelson was seen to turn toward [illegible] and it became evident that [illegible] started under the strain or had been cut. Soon it became apparent that she was sinking. There was no chance of rendering any assistance, however, as the crew of the Folsom had their hands full in taking care of their own craft and the Mitchell. In a few minutes the Nelson threw her stern into the air and dove straight for the bottom. Where she sank there is 300 feet of water.

The sinking ship disappeared so suddenly that her crew had no time to even lower their yawl, which hung on the davits at the stern. The Folsom and Mitchell show marks of the heavy weather through which they passed.

The crew consisted of Captain Andrew Haghney of Toledo, with his wife and 2-year-old child; Fred Haas, sailor, residence unknown, and six other sailors, names unknown.

The Nelson, which is owned by the Mitchell Transportation company of Bay City, Mich., was in tow of the steamer A. Folsom, which had the schooner Mary L. B. Mitchell as a consort. The Folsom and Mitchell turned back, and arrived here Saturday afternoon, without serious damage. Captain A. E. White, master of the steamer, at once reported the disaster to the owners. The Folsom, Mitchell and Nelson were laden with coal.

At the time of the disaster the wind was blowing a gale of 50 miles an hour and freezing hard. The three boats were being coated with ice, and this added to their coal made them ride very low in the water. The seas broke aboard constantly, and the force of the gale was driving them toward the beach.

The Nelson was formerly one of the crack vessels of the lake fleet, and when she first came out in 1866 was considered an extremely large schooner. She measured 766 gross tons, and was 163 feet long by 32 feet beam.

Irving Laid Up.

London, May 15.—Sir Henry Irving, whose recent work in the title role of Sardou's drama, "Robespierre," at the Lyceum theater, has been exceedingly trying, was taken seriously ill Sunday with an affection of the throat. Dr. Fara, a specialist, was summoned and, as the result of his advice, it is announced that Sir Henry's part during the week will be taken by his son, Lawrence. The announcement of the illness brought a large number of professional callers to Mr. Irving's residence, but his medical adviser has forbidden him to receive any one at present.

Policeman Used Revolver.

Manchester, N. H., May 15.—At Lake Massabesic Thomas Coyne, a young man with some local reputation as a prize fighter, was shot in the abdomen by Frank Gilbert, an Auburn policeman. Two other young men were arrested and their friends were trying to get them away from the police. The policemen, Gilbert and Dunn, were being badly used by about a dozen toughs, and Gilbert claims to have shot in self-defense. Coyne is not thought to be very badly hurt.

Grain Shovellers at Work.

Buffalo, May 15.—The grain shovellers returned to work this morning under the agreement reached Sunday morning at the conference between the Lake Carriers' association, elevator men and grain shovellers. The terms of the agreement were reduced to writing and signed last night at the residence of Bishop Quigley. The agreement provides that the grain shovellers shall receive $1.85 per 1000 bushels.

Good Afternoon.

The Unity club of Wollaston, which has just closed its sixth season, well may be proud of the interest it has aroused throughout the city in all that pertains to literature. There is hardly a ward but what shows the imprint of its work in the starting of similar organizations.

There is quite a little complaint at the rowdyism which takes place on the westerly slope of Third hill, near Adams street, on Sundays. All day long, from the early forenoon until evening the place is infested by a gang of hoodlums who divide their time between playing cards and insulting passers-by. This seems to be a good opportunity for our police to do a little missionary work on the Sabbath.

There are today attending the public schools of Quincy 4,700 pupils. The school attendance increases at the rate of 200 per year, which means a new eight-room school building every two years, in order to provide the necessary accommodations. In view of the fact that the city has added no new buildings since 1896, when the Gridley Bryant and Massachusetts Fields buildings were erected, it is not surprising that the School Committee come forward now with pressing needs. Perhaps it was the economy of the School Committee which recommended a small wooden building for Ward One, while all the school buildings which the city has erected are of brick. If there is any part of Quincy which should have large brick buildings, it is the business centre. We would suggest that the Lincoln school be used wholly for primary grades, and in view of the report of Superintendent Lull relative to supervision by principals that it be placed under the principal of the Adams or John Hancock schools. There are in the eighth grade of the Lincoln and John Hancock but 50 scholars, who could be united. The erection of one building of eight or nine rooms in the Cranch Hill district would then relieve the John Hancock and Adams and provide for the grammar pupils from the Lincoln, and also relieve the Coddington building. No six-room wooden school building should be erected in Ward One.

MORE SCHOOLS.

School Committee Recommend Two Buildings.

Also That the Old High Be Put in Readiness.

Would Also Purchase Land at Quincy Point.

The School Committee held an important meeting Saturday evening at which the matter of school accommodation was considered and steps taken looking to the relief of the districts that are now overcrowed. Some few weeks ago a special committee was appointed to investigate the subject, and at Saturday night's meeting made its report which was as follows:

"In the original Lincoln district bounded by the tracks of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R., by the electric car tracks in Water and Copeland streets, and by a line drawn through the centre of Station street to Copeland, opposite Buckley, there are at the present time 619 pupils. Of these 119 are in the Willard school; 75 in the John Hancock school; and 34 in the Adams school.

In the present contracted bounds there are in the Lincoln school 391 pupils. Of these only 59 live north of a line drawn from the junction of Albertina street with Centre, through the centre of Brooks avenue to its junction with Brooks road.

If all of the pupils in the three schools mentioned—Willard, John Hancock and Adams—who live in the Lincoln district should be housed in their own district, they would fill four and one-half rooms of 50 pupils each, and the Willard, John Hancock and Adams school would be relieved by the numbers stated above: viz 228. The separation of the seventh and eighth grades would require another room,

There are in the John Hancock school 137 pupils who live in the Cranch hill district east of Quarry street. Of this number 99 pupils live in the Cranch hill district east of Parker street.

In the Coddington school there are 42 pupils who cross the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R., and therefore live in the Cranch hill district.

There are in the Coddington school 91 pupils who live on Union street and Pond street, or east or southeast of the same.

"There are in the Adams school 131 pupils who live south of Water street and east of Quincy avenue.

"There are in the High school 370 pupils; 85 will graduate in June; probably 60 others will not return in September, leaving 225 pupils. In the graduating classes of the grammar schools there are 327 pupils. Last year 70 per cent. entered the High school. If the same per cent. enters this year, the class will number 230, making a total of 455. There ought not to be more than 350 pupils in the new High school building.

"In the business course in September there will probably be 90 pupils in the entering class and 50 in the second year class.

"Your committee therefore submit the following recommendations, and believe that the accommodations provided will meet the wants of the school population for at least two years. In the Washington district, should the Council purchase the land, the needs in that district should be met not later than 1900."

The above report was accepted. The several recommendations were then taken up separately and acted upon. There was but little discussion upon any of them, and they were passed as reported. On the recommendation relative to the purchase of land in the Washington school district, Mr. Page thought it useless to recommend the purchase of land and not a building. He could not see how anything would be gained.

Mr. Smith said the ventilation and light at the Washington school was very bad, and he would like to see a new building recommended. There was a strong sentiment for the building to remain on the present site.

Miss Adams knew personally of cases where the health and nerves of pupils had suffered by attending the Washington school.

Dr. Hallowell said the idea in not recommending a building was so as not to interfere with obtaining the absolutely needed accommodations elsewhere,

The proposition to buy land brings out the point that the School Committee want a new building there.

The chairman was requested to present the recommendations, which were as follows, to the City Council:

RECOMMENDATIONS.

First: That the lot east of the present Lincoln school lot, bounded by Brooks avenue, Taber and Intervale streets, and containing about 16,000 square feet, be purchased.

Second: That an eight-room school building of brick be erected on the lot proposed to be purchased, and that not fewer than six rooms be finished at once.

Third: That a lot of land situated at the junction of Whitwell street and Glendale road in the Cranch hill district, be purchased.

Fourth: That a six-room school building of wood be built on the lot above named.

Fifth: That the Old High school building be repaired and put in condition for occupancy and the heating plant therein be wholly renewed.

Sixth: That land on which to erect a nine-room school building in the Washington school district be purchased. Should the old location be used your committee advise the purchase of additional land, so as to have a lot large enough on which to erect the proposed nine-room building.

APPROPRIATIONS.

The Finance Committee reported that the City Council had cut the School Committee estimate $1,900. To meet this they recommended no reduction in the salaries of teachers or employes be made, but that the amount estimated for evening schools be cut $225; for transportation $75; for books and supplies, $300 and for coal $1300. It was stated that the amount for evening schools with the cut was the same as the amount last year, and in order to increase the scope of the evening schools there would be but one school instead of two. The report was adopted.

The committee on new quarters for the committee were granted further time.

SEWER CONNECTIONS.

It was voted to request the Commissioner of Public Works to connect the school buildings with the sewer system as fast as possible.

Voted that the next meeting of the board be postponed until June 6.

Victory for Adams.

Adams easily defeated the Powder Point school nine, of Duxbury, in the Park, Saturday. The score was 16 to 6. Tate put up the best game that has been seen in the Park for a long time. He accepted five chances without an error, made a two-base hit, and crossed the plate four times. Kent, O'Brien and Hodges made a fine double play in the ninth, with one out, and shut the Powder Point team out without a run. Doble pitched well and support was given him by the entire team, especially by the infield, Bennett and Kent both playing a fine game. The batting and base running was excellent. In the fourth inning eleven Adams men were at bat and of these eight scored.

Lookout for Peddlers.

William F. Lyons was arrested in Boston Sunday for Weymouth officers for the larceny of $50 from A. L. Flint at East Weymouth. Saturday afternoon three strawberry peddlers were about East Weymouth and among the places at which they called was the residence of Mr. Flint. One of the parties entered the house and asked if any strawberries were desired. Mrs. Flint was up stairs at the time and answered no without going down stairs. A few minutes later however upon going down she missed her pocket-book containing $50. The police were notified, who telephoned Quincy and other places to look out for the fellows.

A strawberry team was held up in Quincy but was not the one desired. The officers of station 11, Boston, also apprehended three fellows, one of whom was Lyons, who is alleged to be the man who stole the money.

A special car left the car house Saturday night at 12 o'clock to assist in putting a derailed car on to the track at the Quincy Point bridge.

Boys set fire Sunday to woods off South street, but as this part of the underbush had been burned before, the fire did but little damage.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Whicher of Ivy street, Longwood, are to occupy the Anderson estate at Cohasset this summer, going down late this month.

The electric cars on the Squantum route which were taken off between eleven and two o'clock, now make continuous runs and will continue throughout the summer.

Fire alarm Box 29 located at the junction of Butler road and Putnam street was cut into the fire alarm circuit Saturday afternoon and one round was sounded from it at 4.35.

The Republican conventions in which Quincy voters are directly interested will have the following number of delegates this year: State, 2,025; Councillor, 269; County, 130; Senatorial, 63.

A civil service examination for positions as clerks and carriers in the Post Office will be held at the Quincy post office June 7. Application blanks may be obtained of Miss Souther at the office, and must be filed before June 3.

The desk of Probation Officer F. A. Spear at the Distict Court this morning was ornamented with an exquisite bouquet of cut flowers, which were sent by a friend who remembered that today was the anniversary of his birth. All court officers and newspaper men unite in wishing Frank many happy returns of the day.

Masons Entertain.

Wollaston lodge, F. & A. M., observed its first ladies' night on Saturday evening, from 8 to 10.30. The beautiful lodge room was thronged with Wollaston's well known society people. The platform upon which the Boston Ideal Banjo and Mandolin club discoursed the latest music had been buried by Patterson under a foliage of palms and other potted plants. Miss Gertrude Waterhouse and Miss Catherine Sibley dipped the lemonade. During the evening a lunch was served. The committee on arrangements consisted of Mr. Frank P. Waterhouse, Mr. Edward A. Lyman, Mr. William S. Sayward, Mr. James H. Lewis and Mr. Henry G. Fay.

BUSY CITY YEAR.

Important Matters to Come Before Council Tonight.

Another important session of the City Council will be held tonight. Four public hearings will be held, viz: acceptance of Goddard and Federal avenues, regrading Grove street, widening Howard street, and widening School street between Marsh and Pleasant streets.

The Committee on Health will report on the petition to abate the nuisance at the junction of Miller and Copeland streets and the Committee on Ordinances will report relative to the establishing of the office of City Engineer.

The Committee on Streets will report on the paving of Hancock street, street crossings, finishing Payne street, rebuilding Trafford and Rodman streets and Nightingale avenue, defining the lines of Willard street; also orders for public hearings on acceptance of Arthur and Nelson streets.

The Committee on Licenses will report on a number of petitions for minor licenses and the Committee on Finance may report on the matter of unpaid bills of the fire department of 1898.

In the calendar is the order for a commission to abolish the grade crossings on Savil and Water streets. On the table is the report of the Committee on Finance on the request of the Mayor to refund $40,000 of the city debt maturing this year. This will probably be taken from the table and acted upon.

SPEED INCREASED.

The Boynton Railway Makes Good Time on Paper.

Boynton bicycle railway has bobbed up again in print, but no evidence of construction through Quincy are visible. Mr. Boynton tells the Herald: "I have, for about ten years, been engaged in perfecting my single rail system, and have received more than twenty patents, many of them of great value, recently, applying electricity to high-speed transportation, adapted especially to existing standard gauge railways, without change or interference with their structure, and I am certain that we are on the eve of regular, safe, economical, silent, dustless and luxurious transit at from 200 to 300 miles per hour for long distances, and from 50 to 100 miles per hour for city and suburban traffic.

When asked, how soon he thinks the Boston, Quincy & Fall River line will be completed? Mr. Boynton was evasive and said: "The surveyers and engineering work are well advanced, a preliminary contract for the construction of the first 10 miles has been accepted and it is expected that the entire line of 50 miles will require about one year, and the expenditure of about $2,500,000 to complete it. The railway beside it the (N. Y. N. H. & H.) is valued at 10 times this cost, earns about 10 per cent, net, with 70 per cent, expense of operation. If we save tenfold in the investment cost, four-fold in the operating expenses, and our system no quicker and safer, it would still be so enormously profitable as to render the completion of our standard gauge line thus doubly equipped certain and immensely profitable.

The great benefit, however, will be that all lines in our cities, by using our new patents of May 2, 1899, will be freed, as now for the first time illustrated by The Boston Herald, and we will apply our fully developed electric single rail system to steel cushioned rails without ties, or shadowing or obstructing the street, and with silence and absolute safety connect the city and the country, with speed, economy and safety, that will cause the adoption of the system both for freight and passenger traffic by all the railways of all the world, and the patents and control will be offered to the people, and not to any trust. By patriotic people, Legislature and press of Massachusetts, and a few far-sighted capitalists, this great advance of civilization has been made possible and certain of realization.

—Editor J. S. Smith of the Rockland, Mass., Standard, has issued an illustrated edition devoted to the interests of the town. It is illustrated with fine half-tone engravings of the prominent men of the city and their places of business, and is a most readable and interesting edition. Continued success to Editor Smith and the town of Rockland.

—George T. Rice made the best gross score in the challenge cup match for members at the spring meet of the County Golf club, Saturday, but H. C. Ernst tied him on net score.

The sound of thunder may be heard for 20 or 25 miles. With the ear to the ground much more. Lightning is reflected for 150 to 200 miles.

A NEW CHALLENGER.

White Bear-Minnetonka Club May Try for Quincy Cup.

Edward C. Jewell, the new yachting editor of the Boston Journal says he has received a quiet and not very self-confident tip which ought to be true, if it is not, to the effect that the White Bear-Minnetonka racing crowd are going to send a representative to race for the Quincy Yacht club challenge cup for 21-footers. The strange thing is not that they should be thinking about it, but that they should not have done it before. There is a good lot of very warm sporting blood on those two sheets of fresh water and they have done some very creditable work in working out fast lines independently from the East—so creditable that we should scarcely speak in the patronizing tone we effect toward Western yachting if they had come on and licked us a few times.

Although their defeat of Alpha was scarcely convincing to us at the time (all Boston knows why) and Hoodlum's win over Akela must seem rather hollow to them, still, on the whole, the deal stands with them, and on our part we should do everything possible to encourage them to try another hand.

No doubt the President of the Y. R. A. has already used his personal interest to get a return match for the one he was interested in last year, and in this lustrum of cup races it is only natural to expect that these good sportsmen should want their share. Still there seems no reason why the Quincy Club people and the yachting public in general should not make the aspiration of which we have caught a hint develop into what would certainly be a notable race.

Killed on Railroad.

The newspaper train from Boston early Sunday morning discovered the body of a man on the tracks near Capen's bridge. When the train reached Braintree the Quincy police were notified and John Hall went up and got the body. It was not cut much except about the head. A search of the dead man's clothing brought out a Brockton tax bill in the name of James Dalton, 311 Warren avenue.

The Brockton police were notified and later friends came to Quincy with an undertaker and took charge of the body. It is supposed that Dalton was walking on the track toward Braintree when he was struck by the late freight train, although nothing definite is known at present whether he was struck by a train or fell off the late train.

Mixed Foursomes.

Miss Sherman and Mr. Freeman won the mixed foursomes at the Wollaston links on Saturday with the best gross as well as net score. The summary:

WAS WITHOUT FOUNDATION.

Rumor That Ex-President Cleveland Was Dead Gained Wide Circulation.

Toledo, May 15.—Telegraphic inquiries have been pouring into Toledo from all parts of the country asking whether the rumor that ex-President Cleveland had died yesterday is correct. The steamer State of New York arrived here last evening, and Harvey Scribner, a prominent attorney of this city, who was with Mr. Cleveland at 4 o'clock, says he was well at that time. The rumor was that Mr. Cleveland died suddenly during the afternoon at Middle Bass island, in Lake Erie. From every point near the island the rumor was unconfirmed.

Princeton, N. J., May 15.—A telegram has reached Mrs. Cleveland from Sandusky, O., stating that Mr. Cleveland is all right.

Sandusky, O., May 15.—The steamer Arrow made a stop at Middle Bass island at 10 o'clock last night. Captain Brown, commanding the Arrow, said: "There is nothing whatever in the report that ex-President Cleveland is dead." The captain said he saw Mr. Cleveland at 9 o'clock. He was then alive and well.

The Easton Disaster.

Reading, Pa., May 15.—At least 10,000 persons visited the scene of the railroad wreck at Easton yesterday. Almost everybody was bent on carrying some momento. Many of the people did not hesitate to take away with them pieces of wood thoroughly saturated with human blood. Everything in the neighborhood of the wreck is bespattered with blood, and the sight is a gruesome one. The question as to who is responsible for the catastrophe is still being discussed here. That some one blundered is generally admitted by railroad men. Who it was that blundered, however, no one seems to positively know, and opinions on this point differ widely. Twenty-nine dead and 50 injured, some so badly that they may not recover, is the result of the wreck.

Administration Endorsed.

Minneapolis, May 15.—One of the largest gatherings ever seen in this city yesterday adopted strong resolutions upholding the policy of the administration in connection with the Philippines. The names of President McKinley and of Dewey were cheered to the echo several times during the afternoon. President Northrop of the University of Minnesota, one of the principal speakers, severely criticised the college professors and presidents who have recently antagonized President McKinley's course in the Philippines, and declared that the president was doing only that which could be done in justice to all mankind.

Killed by Robbers.

Baltimore, May 15.—Louis Rosenstein, a storekeeper of Slidell, who was assaulted Saturday and was brought to Baltimore for treatment, died yesterday from the effects of his injuries. Mrs. Rosenstein, who was also beaten into insensibility, is dying. A large sum of money was stolen by the murderers. A blood-stained shirt was found in the woods, and it is said to have been recognized as one worn by the negro, Humphrey Taylor, who is suspected of having committed the crime.

Invitation to Bryan Revoked.

Manhattan, Kas., May 15.—The board of regents of the state agricultural college, which is now composed of five Republicans and two Populists, two Republicans having been seated last Friday in place of two Populists removed by Governor Stanley, adopted a resolution annulling the action of President Will in inviting William J. Bryan to deliver the commencement oration next month.

Stead In a Pulpit.

St. Petersburg, May 15.—William T. Stead, editor of The Review of Reviews, after an audience of the czar Sunday, at which he received the thanks of the emperor for his efforts on behalf of the peace conference, addressed an assemblage at the British and American church, the novelty of which proceeding was enhanced by his criticism of the workings of the Russian censorship.

Almost Suffocated.

Boston, May 15.—Two persons were taken from a burning tenement in Charlestown last night, after being almost overcome by smoke. One of them was a little girl 7 years old, while the other, an aged woman, was brought down four flights of stairs by the firemen in an almost unconscious condition. The damage to the house was slight.

Will Stick to Chicago.

Chicago, May 15.—Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews, superintendent of the Chicago schools, will remain in Chicago. He sent a letter yesterday to Governor Thomas of Colorado, declining the presidency of the state agricultural college of Colorado. Dr. Andrews said that the state of his wife's health had much to do with his refusal of the offer.

Because He Wouldn't Treat.

Chicago, May 15.—Henry Reitz, a janitor at the Jefferson school, refused to buy drinks for two men whom he met in a saloon yesterday and a short time later he was struck a fatal blow by one of his companions. He was found unconscious by two policemen and died in a few minutes without making a statement.

[Articles of Association for the formation of a Street Railway Corporation.]

Stoughton & Randolph Street Railway Company.

WE, the subscribers, hereby associate ourselves together with the intention of forming a Corporation for the purpose of constructing and operating a Street Railway for the conveyance of passengers, agreeably to the provisions of chapter one hundred and thirteen of the Public Statutes, and all general laws in addition thereto or amendment thereof.

The name of the Corporation shall be the Stoughton & Randolph Street Railway Company.

The proposed Railway is to commence at a point on Washington street, at the Easton town line, in the town of Stoughton and County of Norfolk, and to extend through said town of Stoughton to the division line of the town of Randolph, in said County of Norfolk, and through said town of Randolph to a point on Union street, at the Holbrook town line, in the town of Randolph, its terminus.

Its length will be about eight miles, and its gauge four feet, eight and one-half inches, as required by law.

The capital stock of said Company shall be eighty thousand dollars ($80,000).

The seven following named persons, being subscribers to these Articles, and a majority of them inhabitants of Stoughton and Randolph, shall act as a Board of Directors, until others are chosen by the Corporation, viz:—

Edward F. Draper of Weymouth, John Stretton of Stoughton,
Daniel B. White of Randolph, Lucius Clapp of Randolph,
Franklin Worcester of Hollis, N. H., William L. Hodges of Stoughton,
Marcus L. Urann of Easton.

And we hereby severally agree to take the number of shares in the capital stock of said Corporation set against our respective names.

Witness our hands this third day of May, 1899.

IN EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

Ordination of Professor Briggs In New York Pro-Cathedral.

Much-Talked-of Protests Did Not Materialize.

Ceremonies Were Hurried Through and Devoid of Sensational Features.

New York, May 15.—The ordination of Professor C. A. Briggs, D. D., took place yesterday at the hands of Bishop Potter in the pro-cathedral of the Protestant Episcopal church. Dr. Briggs, who was found guilty of heresy by the Presbyterian assembly, was ordained together with Rev. Charles A. Snedeker.

Those who expected from the great outcry of the past three weeks some sensational features were disappointed. There was no scene, no excitement and no protest was filed either beginning, during or at the close of the ordination. One would imagine that it was the ordination of two average priests.

There was nothing notable in the sermon preached by Rev. Dr. George Douglass to attract attention. The most radical statement in the whole sermon was mild, such as "intellectual paralysis is not an attribute of the church of God, but intellectual faith is."

Rev. Dr. Douglass discoursed on "Authority," taking his text from the 21st chapter of St. Matthew, 23 verse. His line of thought was that one in order to be an authority must live up to the word of God as well as to preach it.

The ceremonies were very long, commencing at 10:30 o'clock and continuing until late in the afternoon. If anything the services were hurried a little, and the general communion which followed the communion of the postulants or candidates tended to extend the time. The church cannot seat more than 500 people, and there was about twice that number sitting and standing.

Bishop Potter was asked what he had to say preliminary to the ceremonies. He said he had no notice of protest and had received no protest. He smiled at the thought of any of the objecting clergymen appearing in the church and making a scene. He, however, said that he had received a letter from a layman protesting against the ordination of Dr. Briggs, and as this letter was written under a misapprehension of the facts and law, he had answered. He did not desire to give the name of the layman who, he said, was high up in the councils of the church. Inasmuch as the letter he himself had written in answer to it was general in its nature, and set forth his position, he had no objection to making it public.

Rev. Dr. Briggs was somewhat nervous, though he did not betray it in the church during the ceremonies. There was a semblance of nervousness in all the celebrants. There seemed to be a tendency to hurry through the ceremonies. The church was not decorated. Only a few potted plants and a few lilies were in the chancel.

Precisely at 10:30 the organist began an organ voluntary. He had scarcely finished it when the opening strains of the processional were heard. The usual order was observed in the processional. After the choir came the vicar, Rev. Dr. Paddock, then the candidates, Rev. Drs. Briggs and Snedeker, their sponsors, Rev. Drs. Smith and Nelson and Osborne, and lastly the bishop. Rev. Dr. Briggs wore the stole of academical decree, as also did Rev. Dr. Snedeker. Bishop Potter wore his usual vestments.

The congregation stood as the processional was being gone through with. The candidates and their sponsors took seats which had been placed in a row in front of the chancel. Bishop Potter took a seat near the holy table and Rev. Dr. George William Dougless, who was to deliver the ordination sermon, Rev. Dr. Osborne and the presbyters took seats on either side of the chancel. Rev. Dr. Douglass is an occasional preacher in Grace church, which was offered by the Rev. Dr. Huntington for the ordination. He lives in Tuxedo Park, N. J.

A simple service, according to the Episcopal church, was gone through and then the rites of ordination in accordance with "the form and manner of ordering priests" was begun.

After a prayer and singing Rev. Dr. Douglass delivered his sermon. In his charge to the candidates Dr. Douglass spoke slowly and impressively. At the conclusion of the sermon of ordination Rev. Dr. Osborne read the litany. Then the most impressive moment arrived. The sponsors went forward and presented the candidates to the bishop. The candidates stood together with their sponsors before the bishop. After the postulants had been presented to the bishop and after those presenting them had given the usual assurance that they had been examined and found worthy, the bishop rose from his chair and proclaimed a general invitation to any persons knowing "any impediment or notable crime" in the candidates to come forward and declare.

Then followed a profound silence. People turned about as if expecting some one to rise up and make a protest. No one arose. There was no protest handed to the bishop and the crucial moment was over. Then the regular formula of ordination was gone through with more deliberation.

Then followed the laying on of the hands of the bishop and the presbyters and the participation in the communion. During the entire communion service the candidates remained kneeling in front of the holy table before the bishop. The presentation of the Bible was gone through with. Many of the congregation participated in the communion. During this Rev. Dr. Briggs took a seat in the chancel choir, and sat for the first time facing the congregation, who surveyed him with interest. The reading of the Nicene creed, an offertory and the recessional concluded the ceremonies.

Among those present at the ordination ceremonies were M. H. Mallory of The Churchman, Rev. Dr. Brown, a professor in the Union theological seminary, who defended Dr. Briggs before the Presbyterian assembly in 1893; Rev. Dr. McIlvaine and many other ministers of the Episcopal and other churches.

EXPERIENCE IN THE KLONDIKE

May Have Unbalanced the Mind of a Man Who Tried to Drown Himself.

Lynn., Mass., May 15.—One of the most unique attempts at suicide in the police annals of this city occurred in the police station yesterday afternoon, when Thomas West, a returned Klondiker, tried to drown himself in his cell. When removed by Sergeant Andrew S. Beesom from the bowl in which he sought death, he was in a semi-conscious condition, and when he came to battled vigorously with those intent on saving his life.

West, who says his home is in the provinces, came to Lynn about a week ago, and was arrested for drunkenness. Delirium tremens developed, and he was sent to a hospital, from which he was discharged as cured yesterday morning, and returned to the lockup to appear in court this morning.

According to his story he accumulated considerable money in the fishing business, sailing out of Gloucester and from T wharf, Boston, since the beginning of the fish war, leaving his seines when the Klondike boom developed. He got no farther than Juneau, where he fell in with confidence men, who got his outfit and most of his money, leaving him barely enough to make his way back to St. John, N. B., where he disposed of some little property that had been left him. There he was very despondent, and started on a debauch a month ago, which ended with his arrest here.

He will be examined as to his sanity, and if found to be insane will be sent to the Danvers asylum. It is thought that his Klondike experience may have unbalanced his mind.

Rape Fiend Killed.

Bridgeport, Conn., May 15.—Luigi Minotti, an Italian, aged 42, who resided with his wife at 4 Malloy lane, outraged the 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cabassa at his house yesterday and last night he was shot dead by Clementi Cabassa, an 18-year-old brother of the girl. Young Cabassa was later arrested and admitted to the officers that he did the shooting. The Cabassas and Minottis were neighbors and on very friendly terms. Mrs. Cabassa, with her little girl, were calling on Mrs. Minotti yesterday afternoon, and while the two women had gone out of the room Minotti committed the crime. The child is in quite a serious condition.

Manchester's Big Fire.

Manchester, N. H., May 15.—A large six-story stone block, known as the Kennard, situated in the center of the business section, and occupied by the Second National bank, a number of clothing dealers and a large number of offices was badly damaged by fire early Sunday morning. Six persons who were in the building at the time were removed with considerable difficulty, and a number of them were overcome by smoke. All, however, recovered. The building was supposed to be fireproof. It is estimated that the collective loss on the building and different firms will be at least $100,0

Trophy Goes to Harvard.

New Haven, May 15.—Harvard won a decided victory over Yale in the annual dual athletic games, and as a result comes into permanent possession of the long-fought-for trophy cup, she having won the games five times to Yale's three. Harvard won by superior form. Despite the heavy track and the inclement weather conditions the time in the races was good and the competition throughout was a credit to both teams, as well as to the individual contestants. Yale was, on the whole, superior in the sprints, but was at a loss for winning men in the field events.

Unfortunate Bicyclists.

Waltham, Mass., May 15.—Warren Brown, 23 years old, was thrown from his bicycle yesterday through his rear wheel being struck by an unknown rider. He suffered concussion of the brain and died two hours after being taken to his home.

Waterbury, Conn., May 15.—James Lango, a bicycle dealer and well known in amateur racing circles throughout the state, had his skull fractured in a bicycle collision while riding to Naugatuck last night, and it is thought the accident will prove fatal.

Another Charge Hanging Over Him.

Lewiston, Me., May 15.—The jury brought in a verdict of guilty in the case against George W. Pierce for an attempt to murder Herbert E. Teel. The prisoner received the verdict without any visible sign of emotion. He was remanded for sentence. It is the intention of the counsel for the state to have Pierce arraigned on the charge of attempt to murder Judge Cornish. If Pierce pleads not guilty a new jury will be impanelled and another trial will follow.

Horse Balked.

Saugus, Mass., May 15.—An electric car on the Wakefield and Stoneham street railway struck a buggy containing Mrs. Johanna Farley of Lynn and her son-in-law, James Powell. Mrs. Farley, who was 80 years old, was thrown violently to the ground, sustaining such severe injuries that she died later. The horse attached to the buggy balked in front of the car and the motorman was unable to stop. Powell was uninjured.

Will Affect Others.

Lynn, Mass., May 15.—Twenty-five pattern makers at the General Electric company's river works voted to go out on strike this afternoon, their demand for nine hours a day being denied by Superintendent Fish. The men claim that their going out will seriously handicap the work at the factory, and that this is an initial step which will be followed by similar workmen throughout the state.

Rescued by Brave Lad.

Boston, May 15.—William Coughlan, 3½ years old, was rescued from drowning yesterday in Mystic river, through the brave efforts of Harry Holm, 15 years old, who jumped into the river and succeeded in bringing the little boy safely to the shore.

Probably Fatally Burned.

Amesbury, Mass., May 15.—Mrs. Susan B. Morrison, 50 years old, while lighting a fire yesterday, stepped too near the stove and her clothing became ignited. She was terribly burned about the head and body. She is not expected to live.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

When you awake

more tired than when you went to bed, with an unpleasant taste in the mouth, your tongue coated and dry, and having no appetite for breakfast, you are suffering from Dyspepsia.

Numbers of people are suffering seriously from this complaint and its result, when one package of U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLETS will bring about a prompt cure. A few doses will do more for a Weak or Sour Stomach than a prolonged course of any other medicine. Nothing can be used with so much certainty in obstinate cases of Constipation.

These tablets are the outcome of years of study, and are compounded of the finest drugs only, purely vegetable, they do not gripe, produce no reaction. Take no substitute. 10 CENTS PER PACKAGE.

If you cannot get them at your drug store, send 10 cts. for a package of 12 to the U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLET CO., 17 EAST 14TH ST., NEW YORK.

LIVELY STREET BATTLE

Between Employes of a "Wild West" Show and Princeton Students.

Latter Attempted to Break Up Street Parade.

Prompt Action of President Patton Probably Prevented a Serious Outcome.

Princeton, N. J., May 16.—Princeton students and Pawnee Bill's "Wild West" employes indulged in a pitched battle yesterday, and continuous and serious rioting was prevented only by the presence of men with cool heads and the action of President Patton of Princeton university later in the day in calling a mass meeting of all the students.

For 50 years it has been an unwritten law of Princeton that no circus parade shall pass through the streets. Every show proprietor in making his dates has always left Princeton from his list, for it had been a matter of common knowledge that the students would enforce the unwritten law. Yesterday morning Pawnee Bill's wild west combination violated traditions and paraded. The result was the fiercest battle Princeton has seen in many years.

When posters were hung up announcing the advent of Pawnee Bill a few days ago it was at first considered a joke. Finally, when it became known that the management of the show was really in earnest, the town authorities, fearing trouble, advised the circus men not to attempt a parade. This advice was unheeded, and as a result one man is unconscious and may die and a number of students and employes of the show are nursing wounds received in the fray.

That the show would be upset at night seemed a certainty until late yesterday afternoon, when President Patton called a mass meeting of all the undergraduates and the faculty, and the result of the meeting indicates that the show will leave town unmolested. But it lost money, for word was passed through the town that no one was to enter the tent, and the townspeople who are in sympathy with the students were a unit in refusing to attend.

Things were proceeding in the usual course in the university when the parade started. The procession reached the college campus without trouble, but passed down Nassau street at a bad moment, for just as the band's music was heard the students were passing from the first morning lectures to the second.

The townspeople were out in force and waiting for the parade, and the great majority of them were massed near the campus. Word passed along the line, and within a few minutes 600 or 700 students had assembled on Nassau street. Cannon crackers left over from previous celebrations, eggs purchased at nearby stores, vegetables bought or confiscated from the stores, were assembled quietly. The men unable to obtain their missiles armed themselves with clods of turf hastily torn from the lawns.

The fun started at the band wagon. Cannon crackers were thrown, and these exploding under the horses made them frantic. There were six of these animals. The musicians were on top of the wagon. A serious runaway might have resulted had not one of the leaders stumbled and fell, dragging down the other horses with him. The students meanwhile kept up a merciless bombardment with eggs and vegetables.

On the return the parade wheeled into John lane, and the students made a grand rush to head off the procession. Again the employes of the circus were rotten egged. The cowboys and Indians finally charged the students and used their whips freely.

That was the turning point of the affair. Stung by the whips and bruised by the riders running into them, the students became ugly and in a moment the missiles that were annoying, but not dangerous, were replaced by stones, and the fight became serious. Revolvers were drawn, but the owners fired over the heads of the enemy. Some of the Mexican or South American cowboys unslung their bolas and used these with great effect, the leaden covered ends being exceedingly effective. The cowboys charged the crowd several times and rode down those who could not get out of the way.

In this manner Edward Dillon, a colored man, was knocked down, kicked in the head by a pony and had his skull fractured. A student was injured by a pony trampling upon him and being injured by a bola, and another was struck by an Indian with one of the snake whips. Many were less severely hurt.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon posters were put up all over the town calling a "mass meeting of the students" in Alexander hall at 5 o'clock p. m. The whole undergraduate body attended. President Patton said that, although he did not want to go into the details of the affair, unless he was grossly misinformed the undergraduates were for the most part responsible for the trouble.

"It was absolutely unnecessary and wholly wrong, and I must say I am greatly displeased," he said. "I am sure that a circus can go on without the inspiring presence of the undergraduate body of Princeton university," he added, "and I am going to make a high-handed order in the matter, and with the power vested in me as president of the university, I do hereby forbid any student going to that circus tonight."

Major Lilli, the owner of the show, also appeared at the meeting and made a speech, which had the effect of pouring oil on troubled waters.

PRINCESS RETURNS FLAGS.

They Were Given to Colonel of the Regiment to Which They Are Now Presented.

New York, May 16.—An impressive scene took place in German Odd Fellows' hall when the surviving members of the old Eighth New York volunteers, who left New York for the war 38 years ago with 1040 men, returning with only 168, received at the hands of the Princess Salm Salm, widow of the former colonel of the regiment, three battle flags, which have been in her possession since her husband's death. The flags were given to Prince Salm Salm after the regiment returned from the war, and on his death he gave them to the princess. As the princess entered the hall the veterans formed in line to receive her. After a welcome had been extended to the princess she presented the flags to Commander Grothe. The flags were given to the regiment by the late August Belmont and formally presented by Mayor Fernando Wood on the steps of the city hall on May 14, 1861, the regiment having left for the front immediately after the ceremony. Carl Schurz, who commanded a brigade during the war, of which the Eighth New York volunteers formed a part, spoke briefly, saying that the regiment was one of those which saved the day at the battle of the first Bull Run by holding the Confederates in check at Centerville.

PRINCESS SALM-SALM.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, May 16.—The bill to compel railroad companies to carry bicycles as baggage was passed to be engrossed in the house on a rising vote, 99 to 47.

Mr. Simmons offered a substitute for the senate bill forbidding the use of the state seal and coat-of-arms for advertising and commercial purposes. His bill allows corporations now using the seal and coat-of-arms to continue so, but no other persons may do so. The substitute bill was rejected, as was the original bill.

The bill prohibiting employment of women and minors in breweries and distilleries and bottling works was engrossed, 72 to 32.

Mr. Gilpatric introduced a bill providing that persons, firms and corporations engaged in the retail sale of ice must obtain an annual license from the boards of health of cities, or selectmen of towns, and shall conform to the provisions of chapter 276 of the acts of 1890.

The bill allowing the privilege of interview with employers was rejected by a vote of 34 to 62, on a rising vote. Mr. Scates pleaded for the bill and instanced many cases of the hardship caused by the present regulations in many factories.

A bill authorizing the Suffolk county superior court to appoint five members of either branch of the city council of Boston as committee in cases where information asked from heads of city departments is refused to either branch, was substituted for the adverse report of the committee on the Lomasney bill. It is provided that the appointed committee shall have full power and authority to compel attendance of witnesses.

First Camp Instituted.

Boston, May 16.—"The Legion of Spanish War Veterans" was organized here last night, and the first camp instituted. The central power of the new organization, to which the secretary of state has granted a charter, lies in the grand muster. This body has received 17 applications for charters from different parts of the country. The first camp, which was instituted last night, is called George J. Whiton camp, No. 1, in honor of a private soldier from South Boston, who did heroic work at El Caney, and afterwards died of disease. The self-constituted grand muster performed the ceremony of institution, and installed the officers of the first camp.

WEYHING TOO MUCH FOR THEM.

Champions Unable to "Find" the Veteran Pitcher When They Needed Hits.

Washington, May 16.—The champions' inability to hit the veteran Weyhing when hits meant runs was mainly responsible for their defeat at the hands of the Senators. Aside from Stafford's and Bergen's safe bunts in the fifth they did nothing in the way of consecutive hitting until the ninth, when it was too late to save the day.

Boston's fielding and base running was also a trifle below championship standard. The infield work of Long and Collins, and Marty Bergen's accurate throwing, he stopping five attempts to steal, were exceptions.

On the other hand the Senators played a brilliant fielding game and bunched their hits off Nichols. Not a misplay of any kind, base on balls or battery error marred their work, they holding the season's record in this respect. Mercer made three fine running catches at third, and Siegle in center did star work.

The Presidency of Yale.

New Haven, May 16.—Circulation was given last night to the statement, bearing marks of authenticity, that the successor to President Timothy Dwight of Yale university had at last been found, and that at a stated May meeting of the corporation next week, or another closely following, Professor Arthur T. Hadley would be elected to that position. Professor Hadley is about 43 years of age. He graduated from the academical department of Yale in the class of 1876. He now holds the chair of political science and political economy, and is widely known as a scholar and an economist.

A Thirty-Eight Year Sentence.

Lewiston, Me., May 16.—George W. Pierce was sentenced to serve 38 years in the state prison at Thomaston for attempting to murder ex-City Marshal H. E. Teel and Judge A. D. Cornish of the Lewiston municipal court by means of poisoned sugar sent to the latter, and poisoned whisky sent to Marshal Teel.

No Proof of Law Breaking.

Washington, May 16.—The United States supreme court yesterday decided the prize money case of the French steamer Olinde Rodriguez, the first of the naval prize money cases growing out of the Spanish war to reach the court. The decision directed that the vessel, which was captured off San Juan, Porto Rico, on July 17 last, and has been held since by this government, shall be returned to its owners, on the ground that it was not proven that the steamer's officers intended to enter the blockaded port. The court held incidentally that the blockade of San Juan was effective.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Boston has come close to its borrowing capacity. There is but $232,000 left, and the air is full of itching palms reaching for it. – Milford Journal.

☞ At the Confederate veterans' reunion in Charleston, steps were taken to bring about a grand reunion of the "Blue and the Gray." This ought not to be hard to do, as the men who fought have always had the greatest respect for each other. The only opposition will be from the professional patriots, and on both sides there are some of them.—Malden Mail.

☞ We have seen in print a great deal about the crimes President McKinley is committing in the Philippines, but we have yet to read how the problem could be handled in any better shape than President McKinley is handling it. The thing to do is to sustain the man at the helm, to be patriotic and have faith in the United States of America, which has pulled through some pretty tight places before and is not going to the dogs just yet.—Springfield Union.

☞ Brooks Adams has been saying that the congressional library "as a workshop approaches perfection," but its lavish ornamentation "lacks gravity and unity and smacks of ostentation." Naturally, Mr. Adams is jeered at as being a finical and cynical representative of "Boston culture," whose happiness is to pick flaws in that which the mass enjoy. Still, there are a good many persons whose amazement and admiration in the presence of the library have been disturbed by a vague wonderment whether there wasn't too much of it. Very few visit that building who come away with definite impressions. There is enjoyment, of course, in the lavish richment of the decorations; but we have wondered if that enjoyment was not, in most instances, the product of bewilderment rather than of comprehension. The visitor walks through the marble halls, his eye passing in succession over mosaic floors, intricate carvings, incomprehensible paintings, diverse and dazzling colors, busts, statues, brass work, bronzes, mottoes—some of them obscure and undecipherable—luxurious furniture, mammoth fireplaces, imposing halls and mystifying corridors. It is all very big and bright and beautiful—and a sufficient commentary on it all is that with nine out of ten people, the first natural inquiry is, "What did it cost?"

Mr. Adams's criticisms on the ornamentation of the building are three. First, that it lacks gravity. That is, it is not dignified, as the decorations of a great library should be. Second, that it lacks unity. The decorations are not wrought out in pursuance of any idea. Third, that it smacks of ostentation. Its golden garishness is a little too obtrusive. We think these criticisms are all founded in reason. The paintings include too much that is trivial—and there is nothing to indicate that they are parts of one whole, while showiness often thrusts itself too forcibly on the notice. There are some individual bits of work which are magnificent, but unfortunately they do not stand out by themselves. They are over-laid by the mass of decoration and so are lost. While in many respects the library is a building of which the nation must be proud, it will be surprising if in a half century the better cultivated taste of the people of this country shall not decide that it is over-decorated, and wish that the ornamentation were simpler and less garnish—New Bedford Standard.

☞ Mistakes of treatment under the regular methods of medicine may be compared to the breaks or slips in a bridge built to carry one over a chasm. The intention is to have the bridge perfect in construction and without break or flaw. On the other hand, Christian Science not only refuses to build a bridge, but declares there is no chasm to cross, and hence allows its victims, metaphorically, to walk over the edge without a hindering hand. This, in cases of diseases easily curable or preventable, is manslaughter, nothing less.—Philadelphia Press.

Midnight Raid.

About 2 o'clock this morning, Inspector McKay in company with Officers Murray, Larkin and George A. McKay raided the premises of Teresa Grant at 2 Mill Street, and seized a keg containing about one gallon of ale, 57 empty lager beer bottles, an empty two gallon jug that had contined whiskey and a pint bottle containing whiskey. Inspector McKay says that he has had complaints of the place and had been watching it. Last night there was a party there and all of the merry-makers had not departed when the officers made their appearance. The keg of ale bore a tag with the name of George Wales, 60 Whitwell Street, upon it. Wales when questioned by the officer said the party had chipped in to buy the liquid refreshments but later admitted that Mrs. Grant had given him the money to buy it with.

May Party.

Mrs. Mabel Ramsdell of Billings street gave a May party to her many little friends at Squantum, Saturday, and a very pleasant time was had by all. They went down early in the morning, taking lunches and together with the dainties that Mrs. Ramsdell had for them, it made a tempting feast. She gives this party every year to these little friends and this year in order to show their appreciation of her kindness they presented her with a handsome picture of St. Cecelia. The children enjoyed themselves by playing games, etc., throughout the day.

Col. Howard Expected.

The good of the order committee of Francis L. Souther Camp, S. of V., has arranged a pleasing programme for to-night's meeting. The regular meeting of the camp will close at 9 o'clock, at which hour the members of Post 88, Women's Relief corps, and the Ladies Aid society will be admitted. A reception will then be tendered to Col. George Howard to be followed by an entertainment and address by Col. Howard. A collation will also be served.

To Refund a Million.

The city council, of North Adams at an adjourned meeting Monday evening, voted to authorize the mayor and city treasurer to issue notes and bonds to refund the city debt of more than $1,000,000, in accordance with the recent act of the Legislature.

TODAY'S COURT.

Daniel Cronin was fined $7, Frank Moore, John McGillvary and Richard J. Irving were fined $5 each for drunkenness at Quincy.

John Kelley was fined $5 for drunkenness at Weymouth. Kelley was also arraigned for assault on Officer A. H. Pratt, and sentenced to three months in the house of correction.

Louis Colaluca and Dominico Colaluca were arraigned for being tramps at Weymouth. They were sent to the State farm at Bridgewater.

Quincy is not much of an agricultural city as will be seen by the figures. Our leading products seem to be cabbages, green corn and potatoes. In cabbage and green corn, Quincy ranks second in Norfolk county, but does not cut any figure in the other products which are summarized by the Hyde Park Gazette as follows:

Of Indian corn there was produced in Norfolk county 26,712 bushels, valued at $14,188.

Only 75 bushels of oats were raised in the county, valued at $36. Of Rye there was 737 bushels valued at $528.

In department of fruit and berries Norfolk county made a favorable showing in competition with the other counties of the Commonwealth. She furnished 15,261 bushels, valued at $8,268 Franklin furnished the largest number of bushels—2021, valued at $930.

The cranberry crop was supplied by only a few towns—3736 barrels, valued at $23,071; Sharon came first with 1103 bushels, and Stoughton next with 1090 bushels.

There were 1239 bushels of grapes gathered, valued at $1349, and in the supply Stoughton was ahead of the other towns, with 158 bushels.

The county produced 9179 bushels of pears, valued at $7996, and Brookline furnished nearly one-third of the crop, 3187 bushels, valued at $3,121. Milton came next with 900 bushels

Strawberries were abundant that year, 69,891 quarts, valued at $7,964, being the product. Braintree was the banner town for this fruit, supplying 20,800 quarts; Weymouth came next with over 10,000 quarts.

In the department of vegetables the county maintained its reputation for garden truck. She marketed 971 bushels of beans, valued at $1124, Needham furnishing the largest supply —237 bushels.

Of string and shell beans there were 6955 bushels, valued at $5420, Braintree, Brookline and Needham having almost a monopoly.

The cabbage crop was a big one. There were 505,634 head, valued at $19,831. Sharon supplied 72,800 head, valued at $2251, and Quincy came next with 51,300 head.

In the celery department the county furnished 35,865 bunches, valued at $3645. In this, Brookline was the banner town with 10,500 bunches.

Of green corn there were 46,668 bushels raised, valued at $21,859, and again Needham came to the front with the largest crop—8,345 bushels, valued at $3313.

There were 12,436 bushels of cucumbers gathered, valued at $5,721, and this time Walpole was very much in evidence, raising more than one-half of the crop –7,000 bushels.

In hot-house "cukes" Sharon was the only town that made a return—50 bushels, valued at $200.

Of lettuce there were 300,000 heads, valued at $4526, and Needham supplied 151,900.

Of onions there were marketed 9857 bushels, valued at $5797, and Cohasset was strong on this garden truck, supplying 3900 bushels.

There were 9250 bushels of green pease, valued at $11,562.

In the supply of potatoes the county was right in it. There were 127,663 bushels raised, valued at $67,232, and again Needham, the banner truck town of the county, carried off the prize with 12,899 bushels, Dedham coming next with 11,864 bushels.

There were 200,200 pounds of pumpkins, valued at $1,336, Stoughton supplying 58,950 pounds.

Of squashes there were 1,129,525 pounds, valued at $10,982, Needham supplying 282,400 pounds, with Stoughton and Braintree as close competitors.

The tomato crop was noticeable. There were 26,538 bushels, valued at $14,525, and again Needham had the monopoly—7,503 bushels.

In table turnips there were raised 10,305 bushels, valued at $5,505, Needham and Stoughton supplying one-half of the crop.

HERE AND THERE.

Local Brevities of the City of Presidents.

The fakirs in Atlantic draw a large crowd every evening.

The wide tire bill has been amended in the house and passed to be engrossed.

Mr. Harper, the new master at the High school, commenced his duties today.

It was reported last night that William W. Marden was somewhat better.

The Committee on Finance of the City Council will meet next Monday evening.

The hearing on the charges against Inspector of Plumbing Keniley will be continued tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. James Morrison of Old Colony street spent Sunday with relatives in Randolph.

The opening of the Squantum Yacht club house at Wollaston beach will be held Monday evening, May 29.

Mrs. Margaret Owen of Portland, Maine, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. William Drea of Atlantic.

The seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lowe of Washington street is critically ill with pneumonia.

Mrs. Harry O. Parker of Southern Pines, North Carolina, is visiting her relations in Atlantic. She will remain with them for the summer.

An inquest will be held Friday by Judge Humphrey on the death of James Dalton who was found on the railroad tracks Sunday morning.

The little German band has made its appearance in Quincy and was discoursing sweet strains of music at Quincy Point this morning early.

Mrs. W. R. Breed has been detained in her contemplated visit to her father in Chicago, because of the illness of Mr. Breed.

Mrs. Daniel Flowers and children have returned to Quincy from Murray River, P. E. I., where they have been for several months.

The South Shore Bicycle Co. has placed in front of its store a large nickled hand pump which is free to all bicycle riders to use. It is attached to the electric wire post and is close to the curb stone on the sidewalk and handy.

The choir of Christ church and also the boys from the Episcopal church of Wollaston visited the Church of the Advent in Boston last evening. They had a special car and Mr. E. Landers Snyder distributed bananas by the wholesale.

An intersting contest for team supremacy among the local clubs may be looked for Wednesday, when Wollaston will strive to outplay Newton Centre on its home links. The Transcript says, Newton Centre will strive to retrieve its defeat on the home links on May 3, by Wollaston, when two of the five Wollaston players really won the game for the visitors.

Miss Adams of the Wollaston golf club was entered in the handicap tournament for ladies which closed the spring meet of the Country club on Monday. Only four in twenty-one made a better gross score, the lowest being 113 and her score 121. Miss Adams was tie for third place on net score. She made the second round in 56, while the best score was 55.

Fell from Car.

An employe of the Brockton street railway fell from an electric car on the Neponset bridge Monday afternoon, and striking on his head received several bad cuts. The Quincy police and ambulance were called but before they arrived the Station 11 ambulance removed the fellow to the Boston hospital. It is said that his injuries were not of a serious nature.

Elected Mayor.

Advices from Southern Pine, N. C., show that Clark J. Brown was on May 2 elected mayor of that city by nearly two thirds of all votes cast. He is a brother of George A. Brown of Wollaston and has been professor in New York and Georgia Universties for 16 years and lived at Atlantic Mass. 5 years. Quincy people who spend the winter in Southern Pine will be glad to know that a former resident is honored to the position of Mayor of that city.

THE REFUND ORDER.

Is Substituted for the Committee Report.

Grade Crossing Order to be Investigated.

Street Orders Referred Back—Committee Not United.

The City Council was in session over three hours Monday evening and many important matters were under consideration. The debate did not come however, on the refund order as expected.

Councilman Freeman and Johnson were the absent members.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The Au itor forwarded a communication stating that bills for outside poor, on account of City Hospital and Town of Braintree of 1898, in excess of the appropriation, had been filed for payment. To Committee on Finance.

The Auditor also forwarded a communication relative to the need of money for maintenance of the Sewer department. Laid on the table until later, when Councilman Bryant offered two orders.

The Mayor forwarded a communication from the engineer of the Sewer Commissioners, relative to changes needed in the plumbing ordinance, and recommending that it be revised. To Committee on Ordinances.

PETITIONS.

A large number of petitions for minor licenses and State aid were received and referred.

Three long petitions were received from Wollaston urging the passage of the $10,000 refunding order. Laid on the table.

REPORT OF COMMITTEES.

The Committee on Ordinances reported ought to pass on the communication recommending the establishing of the office of City Engineer. Passed.

The Committee on Licenses and State Aid reported favorably on a number of petitions which were accepted.

The Committee on Health reported reference to the Board of Health on the communication to abate the nuisance at the junction of Copeland and Miller streets. Adopted.

The Committee on Streets reported reference to the executive department on petitions for crossings on School street, Quincy avenue and Washington street. Adopted.

The Committee on Streets reported an amendment to the order for $300 for finishing Payne street, by striking out the words "that the amount be taken from the appropriation for highways" and as amended ought to pass.

Councilman Bryant thought it rather a crude way to send the order to the Finance Committee and moved the matter be recommitted.

Councilman Packard saw no use in having this matter go on for an indefinite time. It was just as well to settle it now as to fool about it for a month.

Councilman Pinkham said the understanding was that this order with others should be sent in and the Finance Committee make a loan order covering the whole. He moved the order be laid on the table.

Councilman Clark objected. He hoped it would go through. The job was started a year ago and was not completed yet.

Councilman Nicoll also opposed. The order should go through now.

Councilman Jameson asked the object of laying the matter on the table.

Councilman Pinkham said the idea was that it be sent back for further consideration, as he was not at the committee meeting. He saw no great objection that there was no financial clause. All orders should be considered and then those that were the most important could be passed.

Councilman Jameson understood other orders were to be reported. He did not believe in letting these small matters lay on the table and be lost sight of. He asked how many orders of a similar nature are coming up tonight.

Councilman Swithin. Five or six. The aggregate amount is $20,000.

Councilman Po'and was not aware that all these orders were to be acted upon. He did not think the committee should pass on orders unless the whole committee were present. He hoped the order would be recommitted.

Councilman Clark asked, what is the committee to do when two members go home. It was not right to lay the matter over.

Councilman Poland, said he was always ready to stay at Committee meetings, but on this occasion was obliged to be away. These orders should have been discussed fully by the committee before being reported. It was unfair to members who were obliged to be absent.

Councilman Pinkham: That a majority of the committee were in favor, was no reason why I who was not present should be bound.

Councilman Swithin: Every member of the Committee knew these matters were coming up. They came up in order, and we went over them. He had rather see the order recommitted than laid on the table.

Councilman Poland: To report a $13,000 paving order without discussion was wrong. Twenty-five or thirty orders should not be passed in two hours when two were absent.

Councilman Jameson had no idea the amount was so large.

Councilman Swithin: These orders have been before the committee three or four times.

Commissioner Cavanagh: Last year an order was passed to build this street. It was in an unfinished condition today. It has been before the committee for several months. There was no need of laying the order on the table or referring if the council was in favor of finishing it.

The motion to lay on the table was lost.

Councilman Bryant: It would be impossible for the Finance Committee to do certain things unless the amount involved was known. It was not right to report one at a time when there were some that were in more need than others. Would like committee to report all orders involved at one time and then come to the Finance Committee at that time. Had got to hold back orders until we know how these things stand.

Councilman Nicoll did not agree with the last speaker. If work is to be done before fall we should know now.

The vote to recommit was passed.

PUBLIC HEARINGS.

Four public hearing were held. The first was on the petition to regrade Grove street. No one appeared for or against, and the hearing was closed and the order recommitted.

The second hearing was on widening and straightening School street between Marsh and Pleasant streets.

Alexander Falconer said he represented the United Presbyterian church, who were willing to give the 300 feet of land wanted if the retaining wall is rebuilt and the grounds left in good condition.

Hearing closed and order recommitted.

The third hearing was on widening Howard street between Newcomb square and Newcomb store.

Mr. Higgins gave a description of the street which he declared to be in very bad order. When rubbers are needed in other places rubber boots were needed here and when rubber boots were needed elsewhere a boat was needed here, and he therefore urged the Council to act favorably on the petition. We have to pay our taxes and send our children to school, and city should provide a sidewalk.

Ex-Councilman Silas Duffield said it was a good place for a boat at certain times of the year. There were no gutters to carry off the water and it ran down the street. The street railway has diverted a large portion of travel to this street. It was but 21 feet wide at its junction with Quincy avenue. Mr. Faxon agrees to give all the land required on one side, if the city will move the house at the corner. The oldest inhabitant does not remember when the city has expended $10 on this street.

Ex-Councilman Hiram W. Phillips had passed through this street times without number. He could remember the celebration when Quincy was severed from Braintree and of the advantages we were supposed to get in the way of better schools and streets. But our school has been taken away, and but little has been done to the streets. It was self evident that the street should be widened. The only fault was that the petition did not go far enough.

Henry H. Faxon said the street should be widened. The street was very narrow at its junction with Quincy avenue. He was willing to give a strip of land if the city would move his house back. If you can do anything for that God-forsaken place, do it.

In response to his question, Commissioner Cavanagh said he had estimated the cost of everything except moving the house at $1,000. He did not know whether it was intended to move the house or tear it down.

Councilman Bryant asked how much will you take and move the house yourself, Mr. Faxon.

Mr. Faxon. I don't want the job. If Mr. Cavanagh will do the job for $500 he would be willing to accept that.

Mr. Philips was asked by Councilman Bryant if he thought the Faxon house worth $500 and he replied that he would not want to give that for it.

The hearing closed and the order was recommitted.

The fourth hearing was on the acceptance of Goddard and Federal avenues as public ways.

Dr. McLennan said there were about 200 yards of Goddard avenue not accepted. It was in very good condition and was main avenue from the Quincy Adams depot to Independence avenue. On the 200 yards $500 was paid in taxes.

Alfred De Young said it would cost but little to put the street through and make a good street of it.

Samuel De Forest said that in winter it was almost impossible to get through. There was ten inches of water there after a rain. Part of the street had been accepted and at this time of the year was much travelled.

Thomas Bishop also urged that the street be accepted.

Alexander Falconer said it was the direct route from Quincy Adams depot to Independence avenue, and should be accepted by city.

Ex-Councilman Robert Williams said he had just built a house on Goddard street. Part of the street had been accepted and something should be done to help those on the other end of the street.

Hearing closed and order recommitted.

REPORTS.

The Committee on Streets reported a substitute order on the order for $750 for regrading Trafford street, changing the amount to $600. Order recommitted.

The Committee on Streets reported a substitute order on the order for $750 for rebuilding Rodman street, changing the amount to $500. Order recommitted.

The Committee on Streets reported a substitute order on the order to define the lines of Willard street between West street and the depot, making the amount $1,500. Order recommitted.

The Committee on Streets reported ought to pass on order for $13,000 for paving a part of Hancock street. Order recommitted.

The Committee on Streets reported ought to pass on order for $900 for rebuilding Nightingale avenue. Order recommitted.

The Committee on Streets reported an order for a public hearing June, 5, on the petition to accept Arthur and Nelson streets as public ways. Adopted.

WASHINGTON STREET WIDENING

Councilman Packard offered the following order, but no plan accompanied it:

Resolved that it is the opinion of the City Council of the City of Quincy that public convenience and necessity require that Washington street be widened and relocated, taking for the purposes of a street or way of the city the following described lands, viz.: Commencing at a point A where the present northerly line of Washington intersects the easterly line of Hancock street, and running easterly as the fences now stand 410 feet to point B; thence crossing Washington street at right angles and running southerly 50 feet to point C; thence running westerly 90 feet to point D at the northeasterly end of a line of stone fence posts now standing northerly of the Unitarian church; thence running westerly and southwesterly and following the line of said stone fence posts about 328 feet to point E in easterly line of Hancock street; thence running northerly about 168 feet following the line of Hancock street to the point of beginning. And it is therefore ordered, that a public hearing be given to all parties interested and that the Committee on Streets be requested to provide a plan of the premises showing the proposed way substantially as above described.

AN INQUIRY.

Councilman Newcomb offered the following order:

"That the Mayor be requested to enquire into the reason why the members of Co. E, 5th Regt., were deprived of the benefit of the 61 blankets which were presented by the City of Quincy with the understanding that they were to be used by the Company while in active service of the United States."

Councilman Pinkham thought it was not a matter for the Council to investigate, and that it did not have the authority.

Councilman Newcomb said $240 was voted last year for the comfort of the men who enlisted, and they should have had the blankets.

Councilman Poland queried if the Council had voted money for blankets.

Clerk Spear said no.

Councilman Bryant said if it had not it had approved of an expenditure of that amount by the Mayor.

Councilman Jameson moved to lay on table, and that we ask the opinion of the City Solicitor as to our authority to investigate.

Motion defeated by large majority.

A further motion to ask for an opinion was ruled out of order.

Councilman Swithin moved to refer to Committee on Military Aid.

Councilman Bryant opposed. He said it was not an investigation, but an order making an inquiry, which could be done by communication.

Councilman Swithin withdrew his motion and the order was passed.

WATER EXTENSIONS.

The Finance Committee reported that the $30,000 order for water extensions ought to pass, and it was passed unanimously on roll call.

THE TOWN PUMP.

Upon motion of Councilman Bryant, the order for the removal of the "Town Pump" at the corner of Hancock and Granite street, was taken from the table. The councilman considered the situation dangerous because of the electrics. The water was polluted and dangerous to the health, and the handle stuck out in the way. He thought there was no sympathy for the old town pump.

Councilman Packard realized the danger to health and travel. Thought pump had outgrown usefulness.

Order adopted.

REFUND ORDER.

The reports on the communication of the Mayor, relative to the refunding of $40,000 of the maturing city debt of 1899, were taken from the table upon the motion of Councilman Bryant. The majority reported "no legislation necessary," and the minority reported a favorable order.

The question came on the substitution of the order for the report.

Councilman Bryant hoped there would be no debate at this stage. He favored substituting the order, and that the debate if any come on the second reading. Petitions from Wollaston representing half the valuation favored refunding.

Without debate the order was substituted, took one reading and was referred to the Committee on Finance.

INFORMATION BUREAU.

Councilman Packard offered an order that the clerk of the Council furnish the Mayor after each meeting with a summary of the doings.

Councilman Hill thought it the duty of the Mayor to attend the Council meetings

Councilman Packard said he was not expected to attend.

Councilman Pinkham quoted from the city charter, Section 37, which reads: "The Mayor, the chairman of the School Committee, the Auditor, the Comptroller, all the administrative officers above named other than members of boards, and the chairman of the above-name boards shall, ex-officio, be entitled to seats in the City Council. The Mayor shall, when requested, and all the other officers above named shall, unless excused, attend its meetings • • • "

Councilman Jameson queried if the expense of the work had been considered.

Councilman Bryant thought that the city should have a stenographer, but perhaps we could not afford it. It would be courtesy to keep the Mayor informed.

Councilman Poland desired a portion of the records be read.

Councilman Keith did not think members of Council could remember all the doings at this meeting.

Clerk Spear read about half a page of the records of the last meeting.

Councilman Poland was satisfied that the records gave all the information necessary, and that they were accessible to the Mayor. It would be outrageous to require a copy. The clerk had enough to do.

Councilman Bryant favored, Only the heads were wanted. Mayor should have information. He asked clerk how much time it would take.

Clerk Spear: Perhaps half a day. If report was shortened it might require less time.

Councilman Jameson opposed work as unnecessary. Thought information was accessible to Mayor.

Councilman Poland opposed unless salary of clerk was increased $400.

The order was defeated.

SCHOOL NEEDS.

A communication was received from the School Committee recommending additional accommodations, being the same as published in full in the Ledger on Monday. Read and referred to Committee on Public Buildings.

GRADE CROSSINGS.

The order asking for the appointment of a commission to proceed with the work of abolishing the grade crossings at Water and Savil streets took its second reading and would have passed but Councilman Bryant queried if plans and cost should not be investigated. He moved to refer to the Finance Committee. It involved considerable money.

Councilman Swithin did not think any money was involved now, and the total expense to the city would be but ten percent of the cost.

Councilman Packard thought city must pay more.

Councilman Bryant said a committee would find out.

Councilman Pinkham favored reference, and investigation. Did not wish to commit city.

Councilman Badger thought it cost Brockton 30 per cent., the railroad 30 per cent. and the State paid 40 per cent.

Councilman Swithin was quite sure the city's portion was 10 per cent. Thought it would be necessary to get appropriation later.

Councilman Bryant favored reference.

Referred to Committee on Finance.

Adjourned at 10.40.

1,000,000 GIVEN AWAY.

By a special and particular arrangement with the manufacturers of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, free trial bottles of this great medicine for the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder and Blood, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia and Constipation, will be sent absolutely free, postpaid, to all persons suffering from any of the diseases mentioned above who will send their full name and post office address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., providing they mention the Quincy Ledger when they write.

A very simple test to determine whether your Kidneys or Bladder are diseased is to put some of your urine in a glass tumbler and let it stand 24 hours, if it has a sediment or a cloudy, ropy or stringy appearance, if it is pale or discolored, you do not need a physician to tell you that you are in a dangerous condition. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy speedily cures such serious symptons as a pain in the back, inability to hold urine, a burning scalding pain in passing it. Frequent desire to urinate, especially at night, the staining of linen by your urine and all unpleasant and dangerous effects produced on the system by the use of whiskey and beer.

By a searching investigation it was found that over 91 per cent. of the people who sent for a sample bottle were so much benefitted by its use that they purchase a large sized bottle of their druggist, which in most cases cured them, while in some rare instances it took as many as two or even three bottles to effect a permanent cure.

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is sold by all druggists at $1.00 per large bottle, or six bottles for $5.00.

FORTY NATIVES KILLED

In the Battle Near Apia With American and British Seamen.

Situation For the Whites Was Most Unfavorable.

Portion of Admiral Kautz's Report Made Public by Secretary Long.

Washington, May 16.—So much of a recent report from Admiral Kautz, upon Samoan affairs as touches the killing of a number of American sailors by Mataafa's adherents, near Apia, on April 1 has been made public by Secretary Long. The report is an elaboration of the description of the affair cabled at the time from Auckland.

Admiral Kautz says the expedition was projected by Captain Sturdee of the Porpoise. For several nights preceding the sentries had been fired upon by the natives, and it became necessary to drive the aggressors away. Admiral Kautz says that it was the opinion of all the officers who had the matter in charge that the force was ample to do the work without risk. It is safe to say, says the admiral, that after Lieutenants Freeman and Lansdale had conferred together they did what they deemed best under the circumstances, and the disaster that followed could not be foreseen.

Admiral Kautz appends the reports of the surviving officers of the expedition, which were transmitted by Captain White of the Philadelphia. In his letter of transmittal the captain commends in the strongest terms the work of Passed Assistant Surgeon Lung. He says: "At times when the fire from the concealed natives was thickest and at all times, by his example, he encouraged the young and inexperienced men to the proper performance of duty. On the completion of the work of his profession he assumed command of our bluejackets and marched them to the United States consulate."

Captain White describes at some length the happenings of April 1 as gathered from examination of the petty officers and men engaged in the fight. He says that several excursions had been made into the beach back of Apia during the last 10 days of March. Very few natives had been observed, and when seen they always fled when fired upon by the Colt automatic gun. Lieutenant Lansdale set great store by the gun and frequently operated it himself. Says Captain White:

"He appears to have depended greatly upon the gun when the party was ambushed on April 1. Twice it did not function, and time was lost in overhauling it and great delay consumed in trying to get it through the wire fence.

"Lieutenant Lansdale was loath to abandon it, but the fire was so galling that before he was wounded he was compelled to scatter the important parts and leave it behind. Prudence led him to deploy his men in open order. The thicket was so dense that after the order for retreat was sounded it was not possible for the groups to render each other mutual support.

"Lieutenant Lansdale was wounded below the knee soon after the Colt was abandoned, and was rendered incapable of marching. He was assisted by his men. One of them, N. E. Edsall, was mortally wounded in so doing. It is in evidence most clear that when Ensign Monaghan discovered that Lieutenant Lansdale was wounded he used his best endeavors to convey him to the rear, and seizing a rifle from a disabled man made a brave defense, but undoubtedly he fell very shortly after joining him, and the hostiles, flushed with success, bore down on our men in this vicinity. The men were not in sufficient numbers to hold out any longer, and they were forced along by a fire which it was impossible to withstand. Ensign Monaghan did stand."

The last report of the series is made by Passed Assistant Surgeon Lung, who was with the expedition, and details closely every movement. He says that the greatest caution was used to prevent a surprise while passing through the ravine and along the cross road, where the affair occurred. Both sides of the road were lined with heavy barbed wire fence, which could not be broken down. The situation was a most unfavorable one for the expedition, as the hostiles were posted on the crest of the bluff so well entrenched that they could not be seen, and their presence was only made known by their firing. The Americans and British at the first fire advanced along the road a little, then dropped in the ditch at the roadside and returned several volleys. The Colt failed again, and this fact, says Surgeon Lung, probably helped to bring on the disaster that followed.

The hostiles were closing around the eastern end of the line, but they could not be charged because of the barb wire fence, so a retreat was ordered, which encouraged the enemy to increase their fire. The retreat was orderly at first, and was agreed to by Lieutenants Cave and Perkins, but, says Surgeon Lung, in a few minutes everybody remaining on the high ground came through the second wire in a confused retreat, floundering, staggering and falling in the deep mud along the trees. The enemy followed persistently and poured a terrific fire.

In this hollow Lansdale, Monaghan and Edsall received their death wounds, Monaghan losing his life in an heroic effort to save his shipmate, Lansdale. Reaching the beach, Lieutenant Perkins gathered his few marines with the British marines, while the surgeon assumed command of the bluejackets, who had been led by Lansdale and Monaghan, and also rallied some 10 or 15 marines and sailors who were without an officer.

Surgeon Lung expresses the conviction that the entire command would have been killed had they not retreated when they did. Considering the odds they had to contend against, the enemy being about 300 strong, the men behaved remarkably well. The enemy beheaded the officers killed, and in the case of enlisted men cut off the right ears of the British and both ears of the Americans. Lieutenant Freeman also had his ears cut off.

to the coffee drinker. Coffee drinking is a habit that is universally indulged in and almost as universally injurious. Have you tried Grain-O? It is almost like coffee but the effects are just the opposite. Coffee upsets the stomach, ruins the digestion, effects the heart and disturbs the whole nervous system. Grain-O tones up the stomach, aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. There is nothing but nourishment in Grain-O. It can't be otherwise. 15 and 25c. per package.

It is possible that some of our customers who painted their houses ten years ago may be thinking now that it is time to brush up their property, and this advertisement is to remind them that the Chilton Paint is made to-day as it has always been made, of pure Linseed Oil and Turpentine Drier. It is measured by the United States standard gallon, and it is just what it purports to be, the best article of paint that can possibly be manufactured.

Most of the dealers who handled it years ago continue its sale. They find that it is an article of merit and it brings them business in other lines. Other paints may be bought cheaper, but the Chilton in the end is the cheapest paint of all. It cannot look streaked, because the tints are ground into the liquid paint. If you buy a gallon you get a gallon and not part of one. Tested by weight, measure, covering properties and durability, it stands at the head and is standard.

OPPOSITION RENEWED.

Natives Resent British Occupation of Chinese Territory.

Russian Railway Demand Has Caused Agitation.

Concession For British Extension Not Lived Up to by Imperial Government.

Hong Kong, May 16.—The native opposition to the occupation by British forces of the new territory opposite Hong Kong has suddenly been renewed. About 900 of the Hong Kong regiment, with machine guns, are leaving here, while the volunteers have been warned to be in readiness for any emergency. The British second-class gunboat Swift, accompanied by three other gunboats, is proceeding to sea under sealed orders. These warships have 500 men on board. The territory back of the Hinterland is also disturbed, and Chinese troops have been sent there.

Reports from Pekin say that the Russian demand for a new railroad concession connecting Pekin with Russia's present railroad system in Manchuria is still exciting the gravest anxiety there. The chief Chinese officials are having constant consultations with the dowager empress. It appears to be the general opinion that it is intended the lines should start from Kirwin or Mukden, and run direct to Pekin by way of Shohol.

The Germans and Japanese are particularly uneasy on the subject of this move on the part of the Russians, and it is said there is a feeling among the prominent Chinese that the moment has come to make every effort in the direction of securing British sympathy and aid.

When Russia obtained the concession of Port Arthur and Talienwan, Niu-Chwang was the only treaty port in Manchuria. Since Russia could not get control of the treaty port, where the other powers already had a foothold, the object of the Russian government was to isolate Niu-Chwang so far as possible and give such facilities to Talienwan as would make that the leading port of the province. To that end Russia's Manchuria railway system was designed to leave Niu-Chwang in the lurch, and to connect Talienwan by a branch railway, running through southern Kinchau, Hsinyen, Fushon, Kaichou, Haicheng, Liaoyang, Moukden, and thence to Kirin. This district produces about 70 percent of the exports of Niu-Chwang, all of which would have been lost to that port and transferred to Talienwan had the plan of isolation succeeded. To obviate the success of this design, an extension of the Chinese northern railway was projected by British enterprise to connect Niu-Chwang with Pekin by way of Tientsin and Shan-Hai-Kwen, the existing road then having its terminus at the latter point. After constant opposition from Russian diplomacy, the concession for this British extension was at last obtained by a company, whose prospectus stated that a contract had been entered into with the Chinese authorities as "arranged with the knowledge of her majesty's government."

Already the Chinese government has caused annoyance to the British investors by defaulting in payments guaranteed on the line.

Of this the London Times said recently: "There is, of course, not the smallest doubt that the Chinese will be compelled to pay up the instalments in arrears, with interest. Those who have put their money into the undertaking need feel no anxiety on that account. The incident is untoward, not because it threatens the investors with immediate pecuniary loss, but because it is an indication of the spirit of bad faith in which the present Chinese railway administration regards its engagements with this country. Considering the great powers with which it is entrusted, this is a serious matter to the capitalists who have loaned the money and to the British government, on the faith of whose assurances the money most unquestionably was advanced."

Continuing, The Times attributes this to the appointment of Chang Yi to be practically sole-acting Chinese director. "He is notoriously hostile to England, and there is good reason to believe him to be thoroughly corrupt. He bought his appointment, and, as it brings him no salary, he recoups himself by other means. Some of these are known, while others, perhaps, are only suspected.

"We cannot, of course, for a moment sanction the suggestion that in all his intrigue Chang has been merely the tool of Russia. But, while we refuse to admit a supposition so discreditable to a great power, we must needs acknowledge that the fruits of Chang's policy are exactly those which Russia might have been suspected of desiring. It remains for us to teach him that a policy of this kind is not to be prosecuted with impunity. The lesson must be an object lesson. 'Empty words' will but confirm him and all his breed in the belief that we lack means or resolution to enforce our rights and to punish bad faith."

Harden's "Offenses."

Berlin, May 16.—Herr Maximilian Harden, editor and publisher of The Zukunft, has begun to serve the six months' imprisonment to which he was sentenced. In the prosecution of Herr Harden, four charges of lese majeste were brought against him, and four articles written by him, particularly resented were: One in which he compared the emperor to a poodle prince; one in which he personally addressed the emperor, complaining that he had been charged with lese majeste, for writing the first article; another, written anonymously, and one in which the Bismarck case was introduced.

WAR CLOUDS

Once More Hovering Over Transvaal.

Rebelious Conspiracy Said to Have Been Unearthed.

Eight British Subjects Are Placed Under Arrest.

A Grave Incident Likely to Lead to Friction With England.

Burghers Said to Be Prepared to Take the Field at a Moment's Notice.

London, May 17.—Special dispatches from Cape Town say that eight men have been arrested at Johannesburg and have been taken to Pretoria. The government of Cape Colony, it further appears, is considering the matter secretly. The news has caused great excitement throughout South Africa.

The advices are also probably connected with a mysterious dispatch received at Johannesburg from Pretoria on May 12, saying a special train fully equipped with Boer artillerymen, guns and a searchlight apparatus, was being held in readiness at the capital of the Transvaal. The statement was then declared to be without significance, but today's news throws a more serious light on the movement, and there was a great sensation in London when the news of the arrests became generally known.

The officers arrested are Captain Patterson, formerly of the Lancers; Colonel R. F. Nicholls, Lieutenant E. J. Tremlott, Lieutenant C. A. Ellis, lately a private detective at Johannesburg; Lieutenant John Allen, formerly of the horse artillery; Former Sergeant J. Fries, R. P. Hooper and a Mr. Nichols.

It is stated that the commissioner of police, who had the affair in hand, had been working up the case for four months. Mr. Beaty, the detective, who effected the arrests, received his instructions last week and secured the necessary warrants Monday.

Further warrants have been issued. It is asserted that the officers already arrested were also preparing to organize a corps in Natal, the British colony between the Orange Free State and the Indian ocean, to assist the projected movement at Johannesburg.

The charge against the prisoners is that, while staying in the Rand privately, they were really engaged in enlisting men for the purposes of rebellion when they were ready to give the signal.

It is stated that the enlistment roster included 2000 men, and that a number of incriminating documents were found at the time the arrests were made.

All the morning papers devote their principal editorials to the arrests in the Transvaal, counseling a postponement of conclusions until the facts of the case are ascertained and declining to believe that English officers or subjects have been guilty of what The Standard terms "such treasonable folly."

The Daily Mail says: The conditions are that of a boiler, with furnaces at full blast and safety valves screwed down. No conspiracy can flourish while freedom exists and the Kruger policy will inevitably produce resistance.

The Times, which repudiates the idea that the prisoners are of weight among the British uitlanders or represent important interests of any kind at Johannesburg, suggests that President Kruger has been imposed upon by his own detectives.

The papers publish an interview with Mr. Chamberlain, who apparently deprecates the seriousness of the arrests, but says he does not recognize the names of the prisoners or understand the causes of arrest.

The Standard and Diggers' News, the Boers' organ in London, has a dispatch from Pretoria which says that warrants were issued Monday evening by the state attorney and were executed at midnight. The dispatch adds that a plot or rebellion is alleged to have been maturing for four months, and that the accused, who are said to have been engaged by the South African league, had already enlisted 2000 men.

According to dispatches from Cape Town Monday, orders were issued Saturday by the commandants on the western border of the Transvaal to the burghers to prepare to take the field at a moment's notice from Pretoria, although the negotiations were still pending for the proposed meeting between President Kruger and Sir Alfred Milner, governor of Cape Colony, and British high commissioner for South Africa.

Mr. Chamberlain, British colonial secretary, it is said, will not assent to the conference unless the Transvaal executive pledges himself to initiate bona fide reforms.

The work of fortifying the redoubts and the hilltops at points of strategic importance is progressing rapidly in the Transvaal. The western border separates the Transvaal from British Bechuland. The Orange Free State is on the south, Portuguese territory on the east, British Matabeleland on the north.

Trouble between Great Britain and the Transvaal has been imminent for weeks. The immediate cause is renewed agitation at Johannesburg, where the uitlanders (foreigners), mostly British, claim to be oppressed. An ever present provocation is the situation of the Transvaal—right in the way of Rhodes' pet project of a Cape-to-Cairo railway.

KAUTZ PRACTICED DIPLOMACY.

Gained Good Will of Germans by His Method of Dealing With Samoan Troubles.

Washington, May 17.—Simultaneously with the publication of Admiral Kautz's report, advices have been received here from Apia, by way of Germany, proving that the American admiral and the Americans in general have acted with marked consideration and courtesy toward the Germans in Samoa. This attitude was all the more gratifying to the Germans, as it was in direct contrast to the policy pursued by the British commander and consul there. While the English raised difficulties in the granting of passports to Germans desirous of passing the lines, and would not even let the German consul pass, the Americans readily granted passports to every respectable German, as far as the American lines were concerned. Moreover, Admiral Kautz issued an order to let all German officers and men in uniform pass the lines at any time without subjecting them to any molestation.

The behavior of the American outposts, part of whom were German-Americans, was in the whole most praisworthy and all that could be desired, say the German advices, which also note that Admiral Kautz exercised a restraining influence on Captain Sturdee. This officer informed the representative of the German firm of O. Riedel, on March 10, that he would fire without any previous warning into the house of the firm if Mataafa and his men should approach it, but, on being notified of Admiral Kautz's promise not to fire over Apia, said he would consider the promise of Admiral Kautz as binding upon himself.

It is gratifying to note that the personal intercourse between the commanders and officers of the various men of war was at no time disturbed. All of the officers expressed a desire not to have anything to do with the Samoan question. Friendly relations continue also between the American and German consul generals.

HEAVY DAMAGE BY CYCLONES.

Cities In Various Parts of the Country Visited by Wind, Hail and Rain.

Pittsburg, May 17.—A terrible wind storm, accompanied by rain and hail, passed over this section yesterday. Great damage was done to telegraph and telephone wires, while many trees, fences and roofs were carried away. A schoolhouse in Alleghany was badly twisted and has been condemned as unsafe. Hail did considerable damage in the suburbs and many near-by towns. At Altoona great damage was done at a big silk mill. At Brookville a man was killed by lightning. At Mt. Pleasant 11 house were blown down.

Akron, O., May 17.—A cyclone struck this city yesterday and did much damage. The storm struck the tents of Main's circus and they collapsed upon the crowd, but nobody was hurt. More than 150 feet of the main building of the Akron Sewer Pipe company's main building was blown down, and three men were injured. Other shops and buildings and many trees were destroyed.

Canal Fulton, O., May 17.—During a storm yesterday, the wall of a schoolhouse was blown down, and nine pupils were injured, some of them quite seriously.

Detroit, May 17.—Severe storms were general throughout the state yesterday. Hudson, Coldwater, Marshall and Brant all report considerable property damage, but no lives lost. Near Alvordton, just over the state line in Ohio, the storm destroyed a school building. There were 15 children in the building besides the teacher, Miss Flossie Fisher. Ten of the children and Miss Fisher were injured, and it is reported that two children will die. In Detroit the storm did $40,000 damage. Forty houses and barns were unroofed and one large building was demolished. There was no loss of life here.

The most ancient glass had exactly the same component parts as that of today and the processes used seem to have been similar in all times.

Cannon are said to have been in use as early as 1338, while artillery constructed of brass first appeared in 1635.

[FIFTH FROM SENATORS.

Bostons Played a Faultless Game and the Honors Were Easy.

Washington, May 17.—Boston changed the tune. By consecutive hitting and faultless work in the field they won their fifth game from the Senators in rather easy fashion.

With the exception of the fifth inning, when the Irwinites bunched four of their eight hits, Hickman pitched excellent ball. A slight rain began to fall at this stage, and both pitchers lost temporary control of the ball.

When it was all over the sun began to shine, the champions were two runs to the good, and were never in danger thereafter.

Clever catches by Duffy, Stafford and Stahl saved the game from being featureless.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, May 17.—Ten votes tipped the balance in favor of the Boston Elevated railway in the lower branch of the legislature yesterday, and the bill to replace the tracks in Tremont and Boylston streets is now through both branches except for the merely formal passage to enactment.

The house made good progress in clearing its calendar, passing to engrossment the Boston board of apportionment abolition bill, and refusing to concur in the senate plan to purchase the Salmon painting.

Mr. Stone offered a substitute to the bill authorizing sheriffs and constables to store property seized and removed by them, which was engrossed.

When the appropriation bill for the cattle commission was taken up an amendment was offered reducing the amount from $75,000 to $25,000. Another amendment was offered reducing the appropriation to $50,000. The amendments were defeated and the bill engrossed.

The bill for the simplification of criminal pleadings was passed to be engrossed. The metropolitan park commission appropriation bills were engrossed.

Some of the temperance men in the house were much disturbed, as was Governor Wolcott himself, over the discovery that the second Dumond bill, supposed to be merely a corrective measure applying to one phrase in the original bill to limit the licensed saloons in Boston, in reality contained a proviso, quoted by error from the law of 1888, putting in force again the clause giving local authorities, instead of the state bureau, the power to control the special census on which summer resort liquor licenses may be granted.

The senate adopted an order for morning sessions, beginning tomorrow.

The adverse report on the Shaw syndicate colonial-electric railway and power petition was taken from the table and accepted.

Bills were engrossed to extend the time for completing the Millbury, Sutton and Douglas railroad; to authorize Worcester to make a $700,000 water loan; to repeal an act establishing a fire department for Danvers; appropriating money for expenses at the state farm.

The senate concurred in house amendments in the cattle commission bill.

There was a spirited debate on a bill for the inspection of nurseries and to investigate the habits of insects injurious to the cranberry, adversely reported by the committee on ways and means. By a vote of 9 to 18 the senate refused to reject the bill, which went into the orders.

Result of Wood's Observations.

Santiago, May 17.—General Wood has arrived here after his first trip into the interior of the province. The country traversed he found in a generally prosperous condition. The planters are planting cane and expect a full crop next year. Stories regarding bandits seem for the most part to have been promoted by professional politicians, who have an interest in maintaining disturbing conditions. Everywhere General Wood found the people anxious for greater security and the annexation idea is undoubtedly growing in spite of all efforts on the part of agitators to the contrary.

To Relieve Dewey.

San Francisco, May 17.—Rear Admiral John G. Watson, who will relieve Admiral Dewey in command of the Asiatic squadron, sailed for his post on the steamer City of Perin yesterday afternoon.

A parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated in that part of Quincy, Mass., called Atlantic, being lot No. 529 on plan of "Norfolk Downs" by Charles D. Elliot, dated April, 1892, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, book of plans No. 14, plan 640, and bounded and described as follows: Easterly by Hamilton street, fifty feet; southerly by lot No. 530 on said plan, seventy feet; westerly by lot No. 546 on said plan, fifty feet; northerly by lot No. 528 on said plan, seventy feet. Containing according to said plan, 3,500 square feet of land.

Said premises will be sold subject to any existing restrictions and unpaid taxes, if any, together with all benefit and equity of redemption of the said Smith, his heirs, executors, administrators and assigns therein. Subject also to a prior mortgage of $1,100 to William W. Loker. Terms made known at the time and place of sale.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ If we cannot yet have vacation schools, at least let the children be told, in these last few weeks of school, what attractions and new interests the world of nature, as revealed in the open spaces near to our hand, can offer them during the summer vacation time. Let a list of the shade trees and where they can be seen be given to the children; let them have an idea of the variety of wild flowers of the vicinity, and where to go for them, with an incidental bit of instruction as to how to take the flowers without mutilating the plant; let them have revealed to them the forces of nature as revealed in the stones, and then vacation time will be to them a joyous and profitable season, instead of a time of demoralization.—New Bedford Standard.

☞ Despite all the lamentations and threatenings dire of Ritualists, there was no protest or disturbance of any sort at the ordination of Rev. Dr. Briggs to the Episcopal church priesthood by Bishop Potter, in New York, Sunday. Now let the world have a little taste of christanity from those who claim so much in that line. There is small place in the world for dogmatic malcontents who would work industriously for a month to skin a little, inoffensive white bean, and then be ready to make oath that they had created another planet.—Milford Journal.

☞ Working men should save their money, for they will need it when the trust bubble bursts. It's all right. Some men must unload mills or go into bankruptcy; others must unload stock until things are evened up. The fool and his money must part. Then will come the day of reckoning, in a panic, perhaps in 1900; anyhow save your money for the rainy day, which is sure to come. When that day comes, lie low and buy a mill cheap and go into business.—Wade's Fibre and Fabric.

☞ There is a current impression that any and every labor organization is necessarily and inevitably antagonistic to capital and at war with its plans and purposes. That this is not trne is notably proven in the organization known as the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Perhaps no other class of workmen have become so strong and influential through union of effort as the engineers. They have not taken an attitude toward capital as if it were an enemy, but rather as if it were their friend and ally. In most cases this spirit of fairness has been met in the same way and conciliation and kindness has resulted. They have discouraged strikes as something to be used only as a last resort, and rarely have them.—Beverly Times.

☞ It is a tribute to Brockton people that they are not seeking temptation at present, even though they know or think they know where it may be found. The city has largely reformed. The drunks are so few that a man hates the publicity attaching to an arrest under present conditions, and heavy drinking is not as fashionable as it was a few weeks ago. The changed conditions also suggest the thought that much of the drunkenness and rowdyism was imported from out of town.—Brockton Enterprise.

CAPT. KINCAIDE

Asks for Four Months' Leave of Absence.

Has Good Prospects of a Staff Appointment.

Realizes Feeling and Does Not Wish to Enter a Fight.

Capt. Henry L. Kincaide of Co. K, 5th Mass. Militia, informs the Ledger that on Tuesday he made application to the Adjutant General for a four months' leave of absence from militia service.

When interviewed, he said he had been surprised at the feeling which has been engendered against him among Co. K boys who served in the Spanish war, and in view of the fact that he had good prospects of an early appointment to a staff position, he was adverse to entering into any fight.

Capt. Kincaide said he was confident that he could without much difficulty organize a new company, having applications from South Shore towns as well as Quincy and Braintree.

He has notified William H. Whitney, the first lieutenant of Co. K of his action in applying for a leave of absence, and of his intention to resign at the end of that time. Also of his readiness to deliver to Lieutenant Whitney, the keys, books and all the equipment of Co. K, so that he could proceed to organize the company according to his desires.

Capt. Kincaide is of the opinion that the feeling against him is wholly unwarranted, and is at a loss to account for it. On his part he has no animosity against any one who had served in Company K, and as in the past wishes them success.

Henry L. Kincaide joined the militia service twelve years ago and has been in continuous service since. He has been a commissioned officer since November 1887. When Co. K volunteered for service it stood high in the Fifth regiment, and under his command was thoroughly equipped for active service at the front. After Spain sued for peace, he resigned from the United States service, and returned to his business. The fact that there is over $400 in the company treasury, and all bills are paid, is greatly to the credit of Capt. Kincaide, as it had a financial struggle before he assumed command. He is thoroughly posted in military affairs and of exemplary character, and has made a good officer.

Lieut. William Whitney, who becomes acting captain of Co. K, is one of the most popular officers, not only of the company but of the whole regiment. While at camp in the service he was ever mindful of his company and in many ways contributed to their comfort.

As an officer he is a strict disciplinarian, and as such earned and received the respect of every member of his company and superior officers. He is an officer of but few words, but what he says goes every time, and the members know it and respect his orders knowing that while strict he asks no man to go or do when he was not willing to lead.

He was born in Quincy, and is a son of Adam Whitney, and is about 34 years of age. He was educated in the public schools of Quincy, and was employed for a number of years as clerk in a large Boston business house. For the year previous to Co. K being mustered into the United States service he was employed by the Quincy & Boston street railway, and upon his return home after being mustered out, again entered the employ of the railway company as inspector.

S. of V. Meeting.

Francis L. Souther camp, S. of V. received an inspiration Tuesday evening to continue the noble work of the order. It was the regular meeting night and the camp received a visit from Col. George Howard and Adjt. Cook.

About 9 o'clock, after a satisfactory inspection of the camp, the doors were opened to the Grand Army, Woman's Relief Corps, Ladies' Aid Society and a few invited guests.

Capt. Herbert Holmes welcomed all, and introduced Past Capt. M. C. Holmes of the good of the order committee, who presided.

Interesting remarks were made by Chap. Merrill, Paul Revere post; Mrs. George Crane, the president of Paul Revere Relief Corps; Miss Bertha P. Foss, vice president of the Ladies' Aid Society; Past Captain Richards of the Weymouth camp; Adjutant Orange M. Cook and Col. George Howard of the Department of Massachusetts; Col. Edward Anderson of Quincy; and Rev. C. E. Williams of Braintree, a new member of the camp.

Col. Howard is awakening a new interest among the camps in his jurisdiction, and said he found his duties very pleasant. The Sons of Veterans had members among congressmen, legislators and all professions of life. It had outgrown its boyhood and discarded the show features. It was now recognized by the Grand Army and doing a good work in assisting the veterans, Members should revere and respect their fathers. In these days we heard much of the achievements of Dewey, Otis, Sampson, Schley and Hobson but the Spanish war would never have taken place but for the achievements of the boys of '61-'65, and was but a scrap compared with it. He paid a tribute to President McKinley, and outlined duties of the Sons of Veterans.

Col. Anderson made his first appearance at a Sons of Veterans gathering in Quincy, but his reputation had preceded him. He could scarcely realize that the Civil war was so long ago. He pictured the war as it was and paid a tribute to the women. The veterans after the test the past year felt better over relinquishing the country to the young.

Rev. Mr. Williams emphasized the fact that the Grand Army was never professional, and had returned and helped the country to prosper. This country was proud of its citizen-soldiers and soldier citizens, and we will never forget the men of '61-65.

At the close a collation was served and an hour spent socially.

It is about time somethiag was done toward putting Alleyne street in a passable condition. It is unsafe for teams as it is now.

Work has been commenced in earnest finishing up the Brook street section of the sewer at Wollaston, which was left uncompleted last fall.

The Quincy Teachers' Association have a treat in store for the people of this vicinity: readings by Prof. J. W. Churchill of Andover on Monday evening next.

At least one Quincy gentleman has been notified that he secured one of those Provincetown seaside lots as a gift. He was told the deed would be sent later.

The Wollaston loop of the electric road was bothered on Tuesday by the Brook street sewer. It is expected that the cars will be run through today without change.

Captain Coomb's horses, attached to his large wagon, ran away Tuesday noon, throwing him out and giving him a bad shaking up. They were stopped before going far.

The Whatsoever Ten, King's Daughters of Wollaston have recently distributed the fifty dollars which they made at the two "Aunt Jemima entertainments" in a highly commendatory mannner, it being divided between the City Hospital, Ingleside, Country Week and the Fresh Air Fund.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe is eighty years old today. The event is observed by the Woman's Press association at the Parker house, Boston, this afternoon, when Mrs. Howe will be the guest of honor. She will give a paper on "Patriotism in Literature" and recite her famous "Battle Hymn of the Republic." Miss Annie Lincoln Prescott is to usher at the reception which follows the literary programme.

Mr. and Mrs. Israel Waterhouse, former residents of Wollaston, came Tuesday for a short visit to their son, Mr. Frank P. Waterhouse. The ex-Councilman and ex-Assessor of Quincy, or colonel and senator, as he is now called, is the same genial good-natured gentleman, and should be induced to make his permanent residence with us again. They contemplate visits at Haverhill and in Maine and will spend the summer in the White Mountains.

—Military shows will be frequent the coming year. The Globe says, a proposition is under consideration to mobilize the entire militia in Boston early in October, making the duty performed of a practical nature. In the afternoon a review will be held on the common, when the flags carried during the Spanish war will be offically turned over to the commonwealth. Nothing is definitely decided upon as yet, but the above plan has been outlined and will probably be carried out.

☞ The resolutions finally adopted by the United Confederate Veterans are sensible, moderate, graceful, dignified and altogether proper. They avoid "slopping over" and at the same time acknowledge the president's courtesy and kindliness courteously and kindly. The Southern dead in Southern soil will be cared for by the gentle and loving hands of Southern women. The Southern dead at the North may appropriately be given the honor due to brave men who proved their faith in their cause by dying for it by the government which is now the government of the whole united American people. That is a happy and altogether beautiful arrangement.—Greenville, S. C., News.

CHARGES HEARD.

Fault Found with City Stable Plumbing.

Petitioner in One Case Never Visited Premises.

Another Continuance Made Until Saturday.

The hearing before the Board of Health upon charges preferred against Inspector of Plumbing Keniley was continued Tuesday night at City Hall, before a large audience.

Lawyer Jenness wanted, when he had a witness on the stand to question him in regard to what he knew of charges other than the particular one before the board, but Chairman Thompson thought that would make patch work of the matter and one charge had better be heard at a time.

Mr. Jenness then wanted to go with witnesses upon a new charge that had been filed since the hearing commenced which was that an S trap was used in place of a running trap at the A. W. Parker house.

Chairman Thompson said the Board would hear that charge later. It should have been discovered at first. If you keep on adding these charges we will keep on for years. Let us take up what we have got, and get through with them first.

CITY STABLE

The city stable was the charge heard and Victor J. Emery, a plumber, was the first witness. He said there was no cesspool. He found two runs of four-inch soil pipe emptying into the manure pit. He noticed three or four fixtures that went straight from the stalls to the manure pit. The two inch pipe from the wash room went to the roof, the four inch pipes did not. There was no main trap on the four-inch pipe. Did not consider manure pit a proper cesspool and stacks should have gone to the roof.

Cross examined, witness said he figured on the job for Mr. Thomas. He figured for the four-inch pipes to run outside of the building.

Lawyer McAnarney: Did you figure to have all pipes go out of the building?

Mr. Emery: I should naturally figure that way.

Mr. Anarney: Would you say you did not figure to run the pipe from the wash roon to the manure pit?

Mr. Emery: No.

Mr. McAnarney: Do you find anything in the ordinance that says horse stalls shall be trapped?

Mr. Emery: No but you find reference with any or all buildings.

Mr. McAnarney: Were you a plumber when the law went into effect that required all plumbers except those then in business to have a license?

Mr. Emery: Yes.

Mr. McAnarney: Is there a ventilator to the manure pit?

Mr. Emery: Yes a sheet iron ventilator, but it would not act as a vent as it was cold and damp.

Mr. McAnarney: Do you know whether a current of air passes up that vent or not?

Mr. Emery: No.

Henry S. Weymouth, the gentleman who signed the charges relative to the city stables, said he was a sewing machine agent, and preferred the charges of his own accord without being asked. No one asked him to make the charges. Was a brother-in-law to Mr. Page, who worked for G. B. Bates.

Mr. McAnarney: How did you know things were wrong?

Mr. Weymouth: I went there and saw that they were not as they should be.

Mr. McAnarney: Have you written any letters about the matter?

Mr. Weymouth: Yes, I wrote to Mr. Emery, Mr. Ames, Mr. Coleman, Mr. Murphy and Mr. Smith.

Mr. McAnarney: Why were you so much interested?

Mr. Weymouth: Because I am a taxpayer. I have no malice against Mr. Keniley. I sent the letter to Mr. Smith by messenger.

Mr. McAnarney wanted to show that the letter sent to Mr. Smith was carried by Julius Johnson, but the chairman thought it unnecessary.

G. B. Bates was then called, but before he testified Lawyer McAnarney said he was willing to admit the allegations in the charges but not the conclusions, for which he proposed to put on the Commissioner of Public Works and Board of Health of last year to show that this job had been done under their direction and had been approved by them.

Mr. Bates was then asked by Chairman Thompson, if in carrying out the spirit of the Ordinance, remote from any private malice, under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works and Board of Health do you think it complied with the spirit of the Ordinance.

Mr. Bates: No sir.

Mr. Bates was then questioned by Mr. McAnarney about his own stable, as to where the urine went, to which Mr. Bates said he had no plumbing at his stable and his urine went into the ground.

Mr. McAnarney: Did you plumb the sewer pumping station?

Mr. Bates: Yes.

Mr. McAnarney: Is it in accordance with the ordinances?

Mr. Bates: It was passed by the Inspector.

Mr. McAnarney: At the city stables would it have been proper for the city to have built a cesspool?

Mr. Bates: Yes, I would have ordered it if I had been Inspector.

Eugene L. Murphy also explained in the same manner and had the same objection to the city stables as the previous witness. He had examined the stables at the request of Mr. Weymouth.

WHITON PLUMBING.

The next clause taken up was that of C. P. Gardner, about the Grace Whiton house.

C. P. Gardner of Atlantic said he signed the petition but had not seen the premises.

Mr. McAnarney: Do you mean you signed the petition and had not seen the house?

Mr. Gardner: I had been told they were wrong.

Mr. McAnarney: You filed charges on a merely told-me-so-evidence?

Mr. Gardner: Yes.

Mr. McAnarney: Who told you so?

Mr. Gardner: Mr. Bates.

Mr. Thompson: You wish the public to understand that you signed this petition that the ordinances had been violated; that you want to press them without having seen the premises or knowing anything about it?

Mr. Gardner: Yes, that is so.

Mr. Thompson: That is all, sir.

Victor J. Emery said he had examined the Whiton house and had found lead pipe under the floor concealed from view; had found wrought iron vent pipe where ordinance called for cast iron; that the bath and lavatory were linked together with but one vent; that the air pipe was contracted; when it entered the main pipe and had a union coupling; all of which were violations of the ordinances.

Mr. McAnarney: When did you go there?

Mr. Emery: Last fall with Mr. Bates.

Mr. McAnarney: How much time have you given to these investigations and how much pay have you received?

Mr. Emery: I have given a few days. Have not received any pay.

Mr. McAnarney: Are you prepared to say what ordinance was in force at that time?

Mr. Emery: No; it was last year's or the year before.

Mr. McAnarney: Is there anything in the ordinance of 1897 that says union couplings shall not be used?

Mr. Emery: No.

Witness was then questioned about the size of the air pipe and asked if there was anything in the ordinance of 1897 about contraction of air pipe?

Mr. Emery: I suppose so, I have not looked to see.

G. B. Bates told of condition of things at the Whiton house which was practically the same as the testimony of Mr. Emery. When asked if he knew who did the work, Mr. Bates said Landers commenced it and Keniley finished it.

There was a waste pipe from lavatory and one from the bowl, and but one vent pipe where there should be two. In answer to further questions he said similar work had been done by plumbers and allowed by inspectors. He further said in reply to a question by Mr. Thompson, that he had done work like it himself.

At the stable there was a cast-iron pipe running from the stable into a drain pipe on which there was no trap or vent. There was however, a water closet connected.

Mr. McAnarney: Did you ask Gardner to sign this charge?

Mr. Bates: No sir.

Mr. McAnarney: Did you see Keniley personally do this work?

Mr. Bates: No, Mr. Whiton told me he did it.

The hearing was then adjourned until next Saturday evening.

Custody of Child.

Judge Holmes in the Supreme court, yesterday, gave a hearing upon the petition of Mrs. Mary E. Coombs for the writ of habeas corpus for the release of her minor child, Percy Mortimer Coombs, out of the custody of her husband. Percy L. L. Coombs of Quincy. The child is not quite 3 years old, and the petitioner alleges that it is in delicate health and needs her care, and that the father is not a suitable person under the circumstances to have the custody. The father, who took the child from his wife last Friday, claims he is. Judge Holmes took the case under advisement. B. L. M. Tower for petitioner; Asa P. French for respondent.—Herald.

Coombs formerly lived on Summer street, and later at Wollaston.

TODAY'S COURT.

The continued case of Henry H. Burrell for drunkenness at Weymouth was called and continued for another week.

The continued case of Constant Crobac, for assault on Herman Byorni with intent to kill at Quincy, was called and at request of Lawyer Jenness, counsel for the defense, the case was again continued for two weeks.

THE DEWEY HOME FUND

National Committee Issues an Address to the People.

An Opportunity For All to Show Their Esteem.

Patriotism to Have a Monument in the Form of a Home In Washington.

Washington, May 17.—The following address to the people of the United States has been issued by the national committee of the Dewey home fund:

"The American people are anxious to do honor to Admiral Dewey. Their zeal has taken the form of invitations to banquets in many different cities, of celebrations, parades and displays. Obviously, it will be impossible for him to attend all the banquets, and it may be invidious to select one or a few for the honor of his presence. The common sense of our countrymen does not find suitable expression for its admiration and esteem for our great naval hero in methods effervescent and transient. A grateful nation cannot do better than provide liberally for Admiral Dewey's comfort in a home fitted for his tastes, worthy in some measure of his services and indicative in a small degree of the gratitude which is not of a day, but of all time. A popular subscription will afford all the privilege to join in such testimony in which patriotism shall have a monument.

"The career of Admiral Dewey is a part of our national history, a glorious chapter in the magnificent record of the recent war with Spain. Not in our own country alone, but in all the world, his name is emblazoned with those that shall not die. His services all know in part—the future will add to appreciation of his greatness the solidity and brilliancy of his fame.

"On his return from the scene of his victories and his statesmanship the official duties of Admiral Dewey will be performed in Washington. He should have a home there. The national capitol cannot fail to have attractions for him in the present and the future. For a winter residence during his life he can hardly find a more desirable place. It is for a home for Admiral Dewey in Washington that subscriptions are invited. Suggestions to this general effect have been put forth in several quarters. Assurances have been conveyed to the undersigned that the general enthusiasm can be directed into a single current through their agency as a national committee. Each of us, busy with manifold occupations, accepts as a duty, not to be set aside, the task of organizing the popular munificence for this purpose and of administering the patriotic trust for a Dewey home fund.

"Subscriptions may be sent at once to the treasurer of this fund at the treasury department, Washington. Temporary receipts will be promptly returned, and as soon as it can be prepared, a duplicate of the same date and number, bearing a fine portrait of Admiral Dewey, will be forwarded to every subscriber.

"Immediate response will enable the national committee to convey to Admiral Dewey, as soon as he lands, practical evidence that the American people have provided for him a home at the nation's capitol.

"The committee invites the newspapers of the country and the governors of all states to co-operate in this movement."

The address is signed by Frank A. Vanderlip, chairman; Charles H. Allen, Henry C. Corbin, Perry S. Heath, Ellis H. Roberts, treasurer of the fund.

But Three Elevatous Running.

Buffalo, May 17.—There is no change in the situation along the docks. The elevators, crippled by the sympathetic strike of the monthly men, are doing little work. But three elevators, the city, Erie and Northern, are being operated. Contractor Connors, however, says that men to run the elevators can be secured. Complications in the strike situation render it impossible to forecast an early settlement. The grain shovelers, under their agreement to remain out until the demands of the freight handlers, coal heavers and ore handlers are met, are unable to accept the latest concession made by Contractor Connors.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

James Gorman, a railroad newsboy, was killed by a train near Mansfield, Mass. He was leaving one moving train and did not notice another train on the next track and against which he fell.

Rev. Dr. William Nast, the founder of German Methodism in America, died at Cincinnati, aged 92. He was born at Stuttgart, Germany. From 1837 up to his death he edited The Christian Apologist, the German organ of the German Methodist Episcopal church in America.

Wilson Waddingham, aged 66, a banker and broker, died suddenly at New York from apoplexy. Mr. Waddingham was said to be interested in several banks. He is believed to have been the owner of many valuable business interests in many parts of the west.

The grand division of the Order of Railway Conductors has decided upon the establishment of a $500,000 reserve fund, aside from the $100,000 strike fund, to be raised by an annual assessment of $1 per each $10,000.

John W. Ambrose, who had done so much for the improvement of New York harbor, and who was mainly responsible for the development of South Brooklyn, died suddenly at New York of malarial poisoning. Mr. Ambrose was born in 1828 in Newcastle, Ireland.

AGUINALDO ENDORSED.

Anti-Imperialists Declare That McKinley Is In the Wrong.

Brutal War of Subjugation Must Be Stopped.

Alleged Perversion of Principles Upon Which the Government Was Founded.

Boston, May 17.—Winslow Warren presided at a meeting of the Anti-Imperialist league here yesterday, and after the secretary had read a number of letters commending the cause, ex-Governor Boutwell was introduced. Before reading his paper he said that the first part of what he was about to say had been submitted to the executive committee of the league and had been approved by its members, so that in some sense it might be taken as the voice of the Anti-Imperialist league.

As president of the Anti-Imperialist league, Ex-Governor Boutwell denied the charge that the organization was engaged in improper dealings with the army in the Philippines, but stated that it was the purpose of the league "to bring the army out of the Philippines by quiet influence of the American people at home, acting through the ordinary channels of intercourse and communication, but, failing in that effort, as we may, then we propose to so act as to summon the army from the Philippines by the authority of the votes of the American people, and without thought of the consequences to men, to administrations, to political parties or to questions of domestic concern."

After some further reference to the work in which the league is engaged, the speaker entered upon a discussion of the subject of imperialism, taking up the most recent developments in the Philippine situation. He said: "If the opinion of one person upon the question of whether the President of the United States or Aguinaldo is in the right is of any value to the advocates of imperialism, I am prepared to make answer. Aguinaldo is contending for that which is his own, the right to self government, in common with those with whom he is associated and whom he represents. The president asserts a right to govern others, a right which has never been possessed lawfully by any one, and which has never been exercised except through fear, fraud, force and war. As between Aguinaldo and the president, Aguinaldo is in the right, and the president is in the wrong.

Aguinaldo can only bring the war to an end by the surrender of all right to self-government in himself and in his people, and by the recognition of a right in the president to govern and to tax 8,000,000 Filipinos in whatever manner shall to him seem expedient, while on the other hand the president can bring peace in the islands by the abandonment of a claim to which he has no just title, and which can only be prosecuted for a purpose that is inconsistent with American institutions and with American ideas of freedom, equality and justice.

The speaker, disclaiming any purpose to exalt Aguinaldo, referred to some evidences of the capabilities of the Filipinos to govern themselves.

Ex-Governor Boutwell pointed out some of the differences between the claim of the United States upon the Philippines and those of England upon the American colonies. He referred to the cost in "treasure" and "lives more precious than money" of the year of war just closed, and then devoted considerable time to replying to what he styled Secretary Long's defense of President McKinley's policy, in a recent address in Boston.

"What is the policy of the war?" the speaker asked. "The answer is to be found in the proclamations and in the replies of General Otis to the appeals of the Filipinos for a suspension of hostilities looking to negotiations for an adjustment upon a basis of permanent peace. The war is to be prosecuted until the 8,000,000 inhabitants of unnumbered islands are brought into subjection to the authority of the United States. Until they consent that we may rule them and tax them, or until we acquire the power to rule them and to tax them against their consent, this war of subjugation, a brutal war of subjugation, is to go on."

Mr. Boutwell then referred to the denial of those who support the administration that the "policy is one of imperialism," and said: "We have seized Porto Rico, Cuba and the margins of two islands in the Philippines, and we are ruling and taxing the inhabitants without their consent, through the agency of military chieftains, who, for the time being, are endowed with full powers. According to the policy of the administration the inhabitants of the Philippine Islands are to be permitted to enjoy self-government whenever the authorities in the United States shall be of the opinion that the millions in the islands are capable of governing themselves. Into this practical form of government President McKinley and his assistants and supporters have perverted these immortal truths: 'That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed.'

"Will the country indorse this perversion of the principles on which the government was founded? And will the country consent to the inevitable expenditure of money and the sacrifice of life while the war goes on?"

Taking up Secretary Long's intimation that the Philippines might be given a government similar to those of the territories of the United States, the speaker enumerated some of the privileges which the territories enjoy, and asked what the reply of American citizens would be to the proposition to endow 8,000,000 Malays and their posterity through all time with a right of competition and equality.

Mr. Boutwell holds that "the iniquity of imperialism is bearing a harvest of evil in many quarters," in support of which statement he cited recent events in Samoa and Hawaii, and said: "Where else in the world has tyranny made such rapid advances, and where else in the world have tyrants assumed to assert and to exercise more absolute control over their subjects? In the presence and under the influence of these teachings the statement is not a surprise that our postmaster general has seized the contents of the mail, and made the public announcement that a person named is not worthy to enjoy its privileges in common with his fellow citizens."

The speaker, in closing, directed the thought of the audience to the changed relations which would have resulted from a willingness on the part of George III and the British ministry to co-operate with the American colonies in establishing self-government, and pointed out how, from the possibility of establishing such relations with the Philippines, their firendship had been lost to the United States, and the only possibility for peaceful conditions remaining was in the opportunity presented of abandoning claim to jurisdiction and the tender of aid without positive obligation in the establishment of an independent government.

After Forty Three Years.

Boston, May 17.—Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale, than whom there is no better known clergyman in the country, has resigned the pastorate of the South Congregational church of this city after service of 43 years. The resignation came in the form of a letter addressed to the standing committee and proprietors of the church, who were in session, last night. The letter created great sadness when its import was realized, as no one had the least idea of what was coming.

DR. EDWARD EVERETT HALE.

Dr. Hale says that he has begun to realize that the church needed a man who could serve as minister as well as preacher. The letter is couched in tender words of love for the people among whom he had worked for so many years. The committee, to whom the letter was read, will approach Dr. Hale to see if his decision may be changed. Many propositions seeking to retain Dr. Hale will be put forward, chief of which will be to appoint an assistant.

Rest of Life In Prison.

Newburyport, Mass., May 17.—In the superior court here yesterday Samuel W. Connors, colored, received a life sentence in the state prison for criminally assaulting Mrs. Alice L. Butterick in Swampscott last November. The case went on trial at noon, and was of short duration, no counsel appearing for Connors. The case was given to the jury late in the afternoon, and the 12 men returned a verdict of guilty after deliberating five minutes. Conners had entered the house of Mrs. Butterick and asked for a drink of water. While she was getting it for him he seized her and threw her violently to the floor. He then pounded her on the head with a large stone and then threw a flatiron at her. The flatiron fractured her skull and rendered her unconscious. Connors then committed a criminal assault upon the woman.

Connecticut Shaken Up.

Hartford, May 17.—Hartford and other places along the Connecticut river experienced a slight earthquake shock shortly before 8:15 o'clock last night. Residences in the elevated portions of the city were perceptibly shaken, dishes rattled on shelves, and a rumbling noise, suggestive of a heavy explosion, was distinctly heard. At Middletown and Easthampton many people rushed from their homes thoroughly frightened. The shock was not felt in any other portion of the state, excepting towns along the Connecticut river.

On In Full Force.

Lynn, Mass., May 17.—The strike or lockout of the pattern makers in this city is on in full force. At the General Electric company's river works some of the men who were told that there was no more work for them stood on the street and were prepared to argue with any persons who sought to secure work. It is possible that the pattern makers employed at the Schenectady factory of the concern will be called out, in support of their brethren here.

Trimmers Go Out.

Athol, Mass., May 17.—Another strike began at the shoe shop of C. M. Lee & Son yesterday by the trimmers going out. They claim no definite increase, but assert that they cannot make a living at the present wages. They can do but three cases of shoes per day at 50 cents a case. A large order is being rushed through, and, knowing this, the trimmers thought it was a good time to strike. The prospects are that new men will go in.

Bondsman Must Hunt Again.

North Adams, Mass., May 17.—Havenas Mooradian of Providence, who was under $5000 bonds for assault with criminal intent, and who, it is claimed, jumped his bail, yesterday escaped from his bondsman, Daniel Handy, who had followed the man to Chicago and was bringing him back to surrender him to the court.

Homeless Baronet.

London, May 17.—Sir Thomas O'Connor Moore, 11th baronet, who succeeded his father, Sir Richard Emmanuel Moore, in 1882, has been ejected from his lodgings, owing to his inability to pay a shilling for a week's accommodation. The heir to the title is his brother Stephen, now living abroad.

To Perpetuate Patriotism.

Albany, May 17.—A certificate of incorporation for the Order of the Settlers and Defenders of America was filed with the secretary of state, yesterday. Its particular objects are to stimulate genealogical, biographical and historical research; to publish patriotic manuscripts and records; collect colonial and revolutionary relics; mark patriot graves and locate and protect historic sites. Its operations are to be conducted in the United States and foreign countries, with principal office in New York city.

Bryan Raked Over the Coals.

Kansas City, May 17.—At the Reform Press association meeting yesterday, after President Burkitt's annual address, Ignatius Donnelly advised the Populists against fusion and excoriated William J. Bryan and the Democratic party for what he termed treachery. His speech was a plea to the Populists to keep in the middle of the road and thus acquire success over the "tottering and corrupt Democracy." He was heartily applauded.

Mission For Fighting Joe.

Chattanooga, May 17.—General Joseph Wheeler passed through this city on the way to Washington from Riverton, Ala. From what could be learned from those who came up on the train with General Wheeler, it seems that he has been recalled to Washington by the secretary of war, and will be sent at once to the Philippines on some secret mission for the department.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—4:20; sets, 7:02.
Moon sets—12:35 a. m.
High water—5:30 a. m.; 6 p. m.

The disturbance which occupied the middle Rocky mountain region has extended eastward and presents a trough of low barometric pressure extending from Chicago to the middle Atlantic and New England coasts. This movement has been attended by showers and thunder storms. The weather will continue unsettled, with showers in the New England states. Squalls are indicated for the north Atlantic coast.

Important Advice.

It is surprising how many people wake up in the morning nearly as tired as when they went to bed, a disagreeable taste in their mouth, the lips sticky, and the breath offensive, with a coated tongue. These are nature's first warnings of Dyspepsia and Liver Disorders, but if the U. S. Army & Navy Tablets are resorted to at this stage they will restore the system to a healthy condition. A few doses will do more for a weak or sour stomach and Constipation than a prolonged course of any other medicine.

If you can not get them at your drug store, send 10c. for a package of 12 to the U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLET CO., 17 EAST 14TH ST., NEW YORK.

Teeth extracted absolutely without pain by he use of the

"BOSTON VEGETABLE VAPOR."

It is claimed that, while it has the required properties of ether, chloroform, nitrous oxide gas, it lacks the disagreeable and dangerous qualities of these drugs. It is certainly a boon to suffering humanity to be relieved of the nausea too often following the administering of sedatives of the old school.—Boston Transcript.

SAN ISIDRO IS OURS.

Details of a Brilliant Movement by the American Troops.

Cherished Move of Lawton Accomplished at Last.

Filipinos Retire In a Hurry, With Our Gallant Fighters In Close Pursuit.

Manila, May 18.—General Lawton's advance guard, under Colonel Summers of the Oregon troops, took San Isidro, the Insurgent capital, at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

Colonel Summers' command, consisting of the Twenty-second infantry on the left, the Minnesota regiment in the center and the Oregon and North Dakota regiments on the right, preceded by scouts and accompanied by Scott's battery of artillery, advanced from Baluarte at daylight. The troops first encountered the enemy two miles from San Isidro, the rebels retiring when our artillery opened fire. Just outside the town an insurgent force estimated to number 2000 men was entrenched. It made a slight resistance, but evacuated its position when our troops turned its right flank.

The enemy's loss was 15 men killed and 20 wounded. Our troops captured three prisoners and many rifles. On the American side, one soldier of the Oregon regiment and one of the Minnesota regiment were slightly wounded.

After capturing the town, Colonel Summers' troops continued their advance, pursuing the retreating rebels for several miles.

The expedition under Major Kobbe of the Third artillery, consisting of the Seventeenth infantry, a battalion of the Ninth and one battery of the First artillery, left Calumpit at daybreak, marching up the Rio Grande to join General Lawton's division at Arayat. A flotilla of cascoes loaded with supplies also proceeded up the river. Both forces were convoyed by the "tinclad" army gunboats, under Captain Grant.

Major Kobbe's column reached San Luis, eight miles up the Rio Grande, yesterday, meeting with but slight opposition. One man was wounded during a brush with the rebels.

At daybreak today the Americans began a further advance toward Candaba, about six miles up the river beyond San Luis.

The insurgents along General MacArthur's front evacuated their position during the night, presumably moving further up the railroad.

The Twenty-third infantry has sailed on the transport Leon XIII for Jolo island, to relieve the Spanish garrison there.

At daylight yesterday Lieutenant Hill, who, with 25 men of the Fourth infantry, was concealed in the trenches near Pasig, was attacked by a force of rebels, who evidently imagined they could capture one of our outposts, because only a few shots had been fired by the American force. A few volleys put the enemy to flight, the rebels losing five men killed and a number were wounded.

The army gunboat Napingoden has returned here from the lake, having been disabled by a cannon shot from a rebel position near Santa Cruz, which broke her rudderpost.

San Isidro is a city of great strategic importance. It is about 15 miles northeast of San Miguel and nearly twice that distance northeast of San Fernando. It was the latest seat of the rebel government, which has been hurried from pillar to post since the opening of the campaign. The advance upon San Isidro was the cherished move of General Lawton, and was only taken after many weary miles of marching and a hot fight at the outworks flung in a horseshoe about the city. This marks the most northern point to which the American troops have advanced.

Marchand Reaches the Coast.

Jibouti, May 18.—Major Marchand, the French explorer who has just crossed Africa from the Atlantic coast, has arrived here. The insignia of commander of the Legion of Honor was handed to him on board the French second-class cruiser D'Assas without ceremony.

Noted Actress Drops Dead.

New York, May 18.—Mary Timberman, an actress, 35 years old, fell dead in the Sturtevant House while ascending the stairs. She was well known in the theatrical world and had been on the stage for many years. She had appeared in Shakesperian roles and made her debut as Lady Anne in "Richard III" in support of Thomas W. Keene. She played leading parts with Mme. Janauschek and won praise as the adventuress in "The Power of Gold." Before she went on the stage she was favorably known as a public reader. She also had contributed a number of articles to magazines. She was a native of Keokuk, Ia.

Heavy Damage by Storm.

Cleveland, May 18.—Another bad storm swept over northern Ohio yesterday, being accompanied by high winds, hail and a heavy rainfall. At Norwalk the rainfall was four inches, trees were blown down and havoc was caused among telegraph and telephone wires. At Upper Sandusky hailstones as large as hickory nuts fell, brickyard sheds were blown down and several houses were unroofed. The rainfall was 3½ inches. At Bucyrus, it is said, hailstones nine inches in circumference fell. Windows were broken, stock stampeded and crops beaten into the ground. A heavy rainfall followed the hail.

Death In Its Wake.

Manchester, Ia., May 18.—Later details of the cyclone which passed over the northern part of this county Tuesday night show four persons already dead and three others fatally injured. Eleven others were seriously hurt. The storm started on its path of destruction at Snyder's, taking a direction due east for six miles, then veered northeast for four miles, demolishing everything in its course. Every farmhouse in the track of the stormcloud for a width of 40 rods is either destroyed or wrecked. At the Klaus cemetery only one monument is left standing, and some of the tombstones were found two miles away. The Klaus schoolhouse was blown to pieces and the Methodist Episcopal church is a wreck. The storm exhausted itself a mile north of Colesburg.

"People Working Everywhere."

Washington, May 18.—The following dispatch has been received at the war department from General Brooke: "General Wood reports as result of his recent trip through department everything quiet and peaceful. Reports of brigandage absolutely without foundation. People working everywhere. Similar conditions in other departments."

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—4:19; sets, 7:03.
Moon sets—12:58 a. m.
High water—6:15 a. m.; 6:45 p. m.

The barometric depression which extended from Colorado to the middle Atlantic and New England coasts is centered over Lake Erie, and the barometer is high over New England. The weather will continue cool and unsettled, with showers, in the New England states. Fresh to brisk easterly winds are indicated.

WONDERFUL COUNTRY.

But Porto Rico Is a Place For Capitalists, Rather Than Poor Men.

Natives Wish For Territorial Form of Government.

General Henry Asserts That There Is No Danger of an Uprising.

New York, May 18.—Major General Henry, U. S. V., until recently military governor of Porto Rico, arrived on the transport McPherson from San Juan yesterday. He was accompanied by Mrs. Henry and his daughter, Mrs. Benton. The general will remain here until Monday next, when he will leave for Washington.

General Henry is enthusiastic about Porto Rico, its people and its possibilities. "It is a wonderful country," he said, "but we will have to go slow in bringing about reforms. Capital invested will bring large returns. More than 50 percent of the value of the sugar cane is lost in the process of grinding.

"The children are thirsting for knowledge, and the great need is schools. General Eaton is doing fine work in this respect. There is an English teacher in each of the 10 districts, and English is taught in all of the schools of San Juan.

"The general conditions are very encouraging. Over 15,000 men are at work on public improvements, and we are spending over $100,000 per month in this way. This is more money than they received from Spain in all their lives. The road from Ponce to San Juan, the military road, is well built, but the other roads are wretched. When we have improved them all the natives in the interior can get their produce to the coast at slight cost.

"The Porto Ricans are anxious for a territorial form of government, but the question is how are they going to get money if the customs duties are wiped out. We are spending large sums, and I introduced a water supply in San Juan in five weeks after I took hold. The Spanish had been at work on the same thing for 50 years. San Juan is as clean now as any city of the South American republics. The people all look forward to being Americans.

"The demonstration they made upon my departure was affecting. With the exception of a few disgruntled politicians, the island is free from all ill-will towards the United States. One of these men, who is now in the United States, has boasted that he was the cause of my leaving my command. His paper was suppressed, I believe. At any rate, if such an outrageous falsehood had been told about any predecessor of mine I should have taken such measures.

"Of course there is talk about an uprising, but there is really no danger of such a thing happening. The Porto Ricans lived for 400 years under Spanish rule, and never caused much trouble. I traveled all over the island with my orderly when there was talk of a massacre.

"To one man who came from Adjuntas to tell me of an uprising, I said: 'Go to Adjuntas and dig many graves. Rise tomorrow and I shall order out the American soldiers to shoot the Porto Ricans down and fill these graves.' He went home, and telegraphed me later that there would be no massacre."

General Henry maintained that Porto Rico has the loveliest winter climate in the world, and a great hotel there would pay. "Porto Rico," he said, "is the place for the capitalist rather than for the poor man. At the present time there are thousands of the poor class without employment. When I left there were 15,000 laborers employed on the roads at 30 cents (American money) per day. The average wages for unskilled labor on plantations is 36 cents (American money) per day. The fertility of the land and the warmth of the climate make the demand for labor very small."

Considered a Slight.

Berlin, May 18.—The Lokal Anzeiger prints an interview with William T. Stead, who recently interviewed the czar for the second time, in which the newspaper man is quoted as saying the czar read the pamphlets of Professor Stengel of Munich university, one of the German delegates to the peace conference, who defended war and declared that eternal peace ought not to be the aim of culture, with much pain. The czarina, it appears, also greatly regretted that the czar's idea had found "such an unfriendly echo in her German home." Throughout Russian official circles, it is added, Mr. Stead found a conviction that Professor Stengel's appointment meant a slight to Russia.

Would-Be Punishers Punished.

Union City, Tenn., May 18.—At Haynes Mill, Mrs. Mattox, Mrs. Edwards and Miss Brogdon waylaid Mrs. Covington and attacked her with clubs, whereupon the latter drew a knife and stabbed Mrs. Mattox through the heart, killing her instantly. Mrs. Covington then plunged the weapon into the back and lungs of Mrs. Edwards, inflicting fatal injuries. The tragedy grew out of a quarrel among the children of the women.

Recruits Must Be Weeded Out.

Washington, May 18.—An order has been issued by the war department warning recruiting officers to be more careful in the selection of recruits for the army. It is stated that complaints of the inferior quality of recruits indicate a lack of care on the part of some officers. Physical defects have been found, which, in the judgment of the department, should have been discovered when the men were examined.

Good Afternoon.

If Quincy Neck will continue to exhibit as much public interest in its surroundings as was manifested at the hearing before the City Council this week, it will get the improvements, and with its natural attractions will prosper.

The policy of combining several city appropriations in a one loan order has the endorsement of good financiers, but each improvement contemplated should stand upon its merits and be passed independently, and provision made that the amount shall be included in a general loan order to be passed later. The policy of holding back all improvements until summer or later, handicaps the departments and prolongs the work in the fall of the year.

Too many changes should not be made in the plumbing ordinance, so that every time a property holder makes a little improvement he will be required to make many changes. People who thought their houses were thoroughly plumbed and that sewer connection would be simple and inexpensive are surprised and disgusted at the number of changes which the plumbers say are necessary. The ordinance seems to be drawn in the interest of the plumber quite as much as the public health, and it would seem as if a distinction might well be made between old and new work. All new work should certainly be according to ordinance, but the Board of Health or inspector should be allowed some discretion as to trifling changes in existing plumbing.

The taking of the Briesler corner, the widening of Hancock street and Coddington street, the removal of the town pump, and the movement to widen the approach into Washington street, are all indications of a growth in the business section of our city, and the suggestion to widen Hancock street by taking a strip of the Nancy Brackett estate also seems desirable. About the fountain is now the congested part of City Square, and the recently enclosed green nearby fails in a marked degree to be an attractive spot. All the land outside the posts and chains surrounding the Stone church should be thrown into the street and put in good condition for travel. This would not only relieve the congestion but be more convenient and attractive. The raised grass plot at the head of Washington street is really a nuisance.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ It will be more spectacular to give this 200 millions away in large amounts to people or communities who draw it as in a lottery without giving anything whatever in return, but if Mr. Carnegie holds, as he is reported to hold, that it is a disgrace to die rich, what is the character of the act of a man who diverts the part of his fortune that has been earned by others away from them and into the hands of those who have no claim on it. To personally seek out the rightful beneficiaries of this proposed philanthropy and apply the golden rule would not be worth cabling all over the world perhaps, but we cannot doubt that it would be noted in a better place.—Detroit Journal.

CO. K MATTERS.

Volunteers Will Now Enter Militia Service.

Will Also Form a Social Association.

Graves of Fallen Heroes to be Decorated Memorial Day.

Lieut. Whitney when seen in relation to Co. K matters, said that he had received information from Capt. Kincaide of the latter's leave of absence. That as acting commander he had sent notices to all who have been connected with Company K that a meeting would be held at the armory Monday evening at 8 o'clock. At that meeting, Lieut. Whitney says that he shall state the situation to the company and then those that desire to continue in the militia company may do so. He had no doubt but what the required number of men would be readily obtained.

It is known that Lieut. Spear and Sergeant Colbert who had refused to return under their former captain have signified their intention of returning under Lieut. Whitney.

Capt. Kincaide's leave of absence is four months unless he receives an appointment sooner, and there will be no election of a captain or other officers in the company until such time.

It is fortunate that the affair has been settled so peacefully, for a much longer delay in organization would have meant that this section might have lost its company of State militia. Both Malden and Everett have companies formed to take advantage of any vacancies, and one of these would doubtless have been selected as the best remedy for the trouble.

The members of Co. K, U. S. V., had taken steps toward forming a company and a meeting of these volunteers has been called at French's hall, Quincy, for Friday evening. The object of the meeting was to form a permanent social organization of those who served in the recent war with Spain; and it was also intended to form a militia company and petition the Adjutant General to accept the company as a part of the Fifth regiment, with headquarters at Quincy.

As the matter of Co. K has now been peacefully settled that will be abandoned. The meeting, however, will be held just the same and an association formed.

There are two heroes of the Spanish war buried in Quincy and these volunteers take it to be their duty to see to it that the graves of these two comrades are not forgotten on Memorial day. It is possible, if the organization is completed, that the members who are well drilled may turn out with the Grand Army on that day.

The feeling that Co. K should hail from Quincy rather than from Braintree is growing stronger every day. A large per cent. of the company claim their residence as Quincy, and it should by rights be located here. It is believed if the influential citizens of the city bestir themselves, that it is not too late even now to make the change.

Co-Education.

The Quincy High School Debating Society, opened its meeting Wednesday with the entertainment which consisted of the following numbers: Essay, Mr. Foss, '99; declamation, Miss Ross, '00; violin duet by Messrs. Wason, accompanied by Mr. Luce; and a recitation by Miss Woy, '00.

It was voted that there should be some amendments to the constitution of the society, and a committee of five was appointed to draw up the amendment and to submit it to the society for their approval, at the next meeting.

The new debate was then begun, Resolved — "That co-education is desirable throughout the schools and colleges of the United States."

The speakers on the affirmative were: Miss Lull, Miss McKeon and Miss Mitchell; on the negative Miss Pinkham, Miss Ross and Miss Stewart.

Steamer Burned.

The steamer Frances, formerly of the Norwich line, which has been dismantled for her old metal at Nut Island had the torch applied to her Wednesday night. The illumination caused by her burning was very bright and could be seen for miles. It looked its brightest about 8 o'clock, although it could be seen for hours afterward. Many thought that Houghs Neck was burning up, and for a time the telephone wires were kept hot by subscribers inquiring what the fire was.

☞ "There is one good thing about Judge Lynch," says the Thomasville Times; "he serves without pay." This conclusion is a hasty one, just like all other lynching conclusions. Not even this "one good thing" can be ascribed to Judge Lynch, for the sessions of his court cost Georgia more than the terms of all the other courts combined.—Augusta, Ga., Chronicle.

All Arrested.

Two factions of West Quincy's youths met on Centre street one night recently and for half an hour gave the residents of that vicinity a true representation of what a battle might be. The boys had no smokeless powder guns but used rocks, bricks, tin cans, sticks and any old thing that came handy that they could lay their hands upon. The battle was minus the report caused by the discharge of guns, but that want was supplied by the shouts from eighteen healthy boys. For a time it was something fierce and people were obliged to close their blinds to save their windows from getting smashed. Fortunately there was no loss of life, but a number had big bruises on various parts of the body, which had met the rocks and bricks.

As an outcome of the fight, warrants were sworn out against the youths, and this morning the following were lined up before Judge Humphrey, charged with disturbing the peace: James Curry, James McVey, Patrick McVey, Levi McLeoud, Maurice Cohen, Thomas Philipo, James Kelley, George Craig, Jeremiah Cullinan, John Barry, George Booth, William Craig, David Flanigan, Harry Boyd, William McLaughlin, George Porter, James Sullivan.

May Fair.

The annual May fair and supper of the Universalist society was held Wednesday. The supper was at 6.30 and "C" dishes were served, including Corned beef, Corned shoulder, rolls, Custard pie, Cream pie, Cranberry pie, Ice Cream, Cake, Coffee, etc. The supper was given by the Dorcas society, Mrs. George F. Spooner and Miss Annie L. Hobart having charge. They were assisted by Misses Barnes, Cheney, Newcomb, Holton, Murrant and Cudworth.

The entertainment consisted of piano solos by Mrs. Cutter of Weymouth, vocal solos by Mrs. Henry P. Furnald, and readings by Miss Small of the Woodward Institute, all of which were very pleasing, especially the readings given by Miss Small. She read a number of selections including two from the famous Dooley papers, which were received with applause.

Several who were to have taken part in the entertainment were prevented on account of illness. The attendance at the fair was very small compared with former years.

K. of H. Children's Party.

The annual children's party under the auspices of Maple lodge, Knights and Ladies of Honor, was held Wednesday evening at Plumer's hall. The children invited were those whose parents are members of the order and in the neighborhood of fifty were present. The party opened with a supper which was served at 6 o'clock and it was necessary to set two tables to accommodate all. Following the supper the young people indulged in games, etc., until 8 o'clock when a short business meeting of the order was held, the children in the meantime occupying the ante-room. After the business meeting the doors were again opened and there was a pleasing entertainment given by the young people.

Proposals Opened.

Now that the government is to remove the wreck in Weymouth Fore river, the Quincy Yacht Club, which has been pushing this matter, will ask for the removal of the wreck of the steamer Lewiston which lies between Grape and Sheep islands.

The following proposals were received for removing the wreck in Weymouth Fore river: F. Scripture, Rockport, $450; Betts Bros. & Co., Boston, $343; Charles W. Johnson, Lewes, Del., $325; Edwin Canny, Pigeon Cove, $593; Hiram W. Phillips, Quincy, $240; W. H. Wyman, Chelsea, $377.

Ladies Night.

The St. John's C. L. & A. A. entertained the Ladies Wednesday evening at the hall on School street and there was a large attendance of friends of the members. During the first part part of the evening there was a pleasing entertainment consisting of solos by Mr. Knight, Mr. Gallagher, Miss Shea and Miss Walch; recitations by Miss McCarthy and Mr. McCarthy. There were bango solos and fancy dancing. A bountiful collation was served at the close of the entertainment and the evening closed with dancing.

The Metropolitan Sewer.

The House had a long debate Wednesday on the bill for a high-level gravity sewer for the relief of the Charles river and Neponset river valleys. The city of Waltham was strongly opposed to present action, and made a strong effort by its Representative, Mr. Smith, to secure postponement to next year. Postponement was refused, and the bill was ordered to a third reading.

Sprinkle Judiciously.

Editors of the Ledger:

It seldom occurs in the annals of a city or town, that the authorities do too much with the end in view of making the streets more presentable in appearance, or to enhance the pleasure to be derived from riding over them.

This certainly is the case in Quincy, where in many instances, the mud has accumulated to the depth of four to six inches on her main thoroughfare, on account of excessive sprinkling or in plainer terms, "flooding."

This no doubt, is a good thing for those who wash vehicles as a means of gaining a livelihood, but to those who seek recreation in riding over the roads, especially to the bicyclists, it is indeed obnoxious and disagreeable, to be obliged to pick one's way along in the manner we are obliged to.

Many a bad "spill" has been occasioned on account of the wheels slipping in the mud, and while the system of continual sprinkling may add to the verdancy of lawns, it also holds good when applied to our roads, as it gives a very verdant look to the wheelman passing through Quincy's streets, who bespattered with mud, certainly presents a most woe-begone and green appearance to those with whom he comes in contact.

If it is impossible for us to have our streets sprinkled judiciously, I think the general public will agree with me in saying "give us the lesser of two evils"; that is, give us a little dust in preference to mud, as dust will brush off, and mud will not.

PRELIMINARIES.

For the Grand Challenge Cup Races.

Representatives of Clubs Arrange All Details.

The Dates, Courses, Hours, Guns, etc., Agreed Upon.

The preliminaries for the Quincy Yacht club cup races were arranged on Wednesday afternoon at the Trade club, Boston. Mr. W. E. C. Eustis and Mr. George H. Richards represented the Beverly Yacht Club; Mr. F. L. Pigeon, the Annisquan: Mr. William E. Robinson, the Hull; Mr. Charles D. Mower, the Lynn; and Mr. Fred B. Rice, Mr. Henry M. Faxon and Mr. James S. Whiting the Quincy.

The following preliminaries were agreed upon:

The races will be sailed during the week beginning Monday, July 24.

The courses will be the same as those of last year.

The time limit will be three and one-half hours.

There will be three guns fired, the first a warning gun; ten minutes later the preparation gun, at which time all contestants become amenable to the rules; and five minutes later the starting gun.

There will be three judges, one each from the Lynn, Beverly and Quincy clubs.

Barring postponements, the first race will be started at 10 15 A. M. on Monday, July 24; the second, Tuesday at 11.15 A. M; Wednesday at 12.15 P. M; Thursday at 1.15 P. M.; Friday at 2.15 P. M.. and Saturday at 2.15 P. M.

In case of accident to any of the competitors, the judges shall have the power to postpone the succeeding race, but no postponement shall be made for more than one race day.

Wollaston Won.

The Wollaston golf team had it pretty much its own way on Wednesday in its return match at Newton with the Newton Centre club. It was fine golf playing which gave the visiting team the great victory however; both Smith and Freeman broke the club records, each with a score of 42 for nine hole, while Mr. Freeman's total was 87. Cracknell was not in his usual good play, and was the only Wollastonian who did not down his opponent. All the others had big margins, and the score was 19 to 6 as follows:

Police Have Clew.

C. H. Totman, who is wanted by the police for robbing hen roosts, escaped from Officer Sharkey at the Braintree depot this morning, but will probably be recaptured before night. Totman made his appearance at the Braintree depot this morning to take the early Boston train. With him was a large extension bag. Office Sharkey, who is the station agent, recognized him and placed him under arrest. While the officer was taking charge of the bag Totman wrenched away and started on the run down the track toward Weymouth. Upon opening the bag the officer found ten fowl with their throats cut and all picked ready to be sold in the market as spring chickens.

Basket Ball.

A very interesting game of basket ball was played Wednesday evening on Faxon's field, adjoining the First United Presbyterian church, on Pleasant street, South Quincy, between two teams composed of the following young ladies:

Young Saplings Which Together Assume Importance.

Henry C. Weeden has returned from his Southern trip.

Mrs. Luther M. Hersey had the misfortune to fracture her ankle by a fall at her home.

Edward J. Colbert, who was taken with a severe hemorrhage two weeks ago, passed away early this morning.

It is doubtful if the Quincy Yacht Club can get Capt. Joshua Slocum to address the members at the smoke talk. He gets $100 for an hour's talk.

An old-folks singing school was given at the Wollaston M. E. church on Wednesday evening before a large audience. Supper was served at 6.30.

W. M. Marden, who has been seriously ill, is reported as being very much better, although it will be some time before he regains his full strength.

The "Frances" was built at Wilmington, Del., in 1864. She was of about 1,000 tons gross tonnage and had a total length of 222 feet. She plied between New Haven and New York.

Herman Byorni, the Finn, who was murderously assaulted with a bush hammer by Constant Crobac two weeks ago, is still at the City Hospital. He is, however, on a fair road to recovery, and unless something new sets in will be able to be out in about twenty days.

The old trial racer, the yacht "Pilgrim," which made her home so long at Quincy Point, has been converted into a steam yacht. L. G. Burnham of Boston is her owner and she will lay near Magnolia, his summer residence.

William J. Martin, an East Milton lad, met with a serious accident Monday afternoon. While attempting to get a ride on a wagon; his leg got through a wheel, and although the horse was stopped almost immediately he was extricated with difficulty.

Wednesday papers stated that Edward Pitts, aged 24 of Quincy, employed by a manufacturer of drugs, had a narrow escape Tuesday night. He in some way mistook a graduate of ammonia for water, and proceeded to drink it. He however, discovered his mistake before he swallowed any of it, but his month and tongue were badly burned. He was taken to the Emergency hospital and later to his home.

Edwin G. Prescott of the 17th U. S. infantry, whose parents reside on Quincy avenue, has arrived in the Philippines. He embarked from New York on the transport Sherman on Feb. 3, and after a voyage of 11,570 miles via Suez canal reached his destination Mar. 22. His letter reports a pleasant voyage without special incident. His regiment is brigaded with the 4th regulars and 13 Minnesota, and is known as the "Flying Brigade."

A large blood-hound of the "great Dane" species which has been running at large at Wollaston the past few weeks, has greatly disturbed the peace of mind of the women and children of that ward; and also that of a good many men. The acts of 1886 prohibit such a dog from being kept in this state except for exhibition purposes, and then he must be confined in a pen. The City Clerk of Boston refused to grant a license to such a dog last week.

Z. L. Bicknell Dead.

Zachariah L. Bicknell, one of Weymouth's best known citizens, passed away at his residence at East Weymouth this morning after a lingering illness, the result of a shock of paralysis, aged about 79 years. Mr. Bicknell was born in Weymouth where he has always resided. He has served the town in many capacities. For twenty-years he was a member of its board of sclectmen, being one of Weymouth's war board with Judge Humphrey and Noah Vining. He has also served as a member of the school committee, board of assessors, a trustee of Tufts Public Library, a representative to the General Court in 1862 and 1891. He was postmaster under President Buchanan before the war, and under President Cleveland after the war. He was also an ex-chief engineer of the fire department and a director of the Martha's Vinyard Camp Meeting association.

He was the only surviving charter member of Crescent lodge of Odd Fellows, also the oldest past master of Orphan's Hope Lodge of Free Masons, Past Commander of South Shore and Old Colony Commanderies, Knights Templar. He has been standard bearer in the Massachusetts Grand Lodge of Masons for many years and is a member of the 32d degree in the Scottish Rite.

For years he carried on the grocery business in Weymouth and was also engaged in the real estate and insurance business. He leaves a widow and three married daughters.

Organ Recital.

The organ recital at Christ church tonight promises to be the musical event of the season. Mr. Ernest Douglas, organist of St. John's church, Cambridge, is one of Boston's leading organists who has delighted the audiences of the Twentieth Century club recitals, and done other notable musical work.

Master Winthrop Ferguson is one of Mr. Douglas's soprano solo boys and was one time a resident of Quincy.

ONE OF THE TRUSTS.

A Financial Review of the Street Railway Combine.

That the stockholders of the Quincy & Boston street railway did not get all they could for their stock sold is shown by the fact that the shareholders of the Norfolk & Suburban Street Railway Company who have not agreed to sell their stock to the big syndicate at $200 per share, are now offered the opportunity of doing so by deposit with a trust company on or before May 20, the same to be paid for by June 1.

The financial editor of the Herald makes a review and some comments upon the deal which are of interest:

"By big syndicate is meant the Morse-Tucker-Anthony syndicate, which is engaged in corralling practically all of the street railroads in eastern Massachusetts, except the Boston Elevated system, and it is so easy a step to add that system, or to be added to that system, that the exception might be looked upon as only temporary. Enough has transpired to give a fairly good idea of the general plans of the syndicate. It has bought, or is buying, the stocks of the railroads on its programme at such price as be agreed on, and will turn them over to an association, to be capitalized at $24,000,000, more or less, one-half 4 per cent. cumulative preferred stock and the balance common stock.

"Having need of money to carry through its plans, the syndicate sells the preferred stock and 60 per cent. of the common stock to sundry people known as underwriters at par for the preferred, and throws in the common. It sells this with a string attached, underwriters agreeing that the syndicate shall be authorized to offer this same preferred stock and 50 per cent. of the common stock at 105 for the preferred, the underwriters to receive the five points premium and retain the 10 per cent. of common stock as a sort of commission for their services. The syndicate may be presumed to be among the underwriters and to share in this commission and gratuity.

"There is likewise 40 per cent. of common stock, or $4,800,000, par value, which goes somewhere. A published statement is that this 40 per cent. goes for organization, etc., whatever that may mean. It probably means that it goes as a bonus or as compensation to the promotors. If that is correect, practically half of the capital stock is given away and the properties may be said to be doubly capitalized, a thing impossible under the Massachusetts law, through a legally constituted corporation. It is to be done by an association, like the New England Gas & Coke Company, or the West End Land Company.

"It does not appear that this enterprise differs essentially from the so-called trust organizations formed in the goods and steel and other industries, except that it proceeds without incorporation. The same principles of monopoly and overcapitalization are evidently present, varying, if at all, only in degree. It has been contended that the shareholders of the West End Land Company were personally liable for the debts of the company. If so, the same rule would apply in case of all similar private associations. It will be interesting to observe how the state railroad commissioners will deal with this new association when its attention shall be brought to the subject by some formal application for leave to do certain things. The association will presumably develop the individual properties in the combination by an issue of the securities of the individual companies, and such an issue of securities will require the approval of the commissioners.

THE CO. K BLANKETS

Letters of Capt. Kincaide and Mayor Sears on the Gift.

The following letters of Capt. Kincaide to Mayor Sears of 1898, and of Mayor Sears to the City Council are of interest at this time when there is an inquiry as to the intent of the city:

Braintree, April 28, 1898.

Hon. Russell A Sears, Mayor of Quincy,

My Dear Sir:—I have the honor to extend to the citizens of Quincy through you, the sincere thanks of every member of my command for your generous and timely gift of sixty-one army blankets.

This much needed equipment will add greatly to the comfort of our boys when in active service.

We are proud of being the color company of our regiment, and as volunteers and guardians of the National colors and defenders of the nation's honor, may we prove ourselves worthy of the regard you have shown us in providing for our comfort.

Very truly yours,
HENRY L. KINCAIDE, Captain.

Mayor's office, May 2, 1898.

Walter S. Pinkham, Esq., President of City Council,

Sir:—I desire to notify you that on Wednesday, the 27th ult., I, in behalf of the City, requested Capt. H. L. Kincaide of Co. K., 5th Regiment, 2d Brigade, Mass. Vol. Militia, to purchase for the use of said company, sixty-one army blankets, the same to be paid for by the City of Quincy. This being practically the only active military company in which a number of our citizens are interested, and in the present anxious moments of our National affairs, I deemed it wise that the city should in some way lend its encouragement to the Militia. In doing so I believed I expressed the sentiment of each member of the Council and all of our citizens.

The cost of the blankets, $244, will after proper vouchers have been presented to me by the officers of the company, be charged to "miscellaneous appropriation." I attach hereto the acknowledgment of the Company for the city's act.

Respectfully submitted,
RUSSELL A. SEARS, Mayor.

1,000,000 GIVEN AWAY.

By a special and particular arrangement with the manufacturers of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, free trial bottles of this great medicine for the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder and Blood, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia and Constipation, will be sent absolutely free, postpaid, to all persons suffering from any of the diseases mentioned above who will send their full name and post office address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., providing they mention the Quincy Ledger when they write.

A very simple test to determine whether your Kidneys or Bladder are diseased is to put some of your urine in a glass tumbler and let it stand 24 hours, if it has a sediment or a cloudy, ropy or stringy appearance, if it is pale or discolored, you do not need a physician to tell you that you are in a dangerous condition. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy speedily cures such serious symptons as a pain in the back, inability to hold urine, a burning scalding pain in passing it. Frequent desire to urinate, especially at night, the staining of linen by your urine and all unpleasant and dangerous effects produced on the system by the use of whiskey and beer.

By a searching investigation it was found that over 91 per cent. of the people who sent for a sample bottle were so much benefitted by its use that they purchase a large sized bottle of their druggist, which in most cases cured them, while in some rare instances it took as many as two or even three bottles to effect a permanent cure.

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is sold by all druggists at $1.00 per large bottle, or six bottles for $5.00.

Too much importance cannot be given to the placing of the paint upon a dry surface. If the pores are filled with moisture, every paint will come off. If your house is worth painting, have it well painted. Obtain the best painters and those who have a reputation for honesty. If you are going to paint your house well, get the Chilton Paint, for it takes less of it to cover a given amount of surface than any other kind of paint, and it looks better and wears longer.

Thin coats of Pure Linseed Oil Paint, well brushed out, will prove to be the most lasting covering in the world. This means CHILTON.

TRANSVAAL ARRESTS.

One Prisoner Says He Received Orders From British War Office.

Africans In London Make Light of the Matter.

Declare That the Affair Was Trumped Up b the Republic's Police.

London, May 18.—The consul of the Transvaal here has received the following telegram from his government, dated Pretoria:

"Richard Nichols, describing himself ac colonel; George Patterson, a captain; Tdward J. Tremlett, Charles Ellis and John A Mitchell, lieutenants, and Fries and Hooper were arrested Monday morning on the sworn declaration of three Englishmen on the charge of high treason in connection with the alleged object of enrolment of troops to create a revolution, seize Johannesburg fort and hold possession of the town until British troops from Natal could come to their assistance.

"One of the prisoners alleges that he was acting under orders from the British war department."

A reporter saw a number of South Africans connected with the leading concerns of Johannesburg. They all declared that they had not received a word from their own agents in Cape Colony, indicating, they added, that the affair was "trumped up by the Boer police," and that in any case the men arrested were irresponsible nobodies, with fictitious military titles affixed by the Boers, with the object of discrediting the British in the eyes of the continental powers.

It is now believed that Tremlett was formerly a captain of volunteers in Cape Colony, and that he is now a mining agent. Patterson is described as a butcher and labor agitator. Mitchell is said to be a storekeeper. Cooper is classed as a carpenter. Ellis is alleged to be a private detective, and the occupations of Fries and Nichols are unknown.

According to the correspondent of a London newspaper, the grievances of the foreign residents, or uitlanders, of the Transvaal are as follows:

First—They have no vote in the levying of taxes.

Second—No voice in the payment of officials.

Third—No control of the education of the country.

Fourth—No power in the municipal government of their town, Johannesburg.

Fifth—Their newspapers are gagged. If an editor offends Mr. Kruger he may be sent to prison, or sent to live at Pietpotsgeitersrust to die of fever, or sent out of the country altogether.

Sixth—They are not permitted to hold public meetings.

Seventh—The period when they can acquire rights of citizenship has been extended from two to 12 years after they have taken the oath renouncing British allegiance; and this only by the vote of three-quarters of the burghers in each man's individual district.

Eighth—The juries by whom they are tried are not their peers, but burghers, their political masters.

Ninth—They pay almost the entire taxation of the country.

Tenth—Their interests in the country are burdened by monopolies. Of such—to take one instance, comparatively trivial—is the aerated water concession. To protect the monopolies to whom this was granted a tax of 3d a bottle is placed on all other waters.

Eleventh—Their children, born in the republic, have been deprived of the birthright of citizenship.

Twelfth—There is a law which would deprive them even of the right to complain.

Thirteenth—The president of the republic may expel from the country any member of the community whom he may wish to get rid of. This without trial.

Fourteenth—Doles loans—given as if personally.

Excitement Subsiding.

Cape Town, May 18.—The expected conference between President Kruger of the Transvaal Republic and Sir Alfred Milner, governor of Cape Colony, has not yet been arranged. The president of the South African league repudiates any connection with the enlistment of men for any purpose. Fries was the only prisoner who did not appear yesterday at the Pretoria court for arraignment. The streets were thronged, and the prisoners were escorted under a strong guard from the jail to the court. A remand was granted and the prisoners were returned to the jail. The excitement here is somewhat abating.

Income Tax Recommended.

Lansing, Mich., May 18.—Governor Pingree sent to the legislature yesterday a long message on the taxation question. The governor recommends the submission to the people at a special election of an amendment to that part of the constitution relative to specific tax action, under which the supreme court declared invalid the Pingree-Atkinson railway taxation act. To provide for this and for enactment of a law establishing a state board of assessors the governor says he will call a special session of the legislature to convene immediately upon adjournment of the present session. Governor Pingree also recommends the enactment of an income tax law.

Killed Wife, Sister-In-Law and Himself.

Dayton, O., May 18.—Frank Campbell of West Alexandria shot and killed his wife and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Lucy Gray. He then shot himself, dying almost instantly. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell were recently divorced, and the latter had been living with her sister at Leadsburg. Yesterday the two women went to West Alexandria to get some of Mrs. Campbell's belongings, the tragedy occurring in the Campbell home. The cause of the trouble is not known.

FAITH RUDELY SHATTERED.

Embryo Doctors Were Well Primed With Answers to Questions Not Propounded.

Boston, May 18.—Two local papers print stories today to the effect that advance sheets of the list of questions to applicants for physicians' certificates have been printed by unauthorized firms and sold to students of medical schools. It is claimed that Dr. Harvey, secretary of the state board of registration in medicines, has traced the examination papers to a printing office in Pawtucket, R. I.

Three months ago a number of students at the schools of medicine of Harvard and Boston universities and the College of Physicians and Surgeons were furnished with printed slips containing questions which constituted the examination for admission to practice medicine in Massachusetts, and many students had primed themselves solid upon the subjects covered by the questions, for which accommodation, by the way, they paid a handy figure.

On Tuesday, when 275 applicants presented themselves at the office of the board, where the examination papers were to be written, there was a sudden and rude shaking of the confidence of a number of those who had the slips in their pockets. The questions handed out by Dr. Harvey had not that familiar appearance that was expected. He had secretly drawn up an entirely different set of questions, which had been typewritten, and were handed to the applicants in this form.

Some of the applicants had paid as high as $200 for the papers, which were supposed to be true copies. Dr. Harvey will make an investigation of the matter.

Two Men Missing.

Plymouth, Mass., May 18.—Robert M. Plant, superintendent of Plymouth mills, is missing. He left here to go to Savannah to see his daughter, Lulu M. Plant, who was a nurse, and who contracted blood poisoning in Cuba. She was brought to Savannah and was failing rapidly. Mr. Plant left here May 6, intending to go direct to Savannah. Miss Plant died May 9, and the body was sent to Taunton. Inquiry at Savannah shows that Mr. Plant did not reach there at all.

Nashua, N. H., May 18.—Arthur Barton, aged 65 years, a resident of Litchfield, mysteriously disappeared from his home about four weeks ago, and the townspeople believe he has committed suicide in a fit of mental aberration, or has wandered away in the woods and died of starvation. He was a man of extraordinary education and refinement, knew Shakespeare's plays by heart, and was also a good vocalist. The morning he disappeared all his household goods were found piled up in the front yard, where they still remain.

A Little Too Enthusiastic.

Providence, May 18.—The students of Brown university had the wildest celebration that the college campus has seen in years last night over the victory won by Brown's ball team at Princeton. After building a bonfire they sent in a false alarm. The firemen extinguished the bonfire and the students built a new one. For two hours the students built fires and the firemen put them out. The students cut the hose three times and the firemen turned the water on them. They came to blows at one time and the police were summoned, but there was no further trouble.

Medford, Mass., May 18.—The spirits of the boys at Tufts college ran high last night, as a result of the victory of their team over Harvard at baseball. A generous sized bonfire lighted up the entire district. Fences, signs, bill boards and hen houses in the immediate vicinity were more or less used to feed the flames, while a delegation from Boston provided fireworks.

How Atkinson Would Have It.

Cambridge, Mass., May 18.—The Cambridge Anti-Imperialistic association held a meeting last night and listened to a speech by Edward Atkinson, who took for his subject, "Criminal Aggression: the Way Out." After dwelling upon the dangers of an imperialistic policy, Mr. Atkinson advocated an agreement between the great naval and commercial powers of the world to neutralize the Philippine islands, to aid them in establishing an orderly government, and to open them on equal terms granted to all nations to the commerce of the world. "We ought not to assume this responsibility," he said, "nor ought we to give any pretext to any other nation to assume it. It is for the interest of this country, of Great Britain, of Russia, Germany, France and Japan that these islands shall become the sanctuary of free commerce, open to all alike."

May Be a Professional.

South Framingham, Mass., May 18.—John Hilson, aged 29 years, claiming Cincinnati as his home, is under arrest charged with entering the house of Mrs. Lawrence Garrity. Mrs. Garrity claims that she discovered him in her sleeping apartments last evening, while he was in the act of searching a bureau drawer. She chased him out of the house, and 10 men took part in the pursuit, when finally he ran into the arms of Officer Place. The police will endeavor to connect him with the safe blowing here in the office of Gregory & Shaw on the morning of May 6, and the breaking of the safe at Westboro on the Sunday morning following.

Odd Fellows' Election.

Brattleboro, Vt., May 18.—At the annual session of the grand lodge of Odd Fellows of Vermont officers were chosen as follows: G. M., E. M. Bartlett of Island Pond; D. G. M., E. H. Jackson of Windsor; G. W., F. A. Sherburne of Montpelier; G. S., H. E. Parker of Bradford; G. T., E. P. Adams of Swanton; G. C., Rev. J. Edward Farrow of Bellows Falls; grand representative of sovereign grand lodge, J. N. Blakely of Bellows Falls.

Will Be the South's Largest.

Columbia, S. C., May 18.—A charter for the Olympia cotton mills of Columbia has been applied for. Its capital will be $1,500,000. The power will be electricity furnished by the power plant on the Columbia canal. It will be the largest mill in the south, having 104,000 spindles and 2600 looms. The corporators are Columbia mill and bank presidents and leading business men.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, May 18.—A bill was reported in the senate authorizing the taking of 32 parcels of land west of the state house for a park. The bill carries an appropriation of $2,000,000, and the governor, president of the senate and the speaker of the house are appointed a commission to have charge of the work. If the bill passes the property will be taken within six months.

The senate passed to be engrossed the bill appropriating $1,500,000 for improvements of highways in Boston.

A resolve to reimburse George E. McNeil $100 for money expended for legal advice as a member of the taxation commission was engrossed, as was one relative to the services of process in tax collections. A bill to require railway companies to equip their cars with platform gates was rejected without a word of debate.

After a somewhat lively debate yesterday, the house refused to refer the legacy tax bill to the next legislature, and placed the bill on the calendar.

The amendments to what is known as the Dubuque law, concerning an equitable process after judgment in reference to small debts, occasioned a long debate, but the amending bill was finally ordered to a third reading.

Leave to withdraw was reported on the petition of Helen L. Butterfield for compensation for the taking of her land in Stoneham by the metropolitan park commission. Ought not to pass was reported on the resolve for the survey of forest lands and waste unused areas of the state. The resolve for a $5000 additional appropriation for the practice school at the Westfield normal school was reported favorably. The bill imposing a tax on legacies and successions was substituted for the adverse report by a vote of 73 to 79.

An amendment to the bill authorizing the metropolitan park commissioners to grant locations to street railway companies, providing for an appeal to the governor and council on the part of cities and towns interested against the action of the commissioners, was adopted, and the bill ordered to a third reading.

The bill for a new bridge across the Connecticut at Springfield was referred to the next general court.

Reconsideration of the adverse vote on the bill for the retention of the state corporation tax in the state treasury, instead of having it distributed among the cities and towns, was refused.

The bill to authorize the city council of Boston to send for city officials and compel the attendance of witnesses in certain cases was given a third reading.

Important Advice.

It is surprising how many people wake up in the morning nearly as tired as when they went to bed, a disagreeable taste in their mouth, the lips sticky, and the breath offensive, with a coated tongue. These are nature's first warnings of Dyspepsia and Liver Disorders, but if the U. S. Army & Navy Tablets are resorted to at this stage they will restore the system to a healthy condition. A few doses will do more for a weak or sour stomach and Constipation than a prolonged course of any other medicine.

If you can not get them at your drug store, send 10c. for a package of 12 to the U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLET CO., 17 EAST 14TH ST., NEW YORK.

Commission Appointed to Seek Terms of Peace.

War Department Confident That the End Is Near.

Rebels Are Demoralized and Will Accept Best Terms Obtainable.

Beaten and Baffled and Scattered Into the Mountains by Americans.

Washington, May 19.—General Otis yesterday cabled the war department that representatives of Aguinaldo are seeking terms of peace and that the forces of the insurgents are scattering in the mountains. Following is General Otis' cablegram:

Manila, May 18.

Representatives insurgent cabinet and Aguinaldo in mountains 12 miles north San Isidro, which abandoned 15th inst., will send in commission tomorrow to seek terms of peace. Majority of force confronting MacArthur at San Fernando has retired to Tarlao, tearing up two miles railway; this force has decreased to about 2500. Scouting parties and detachments moved today in various directions. Kobbe with column at Candava on Rio Grande. Great majority of inhabitants of provinces over which troops have moved anxious for peace, supported by members of insurgent cabinet. Aspect of affairs at present favorable.

Otis.

The dispatch of General Otis was immediately sent to the president at Hot Springs. Secretary Alger said that the situation was most encouraging, and that it was apparent that the natives realized the strength of the United States and saw that resistance would mean extermination for them if they persisted in defying authority. Speaking of the part taken by the volunteers in the Philippine campaign, the secretary says that instead of wishing to be home they would not have missed it, as it was an event in their lives, especially as the hard fighting had been crowned with success. The secretary believes that the commission which Aguinaldo is sending General Otis will accept any terms proposed by the United States.

War department officials are firmly convinced that the end of the insurrection in the Philippines is at hand, and that the representatives of the insurgent cabinet and of Aguinaldo, who are to meet General Otis today, will succumb to the inevitable and surrender. Their forces, it is said, evidently are so demoralized by the persistent advance of the Americans that they are ready to accept peace on the best terms they can obtain.

Driven northward to the foothills of the mountains, as they have been, their fleeing and scattered forces, disintegrated and disheartened, no longer can be made to face our victorious advance. Less than a week ago General Luna was reported just north of San Fernando, where General MacArthur's troops are concentrated, and in the neighborhood of Bacolor, with about 9000 rebels.

General Otis now reports that the remnant of this force, about 2500 men, has withdrawn to Tarlao, over 20 miles north of San Fernando. It is probable that the remainder of the force moved east, and joined the main body of the insurgents, which abandoned San Isidro Wednesday, and fled northward to the point from which Aguinaldo is now sending his commissioners to sue for peace. If this is a ruse to gain time, which none of the officials at the war department believes, it will avail them nothing, as the Americans will utilize the period during the negotiations in reconnoitering the country ahead of them, preparatory to the resumption of operations the minute the negotiations fail.

The dispatch of two battalions of the Twenty-third infantry Thursday to Jolo, the principal town in the Sulu archipelago, is the fourth military expedition detached from the main body of our troops at Manila. The Sulu archipelago is a group of 150 small islands, extending in the form of a crescent south of the Philippines. There are no insurgents, so far as known, in the Sulu group. The population of the islands consists of aborigines, Chinese traders and negroes.

There is no absolute information at the war department concerning the present strength of the American forces under MacArthur, Lawton and Kobbe, which have been operating against the insurgents north of Manila. The number of men of each organization, were it up to its maximum strength, would be 16,500, but it is doubtful if their strength totals 11,000 men. MacArthur's troops, except one regiment, are volunteers. Kobbe's men are all regulars, recently arrived. Three of the six regiments under Lawton are regulars. There is one radical difference between the volunteer and regular organizations. Losses in the former are permanent, while the gaps in the ranks of the regulars are being constantly filled by new recruits. It is estimated that MacArthur now has about 4500 men for active service; Lawton, about 5000, and Kobbe, 1500.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

A dispatch from Dinowie, Man., says three miners were killed by a premature explosion of dynamite, while sinking a shaft.

Lady Henry Somerset was re-elected to the presidency of the British Woman's Temperance association.

The first of the so-called mission prizes at Yale was awarded to Jay T. Stocking, a junior in the theological seminary, of Lisbon Center, N. Y. The prize amounts to $50.

Paul Lock and John Mechok, Lehigh Valley railroad section hands, were struck by a passenger train near McAdoo, Pa., and instantly killed.

John Colby, 75, of Oswego, N. Y., killed himself at Springfield, Mass., by blowing his head off with a shotgun. Poor health was the reason.

Michael Collins, for 20 years owner and manager of the Collinsville woolen mills, Lowell, Mass., has retired. The mill was recently bought by the American Woolen company.

In the superior court at Newburyport, Mass., Arthur Ford was sentenced to not less than five nor more than seven years in state prison for robbery.

Russell Sage has given $50,000 to the Women's hospital, which is about to erect a $400,000 building at New York. Mrs. Sage has long been prominent in the management of the institution.

Charles W. Briggs, mayor of Rochester in 1871-72, and founder of Briggs Bros. & Co., one of the largest seed firms in the United States, died at Rochester, aged 74.

The Worcester Spy says that Norman B. Ream of Chicago has purchased 100 acres of land in Thompson, Conn. He will build a magnificent villa, to cost $700,000.

The Bethlehem Steel company filed notice at Harrisburg of an increase in its capital stock of from $5,000'000 to $15,000'000.

Joel Daniels, aged 65, one of the best known residents of Manchester, N. H., died of paralysis.

Rev. F. A. Currier was installed as pastor of the Mount Vernon Free Baptist church, Lowell, Mass.

Assistant Secretary Spaulding has held that Japanese seamen may land in the United States without the examination required in the case of manifesto immigrants. This decision overrules that of the collector of customs at Port Townsend, Wash.

The plumbers who have been overhauling the plumbing in the palace at Havana, on lifting a grating in the second room to the right of the main entrance on the ground floor, found a cell, furnished with a cot, upon which were decayed articles of bed clothing, a table and a chair, but no "gruesome relics."

A combination of three of the largest manufacturers of lamp chimneys in the world, and controlling absolutely the output of the United States, has been practically completed. The George A. Macbeth Glass company and the Thomas Evans Glass company have been merged into the Macbeth-Evans Glass company and the Libbey Glass company of Toledo was absorbed by it.

Major John A. Logan, assistant adjutant general of volunteers, has tendered his resignation and been honorably discharged.

In response to the urgent request of the industrial commission Senator Kyle has consented to continue at the head of the commission and accordingly has withdrawn his resignation as chairman.

An Important Decision.

Boston, May 19.—The full bench of the supreme court, in the suit of Annie L. Moore vs. the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company to recover for damaged baggage, decided that where a person delivers baggage to a railroad company for carriage, she being a passenger, and the luggage is damaged during its passage over the road to which it was first delivered and over other roads, the passenger can recover damages from the last road over which it came.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—4:18; sets, 7:14.
Moon sets—1:22 a. m.
High water—7:15 a. m.; 7:45 p. m.

The weather will continue unsettled over the Atlantic coast states, but clearing weather is indicated by tonight. Present conditions favor fair weather Sunday in the New England states. Along the New England coast the winds will be fresh from the south, shifting to southwesterly.

WHOLESALE POISONING.

Colored Lad Appears to Have Had a Mania For Using Rough on Rats.

Cincinnati, May 19.—James Weaver, colored, aged 11 years, has confessed to having poisoned his father, Woodson Weaver, and his half-brother, John Weaver, on Tuesday. John Weaver died in a few hours, and Woodson Weaver, though still alive, has but slight chance of recovery. The lad said he found a box of rough on rats on the stove Monday night, and did not know what it was. He put it in the coffee pot. The police now believe that the boy is responsible for the death of Woodson Weavers' second wife, and for the burning of the house a few months ago.

Later young Weaver made a detailed confession of his crime, admitting the poisoning, not only of his father and stepbrother, but also of his stepmother, who died suddenly last April. Weaver said he bought rough on rats at a drug store and put it in the coffee pot used by his father and stepbrother. He has been identified by the drug clerk who sold him the poison. Weaver is now suspected of poisoning Rev. John H. Jackson, a colored Methodist preacher, who died last Sunday. It is said Jackson visited Weaver's house and the boy brought him a glass of water. The boy denies this. He also says he only meant to make his victims sick. His mother, who was arrested, has been released.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, May 19.—One more evidence was given yesterday that the legislature seriously is trying to hurry up business in order to get through this month. Orders were offered providing that the week beginning May 22 be considered the last week of the session, and that every sitting of the house after May 22 be considered a legislative day. Both were adopted.

In the house the heat of debate waxed intense over the Tremont street tracks bill, and charges of misstatement and misrepresentation were freely bandied back and forth. The bill was finally passed to enactment without further amendment.

The senate had a vigorous debate over the reconsideration of the vote refusing to admit Senator Tague's bill to regulate the ice business in Boston. By a vote of 11 to 19 the senate refused to reconsider. All the Boston senators voted in favor of reconsideration.

Senator Innes asked reconsideration of the rejection of the bill to permit bicycles to be carried as baggage on railroads, but the motion was rejected, 9 to 14.

Under suspension of the rules bills to confirm proceedings of the towns of Becket, Huntington, Middlefield, Southwick and Sutton were engrossed.

When the Tremont street tracks bill reached the senate it was promptly passed to enactment there, so that it now goes to the governor without delay.

A bill relative to establishment of highways in Boston was engrossed.

A bill to permit the Fitchburg and Suburban street railway to transport road material was engrossed, as were bills as to separation of grade crossings in Cambridge and Boston (Charlestown); to prohibit employment of minors in places where liquor is sold; and to authorize sheriffs and constables to store property removed in service of execution at expense of owners.

Senator McClellan moved to substitute a new draft of a bill for inspection of nurseries. By a vote of 21 to 3 the bill was substituted.

Timely Tips on Politics.

Princeton, N. J., May 19.—Professor Woodrow Wilson addressed the students last night on "Politics as a Profession." He declared that there was no party leadership except in the "machine;" hence the machine was a necessity, which, however, was not saying that it was good. Among other things Professor Wilson said: "I warn you against entering public life if you have not an independent living. The temptation to corruption is too great for most men. Governor Roosevelt's power in politics, whether in office or out of office, lies in the fact that he is not dependent. He has said some things in favor of being with the machine, but a man can best be in with the machine by being on top."

Teacher Roughly Handled.

Lincoln, Neb., May 19.—Miss Leeth E. Watson, teacher of elocution in Cotner university, was found by students, bound, gagged and unconscious in a room of the university building. Cotner is the seat of the Christian church denominational college. Miss Watson says she was alone in a class room on the fourth floor of the building and overheard two men plotting to burn the university. She surprised them, when they knocked her down, bound and gagged and locked her in a room. She was not badly hurt. No arrests have been made.

Looking Over Mining Property.

Moncton, N. B., May 19.—A party of five Americans, including expert mining engineers and representatives of capitalists, arrived here yesterday, their special mission being the inspection of mining properties in Albert county. The party will inspect coal deposits at Baltimore and copper and iron deposits at Point Wolfe.

Forest Fires Extinguished.

Foxcroft, Me., May 19.—The forest fires which have been raging in the Moosehead region for a week past are now entirely extinguished. The damage is not so great as at first thought, and on the west side of the lake, where it was reported to be most severe, the damage was small.

Situation wanted by Swedish girl.

Good Afternoon.

While the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. has occupied all of the Terminal station in Boston the Old Colony passengers have enjoyed the convenience of departure and in some cases arrival on the westerly tracks. They will be sorry to learn that the Boston & Albany will have the seven westerly tracks, that the Providence division will have the adjoining tracks and that Plymouth division will be between Providence and Midland trains. Usually the centre is the best, and it may prove so in this case to some, but the majority will have longer walks to and from the trains.

The decision of the Supreme court declaring the special sewer act for Boston illegal, has no effect on Quincy, as this city does not propose to collect an annual tax for sewer benefits. One paper reports that Brockton is effected by the decision, but this may be a mistake, as the situation is different. Boston was not content to levy an assessment for construction but in addition wanted to collect an annual rental. The law permits one or the other, Quincy adopting the former and Brockton the latter, but it was too much for Boston to levy both, and shows the strait into which Boston is getting.

Hon. Charles F. Adams is not so much of a kicker against the government policy in the Philippines as a few would have the people believe. Although he is a vice president of the Anti-Imperialist League, he has written a column letter in which he strongly criticises the course of the members of the league. He did not attend the meeting, and his letter was not read, and no special reference made to it, but it was evidently a bomb. In closing a studied review of the doings of the year, he took a stand which others have long considered wise. He said: "I do not, therefore, feel disposed at this time further to protest, or to indulge in harsh or unnecessary criticism. Rather, I would heartily co-operate. In this life, we can rarely have our own way; but when the course of events has made it clear, as now, that our way is no longer open, it is the course of wisdom to do what is in our power to eliminate so far as may be the evil we fancy we see in the policy imposed upon us, however originally mistaken."

Work on Columbia road and Strandway connecting Boston and South Boston with Franklin Park and the Blue Hills reservation is well advanced and will not only be a benefit to the immediate neighborhood, but ultimately to Quincy and South Shore. The Herald says:

"There is little doubt that there will be a strong demand from Savin Hill for a driveway to connect with Columbia road, the strandway and Columbia avenue, when the improvements in hand are finished, and the junction of these driveways will be one of the most important in the entire park system. South Boston will be greatly improved by the work. It will enjoy something it never had before, a park driveway, and will be relieved of a burden it has carried for years—the Dorchester avenue grade crossing. At the same time it will give other districts a direct driveway to Marine Park, obviate the delay to car and street traffic from Dorchester, Neponset and other outlying districts at the grade crossing, and Columbia avenue will be as useful to the outlying districts as a direct highway to the city as it will be to South Boston."

After the boulevard is extended to Savin Hill, Boston or the Legislature may see the wisdom of extending it along the shore to Neponset, and then to Atlantic, connecting with the boulevards to Squantum, Quincy, Houghs Neck, the Blue Hills and probably Nantasket.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ They are making something of a foot-ball of that hot summer prediction of a Boston man.—Lynn Item.

☞ Spain isn't so slow after all. She shows herself right in the swim by demanding a slice of the Chinese empire.—Beverly Times.

☞ How much more practical is the movement on foot to present Gen. Funston with a well-equipped home on his return to the state his heroism has so signally honored. How much more valuable such a gift will prove than the customary sword.—Brockton Times

☞ This is the age of the specialist—of the man who knows one thing well and doesn't bother his head about trying to be well grounded in everything. That this is the fact is being more thoroughly realized by every man who has a living to earn with his brains, and it is good policy to devote one's self to becoming as nearly perfect as may be along one line, rather than to scatter and dissipate one's abilities over wide ground.—Brockton Enterprise.

☞ Greek and Latin seem to have received quite all the attention they deserve when more than one-third of all the time in the Connecticut High schools has been devoted to them. The report of the State Board of Education is inexcusably mild when it adds that "the committee is prepared to express the opinion that the high school course ought to offer far more training in the oral and written use of English, and more instruction in English literature, modern languages, science and history, and that the time given to the ancient languages be curtailed accordingly."—New Bedford Standard.

☞ There was no mistake made in the decision to continue the Training School, at an expense of but about $1200 per year, and not make a scapegoat for the "country cousin." There seems to be a studied purpose in some quarters to force Lynn girls who would become teachers to attend the Normal School, whether they can afford to or not, preparatory to entering the training school. The cat in the meal will be uncovered one of these days.—Lynn Item.

☞ We do not enthuse very much over the worship of Oliver Cromwell which has marked the celebration of his birthday. It is perhaps one of the fit things that we should idealize a man and exaggerate his virtues, when he has been dead long enough, but Oliver Cromwell was a selfishly ambitious man, who made his religious pretensions a cloak for his personal aims, and he was about as much a tyrant, in his way, as any king or prince whom he harried.—Lowell Courier.

☞ The copperheads of '99 claim the privilege of "free speech." So did Vallandigham and the other copperheads of '61 to '64. Free speech is all right, but license of treasonable speech ought not to be permitted.—Minneapolis Tribune.

☞ Mr. Grover Cleveland should not go into a passion because there was consternation over his reported death. To call such a report absurd, borders itself on absurdity. Some day it will be the sad truth.—Portland Evening Express.

☞ Clergymen are expressing considerable alarm for fear that the influence of the church is waning. It is true that people do not go to church as they used to, but is religion itself declining? The church has always had its ups and downs, but after each period of depression it has risen stronger than ever. The future is bright, not dark. Let us have fewer pessimists, whether it be in matters of church or matters of country.—Springfield Union.

☞ Hero-worship came pretty near toppling over in the temple of fame erected by Lieutenant Hobson, who, by the way is of sterner stuff than exaggerated tales make him out to be, and is now in obscure service in Manila harbor; silliness characterizes much of the Kansas enthusiasm over the exploits of General Fuston; but we all have hopes that Admiral Dewey can keep his head, dismiss the projects of yellow journalists and yellow banquet committees and rival the Father of His Country. It would be a grand thing to have another hero whose noblest eulogy might be that he "never slopped over."—Providence Journal.

K. OF C. BANQUET.

Dr. Sheahan Entertains About Eighty Knights.

Dr. Joseph M. Sheahan tendered a banquet Thursday evening to about eighty members of Quincy Council, Knights of Columbus. The banquet was held in the United States hotel, Boston, and was served at 8 o'clock. Mr. Joshua Hanson and pupils furnished music during the evening.

Dr. Sheahan is one of the most esteemed members in the Knights of Columbus, and for the past five years has been the physician of the local council. On this occasion full meed of praise was paid to him by the spokesmen of the society, and although the doctor with his well-known modesty tried to suppress the congratulatory words spoken the banqueters would not have it and he was compelled to listen to his praises.

At the post prandial exercises, Dr. Sheahan, acting in the dual role of host and toastmaster, gave a short address, speaking upon matters of special pertinence to Quincy council. He alluded feelingly to the loss of two very worthy members during the year 1898—Alphonse Reinhalter and Richard J. Larkin. The members of the Quincy council were congratulated on their uniform good health, the host stating that in his professional role he had been but little bothered by ailing brothers.

The doctor then called upon Rev. Fr. Begley of East Weymouth, the special guest of the evening, for a few words. Fr. Begley was unprepared for any speech-making, so he said, but those who heard him were convinced that ever in his unpreparedness he is quite an effective speaker. The reverend gentleman spoke from the standpoint of a clergyman, and while unacquainted with the principles of the Knights of Columbus, he was of the opinion that its mission was worthy, and if the members were obedient to the teachings of true Christianity they could not fail to be of inestimable benefit to the church and state. He was pleased to meet the members of Quincy council though only as a comrade, and most particularly pleased that the city had a man of such generous qualities and such evident thoughtfulness.

Fr. Begley was followed by Fr. Maurice Lynch of Weymouth, Grand Knight John V. Powers, District Deputy John W. McAnarney, City Treasurer James F. Burke, Commissioner William T. Shea, Edward J. Parker, Thomas H. McDonnell, M. T. Sullivan and John A. Duggan, the words of the latter gentlemen being of a congratulatory trend, interspersed here and there with witticism and anecdote. At the close a rising vote of thanks was given to Dr. Sheahan.

Without doubt the evening was one of the pleasantest in the history of Quincy Council, and served as a fitting reminder of the fact that the local Council will on June 4 next celebrate its fifth anniversary. During these years the growth of the Council has not been phenomenal but it has been steady and satisfactory. The membership now numbers nearly one hundred. John W. McAnarney was the first grand knight, and he was followed by M. T. Sullivan, Richard J. Larkin and John V. Powers.

The host was assisted in the preparations for the evening's pleasure by John V. Powers, William T. Shea and Timothy J. Carey.

Hen Thieves Sentenced.

Charles H. Totman, the alleged hen thief who got away from Officer Sharkey at Braintree, Thursday, was arrested later in the day, by Officer Gallivan, while walking toward Quincy. With Totman at the time was Charles F. Ashport, a colored man, who it is alleged has accompanied Totman on his expeditions to hen roosts, and who was also wanted by the officers. Both men therefore were placed under arrest and locked up.

Reports of the stealing of hens have been coming in from all sections within ten miles of Quincy, and in every case the parties had cut the throats of the hens and picked them upon the spot. This leads the police to think that all the jobs were done by one and the same party, and efforts will be made to connect Totman and Ashport with the crime.

Both men were found guilty on different counts in court today.

Sewer Connections.

Following are the recent connections with the sewerage system:

May 8, Charles Torn, Whitwell street.
May 10, John W. Moore, Gay street.
May 10, W. T. Babcock, Whalley road.
May 12, Francis P. Loud, Washington street.
May 13, Estate of George F. Wilson, Hancock street.

Civil Trial List.

The following cases are marked for trial at the civil session of the District court next Tuesday:

166—Bachus vs. Belcher.
110—Sawyer, et al. vs. Wild.
309—Johnson vs. Moore.
99—Waldo vs. Litchfield and trustee.

HERE AND THERE.

Local Brevities of the City of Presidents.

Joseph Robertson left Thursday for a trip through the West.

The Wollaston Trap club will hold a shoot on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

City Solicitor Blackmur, who has been confined at his home by sickness is slowly recovering.

Rev. Ralph H. Cheever, an able divine, will preach at the Universalist church Sunday morning.

Miss Carrie Heald of Miller street left Wednesday for Solon, Me., where she will spend the summer.

The fakirs who have been at Atlantic for a week gave a farewell concert in Music hall Thursday evening.

Hon. John Shaw has kindly forwarded a copy of the Paris edition of the New York Herald of May 9.

The street railway is breaking in a large number of motormen and conductors for the summer service.

Handsome new signs have been placed about the lawn around First church and they read, "keep off the grass."

Mrs. Rhines has resigned her position as bookkeeper at Rogers Bros'. store to accept a similar position in Boston.

The large elm tree at the corner of Hancock and Savil streets at the entrance to Faxon's new block is being removed.

Rev. J. H. Yeoman and wife of Wareham have been the guests of the Misses Clean of Newbury avenue for a few days.

Mr. Smith B. Harrington of Wollaston is now the senior member of the well known hat and regalia firms of Bent & Bush.

Instead of Mrs. Luther M. Hersey receiving a fractured ankle by a fall, as announced on Thursday, it was Mrs. F. F. Barry, her mother.

Frank L. Clark of West Quincy, who has been serving in the 2d U. S. Artillery in Cuba, has been mustered out of service and is now at home.

It is probable that the street railway will commence early in June to run through cars between Neponset and Weymouth Landing via Quincy avenue.

The Golden Rod for May is out today with a report of the prize speaking, the prize essay of Miss Bessie Whittemore in full and the usual departments.

Through the courtesy of District Deputy McAnarney, Quincy council will work the first degree at the institution of Foxboro council on June 17.

The Committee on Public Buildings met Thursday night and considered the requests of the School Committee presented at Monday night's Council meeting.

Subscribers who do not receive their paper regularly, and others who have any trouble in getting the Ledger at newstands should notify the publishers promptly.

An inquest was held before Judge Humphrey this morning on the death of James Dalton who was killed on the railroad track near Capen's bridge Saturday night.

The building of the foundation for the new block at the corner of Hancock street and Merrymount road has done considerable damage to the concrete sidewalk as the enbankment caved in.

Paul Revere Post 88, G. A. R., has been extended an invitation by Rev. Edward Anderson of the Quincy Point church to attend the service on the Sunday evening preceding Memorial day.

This year being the tenth year of the organization of the Hospital Aid Association a celebration in the form of a festival of holidays is being arranged. This festival will be given in June in Music hall.

A third degree exposition under the auspices of Quincy council, K. of C., will be held on Monday evening, May 29, in St. Mary's hall, West Quincy. The work will be performed by District Deputy Murray of Hyde Park.

The May meeting of the Hospital Aid Association will be held Thursday, May 25, from 3 to 5 P. M., at the City Hospital. It is desired that all who are to serve on committee at the June festival should report at that time. Punctual attendance is requested.

The lathers employed on the new hotel at Adams shore struck this morning because the boss plasterer put a green hand at work lathing. There was but little delay in the work, as the boss took off the objectionable man, and the lathers returned to work.

The yacht season will open on Memorial day, a week from next Tuesday, with a big open regatta off City Point. Over $300 are offered in prizes to be divided among fifteen classes. All yachts over 12 feet and less than 30 feet will have a chance. Time allowance will be made in the special classes.

TO GIVE WESTERNERS A CHANCE.

New Plan to Induce Young Americans to Become a Part of Our Navy.

Washington, May 19.—Secretary of the Navy Long is deeply interested in the result of an experiment which is to be made under the direction of Captain Hawley, for the enlistment of 300 or 350 men in the west. It is believed western enlistments will quicken that section's interest in the navy. Many inquiries have been received by the department from the west by young men of adventurous spirit, who would like to join the navy, but who cannot afford the expense of travelling to New York or Boston with the chance of rejection after their arrival. It is proposed, therefore, to send a recruiting officer through the west next month to gather 300 or 350 recruits. Only bright and promising American citizens, between the ages of 18 and 25, will be taken. They must be able to read and write.

Exceptional inducements are to be offered these recruits in the shape of a long cruise on Admiral Farragut's old flagship Hartford, which is now at the Mare Island navy yard, Cal. She has been thoroughly refitted at a cost of $350,000. The recruits will be sent to the receiving ship Independence at San Francisco for several months of preliminary "shaking down," and then will embark upon the Hartford for New York, either by way of Cape Horn or across the Pacific to China, thence around India and through the Red Sea and Mediterranean.

Her executive officer will be Lieutenant Commander Sharp, a nephew of General Grant, who distinguished himself during the recent war as the commander of the auxiliary yacht Vixen, which was attached to Admiral Schley's flying squadron. In addition to the recruits she will carry 150 experienced men. Upon arrival in New York, the recruits will be assigned to warships. If the experiment is a success, as Captain Hawley confidently expects it to be, it will be repeated with a view to the enlistment of more westerners.

WEATHER AND CROPS.

Conditions of the Past Week In New England as Indicated by Correspondents.

Boston, May 16.—Following is the weekly statement of the weather and crop conditions of New England, compiled from the reports of correspondents throughout the section:

Bright sunshine has been the prevailing feature of the weather during the week past. The precipitation was light and the temperature above normal. The average number of clear days was 4, partly cloudy, 2 and cloudy, 1.

The week began with a day (the 9th) slightly cooler than the normal, as was also the 10th. The temperature ranged above the average generally for the rest of the week. The minimum fell to near the freezing point in northern sections, with light frosts, but no damage resulted. The mercury rose from 60 to 75 degrees during the clear days, with general benefit to vegetation. The weekly mean temperature for the district at large was 54, 2 degrees above the mean for the previous week.

Although the rainfall for a month has been deficient, the week past has not relieved the want. A shower on the 11th gave from .50 to .75 of an inch of rain in Connecticut and Rhode Island. Over the remainder of New England the amounts measured were considerably less. On the 13th there were light showers; as a rule less than .10 of an inch was measured.

The continued clear, almost rainless weather for a month in the greater portion of New England, although it was most favorable to the starting of vegetable growth, has become injurious during the week past by retarding growth because of want of moisture. In Connecticut and Rhode Island the shower of the 13th has been very beneficial.

Grass generally suffers most. Oats are up in the south, and are being sown most in the northern sections. A large acreage of potatoes has been planted in the south and are being put in in the north. The soil is rather dry for the germination of planted corn. Stock has been turned out to pasture, but finds the feed rather short.

Fruit is blooming; apples moderately; pears, plums, apricots and other fruits quite well. Strawberries are doing very well in the three southern states. The cranberry bogs are being drained.

There is a general complaint in Massachusetts of winter killing of berries.

Trees in the south have almost full foliage. In central Massachusetts the tent caterpillar is increasing in numbers, favored by the dry weather. The top of the ground in most of the section is hard, and the roads dusty.

The growth of oats has been checked by lack of rain, but not seriously. Rye is heading along the southern coast, and looks well elsewhere. Corn is coming up in Massachusetts, but here, as in the more southern states, rain is much needed. In the three northern states this crop is being planted.

Drought is beginning to affect grass in northern sections. In Massachusetts the hay crop promises at this time to be short.

Needed Him.

"I must send them all circulars," exclaimed the man who was addressed by his acquaintances as professor. "Those men who have testified in the investigation ought to know about me."

"What business are you in?"

"I have a new system of memory training."—Washington Star.

The fire alarm whistle formerly located on the pumping station of the Water department has been moved to the Eagle Polishing Co. plant on Intervale street at South Quincy, and has been cut into the fire alarm circuit. No better location for the whistle could be desired as it covers the same district as when located at the pumping station.

Organ Recital.

A goodly number attended the organ recital at Christ church, Thursday evening, and enjoyed a musical treat arranged by Mr. E. Landis Snyder, the organist. Mr. Ernest Douglas, the organist of St. John's church of Cambridge, fully met the expectation of the audience, and Mrs. Richard Loring, a pupil of Loeffler, executed difficult violin numbers. There were two soloists, Master Anderson and Master Ferguson, and they contributed much to the programme, making it all in all a decided musical feast.

From the first to the last number the audience present showed the closest attention, and when the familiar strains of the William Tell overture were heard, regret was expressed that the last number on the programme had been reached.

The programme was given in the following order:

Prelude in B minor,	J. S. Bach
Evening Prayer,	H. Stuart
Soprano Solo,—"My Hope is in the Everlasting."	Stainer
Master Anderson.

MILTON.

A very enjoyable social was held at Ellsworth hall, Wednesday evening by the Episcopal Mission church. There was a brief entertainment consisting of vocal and instrumental music and recitations, following which ice cream and cake were served.

The first game of ball in the series between the Union and Enterprise clubs, for a silver cup, was played last Saturday and was won by the Unions of East Milton by a score of 21 to 18.

Work has commenced finishing the auditorium of the Baptist church.

The East Milton end of the boulevard has been completed.

It is expected that now the Milton street railway has become a part of the syndicate that work will be rushed on construction.

An entertainment for the Baptist church will be held tonight. Among the talent to appear is Miss Kate B. Walton, reciter, Miss Alice W. Weeks, soprano; Miss Georgie M. Merchant, baritone; Miss Bessie Thomas, violinist; Miss Ardella Harrington accompanist.

Hen thieves have been working havoc among the hen yards at Milton. This mean kind of thieving has been going on for about two weeks and up to date about 150 hens have been killed, picked and carried off.

WEYMOUTH

The Parish guild of Trinity church, Weymouth, had a large and interesting meeting Thursday evening, at the residence of the rector, Crag Cliff, Weymouth. It being the annual meeting, the evening was spent in the election of officers and in partaking refreshments.

Next Sunday being Whit-Sunday, it will be properly observed at Trinity church. The music will be in harmony with the day, and Rev. William Hyde will preach a special sermon on "The Spirit the Source of Power." The new brass cross for the altar which has just been presented to the church, will be used at this service for the first time.

Next Sunday, Rev. William Hyde of Weymouth will also hold a special Whit-Sunday service at Gardner street chapel, South Hingham, at 2.45 P. M.

Subject of Ridicule.

Editors Daily Ledger:

The condition of Hancock street from the fountain to Butler's brook demands the immediate attention of the authorities. Although it is the main thoroughfare of the city, over which all traffic from the north must pass, yet it has been allowed to remain in a condition similar to that of a driftway through some swamp. Such a street must attract the attention and ridicule of the thousands of strangers passing through Quincy during the summer.

The decided curve on the westerly side of the street, from Faxon's new block to Adams Academy should be straightened at once, as it could be done cheaper now than ever again. This would certainly be as great an improvement to City Square as the cutting away of the Breisler estate curve.

It is almost incredible that a street in the very heart of the city cannot be kept in a decent condition, when there is so much money spent for schools and other public needs. Adams street too, from its junction with Hancock to the bridge is equally as bad.

It is the writer's belief that the day will come when the street railways, which now pay nothing for their invaluable franchises, which give them a practical monopoly of the main streets, will be obliged by law to maintain them throughout in a good condition at their own expense, and keep them clean and well watered.

The writer has no desire to attach blame to anyone, nor neglect on the present city government in maintaining the condition of the street, but hopes by merely calling attention to it publicly, to see it remedied.

Very respectfully,
NON-PARTISAN.

TODAY'S COURT.

The seventeen West Quincy boys who were tried Thursday for disturbing the peace, were placed on probation until August 10.

Theresa Grant was arraigned for maintaining a liquor nuisance at Quincy. Case continued until Saturday.

TEN PER CENTUM.

The City's Part of Cost for Abolishing Grade Crossings.

So many changes have been made in Chap. 428 of the Acts of 1890, "an act to promote the abolition of grade crossings," that it is difficult for any one to state just what the law is; but the basis of apportionment of cost we believe continues the same, and provides the city shall not pay more than ten per centum. This, however, would be $100,000 on every million, and the total cost, which may involve Adams, Dimmock, Granite and School streets, as well as Savil and Water streets, may be two or three millions or even more. Section 3 and 4 of Chap. 428, as passed, read as follows:

SECTION 3. The members of the said commission shall meet as soon as may be after receiving notice of their appointment; and if, after due notice and hearing, the commission decide that the alterations are necessary for the security and convenience of the public, it shall prescribe the manner and limits within which such alterations shall be made and shall determine which party shall do the work, or shall apportion the work to be done between the railroad companies and the city or town. The railroad companies shall pay sixty-five per centum of the total actual cost of the alterations, including in such cost the cost of the hearing and the compensation of the commissioners and auditors for their services, and all damages including those mentioned in section five of this act; and the said commission shall apportion the remaining thirty-five per centum of said cost between the Commonwealth and the city or town in which the crossing or crossings are situated: provided, however, that not more than ten per centum of such cost shall be apportioned to such city or town; provided, further, that the Commonwealth shall not be charged any part of the expenses of abolishing grade crossings which are established after the passage of this act.

SECTION 4. If the commission decide that any portion of an existing public way should be discontinued it shall so specify, and it shall further specify the grades for the railroad and the public way or ways and the general method of construction, and also what land or other property it deems necessary to be taken: provided, however, that if such decision involves a change in the grade of the railroad, the consent of the directors of the company to such change of grade shall first be obtained. Said commission shall forthwith return said decision into the said superior court. The decree of the court confirming the decision of the commission shall be final and binding. If the commission decides that the location of the railroad or of the public way shall be changed, the decree of the court confirming such decision shall constitute a taking of the specified land or other property; and it shall be the duty of the clerk of said court, within thirty days after the making of said decree, to cause a copy of such decision and decree to be filed with the county commissioners of the county or counties in which the land or other property taken and the crossing are situated, and also to be recorded in the registry of deeds for the counties and districts in which such land, property and crossings are situated, and also to be filed with the auditor of the Commonwealth. Said taking shall be deemed to be a taking by the city or town if the land is to be used for a public way, or by the railroad company if the land is to be used by the railroad.

CROWD WANTED TO LYNCH HIM.

Negro Who Killed a Washington Police Sergeant Had a Close Call.

Washington, May 18.—Humphrey Taylor, a negro, suspected of the Rosenstein murder at Slidell, Md., yesterday shot and killed Police Sergeant Fritz Passau, wounded Policeman Gow and kept a posse of half a dozen officers at bay from the loft of a house for nearly two hours. Dozens of shots were exchanged between the officers and fugitive.

Finally, concluding that he would not surrender, the police prepared to fire the premises. A mattress was saturated with oil, and the officers began to remove the furniture. Seeing his game was hopeless, Taylor surrendered. Surrounded by officers with revolvers, he was hustled out of the house to the patrol wagon. The crowd surged forward with shouts of "Lynch him; burn him." A rope was secured and the mob made a desperate effort to place it around the wretch's neck. The coolness of the officers, however, saved Taylor, though he was badly disfigured by blows from the nearest of the crowd. All the way to the station house the mob followed the wagon, shouting for vengeance, and lingered about the building when Taylor was safely in a cell.

When questioned by the police in regard to the Rosenstein murder the prisoner became much confused and told half a dozen different stories. He said that a man named Brown had committed the murder, and that he waited on the outside and kept watch, receiving from Brown $60. Upon searching the premises the police found $192, a gold watch and chain and a diamond ring.

His conflicting stories as to his movements and where he obtained the money led the police to believe he is the man the Maryland authorities are looking for. It is probable, however, that he will be detained by the district authorities and tried for the murder of Sergeant Passau.

"Wide Open" Gambling.

New York, May 18.—Yesterday's session of the Mazet investigating committee were not noteworthy in any particular, no witness of any prominence being called to the stand. James A. Mahoney, with whom Mayor Van Wyck admitted he had had some business transactions, was put through a long series of questions with reference to his alleged connection with pool rooms in this city. Very little could be gotten out of him. Former Police Commissioner Hamilton, whom Mayor Van Wyck had designated a "blackmailer," was on the stand for a short time, and while there declared that what the mayor had said was absolutely false. Several witnesses were examined who within the past few weeks have been doing detective work for Counsel Moss, and they gave testimony as to the number of pool rooms that are being run in New York city at the present time. They declared that the number was large; that no difficulty was experienced in gambling in these places at will, and that at no time was police interference thought of.

Ready For Business.

The Hague, May 18.—All the delegates to the international peace conference have arrived. The permanent president of the conference will be M. De Staal, Russian ambassador to Great Britain and the head of the Russian delegation. The honorary chairman, who will open the proceedings, will be M. De Beaufort, president of the council and minister of foreign affairs of the government of the Netherlands. The reporters will only be admitted to hear the inaugural address of M. De Beaufort, who is excluded from opening the discussion of the czar's project. Three commissions will then be named to arrange programs for discussion. The first relates to restrictions of armaments and military expenditure. The second deals with the laws governing civilized warfare, and the third with mediation and arbitration.

Against Fusion.

Kansas City, May 18.—An address to the Populists of the country was issued here last night by the national organization committee of the People's party with the endorsement of the National Reform Press association. These two bodies, whose common object is to keep the Populist party in the middle of the road, avoiding fusion with other political parties everywhere, had been in session here since Tuesday morning, and the adoption of the address concluded their labors. A thorough organization of the middle of the roaders in every section of the country is urged, with the understanding that they shall enter the next national campaign with the present Populist organization, but that wherever fusion shall gain the day the middle of the roaders shall bolt and begin an active campaign to carry out their principles.

Quieting Down.

Havana, May 18.—Cuban emotion has taken a swift turn toward moderation. All the political groups and the 15 daily newspapers of Havana realize that a cessation of wild talk is desirable. Even the acrobatic members of the late military assembly are going about soothing their excited followers. The meetings of the National league last night, though largely attended, were orderly, all the speakers advising calm reflection before any movement is begun, lest violent incidents might be precipitated by rashness.

Lumbermen's Lives In Danger.

Rangeley, Me., May 18.—A telephone message from "the Chain of Ponds," where the Berlin Falls Mill company has a large tract of timber land and a supply station, says that a forest fire has burned the station and swept through 1000 acres of standing timber. The lives of 200 lumbermen scattered through that section are endangered.

Policeman Used His Gun.

Chicago, May 18.—Policeman John Baginski of the Maxwell street police station was attacked yesterday by a crowd of Italians opposite the Polk street school, between Halstead and Des Plaines streets, and in defending himself he shot and killed one of the crowd and wounded two others.

Further Complications.

Buffalo, May 18.—The firemen on all the lake boats decided at a meeting last night that they would quit work at noon today unless by that time the trouble with the grain shovelers had been settled. There are 1000 of these men connected with the Buffalo union, and 600 or more in Cleveland.

CUBANS GIVEN ADVICE.

Cycle of Liberty Can Now Begin With the Grandest Prospects.

Should Bow to America and Practice Patience.

Manifesto From Gomez Touching Upon the Past, Present and Future.

Havana, May 19.—General Maximo Gomez, in his manifesto issued last evening, reviews his part in the negotiations with Governor General Brooke and speaks of his love for Cuba and his sufferings on her behalf in the past. General Gomez says:

"The hour has now arrived for me to raise my voice in justification of my position and to describe the arduous work I have done since my first visit to General Brooke. I protested to him against the sum offered by the United States as insufficient to accomplish the good intended. While waiting an answer to my protest I sought a solution of the question. General Brooke, representing the chief magistrate of the United States, announced his inability to add to the sum already settled upon.

"Speculators then attempted to intervene, offering suggestions which were refused by me. They presented a proposition to the military assembly, but the scheme was frustrated by President McKinley's refusal to recognize that body. I deemed the formation of militia a practicable solution, and General Brooke, who approved the idea, asked me for a summary of my views on the subject. To this I replied that 10,000 men were all it would be possible to get from the former Cuban army without distinction as to race. My answer was sent to President McKinley, together with a personal letter giving explicit reasons why such a corps was necessary.

"I had many conferences with General Brooke in my endeavors to discover such a plan of payment as would not exclude the men who had never carried arms. General Brooke insisted upon the surrender of arms before the receipt of payment, and I also desired that such arms as had already been surrendered and such as should be surrendered hereafter might be delivered to warehouses, in the care of Cuban armorers, to be paid out of the Cuban treasury.

"I do not think it a disgrace that the Cuban soldiers should receive, from a government which is able to pay, sums that will relieve their immediate needs. Special certificates will be given to all, redeemable by the Cuban republic so soon as it is established.

"I am convinced that it is compatible with obtaining peace to have an army, with arms reserved to defend Cuba against her enemies, and in the meantime to be guarded as the relics of a glorious struggle. In my judgment, whether the arms were disposed of to the municipalities or to armorers, it would be all the same under the intervening government. The Cuban commissioners, however, refused to agree with General Brooke and the Americans, and declined to fix dates and places where the Cuban soldiery could deliver up arms and receive payment from the American paymasters after identification by their respective chiefs."

After further praise of "General Brooke's consideration" and a declaration of his own desire to correct an error existing in Cuba with respect to the United States, he goes on to say:

"I did not act alone, as seems to be popularly believed, but always consulted with our officers. My advice to you now is to return to your homes with the amounts offered by the intervening government and to practice patience, which will be an additional proof of your heroism. In this way we shall reconstruct most rapidly the homes consecrated by the blood of martyrs; blood poured out in behalf of a purpose now attained, and thus begin this cycle of liberty with the grandest prospects, preceded by the heralds of future prosperity and peace.

"This work is your portion. Let no pretext interfere with the attainment of the independent government for which three generations of Cubans have struggled with all sacrifice, and which is now promised by a noble nation, pledged to obtain for us our rights.

"Meanwhile, I shall remain where I am generously invited, among the Cubans. I shall work without cessation for our aspirations and in a narrow sphere assigned me if necessary. And if it happens that all logical and just methods shall be exhausted without the desired result, I will go to Washington and there tell of Cuba and her sacred ideals of an independent republic and will arbitrate the destiny of our country, baptised with blood and sanctified with our love of independence and liberty, which we will never cease demanding in tones of subtlest diplomacy for the sake of the nation that is to be in the near future, always asking that independence and liberty which we covet in the name of right, civilization, justice and democracy."

Public Stands by Strikers.

Wheeling, May 19.—One of the most peculiar strikes probably ever contested in the United States has been in progress for five weeks on the Wheeling street railway lines. The remarkable feature of the contest is the unanimity of the support of the strikers by the population of Wheeling and the surrounding towns. The men struck for 20 cents an hour with nine hours a day's work. All the cars are in operation and the company is not having any trouble to run them. Not over five persons, however, ride on the entire system during the day. Bus lines run by the strikers are largely patronized.

Yankee Skill appreciated.

Philadelphia, May 19.—American bridge builders scored another victory over foreign competition yesterday, when the Phoenix Bridge company was awarded the contract for six additional steel bridges by the Russian government for use on the great trans-Siberian railroad, which that government is building. This makes 18 bridges the Phoenix company is constructing for Siberia.

COLONELS FIRST SHUTOUT.

Pitcher Willis' Mystifying Slants and Drops Could Not Be Fathomed.

Louisville, May 19.—To Victor Willis belongs the credit of the first shutout the Colonels have received this season.

The tall youngster was in championship form, and his speedy slants and drops were somewhat mysterious and just too good for the Kentucky batsmen.

For nine long innings they made vain attempts to put a bluelegged runner over the plate, but without success.

While Willis pitched a fine game, he was given sensational support by the infield. Long and Lowe covered every inch of ground around second base, and Long's right-handed stop of Hartzel's drive toward left in the third has not been equalled here this season.

But the real star of the game was Collins, and he made the hearts of the Louisville rooters ache when they remembered that he had once worn the uniform of a Colonel. Out of five times at bat he smashed the ball for three singles and two doubles, and in the field he swung on to three line drives.

Settlement In Sight.

London, May 19.—Joseph Chamberlain announces that a meeting between Alfred Milner, the governor of Cape Colony and high commissioner of South Africa, and President Kruger, has been arranged to take place on May 30 at Bloemfontein, capital of the Orange Free State. He says: "Sir Alfred Milner accepted the invitation with the earnest hope of arriving at a satisfactory settlement of the situation which the British government could accept and recommend to the uitlanders as a reasonable concession of their just demands. President Kruger has also accepted, saying that he will gladly discuss every proposal conducing to a good understanding between the Transvaal and Great Britain, provided the independence of the Transvaal is not impugned."

Duel to the Death.

Mobile, Ala., May 19.—Theresa Thompson, who was dipping turpentine with a younger brother near St. Stephens, was assaulted by a negro named Tom Murphy. The negro had a pistol and threatened the girl with death. A struggle ensued and Murphy laid the pistol down in order to overpower her. The girl seized the pistol and shot the negro twice. An elder brother, who was working at some distance, heard the shots. The negro took the pistol from the girl and a fight followed between the white man and the negro, the former armed with a hacker. He slashed the negro and the negro shot him. Both fell and the negro crawled away a short distance and died. Thompson is in a critical condition.

City Must Refund Money.

Boston, May 19.—Boston's famous sewer tax, levied under chapter 426 of the statutes of 1897, has been declared unconstitutional by the full bench of the supreme court. Not for years has any court decision been rendered which so vitally affects the interests of Boston. With the tax declared illegal, the city will have to pay back thousands upon thousands of dollars to its taxpayers. Estimates of the amount vary from $300,000 to $400,000. The total loss to the city, taking into account the amounts which must be paid back and the amounts which were still to be collected, is estimated at about $500,000.

Kidnapper Convicted.

Muscogee, I. T., May 19.—In the United States court here yesterday, Nelson M. Jones was found guilty as accessory to the kidnapping of Lincoln McGeisey and Palmer Sampson, Seminole Indian boys, who were kidnapped in the Indian Territory by a mob, and afterwards burned to death at the stake near Maud, Oklahoma. Jones, at the time of the burning, was a deputy United States marshal and had a writ for McGeisey, but instead of arresting him and taking him from the hands of the mob, assisted in the kidnapping. This is the first of 36 similar cases.

Bullet In Her Brain.

Hartford, May 19.—Bessie Rose, 16 years old, shot herself with a revolver at her home yesterday. She lived with her grandfather, Harvey Fox, in the house of Police Officer Mahoney. The bullet entered her right nostril and penetrated the brain. There is no hope of the girl's recovery. She did not want to live at home and ran away to Springfield about two weeks ago.

May Mean a Shakeup.

Boston, May 19.—By an order issued at police headquarters Deputy Superintendent Hanscom is placed in charge of the superintendent's office at night, and Deputy Coulter, who has been on night duty there, will assume charge of district 2, vacated by Deputy Hanscom. The order is thought by some to precede a shaking up in the police force.

Prison Will Be Filled.

Wardner, Ida., May 19.—The Bunker Hill, which employed non-union men, is now the only mine running in the Coeur d'Alene district. The new prison will be completed Saturday and the 395 prisoners accused of arson, rioting and stopping United States mails will be incarcerated there under guard of United States troops.

DE STAAL TO PRESIDE.

Russian Selected at Opening Session of the Peace Conference.

Emperor Nicholas and Queen Wilhelmina Thanked.

Apparent Unanimity of Delegates Considered to Augur Well For the Outcome.

The Hague, May 19.—A more peaceful corner of the world it would be hard to find than that in which stands the palace where the peace conference sessions will be held. The octagonal hall lends itself to an admirable arrangement, the center aisle dividing rows of green baize desks, marked with the names of the nations alphabetically. The hour of assembling was 2 o'clock, and M. de Beaufort, followed by his excellency, Yang Yu, China's representative, in a rich robe of peacock blue, was first to arrive. A little later came Sir Julian Pauncefote and Seth Low, whose views regarding Anglo-American arbitration encourage hopes of wider scheme. After them came Andrew White and Captain Mahan, the latter wearing the dark blue uniform of the service of which he is the literary expert. The other delegates entered as the taps of the gavel opened the proceedings.

The conference opened at 2 o'clock. M. De Beaufort, president of the council and minister of foreign affairs of the government of the Netherlands, delivered the inaugural address and welcomed the delegates.

M. De Beaufort spoke of the high honor of the choice of The Hague as the meeting place for the conference, and extoled the noble initiative of the czar, saying this would be a red-letter day in the history of the century, and expressing the hope that his majesty would be able to look back at the day as the most glorious day of his life.

The delegates sent the following telegram to the czar: "The peace conference lays at the feet of your majesty its respectful congratulations upon the occasion of your birthday, and expresses its sincere desire to co-operate in the great and noble work in which your majesty has taken a generous initiative, and for which it begs you to accept its humble and profound gratitude."

M. De Staal, the Russian ambassador to Great Britain and head of the Russian delegation, in formally assuming the presidency of the conference, said his first duty was to express to M. De Beaufort his sincere gratitude for the noble terms in which he had referred to his august master, adding that his majesty would be deeply touched by them, as well as by the spontaneity with which the high assembly had associated itself therewith.

Continuing, M. De Staal said: "Though to the czar is due the initiative of the conference, we owe much to the Queen of the Netherlands for inviting us to her capital. It is a happy augury of success that we have met under the auspices of the young sovereign, whose charge is felt in a wide circle, whose heart is open to everything great and generous, and who has displayed such sympathy with the cause which brings us here. It is on the historic soil of the Netherlands that the greatest political problems have been discussed. Here is the cradle of science and international law."

After making his address, M. De Staal, in behalf of the conference, telegraphed to the Queen of the Nethrlands as follows:

"The members of this conference, assembled for the first time in this beautiful Huis Ten Bosch, hasten to lay at the feet of your majesty their best wishes, praying you to accept their homage and gratitude for the hospitality you have so graciously deigned to offer them." The reading of the message was warmly applauded.

After the appointment of nine secretaries, M. De Staal's proposal, that the sessions be secret, was adopted.

The next session will take place on Saturday, when the delegates will arrange a program and appoint committees. The conference then adjourned.

The session yesterday lasted only 25 minutes, and the apparent unanimity displayed was considered to augur well for the outcome.

Dr. Sample Chosen Moderator.

Minneapolis, May 19.—Rev. Dr. R. F. Sample of New York proved an easy winner in the contest for the place of moderator of the 111th annual assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States, which convened here. Dr. Sample was elected on the first ballot, after a spirited contest. He received 338 votes, 300 being necessary for a choice, to 127 for Rev. Matthias Haines of Indianapolis, and 133 for Rev. R. F. Coyle of Oakland, Cal. Dr. Sample's election is regarded as a triumph for the conservative element.

Murder In Second Degree.

Springfield, Mass., May 19.—Natale Giuliane yesterday retracted his plea of not guilty to murder in the second degree and pleaded guilty. He was at once sentenced by Justice Maynard to life imprisonment. On June 18 last Giuliano deliberately shot and killed his friend, Pietro Fazzio, in the Italian quarter in this city. Previously the two had been engaged in a dispute in a drinking place.

Bishop's Arrangements Repudiated.

Buffalo, May 19.—About 1000 grain scoopers yesterday afternoon repudiated arrangements made for settlement of the strike by Bishop Quigley and passed resolutions discharging the committee acting with the bishop. The resolutions call on President McMahon to deal directly with the Lake Carriers' association.

Judge Found Unconscious.

Boston, May 19.—Judge Bell of Lawrence fell from his bicycle while riding in Franklin park yesterday and was picked up in an unconscious condition and taken to the city hospital. Judge Bell has been holding court in Dedham during the past week. His injuries are not considered serious.

LIABLE TO A FINE

CITY OF QUINCY.

[Extracts from the Laws of this Commonwealth.]

Every owner or keeper of a dog of three months old or over, shall annually on or before the THIRTIETH DAY OF APRIL, cause it to be REGISTERED, NUMBERED, DESCRIBED and LICENSED for one year from the first day of the ensuing May, in the office of the Clerk of the city or town wherein said dog is kept, and shall cause it to wear around its neck a collar distinctly marked with the owner's name and its registered number.

Any owner of a dog may at any time have it licensed until the first day of the ensuing May; and a person becoming the owner or keeper of a dog after the first day of May, not duly licensed, shall cause it to be registered, numbered, described and licensed as provided in the preceding section.

The FEE for every license shall be TWO DOLLARS for a Male dog and FIVE DOLLARS for a Female dog.

Whoever keeps a dog contrary to the provisions of this chapter shall forfeit FIFTEEN DOLLARS, five dollars of which shall be paid to the complainant and ten dollars to the treasurer of the county in which the dog is kept.

Every owner or keeper of dogs kept for breeding purposes may receive annually a special license authorizing him to keep such dogs upon the premises described in such license. When the number of dogs so kept does not exceed five, the fee for such license shall be TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS; when the number of dogs so kept exceeds five, the fee shall be FIFTY DOLLARS, and no fee shall be required for the dogs of such owner or keeper under the age of six months.

Any owner or keeper of a dog not duly licensed, which becomes three months old after the thirtieth day of April in any year, shall, whenever it is three months old, cause it to be registered, numbered, described and licensed until the first day of the ensuing May, as provided in Section 80 of Chapter 102 of the Public Statutes, and shall cause is to wear around its neck a collar distinctly marked with its owner's name and its registered number.

Important Advice.

It is surprising how many people wake up in the morning nearly as tired as when they went to bed, a disagreeable taste in their mouth, the lips sticky, and the breath offensive, with a coated tongue. These are nature's first warnings of Dyspepsia and Liver Disorders, but if the U. S. Army & Navy Tablets are resorted to at this stage they will restore the system to a healthy condition. A few doses will do more for a weak or sour stomach and Constipation than a prolonged course of any other medicine.

If you can not get them at your drug store, send 10c. for a package of 12 to the U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLET CO., 17 EAST 14TH ST., NEW YORK.

Modern Miles Standish.

Is it possible that our genial editorial brother of Randolph is becoming tired of single blessedness, and that his great warm heart is aching for a companion? He has always laughed at the idea of matrimony, but somehow a change has come over him for in his last issue in speaking of the wealthy Miss Vining and her newspaper venture, he writes:

"She is wealthy in her own right, likes to own a paper, be a member of the Massachusetts Press Association, and associate with newspapers people. A few days ago, a cousin died and left her one hundred thousand dollars, and her newspaper friends are congratulating her upon her good fortune. We were thinking that as Miss Vining did not need these papers for her daily stipend, here was an elegant opportunity to pick up some honest, struggling young man with brains, and make him proprietor of the whole list. Why not?"

Why don't you speak for yourself, Daniel?—Braintree Observer.

WANT RESIGNATION.

But Decide to Drop All Opposition.

Co. K to be Reorganized by Lieut. Whitney.

Association of Spanish War Veterans to be Formed.

A largely attended meeting of the members of Co. K who served as United States volunteers was held last evening at French's hall, Quincy.

The object of the meeting was to take steps to form a company of the State militia to take the place of Co. K in case Captain Kincaide was unsuccessful in forming a company.

Private Frank A. Pierce called the meeting to order and Sergt. Maurice A. Colbert was elected as chairman, Private Frank A. Pierce as secretary, and Sergt. Joseph F. Mohan as treasurer.

As soon as the meeting had been organized, Sergt. Crane and others stated that the primary object of the meeting was to take steps to form a company, but that was now made unnecessary by the action of Capt. Kincaide, who had asked for a leave of absence for four months at the end of which time he intended to resign. Many had desired some assurance that he was sincere in his intention to resign, but as he had made the statement publicly and through the press it was thought best to take him at his word.

There was a general expression of opinion by those present, and the sentiment expressed was, that as their object had been gained it would be best for all concerned to let the opposition drop where it was.

Capt. Kincaide had stated that he had the best wishes of the company at heart, and it was the desire of all present that the company should go into camp this summer. Such being the case it was thought that if after the new company was organized they went to Capt. Kincaide as man to man in a straightforward manner, he might be induced to resign before the four months had expired which would enable the company to go to camp with its full compliment of officers.

It was voted unanimously by a rising vote to drop the matter for the present, and that Company K be re-organized under Lieut. Whitney.

The meeting then discussed the idea of forming a permanent organination of all those who went to the front with Co. K as Volounteers.

Private Morrissey was very anxions that something should be done that the U. S. V. might decorate the grave of Private John A. Boyd on Memerial Day. He thought it a sacred duty of the U. S. V. to perform. Whether they should turn out on that day with the Grand Army was another question, but at least a detail or a firing squad should attend to this duty.

The sentiment of Private Morrissey touched the tender cord of all present, and one and all favored the formation of some kind of an organization, one of whose objects should be to decorate the graves of dead comrades.

There was some talk that the Grand Army intended to invite them to turn out, but no definite information was at hand.

It was voted that a committee of three be appointed to draw up plans for a permanent organization and present them next Monday night at the armory after the company meeting.

The committee appointed were: Sergt. McGrath, Corp. Leslie and Private McLaughlin.

The next discussion was as to who should be eligible to membership in the new organization, and as the general sentiment seemed to be in favor of admitting all who served in the late war in any branch it was voted that the organization include all veterans of the Spanish-American war who have been honorably discharged from service.

For a name for the organization it was suggested that it be named after John A. Boyd. This, however, will be acted upon later.

As there was some question how many could be reached at Monday night's meeting, and whether the committee would have sufficient time, it was voted that another meeting be held next Thursday evening at Quincy.

The meeting, which had been most harmonious throughout, then adjourned.

Malden's Quarter Millenial Celebration.

When old continents and old nations had had their day, and had outworn their possibilities, God gave the human race one chance, in a new world, and under new conditions. In the soil of a virgin continent was sown the precious seed which had been winnowed in the fierce civic and religious blasts of the old world. Here it brought forth a bountiful harvest, some thirty, some sixty, and some an hundred fold.

Nowhere did the wheat fall upon better ground, nowhere has it brought forth a richer harvest, than in the good old city of Malden. Settled very early in the history of the new world, Malden has grown steadily and sturdily, with the growth of the nation, prospering amid her peers, and ever preserving the traditions of the thrifty, sagacious, liberty-loving, God-fearing men and women who laid the foundations of her welfare.

It was very natural that the settlers here should find pleasure in transferring to their new abodes the names of towns and cities long dear to them in the countries which they left forever. Thus Malden derives its name from the ancient town of Maldon in Essex County, on the eastern coast of England. Dipping into Corey's History of Malden, where all must dip who wish information at once comprehensive and authoritative in regard to the city, we find some curious facts about the venerable English town. It seems that Maldon is none other than the old Roman city of Camalodunum and that Shakespere's Cymbeline, the father of Imogen, ruled there. When

"The queen, Boadicea, standing loftily charioted,
Mad, and maddening those who heard her,
With her fierce volubility,
Yelled and shrieked between her daughters,
O'er a wild confederacy,"

he spoke in scathing terms of this Roman colony, Camalodune, and of the Roman profligates who there lay rolling in purple riot. The fury of the trampled Britons at last overthrew the Latin tyrants. The stately town sank into ruin, amid slaughter and carnage, to reappear, centuries later, as a peaceful English town, with little about it to suggest its ancient history.

As with the town, so with its stately name. Time altered and curtailed it. The philologists have worked their wicked will on it, until its present form, Malden, scarcely suggests the sonorous Roman Camalodunum. The first form, they tell us, emerged in the Arthurian legends as Camelot, the "many towered Camelot" of Tennyson. 'Twas here that the Lady of Shallot wove her mystic web. The attrition of ages, and the remorseless brevity of the Modern Briton, clipped it into Maldon; and it was this form which was brought to Massachusetts by one of the early settlers who came from English Maldon. When and why the "o" was changed to "e" and the present name Malden was crystalized, history saith not.

Malden began life as a part of Charlestown; but shortly set up for herself as Mystic Side, and found herself with territory enough to endow her children, Melrose and Everett, who ultimately left the maternal fold and became separate towns. Now she is well up in the list of important cities of the Commonwealth, with a population of thirty-five thousand and a valuation of over twenty-five million dollars.

On the twenty-third day of May, 1649, Malden's individual life began, with her incorporation as a town. On the twenty-third day of May of the present year, therefore, she will be entitled to celebrate her quarter-millennial anniversary. And celebrate it she will; there is no doubt about that. Seldom has any town or city in the country entered upon such a celebration with so much enthusiasm and liberality. The city has appropriated seventeen thousand five hundred dollars; and the total amount spent will undoubtedly exceed Disposition of Arms of Cubans a Source of Much Worriment.

Havana Excited Over Alleged Violation of Agreement.

Feeling That Cuba Will Be Still Further Separated From the United States.

Washington, May 20.—There is no doubt that a controversy of some magnitude is pending in connection with the disarmament of the Cuban insurgent army. The president's instructions to General Brooke, that the arms were to be turned over to the United States officers, were so explicit that it did not seem as if any variance from them would be attempted. The news that General Brooke proposed to have the arms turned over to the Cuban local authorities therefore came like a thunderclap out of a clear sky.

Although General Corbin has gone to consult with the president and see whether Brooke shall not be ordered to reverse his program and carry out his original instructions, it is believed here that he is personally in sympathy with Brooke's idea of putting the whole business, as far as possible, into Cuban hands.

Secretary Alger, on the contrary, regards such a course as dangerous in the extreme until we are ready to move out of the island. As long as we retain possession, even though with the understanding that the occupation is only temporary, he considers it important to make the Cubans realize that we are actually, as well as nominally, in charge, and feels that needless concessions will be liable to misinterpretation as lack of firmness.

Dispatches from Havana say that the city is in a ferment again over the idea that the Washington administration has determined to take the arms of the Cuban troops, and to retain them in military possession. This view of the latest news from Washington has been telegraphed to the various cities.

Governor General Brooke is thus far unaware, save through the press telegrams, of any dissatisfaction on the part of General Alger with his (Brooke's) plan to have the arms deposited in the care of the mayors of the municipalities; nor has he received any other inkling of the secretary's purpose to lay the matter before President McKinley. Consequently unless instructions to the contrary are received from the Washington administration the governor general's order respecting the distribution of the $3,000,000, as modified, will be issued today. The secretary of war has been informed as to the substance of this order in the usual course of business.

Havana papers publish the Washington news, some of them commenting editorially upon it. As the point about where the arms are to be kept appears to be thought of vital importance in Washington, the conviction announced there that the mayors cannot be trusted with them is a cause of fresh discontent, just at the moment when the various complications appeared to be unravelled. The mayors are the appointees of the governor general; and when the military assembly dissolved they were made its representatives to receive the arms.

Article four of the agreement between General Gomez and Robert P. Porter, President McKinley's special representative, runs as follows: "The Cubans shall surrender their arms to the Cuban assembly or to its representatives."

General Gomez, who, at the time of coming to the agreement with Mr. Porter, had not quarreled with the assembly, insisted upon this point. Since the quarrel he has again raised the point repeatedly, saying also that Mr. Porter brought full written authority from President McKinley and, in the president's name, agreed that the arms should go into the custody of the assembly or its representatives.

At Monday night's meeting of the Society of Veterans of Independence—organized by former members of the assembly—the speakers dilated upon article four, asserting bad faith, the president's plenipotentiary having agreed to deposit the arms with the representatives of the assembly, while through the connivance of Gomez, they were to be surrendered to the American army.

La Discussion says: Secretary Alger appears to wish to provoke a conflict here. He is more distinguished in the United States as a business man than as a politician, and his relations with certain syndicates are well known. He opposes everything that Cuba wants, and favors everything that would cause feeling and provoke excitement. His attitude prompts the question: What does he want? Does he desire war here similar to that in the Philippines? We are forced to believe that he only approves what is unsatisfactory to Cuba."

Cubans of prominence object to talking for publication on the subject, but wherever they have been interviewed they say, without exception, that such an order as is referred to in the press dispatches from Washington would cause much trouble and would still further separate Cuba from the United States.

The manifesto of General Gomez, issued last evening, is unsatisfactory to the military administration because its author failed to disband the army. He had been asked to include a paragraph directing the various commissioners to disolve, and had said he was in doubt as to whether he was authorized to disband the army, promising to reflect upon the matter. His attitude at headquarters yesterday was quite different from his previous bearing, and it soon became obvious that he wished to discontinue giving any advice, even on the subject of the payment to the troops.

While the war department is continuing its arrangements for sending reinforcements to the Philippines, little, apparently, has been done toward strenghtening the army of occupation in Cuba, and, as a result, the Cubans are becoming daily more insolent, and Americans residents are beginning to view the situation with alarm.

Every regiment of United States volunteers has departed from the island, and, while the official records show that six or eight regiments of the regular army of the United States are stationed in Cuba, the public in general is not aware that these regiments have been so reduced in numbers that they do not average 500 men each.

The cause of this shrinkage is due to the fact that a large proportion of the men in each of the regiments enlisted for service only during the continuation of the war with Spain, and when their terms of enlistment expired, with the ratification of the peace treaty, very few re-enlisted.

This depletion of the ranks has not been met by the enlistment of recruits as was anticipated. Recruiting officers are now in the United States trying to secure men for their respective regiments, but, according to advices from these officers, few men care to enlist for Cuban service.

This inability to secure recruits in the United States has given rise to considerable discussion of a plan, which, if adopted, may put an end to all fear of the Cuban ex-soldiers becoming bandits and highwaymen. The plan is to fill each United States regiment now in Cuba with Cuban soldiers; the Cubans to be enlisted with the distinct understanding that they are only to serve while the regiment they join is stationed in Cuba.

It is further proposed that upon the withdrawal of the American forces, the Cubans who enlist with the United States regiments are to retain the arms given to them, the Cuban government paying for the same, and the soldiers who have in this manner received the benefits of United States military training are to then form the Cuban national guard.

It is almost certain that if this plan should be adopted there would be little trouble in filling the depleted ranks of the United States regiments with a class of men thoroughly familiar with the country, and who will not have to run the risk of falling victims of disease while in that climate.

The manifesto issued by General Gomez, advising the Cubans to comply with the American demands and lay down their arms, has created excitement throughout the island. Dispatches from towns in all provinces state that the Cubans are divided as to what policy they will pursue with regard to the American occupation in the future.

One Cuban general and three colonels have left Havana for Matanzas to call their troops together, supposedly to take to the woods.

of swimming the Hellespont, the Bosphorus and the Rhine. His object is to demonstrate that athletes of today are superior to those of ancient times.

Easy Mark For Walcott.

New York, May 20.—Joe Walcott, the colored boxer, who has deserted the ranks of the lightweights to become a middleweight, knocked out Dick O'Brien in the 14th round of their fight last night. Walcott made a heavy concession of weight to the Lewiston man, yet he won without having to take more than half a dozen punches in return for the scores that he rained upon his man. Walcott took a lead with the sound of the gong, and, save for a few seconds in the 13th, was never headed. He showed superiority in every respect, and it was only wonderful stamina and capacity to take punishment that saved O'Brien from an earlier defeat.

Heroes Not Forgotten.

Washington, May 20.—Members of the Union Veterans' legion of this city, who had in charge the work of erecting a memorial fence about the plot in which 24 men of the Maine were buried at Key West, yesterday shipped 100 American flags to be used in the decoration of the graves Memorial day. The day will also be marked by the unveiling and dedication of the monument erected within the plot by the citizens of Key West.

In Military Prison.

Boston, May 20.—Fifteen of the men who fought with Dewey at Manila have arrived at the Charlestown navy yard in irons and under guard of a detail of marines for confinement for various terms in the United States naval prison at the navy yard. The men, 12 blue jackets and three marines, are all general court-martial prisoners and are under sentence of from six months to two years for various offenses.

Won't Come to Trial.

Worcester, Mass., May 20.—The cases of Michael C. Galvin and Thomas E. Hiney, conductor and motorman, respectively, on the ill-fated Leicester car which figured in the Leicester horror of Dec. 19, when two persons were killed, will probably be filed and the indictments against the men nol prossed.

Fair weather prevailed generally east of the Mississippi and in the gulf states. The temperature is generally below the seasonal average except in the south Atlantic and gulf states. Fair weather is indicated for New England today; increasing cloudiness and warmer Sunday. Along the New England coast the winds will be brisk from the northwest.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, May 20.—There was not enough in the house calendar yesterday to keep the lower branch of the legislature in session all day, and adjournment took place at a few minutes before noon. The Boston sewerage bill, which is of special interest now that the supreme court decision is against the constitutionality of the sewer assessment law, was put over until Monday, when there will be a chance for freer discussion. The state house park bill was referred to the next legislature, and the Boston highway appropriation bill was passed to a third reading, after an amendment giving Roxbury an increased share in the amount appropriated. The Nantasket Beach bill was tabled to afford time for members to study over it a little.

The senate decided to refer the bill to allow Westminster Chambers to remain at the present height to the next general court, and refused to reconsider engrossment of the bill to exempt trades unions from the fraternal beneficiary law.

The conference committee on the salary of the metropolitan park commissioners recommended that the senate recede. This will make the bill operative only one year, as originally voted in the house.

The senate refused a third reading to the new fish commission bill, by a vote of 7 to 11, but Senator Whittlesey gave notice of a motion to reconsider.

Bills were engrossed to authorize the Holyoke public library to hold property to the amount of $500,000; to authorize Leominster to supply Lunenburg inhabitants with water; for a boulevard from Dedham to the Stony Brook reservoir in Hyde Park; for additional water supply for Medfield asylum.

The resolve for representation of the state at the Paris exposition was ordered to a third reading.

The bill to repeal the board of apportionment act was postponed to Tuesday.

The Cape Cod canal bill was assigned for debate Monday.

Petition Was Effective.

Boston, May 20.—Yielding to the prayer of one of the strongest petitions ever presented to a court in this state in behalf of a prisoner, Judge Gaskill yesterday showed leniency in imposing sentence upon Aaron N. Fellows, a professor in a Brooklyn educational institution, cutting nine-tenths off the maximum penalty and sending Fellows to the house of correction for one year only. Fellows was charged with forgery in signing his father's name to five United States bonds of the value of $2300. Fellows had made restitution and pleaded guilty. Friends of Fellows in Vermont heard of his predicament and a petition was circulated through the state, which was freely signed by members of both branches of the legislature, clergymen, lawyers and other prominent citizens. This was the petition presented to Judge Gaskill.

President Leaves Hot Springs.

Hot Springs, Va., May 20.—The special train, bearing the president and Mrs. McKinley and their party, left here at 10:30 last night en route for Washington. A trip through the Shenondoah valley will be made, passing Harrisonburg, Cedar Creek, Winchester and Harper's Ferry. Washington will be reached this evening. The visit here has lasted 11 days, during which time the president has been greatly benefited in health. He leaves at this time in order to fill an engagemtn in Washington next week in connection with the peace jubilee.

Of Interest to Manufacturers.

Harrisburg, May 20.—Governor Stone has written a letter to the executives of all the states and territories in the United States, calling their attention to the exposition of American manufacturers, to be held in Philadelphia next fall, and asking them to extend an invitation to the different industries of their states to participate. The exposition will be national in its character, and its object is to promote the trade of the manufacturing interests of the country.

The Passing of the Horse.

Trenton, May 20.—Seventeen electric vehicle transportation companies were incorporated here yesterday. These companies were formed by the Whitney-Elkins-Widner syndicate to operate automobiles in different states. Each firm has an authorized capital of $100,000, except the one formed for the District of Columbia, which has an authorized capital of $6,000,000.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

The business portion of the town of Jerome, Ariz., was almost entirely wiped out by fire. The place experienced a similar fate last September, and had since been more substantially rebuilt.

Clarence W. Gaylor, justice of the peace and insurance agent at Scarsdale, N. Y., has filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy. Liabilities, $149,286; no assest.

St. John's Episcopal church, Bridgeport, Conn., was damaged by fire to the extent of $10,000. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

The directors of the Colebrook (N. H.) National bank, which suspended some months ago, have been notified by the treasury department that their terms for reorganizing the bank are satisfactory. This means that the bank will resume business.

Edward Knowles, aged 45, attempted suicide at Concord, N. H., by shooting and the wound will undoubtedly prove fatal. The attempt was due to strong drink.

The last portions of the Atbara bridge, the contract for which was awarded to a Philadelphia firm, have left Alexandria, and will arrive at Atbara, Egypt, in about three weeks. The bridge will be finished before the arrival of the usual floods.

The First Universalist parish of Charlestown (Boston) has extended a unanimous call to Rev. W. M. Kimmel of Portland, Me., to occupy the pulpit of that church.

Addison Parker, aged 52, a well-known turfman, committed suicide at Beaver Dam, Wis. Parker for years was associated with Robert Bonner of New York.

MADE SCORES IN BUNCHES.

Killen Did Some Fine Pitching For the Bostons at Louisville.

Louisville, May 20.—The champions won the second game of the series with Louisville by falling upon Dowling in the third, seventh and ninth innings and driving in scores in bunches.

Fifteen of the 18 hits credited to Selee's players were made in these innings, coming in nice little packages of five each.

"Chick" Stahl was the leader in the movement, and he was ably seconded by Collins, Long, Lowe and Stafford. Dowling pitched good ball in streaks, but whenever the gentlemen from the City of Culture opened on him he seemed unable to get on his feet until the next inning.

Frank Killen, the Pittsburg and Washington cast-off, was put in the box for Boston, and, barring his wildness, he pitched a good game. After the first few innings he was unable to locate the plate, but the eagerness of the Colonels to make base hits prevented their taking advantage of it.

After the fifth he seemed to have worked the kinks out of his south-paw wing, and the Kentuckians could do no business with him.

The Boston players were jubilant over his showing, and one of them said: "There is the left-hander we have been looking for for a long time, and now that we have him there is no way on earth to keep us from winning the pennant again."

Observance of the Sabbath.

Minneapolis, May 20.—Sunday observance was the question which took the major part of the Presbyterian assembly's time yesterday. Most of the afternoon session was devoted to an earnest, and often excited, discussion of the report of the special committee on Sabbath observance. In the end, the committee's eight resolutions were adopted, with slight amendment, and two more were added. In the discussion, the Sunday street car, the Sunday train and railroad excursion, the Sunday newspaper, the Sunday working Presbyterian and every form of activity which is not in harmony with the liberal meaning of the fourth commandment, were condemned. Indignant comments were made when another special committee reported that it had not been able to keep congress and the president from granting the Roman Catholics permission to erect a chapel on the West Point military academy reservation.

Trading In Corpses.

New York, May 20.—The feature of yesterday's sessions of the Mazet investigating committee was the unearthing of an alleged system of corruption in the disposition of dead bodies from a city hospital; a somewhat ghoulish tale, but one that was well corroborated and replete with details. By several witnesses it was stated that an undertaker named Marren illegally secured the funerals of all bodies taken to Harlem hospital, and that he was enabled to do this by bribing clerks in the employ of the city to break the rules. It was also shown that, apparently, an acquaintanceship existed between Marren and Messrs. Croker and Carroll.

Relations Not Disturbed.

London, May 20.—In the house of commons yesterday Joseph Chamberlain gave the names and the identity of the men arrested at Johannesburg. All of them, excepting Tremlett and Fries, were former non-commissioned officers in the British army. He added that President Kruger had informed the British agent at Pretoria that there was no proof that the prisoners were British officers, and that in any case the incident would not be allowed to disturb the friendly relations existing.

Much Suffering In India.

Boston, May 20.—The American board has received from one of its missionaries, Rev. J. P. Jones, D. D., of Nadura, India, a communication, in which he says that the plague seems more prevalent now than ever. And poor Bombay is now passing through its third baptism in successive years, and now suffers more than ever—more than 200 cases daily, and more than three-fourths of them fatal.

WE ARE NOT CONJURERS.

We cannot move our hands in the air and produce a suit of clothes. We cannot and do not pretend to do impossible things; but we can, and we do, and we will sell you Clothing, Hats and Furnishings from 10 to 30 per cent. less than you can buy them in Quincy or Boston.

Nothing mysterious about our end of it. Nothing to keep secret. Nothing to hide. The rents in Boston are enormous. Thousands of dollars a year. Think what a large portion of profits must go to pay the rent alone. Our is a little over $1.20 a day. Why can't we sell for less.

Who but us in this city sells all wool Working Pants for 99c.? Where can you buy all wool Child's Suits, ages 3 to 16, from $1.48 upwards, and all wool Men's Suits from $5.00 to $10.00 in Blue Serges, Worsteds, and all the new style Cassimeres? What store sells all the Men's 50c. Overalls for 39c., and makes Custom Suits for $12.00, $15.00, $18.00, $20.00.

Good Afternoon.

Mayor French of Gloucester, a city larger than Quincy, has vetoed an order to pay an inspector of plumbing $800 per year.

The Committee on Metropolitan Affairs of the Legislature recognizes its right to divide up the Boston highway appropriation so that Dorchester will receive a certain amount, East Boston a definite sum, and so on, and one is at a loss to understand why the appropriation for Metropolitan parks and boulevards could not be divided in the same way. A strong argument why this should be reversed is, that Boston has a representative government, which should be trusted to "distribute" the money, while the Metropolitan district has no representative government, and has had an example of how money can be diverted from the purpose for which it was appropriated.

It is with some surprise that one reads in official orders of the Grand Army of "Spanish-American Veterans." We should not think that our Swedish-Americans, Irish-Americans, or native born Americans would relish being called Spanish-Americans. The veterans of the Revelutionary war were never known as English-American veterans, or the veterans of the Mexican war as Mexican-Americans, and the Grand Army would not think it appropriate to call them Confederacy-Americans. Veterans of the Spanish war, or Spanisn war veterans would be more appropriate.

Undoubtedly it would be a good thing to have the Water street and Savil street grade crossings abolished, but if the cost should be $100,000 and possibly $200,000, is it worth that to Quincy? Are there not other improvements which are much more necessary, and which would be of greater benefit to the city. There are improvements costing only a few thousand dollars, some a few hundred, which must be postponed because of the finances, and yet the Council almost committed itself blindly to the abolishment of grade crossings at great expense.

The Malden celebration begins today, and will be continued the most of next week. The Ledger takes pleasure today in giving its readers an illustrated sketch of that enterprising city, and to congratulate Malden upon its artistic public buildings, churches and business blocks, but more especially upon its progressive men, and the methods employed in planning for the grand celebration. First of all the committees have recognized the value of publicity and printers' ink. They have already entertained representatives of the press at a banquet; have furnished them with sketches and illustrations; have provided tally-hos for reporters on the day of the parade, and have left nothing undone to facilitate their work. The publicity which the press is giving the celebration and Malden, will make the former a grand success, and be greatly for the benefit of the city in the future. Quincy and other cities may well imitate Malden methods in enterprise and push.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Up-to-date straw hats look more comfortable in the store windows than on the head.—Lynn Item.

☞ The obnoxious features of the Faxon law are not so plain under the present administration. But then the present administration has no desire to make it obnoxious, and that makes a difference.—Brockton Enterprise.

☞ How happily indicative of the unity that now exists between the north and south is the fact that the Memorial day address in Boston will be delivered by Gen. Joe Wheeler.—Brockton Times.

☞ A study of municipal indebtedness in Massachusetts for the past fifteen years will show that there has been an astonishing increase in the volume of municipal expense. The pay-as-you-go principle is derided as old-fogyish and in conflict with "the progressiveness of the age." Would it not be better to look the situation squarely in the face, and admit that the cities as a whole have been traveling at too rapid a clip in swelling their indebtedness, rather than trying to sugar-coat municipal extravagance by floating bonds and juggling with valuation?—Salem News.

☞ The legislative committee on the state-house, authorized to make a survey and plans for an addition to the present building, have made their report, which if carried out will cost millions of dollars. Among other things, palace quarters will be provided for the supreme court and the judicial branch of the government. But the chief point will be to minister to the pride and adornment of Boston. The next scheme will be to cover the state house dome with diamonds.—Milford Journal.

☞ The late Henry B. Hyde, who was president of the Equitable Life Assurance company, received a salary of $100,000 per year, which fact is big with significance. No man ever lived whose services were worth that amount of money, which is a fortune in itself. In this age of the world men are not able in the ordinary pursuits to earn in one year enough to make them independently rich for life, and it is a fair presumption that Mr. Hyde was enormously overpaid. He was, no doubt, a very able insurance man and deserved a large salary, but $100,000 a year is princely and out of proportion to the service rendered.—Taunton Herald.

☞ According to the orders issued to army posts by the Adjutant-General, U. S. A., the flag will be at half-mast on Memorial Day until noon, and from then until sunset it must be at the peak. How to hang the flag is a question that comes up every year on approach of Memorial Day, and, while authorities differ, it may be as well to follow the example set by the regular army, which is a compromise between half-mast and full peak.—Lynn Item.

Brockton, which is often mentioned as a progressive city, don't appear to be entirely satisfied with its streets. But there is no such thing as complete satisfaction with all the highways and byways. The Times lamentation is awful. It reads: "O for the days when there will be an improvement in the sidewalks on streets somewhat removed from the centre of the city. The traditional 'rocky road to Dublin' presented no such obstacles to comfortable walking as these apologies for sidewalks show."

☞ Another illustration of both the tendencies and power of combinations in industries is seen in the agreement between the steel sheet manufacturers not to sell plates for tinning to the concerns which dip them. This is to enable the steel manufacturers to scoop the tin-plate business. If this goes on there is a much stronger argument for free tin-plate than ever existed before. "Octopuses" must cease to Octope, or they will have to be throttled.—Lowell Courier.

☞ What credentials to confidence would young physicians have whose certificates were obtained by fraudulent access to the questions to be asked at the time of examination! The secretary of the State Board of Registration has done a service to the people of the State in checkmating this business.—Brockton Times.

☞ Get every mile of railroad built in town that you can, Messrs. Selectmen, and the public will thank you for it now and for all time to come. All the masses will ever get out of this anyway is the general convenience, and the lowering of the tax rate by the mileage under the new law. Get the roads in, also, before the consolidation schemes have been carried out so that the roads may not be "throttled" before they are born.—Stoughton Record.

The Hardwick estate, 11 Mechanic street consisting of a cottage house and about 18,000 feet of land will be sold at auction on Tuesday next at 1.30 P. M., by F. F. Crane. It is pleasantly situated and has quite a variety of fruit tree.

Manager Anderson of the Granite Railway Co. reports the quarrying of a block of best dark blue granite averaging to measure 17 feet by 16 feet by 9 feet. This stone weighs, as it now lays under the derrick, over 200 tons, and is one of the sights of the city.

The New England Telephone Company has completed the laying of its underground conduits between Quincy and Neponset. It is understood that the underground system will be continued to the Boston office which will mean that all lines between Boston and Quincy and to towns south of Quincy will be placed under ground.

Electric Lights for Houghs Neck.

The Transcript says the Board of Gas Commissioners has rendered a decision in the case of petitioners at Houghs Neck, Quincy, that the Quincy Electric Light Company should be compelled to furnish electric light to residents of the Neck. The board decides in favor of the petitioners, that the company shall furnish light there as asked.

Memorial Day.

The arrangements by Paul Revere Post, 88, G. A. R., for Memorial day, will be much the same as in recent years, but a new feature will be the presence of the Spanish war veterans, who will accompany the Grand Army to West Quincy at 9.30 A. M., and to Mount Wollaston at 2 P. M.

The Post will assemble at 7 A. M. and details will decorate the graves of soldiers buried in local cemeteries, and that of Col. Paul J. Revere at Mount Auburn.

Sunday morning, May 28, the Post will attend in a body the service at the West Quincy M. E. church, and Sunday evening Rev. Edward Anderson will deliver the oration at the Quincy Point church.

☞ Indications of impatience with the Cubans because they do not appear to know what is best for them are cropping out in many quarters. It seems to us that they are demonstrating that they are very like more "advanced" peoples. We can find plenty of men in Massachusetts who do not know what is best for them, either.—New Bedford Standard.

Brighton Won.

Of course the Quincy High boys did not want to be rough on Mr. Tupper's new pupils, so they suffered defeat yesterday in their game with Brighton High. The Quincy players made a few great catches which rather surprised the visitors, and a total of 14 safe hits. The score was 15 to 9 in favor of Brighton.

Concert at West Quincy.

The old-folks concert at St. Mary's hall last evening by the St. Mary's C. T. A. society drew a large and appreciative audience, who thoughly enjoyed a miscellanences program of vocal and instrumental music and readings.

The programme opened with a piano duet by the Misses McKay and was followed by a selection by the pupils from Grade VIII of the Gridley Bryant school. Others to contribute were: Mr. William Biganess, Mr. Frank Grignon, Miss Emma Ready, Miss Susie McClosky, Mr. Richard Callahan, Mr. Benedict, Fitzgerald, Miss Mary Gardner, Miss Nellie Bowden, Miss Julia Donovan, Miss Tillie Jennesy, Miss Mary F. White, Mr. Joseph Sweeney, Miss Maud Whittier, Mr. John E. Deigman, Mr. F. Broders, and Mr. Charles Bannon.

At the close of the entertainment those who took part were entertained with light refreshments.

The Cove Street Bridge.

The legislature seems about to adopt the penny wise and pound foolish policy of building a narrow bridge to accommodate the vast traffic from South Boston, Dorchester, Quincy and beyond, which will pass over the Cove street extension. It will be but a day, as a city's life goes, we believe, until even a 60-foot bridge will be found inadequate for the demands put upon it, and a 50-foot bridge will be too narrow from the start.

The point is raised that engineering difficulties are in the way of a wider bridge, but there are engineers amply able to cope with the difficulties, if the powers that be so will it. The difficulties are not a tithe of those met and overcome by the Terminal company in the construction of the big station and its approaches, and it is hoped the legislature will be far-sighted enough to see that a bridge of adequate width can be built now at a cost enormously below what later it will cost to widen a narrow structure.—Dorchester Beacon.

☞ The Legislature now promises that next week shall surely be its last—but this may be another Dumond performance—Old Colony Memorial.

THREE DAYS' GOLF.

Open Tournament by the Wollaston Club.

A grand open tournament has been arranged by the Wollaston Golf club for Tuesday, May 30, to be continued May 31 and June 1. The club is taking a foremost position among clubs in the vicinity of Boston, and a long list of entries is assured. The schedule will be:

May 30, 9 a m—Qualifying round, 18 holes 16 players making lowest gross scores to play for Wollaston golf club cup, match play. Sixteen players making next best gross scores to play for consolation cup,

A prize will be given to players making lowest gross and lowest net score in qualifying round.

2 p m—First round for Wollaston cup and consolation cup.

May 31, 10 a m and 2 p m—Second and semifinal rounds for Wollaston club cup and consolation cup.

Thursday June 1, 10 a m and 2 p m—Final rounds for cups 36 holes.

The following team matches have been arranged by Wollaston team:

May 23—Harvard golf club, 10 men, at Wollaston.

May 27—Concord golf club.

June 5—Team picked from All Newton, 10 men, at Wollaston.

June 7—Lexington golf club, at Wollaston. Men's team and Ladies' team.

July 1—Lexingtons at Lexington, return match.

Matches are also being arranged by Wollaston with Agawam Hunt and Vesper country clubs.

Greens for nine holes on the new links have been made; the fair green is being cut and bunkers put in. As soon as the greens are suitable to play on these nine holes will be used:

No. 1—166 yards, bogey 4. An overdrive will go into pond and a sliced ball will get into trouble.

No. 2—460 yards. This calls for straight accurate play. There will be two cop and two sand bunkers on this hole, bogey 6.

No. 3—256 yards. Sliced ball penalized, and an overapproach over the bunker guarding green will be punished. Bogey 4.

No. 4—240 yards. Calls for a drive of over 70 yards to clear a marsh and green is protected by bunker. Bogey 4.

No 5—200 yards. Green is approached over two quick rises on the hill and is a good hole in 4.

No. 6—430 yards. Green is cut out of side of hill. A pulled ball badly punished. Bogey 6.

No. 7—300 yards. With two bunkers. Bogey 5.

No. 8—350 yards. Green will be protected by bunker; an overapproach punished. Bogey 5.

No. 9—350 yards. Green in deep hollow, well protected. Bogey 5.

Rockport Granite Strike.

Dispatches from Gloucester to the Herald state that in the superior court Friday Judge Bishop granted an injunction against the strikers of the Rockport Granite Company, restraining them from violence, intimidation, threats, or any attempt to coerce any person in the employ of the granite company. The strikers also were enjoined from trespassing on the property of the company, or from going into the vicinity of the company's works.

In an interview with the officials of the Rockport Granite company, they stated that the result of the injunction hearing in the superior court at Newburyport was about what they had anticipated. The works have been open all the week to all former employes who care to return, and they claim that they have about 100 men at work. They feel that the injunction will be the means of breaking the strike, but are sorry that there could not have been an amicable settlement.

The strikers assert that the company has a considerably less number of men at work than it claims.

Deaf and Dumb Sing.

The deaf and dumb pupils of the Horace Mann school, of which Miss Adams and Miss Kincaide of this city are accomplished teachers, continue to make wonderful progress. The Herald says: "Standing about a piano, with their hands resting upon the polished case, a group of children were singing, accompanied by a teacher upon the instrument. They kept good time, they were fairly accurate in pitch, but none of them could hear a sound from the piano or their own voices, for they are pupils in the Horace Mann school for the deaf, on Newbury street. It is puzzling to a novice to understand how they can give the pitch without hearing the tone from the teacher or the piano, but after a course of training they become exceedingly sensitive to musical vibrations, and can determine the pitch of a tone, as well as its volume, by laying a hand upon the instrument or the chest of a singer."

Norfolk County will get but $3,080 of the 100,000 emergency appropriation for State highway if appropriated by the Legislature, viz: $80 for Weymouth, and $3,000 for Norwood.

FOUND NOT GUILTY.

Mrs. Grant was Discharged But Young Man Now in Toils.

The trial of Teresa Grant at the District court this morning for keeping a liquor nuisance at Quincy, upon complaint of Inspector McKay, developed a case of perjury on the part of one of the witnesses, George W. Fisher of Weymouth, who after a hearing was committed for that offence.

When on the stand Fisher stated he never saw Mrs. Grant until he saw her in court Friday. Mr. Blackmur, counsel for goverment, then asked if he did not state to Officer Larkin and himself yesterday, that he had four drinks of whiskey at Grant's house with John Maynard and, that the latter paid sixty cents for it. He answered in the negative.

Mr. Blackmur then asked for the committment of Fisher for perjury.

Judge Pratt, who was hearing the case, heard the testimony of Inspector McKay and Officer Larkin, that Fisher had made the statement relative to the purchase of whiskey at the Grant house.

Fisher was placed upon the stand and asked by Judge Pratt if he denied admitting to Mr. Blackmur, Officers McKay and Larkin that he had purchased four drinks of whiskey at the Grant house.

Witness replied: "No, I never said so."

The court ordered Fisher committed.

The evidence against Mrs. Grant was that there was a party at the Grant house Monday night in honor of her daughter's birthday. That some of the boys contributed and bought the beer. All denied having paid Mrs. Grant for any beer.

The officer and C. H. Johnson, the agent who had charge of the letting of the house, testified to complaints received of the noisy character of Mrs. Grant's visitors.

Mrs. Grant denied ever having drank or sold any liquor to any person, and said the boys who gave the party bought the beer.

The court found Mrs. Grant not guilty and ordered her discharge.

After the hearing on the liquor case was concluded, Fisher was called up and the charge against him for perjury was continued for trial until next Wednesday.

Thrown by Cow.

Charles F. Hodgdon, a farmer living at the corner of Commerial and Essex streets was badly injured by a cow Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Hodgdon was leading a cow to pasture, when she turned upon him and threw him into the air. He was picked up by passers-by and carried into the house. Dr. Tinkham was summoned, as were also surgeons from Boston and Quincy. It was found that his right hip was fractured. Mr. Hodgdon is about 75 years of age, and the doctors consider it almost a miracle that he escaped instant death.—Weymouth Gazette.

The Genessee Sails.

C. C. Hanley, the well known yacht builder, started from Quincy Point last night with the Genessee for New York. This is the flyer which New York gentlemen have built to race for the Canadian cup. The Genessee went under her own sail, and Mr. Hanley was accompanied by two men. They expect to reach New York Sunday.

—Providence is another place where public sentiment is aroused over the rapidly increasing school expenses. This is a subject the people everywhere can well afford to keep an eye on. There are too many "side shows" in our public schools, which make expenses heavy.

—Rice & Hutchins, who removed to Worcester from Marlboro during the strike, say they have no intention of taking the business back to the latter place. Wonder if the town or the the people are as well off today as they were before the strike.

LAW OF DEVELOPMENT

Will Compel All Nations to Realize the Necessity of Disarmament.

A Prediction, With a Rap at the United States.

Berlin, May 20.—The Independence Belge publishes an interview with Professor Rudolph Virchow, the leader of German Liberalism, on the subject of the peace conference, in the course of which he is represented as having said:

"Disarmament is in the air. Sooner or later it will be realized by all nations under the law of development. The program of Emperor Nicholas is comprehensive and complicated; but the fact that the powers accepted his call is significant enough.

"One factor in the situation is the weakness of public opinion. Nations are led astray by a deceptive idea of glory and honor. The United States have lately offered a pitiable example of that. A civilized land has been plunged into war by the criminal agitation of brainless demagogues and the incapacity of rulers. The United States have sinned against humanity and civilization.

"Let us hope that the Americans have at last recovered from their bout of intaxication and will redeem the errors of their country. All this is an illustration of the difficulties confronting the conference, but it will not matter if success is finally attained. The conference, I believe, will deepen the study of peace problems and the new century will be an age of real enlightenment, civilization and peace."

First-Class Burial Predicted.

London, May 20.—The correspondent of The Morning Post at The Hague telegraphs as follows: An eminent member of the peace conference says it is simply an act of politeness to the czar and will yield no practical result, simply because it cannot. The powers, he asserts, are too disunited, and watch each other too closely to arrive at any understanding in their progress. His prediction is that there will be a long discussion, and then a "first-class burial of the czar's proposals."

M. De Bloch, author of the work which inspired Emperor Nicholas with the idea of the conference, tells The Daily Chronicle that the results will be amply satisfactory if the conference only affords an entrance for the thin edge of the peace wedge.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW.

General Tendency Toward Steadiness in Prices. Building Activity Widespread.

New York, May 20.—Bradstreet's says: The features of the trade situation this week is the renewed strength of wheat and other cereals, iron and steel and raw wool, which has heretofore lagged behind other staples in a discouraging way. The price making features in cereals are not entirely of an encouraging character, being chiefly the less favorable reports of the growing crop west and northwest and advices of insect damages influencing western markets toward a higher plane in face of a discouragingly small export business. The added strength in iron is based largely upon heavy buying of pigiron in the central west, sympathetically influencing prices at all markets.

Foreign wool markets continue above American. Heavy sales of Australian wools for export are reported and available supplies of this class of wool are nearly exhausted at Boston. Manufacturers appear slow to buy, and, except in dress goods, the demand for woolen fabrics is only fair.

Aside from the exceptions noted, the tendency is toward steadiness in prices, and most provisions, coffee and sugar, lead, copper and cotton, and its various manufactures are all reported unchanged on the week.

Speculation in cotton lags, notwithstanding good trade advices at home and abroad and rather less favorable crop reports.

Lumber continues in excellent demand. Building activity is widespread, prices hold all their old advances and the tendency is still upward.

Hides and leather are strong at old quotations, a new feature reported this week being a good demand for some grades of upper leather on export account.

Bank clearings for the week aggregate $1,909,403,066, 10 percent less than last week, 44 percent larger than in this week a year ago and 95 percent larger than in the corresponding week of 1897.

Business failures for the week number 166, against 169 last week, 211 in this week a year ago and 245 in 1897.

MODERN RIP VAN WINKLE.

Ohio Man Who Has Been Dead to the World For Over Half a Century.

Fostoria, O., May 20.—Mathias Steingruber, who lives in this city, is playing "Rip an Winkle" in earnest. He enlisted in Payne's cavalry, a Pennsylvania troop, for the Mexican war. In a charge at the battle of Resaca de Lapalma, he was thrown from his horse, struck upon his head, and lost consciousness. When he came to, his intellect seemed to have stopped like a watch, where it was when the injury came.

For 53 years he has lived near this city, having been brought here after the war from Pennsylvania by his parents, but his mind was a blank from the day of his injury. He always insisted he was but 21 years of age, and he talked of voting for General Taylor for president at the next election. His memory of facts before his injury has been perfect, but of events since, nil.

That phenomenon is not unprecedented. But the other day he was struck on the head by a piece of wood from a buzzsaw. When he recovered it was found that he had regained the powers which had been so long absent, and he suddenly realized what was going on about him. The telephone, electric lights, motor cars and bicycle made his first visit to town a trip to fairyland. He is like one who has been asleep these 53 years. He says: "The world has advanced so far, I fear I shall not live long enough to catch up."

CANCER CURED

BY ABSORPTION

NO KNIFE.

The result of years of scientific research by America's greatest blood specialist. A pleasant treatment that relieves immediately, cures permanently all forms of CANCERS, TUMORS and CHRONIC DISEASES. Hundreds of wonderful cures effected in and around Boston. Read the following:

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

Important Advice.

It is surprising how many people wake up in the morning nearly as tired as when they went to bed, a disagreeable taste in their mouth, the lips sticky, and the breath offensive, with a coated tongue. These are nature's first warnings of Dyspepsia and Liver Disorders, but if the U. S. Army & Navy Tablets are resorted to at this stage they will restore the system to a healthy condition. A few doses will do more for a weak or sour stomach and Constipation than a prolonged course of any other medicine.

If you can not get them at your drug store, send 10c. for a package of 12 to the U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLET CO., 17 EAST 14TH ST., NEW YORK.

THE LESSER LIGHT.

The day is dead.
He walked the earth in glory and in pride
And lived in spendthrift joy, yet, like a king
Majestic, robed in purple state, he died.

But now—a ghost!
No sunshine pulsing in the quiet veins,
No gusty laughter—wan and draped in white,
He steals, a spirit to the earth again.
—Carl L. Sparrow in Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly.

A REVENGE PLOT THAT FAILED.

"Harry, dear, don't go."

"I must, Cis. Beggars can't be choosers," I answered bitterly. "After all, dearest girl, it will be only for a few months."

"A year, I'm afraid, Harry, from what father says."

"Well, since he has found me this work I mustn't shirk it. Goodby, my own girl."

What misery does poverty entail on loving hearts! Cicely Fleming and I had loved one another for years—ever since, indeed, we were children together. I had spent the few hundreds my father left me in completing my engineering education in Germany. Then I came home, confident of finding work. But nothing came my way in spite of every endeavor. At last Mr. Fleming's interest procured me a place as assistant engineer in building a new lighthouse on the dangerous island of Skryn, off the west coast of Ireland.

I parted with Cis on a Tuesday. Friday morning found me on the small sailing craft which was the only means of communication between Skryn and the mainland.

Soon we landed, and I waded ashore and walked up the steep path to the top of the cliff.

As I reached the summit a man met me, and, holding out his hand, said:

"Good morning! You're Mr. Brydon, I suppose? I'm Callan!"

He was not so ill looking—at least as far as features went. It was not till later that I discovered the peculiar repulsion he inspired me with was due to his eyes. These were extraordinarily dark and piercing, but across the iris of one was a remarkable pale yellow mark which, combined with a very slight squint, gave him an absolutely uncanny appearance.

Next day I was up betimes, boiled my big kettle, made my coffee and was out on the reef before Callan was visible. The men were already at work. I spoke to them, but either they could not or would not talk. Presently Callan came out, scrambling along the reef. What a burly brute he looked in the clear morning sunlight! He spoke to the men with extraordinary roughness. They evidently feared him, and, I soon saw, hated him too.

This puzzled me till I knew him better. But a very few days opened my eyes. If ever there lived a man without one grain of pity in his composition, it was Eugene Callan. He seemed to take an absolute delight in cruelty for cruelty's sake. There was a boy called Barney McKeown who acted as servant to Callan. The way Callan bullied that unfortunate boy was appalling. I wondered how the others could see such things happening.

A few weeks later we had a storm which stopped all work.

I sat in my hut reading most of the day and listening to the gusts that roared at times like thunder. Once or twice I fancied a shriller sound mingled with the gale.

Late in the afternoon it lulled a little, and suddenly there came, distinct and clear to my ears, a scream of pain. I sprang up and listened. Again and again the cry sounded out. It was from Callan's hut it came.

I sprang up, rushed across and flung open the door. The sight that met my eyes made me blaze with anger. Stripped to the waist and writhing with pain, the wretched McKeown was tied to the head of Callan's bed, while over him stood the big black bully, lashing him with a rope's end.

"What's this for?" I cried.

Callan turned his crooked gaze on me.

"To teach the young hound obedience!" His voice grated with rage at my interruption. "And what business is it of yours, Mr. Pry?"

I fancied for an instant he was going for me. But I was much too angry to think of consequences.

"You're an infernal bully!" I shouted. "And if you don't chuck it I can't make you, but I'll soon let our employers know."

The bully was a coward—that I knew. But he could have killed me with one hand. So my relief was considerable when he suddenly threw down the rope's end. I untied McKeown, and, pushing him before me, left the hut.

But a hissing whisper followed me:

"All right, young man, your turn now. But you'll pay for it."

One day letters came across from the mainland—one from Cis and one in an unknown hand.

Cis' letter, of course, I read first. Then I tore open the other and skimmed it through.

Only by slow degrees did I realize its import. My mother's uncle, old Sir Bernard Child, had died and left me everything. Why, I had never seen him, hardly imagined that he was aware of my existence. I walked out, and, still in a dazed condition, called McKeown to pull me across to the mainland. Then I bolted up to the village postoffice and sent off a wire. Toward sunset the reply came, assuring me my news was correct in every detail. I looked up the first train from Culcross in the morning, arranged about a car to take me there and was soon rowing back to Skryn.

The sun had long set behind the sea rim as we pulled into the little cove, and it was quite dark as we clambered up the narrow rock path. Reaching the top, I glanced across to the huts and thought I saw the gleam of a light flash under the door of my shanty. I was about to hurry on when the boy laid a hand on my sleeve.

Presently there was a scratching from within. A match flamed up. The man who had lighted it was crouched on the floor, his body between us and the light. He was unwinding a piece of very thin twine or strong thread and carefully stringing it across the floor from the bed to the stove. He passed it round a leg of the stove and then back again, securing it finally with infinite caution to a little shiny metal tube which protruded from the top of a small parcel. This parcel was standing well hidden under one of the chairs at the foot of the bed. As the man turned I saw his profile plainly. It was Callan.

An instant's thought and my engineering training made plain to me the whole infernal plot. The parcel was gun cotton; the tube held acid in a thin glass receptacle. Above this was a leaden bullet, kept in place by a movable pin. The string so carefully wound across the floor was attached to the free end of the pin. A touch of careless feet against the string, the pin would pull out, the bullet fall, the glass shiver and the acid do its deadly work on the explosive below.

I had forgotten for the time all about the boy. Suddenly, in a moment of mad fury—for he, too, had understood the plot—he sprang up and beat with his fists upon the pane. Callan raised himself quickly, but carefully, not forgetting the deadly string. What he did forget was how near he was to the stove. As in a dream I saw his coat catch against it. It swung and the big kettle overbalanced. For an instant it seemed to hang in the air. I strove to call out. It was too late. Smash, it fell right on the string. The whole world turned crimson and burst into a great glare of flame. Something struck me in the chest and drove me backward.

* * * * * * * *

"Praise the saints, his eyes are open, doctor!"

"Yes, he'll do now," said another voice, in a rich brogue.

I went to sleep again.

When I awoke it was bright daylight. I was in Callan's hut, on his cot.

I felt sore and bruised all over, and at first could not remember what had happened.

Then it began to dawn on me.

"Where's"— I began.

"Sh!" came in the same soft brogue as before. "Don't talk! Callan won't be bothering ye any more. McKeown's not much the worse, barring his hair. And there's nothing broken in yerself."

"How long"— I was mad to know how soon I should be able to travel.

The doctor checked me again.

"In a week," he said, "if you'll lie still."

I did, and tomorrow I am starting. Cicely will meet me at Holyhead.—Chicago Journal.

OUR WEEKLY FASHION PLATE.

HOME GOWN OF PALE GREEN VEILING FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

A very simple model, and one equally adaptable for slender or full figurers, has a bodice tucked vertically across the upper part both back and front, the tucks reaching around the body in an almost complete circle. At the left side of the bodice under the arm occurs the break in the circle. Here the veiling is plainly fitted over the lining. The tucks across the bodice are an inch deep, six in number, and are carefully marked in the pattern. These and the tucks upon the sleeve (of equal depth) are made directly in with the garment, wherein they differ from the tucks shown upon the upper skirt. In the latter instance, fitted folds of veiling are made to do duty as tucks. The depth of these folds is one and one-half inches. Under the lowest fold, or simulated tuck, is a slightly circular ruffle with scant gathers, and this is finished by a fuller and narrower flounce, which is also fashioned after the circular model. This again is finished with a deep hem. The skirt may be worn over a drop skirt of cream-colored taffeta. The position of folds upon the skirt is marked upon the pattern published by Harper's Bazar where the design appears. The bodice is fastened at the left side, and finished in Greek scallops, which are utilized as a cuff trimming. The plain collar is fastened at the left side of the front by three French gilt buttons. The costume design will prove a dainty one for evening wear during the summer and autumn.

To make this gown in veiling of one color 44 inches wide, 9 yards of material will be required.

Thackeray's Tenderness.

The following letter was written in 1838 by Thackeray to his wife. Surely a more tender message, more truly instinct with love and religion, was never framed!

"Here have we been two years married and not a single unhappy day. Oh, I do bless God for all this happiness which he has given me! It is so great that I almost tremble for the future, except that I humbly hope—for what man is certain about his own weakness and wickedness? Our love is strong enough to withstand any pressure from without, and, as it is a gift greater than any fortune, is likewise one superior to poverty or sickness or any other worldly evil with which Providence may visit us. Let us pray, as I trust there is no harm, that none of these may come upon us, as the best and wisest in the world prayed that he might not be led into temptation.

"I think happiness is as good as prayers, and I feel in my heart a kind of overflowing thanksgiving which is quite too great to describe in writing. This kind of happiness is like a fine picture—you only see a little bit of it when you are near the canvas. Go a little distance and then you see how beautiful it is.

"I don't know that I shall have done much by coming away, except by being so awfully glad to get back."

Antidote Against Stings.

According to Dr. Friedlander of Wiesbaden, electricity is an antidote against stings of insects. His plan in such cases is to apply a constant current and to place a negative cathode on the spot stung by the insect. Galvanization produces a rather strong sensation of burning, but at the same time the pain from the sting disappears, and if the electricity is applied very soon after the wound has been inflicted there is little or no swelling. The current, however, does excellent service even if it be not applied until after some time has elapsed, for it removes the pain and also quickly reduces the swelling. The supposition is that the poison which the insect has injected through the skin is neutralized and rendered innocuous by the current.

Dr. Friedlander has repeatedly made experiments of this kind on persons who have been stung by bees and wasps and has invariably found them successful. He naturally believes that a similar result would be obtained in the cases of persons stung by other insects.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning May 21—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—The gift of power.—Acts i, 1-8.

Power was to follow the gift of the Holy Ghost. The Holy Ghost is the power in the Christian's heart and life. Just before the death of Christ. He promised His disciples that, though He was to leave them, another would come to replace Him, even the Spirit of Truth, and that He would abide with them forever. With His coming the power was to come. "Ye shall receive power after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you."

1. The gift of the Holy Ghost, and consequently the gift of power, was conditioned upon obedience. They were commanded to tarry at Jerusalem for the promise of the Father, which was the promise of the Holy Ghost. To obey required faith. Obeying in faith, we are not surprised to know that they soon met and prayed for the gift of the spirit and power. Obedience, faith and prayer are still the prerequisites to the reception of the Holy Ghost for power.

2. The power given was to be power for Christ. They were to receive the power through the gift of the Spirit and then to be witnesses unto Christ, both in Jeusalem and Judæa, in Samaria, and into the uttermost parts of the earth. In the power of the Holy Ghost they were to declare Christ to be the Saviour and Redeemer of the world. This would insure the success of their mission and their message. Only the Holy Ghost can seal home the truths of Christ to unregenerate human hearts. What we always need in presenting Christ to men or in undertaking any form of work for Christ is Holy Ghost power. We can't succeed in spiritual work without Him. It is not by might, not by power, but by the Spirit alone, that success can crown our labors. "Paul may plant Apollo's water, but God must give the increase." The Holy Ghost is the particular person in the Godhead who furnishes this divine power for successful testimony and service.

3. The apostles fulfilled the conditions imposed upon them and received Holy Ghost power. So may we. God is more willing to give His Spirit to them that ask Him than earthly parents to give good gifts to their children. The apostles had no monopoly of the power of the Holy Ghost. The gift of tongues has ceased, but not the gift of power. The Spirit is to abide with us forever. Let us believe, obey, pray, that we may have a fresh baptism of the Holy Ghost for service and for work.

Bible Readings.—Neh. ix, 20; Ps. lxviii, 18; Isa. xxxii, 13-15; Luke xi, 9-13; John iii, 34; vii, 39; xiv, 15-17; Acts ii, 1-5, 39; v, 32; x, 44, 45; I Cor. ii, 12-16; Gal. iii, 14; Eph. i, 16, 17; I John iii, 24.

Some Rules For Christians.

You must acquire a habit of living by the minute. Trust in God now. Do God's will now. Do not offend God. Now you are to act for the future, but act by the moment. "Be careful for nothing, but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be known unto God."

Do all you do in the name of the Lord Jesus. The Saviour expects you to dress, eat, drink, spend your time, talents, property and transact business with reference to the same object for which you pray, read your Bible and worship God. Whether, therefore, ye eat or drink or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God.

Cultivate the deepest reverence in your approaches and addresses to God. Never allow yourself to use light or irreverent expressions of God or His work. Remember you are a "temple of the Holy Ghost." Therefore be careful and walk softly before God. "I am the Almighty God. Walk before Me and be thou perfect."—Presbyterian Banner.

Human Brotherhood.

The great truth of human brotherhood implies positive obligations. The fact that every one has some influence, that it is possible for him to be useful to his fellows, implies that it is his duty to exert his influence in the right direction and to assist his brethren as opportunity may offer. We owe our fellow men not only material assistance, if needed, but also a helpful spirit and uplifting example. We owe humanity an interest in its well being and pure, generous, unselfish personal lives. And, above all, we owe to the individuals who compose society, brotherly tenderness, kindness and love. These things all can give, and he who withholds them God will not hold guiltless.—Universalist Leader.

A Question.

Candidly, are we, every one of us, reading and studying the Scriptures to find out what they teach, or are we trying ingeniously to construe them into teaching what we want them to teach? Are we honestly trying to bring our actual experience into perfect harmony with the Bible, or are we trying to make the Bible fit into our experience? Are we accepting revelation at the risk of personal, social, political, national, universal revolution? Are we afraid of the Bible or afraid it will not have its full saving sway at all times, in all places, among all people, under all circumstances?—Christian Standard.

Popular Sermons.

The sermons of Jesus were popular. They reached the people. His address was direct, and His illustrations were as clear as they were simple. He never theorized nor discussed doctrine. With Him religion was a life, not a scheme. Schemes, theories, doctrines, have their day, and then they pass away. But life is the same yesterday, today and forever. To be popular is not to be vulgar. It is to be serviceable.—Reformed Church Messenger.

Sure to Move.

The prayer that starts from God's promise is sure to move His hand.—Ram's Horn.

1,000,000 GIVEN AWAY.

By a special and particular arrangement with the manufacturers of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, free trial bottles of this great medicine for the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder and Blood, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia and Constipation, will be sent absolutely free, postpaid, to all persons suffering from any of the diseases mentioned above who will send their full name and post office address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., providing they mention the Quincy Ledger when they write.

A very simple test to determine whether your Kidneys or Bladder are diseased is to put some of your urine in a glass tumbler and let it stand 24 hours, if it has a sediment or a cloudy, ropy or stringy appearance, if it is pale or discolored, you do not need a physician to tell you that you are in a dangerous condition. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy speedily cures such serious symptons as a pain in the back, inability to hold urine, a burning scalding pain in passing it. Frequent desire to urinate, especially at night, the staining of linen by your urine and all unpleasant and dangerous effects produced on the system by the use of whiskey and beer.

By a searching investigation it was found that over 91 per cent. of the people who sent for a sample bottle were so much benefitted by its use that they purchase a large sized bottle of their druggist, which in most cases cured them, while in some rare instances it took as many as two or even three bottles to effect a permanent cure.

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is sold by all druggists at $1.00 per large bottle, or six bottles for $5.00.

W YORK, N. Y.

MALDEN'S QUARTER MILLENIAL CELEBRATION.

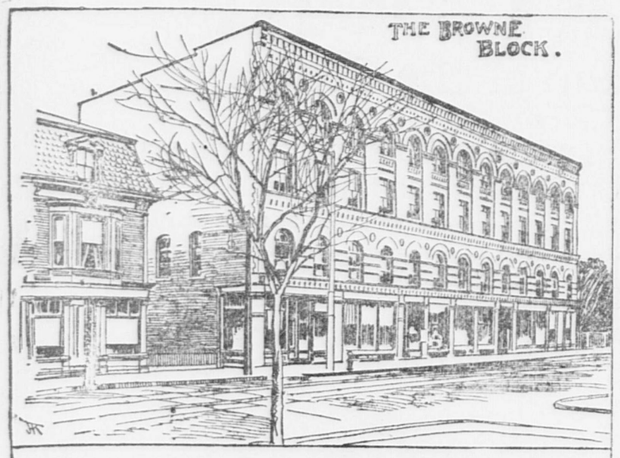
fifty thousand dollars. A general committee of two hundred well known citizens has been formed, and subdivided into numerous sub-committees, each responsible for its department of the labor to be performed, and all working harmoniously to promote the general success. A large building, known officially as the Anniversary Building, but more popularly known as the Wigwam, has been erected on Pleasant street; and here will be held all the in-door events of the celebration.

The joyful occasion will extend over four days; and such is the general enthusiasm and expectation that already Malden is pervaded by a cheerful bustle. Every citizen, young and old, has made up his or her mind to have a grand good time; and it will not be their fault if they fail in that purpose. There will be decorations galore, banquets, speeches, fireworks, entertainments, music, sports, until all, from the youngest to the oldest, shall be surfeited with joy. All the civic and military strength of the city will parade in splendor. Men who never before crossed a saddle will mount barbed steeds and "witch the world with noble horsemanship." The indiscretions of the small boy with the firecracker will be regarded indulgently. Bonfires will blaze where they never blazed before. For the sedate and thoughtful there will be weighty literary exercises; for those of more exuberant tastes the clanging of bells, the jar of festive cannon and the mellow voice of the tin horn will resound through the air.

It will be a dull-mettled and sluggish citizen who will not feel his pulses stirred by all the fun and excitement. It will be a narrow-souled mother whose heart will not swell with pride as she sees three thousand school children, the flower of the city, marching in solid columns to the Wigwam and there sing patriotic songs. It will be a mighty mean man who will not wave his hat and give a hooray, now and then, as the great Anniversary Parade goes by. It will be a close-fisted father who will not spend a little more than he ought to, in order that his wife and children may enjoy it to the full. It will be a white-livered and unpromising boy who does not risk his life several times during the four days, or else part with a finger or two to promote the general gaiety; and who does not carry his festivities well up to the danger line as regards police regulations.



ALFRED E. COX.
[Chairman Executive Committee.]

The Executive Committee consists of nine men of business experience; and the chairman, Mr. Alfred E. Cox, is a man whose character and executive capacity eminently fit him for the difficult and onerous duties of the position—emphatically, the right man in the right place. The Executive Committee was especially fortunate in securing the services of Albert Amman as clerk. The sub-committees are well chosen, from men whose tastes or experience fit them in some special way for their diverse duties.

One of the pleasant things about the celebration is the hearty response which has come from Malden's children who have left her, and who are today scattered all over the United States. Her children have risen up and called her blessed. Many of them are coming from long distances for the sake of participating in the festivities. Over six hundred invitations have been issued to former residents and to various notabilities; and it will be a most distinguished gathering which will result.

The celebration will begin officially on Monday, May 22d, but in reality it will get under weigh two days earlier, on Saturday, May 20th. The school children of Malden to the number of over three thousand, will form in front of the New High School Building and march to the Anniversary Building, where there will be singing, speeches, and other appropriate exercises. The two leading clubs of the city, the Malden Club and the Kernwood Club, have engaged the Anniversary Building for Saturday evening and will unite in giving a rattling good Minstrel Show, the like of which Malden has not seen before. While this entertainment is extra-official, it is anticipated that it will prove to be one of the features of the celebration.

On Sunday the various churches will recognize the event by appropriate services, which will include a number of anniversary sermons.

On Monday, May 21st, the official exercises will begin. The boom of sunrise salutes will welcome in the day. In the morning there will be public rehearsal in the Wigwam of the magnificent chorus of two hundred voices, and the orchestra of fifty pieces. The musical features of the celebration are under the direction of Mr. A. Cutter, Jr. O. B. Brown, the veteran director, is chairman of the music committee.

In seven different parts of the city will be given special entertainments for the children. Suitable professional talent has been engaged, and there is no doubt that the youngsters will have a feast of delight.

Athletic sports and contests will be held both morning and afternoon. In the morning at Webster Field there will be strenuous competition, and at Fellsmere, during both morning and afternoon, there will be water sports and the awarding of prizes. On Craddock's Field and Ferryway Green there will be field and track sports. Bicycle races and a balloon ascension will round out the sports. One of the features of the day will be the return of homing pigeons to Malden, with messages from distant places. One will be sent from North Adams, Mass. Governor Roosevelt has agreed to send one from Albany, with a message of congratulation.

At 1:30 on Monday afternoon the literary and musical exercises will be held. Mr. D. P. Corey, whose History of Malden has been opportunely published, will preside. The orator of the day is the Hon. Arthur H. Wellman. The poet is the Rev. Theron Brown. The odist is Dr. J. Langdon Sullivan. The chorus and orchestra will render appropriate selections.

On Monday evening the great Wigwam will overflow with the sound of laughter, music and tripping feet. From 8 to 10 there will be a grand Promenade Concert, followed by dancing from 10 to 1. The capacity of the Wigwam, huge though it is, will be taxed to the uttermost. Already both ball and banquet tickets are at a premium, with five eager inquiries for each possible ticket.

On Tuesday at 10 o'clock the great Parade will start, with Colonel Harry E. Converse at the head. The route of the procession will be as follows: Form on Highland avenue, from Highland avenue go to Maple, Dexter, Clifton, Summer, Mountain avenue, Washington street, Pleasant, Salem, Maplewood, Eastern avenue, Bryant street, Cross, Hancock, Appleton, Main, through the square, and dismiss. Col. Frank Locke will be chief of staff. There will be five divisions as follows: Military, Harry P. Ballard, marshal; Grand Army, H. S. Coburn, marshal; civic, Alvin E. Bliss, marshal; city departments, Thomas W. Hough, marshal; trades, Harvey L. Thompson, marshal.

It will be one of the most imposing spectacles ever presented in the vicinity. The First Regular Artillery will be fittingly represented, the First Corps of Cadets, a battalion of cavalry, the First Brigade Signal Corps, Company L, and other military organizations. All the principal societies, the G. A. R., the Odd Fellows, Knight Templars, Patriarchs Militant, Sons of Veterans, and many others. The City will be represented by the Fire Department, the Board of Health, the Street Department, the Water Department, etc. Then will follow the Trades Divisions, whose variety and magnitude cannot be here described. The Parade will be reviewed by His Honor Mayor Dean, at the grand stand which has been erected at the corner of Main and Irving streets.

In the evening there will be a gorgeous profusion of fireworks, and the Celebration will reach its zenith in the Banquet at the Wigwam. About a thousand guests will sit down to a feast to be furnished by caterer D. P. Wise. Each guest will receive a beautiful souvenir plate, which has been specially designed for the Anniversary. The post prandial exercises will be in charge of the Toastmaster, Colonel William N. Osgood. There will be notable speeches, by notable speakers, including Governor Wolcott, and fitting representatives of the city, state and national governments.

The above outline gives some hint of how much work has been done by the various committees, and how much still remains for them to do. Where all has been so well done, commendation would be invidious. Mention might be made of the work of the Historical Loan Committee, which has met with much success in securing a great variety of early relics. There will be an exhibition of these in both halls of the Y. M. C. A. Building, and a printed program, with a diagram and key.

The Committee on Decorations is planning magnificent things. The committee on marking spots and buildings of historic interest has covered its field thoroughly and effectively.

The Press Committee has secured headquarters in the Board of Trade Rooms, with special telegraph and telephone communication, and a dozen typewriters, so that the visiting reporters will share in the City's warm welcome, and will find every facility afforded them for doing their work effectively. Carriages will be at the disposal of the reporters, in order that they may be able to visit all parts of the City expeditiously. This Committee is also doing an immense amount of work in securing pictures and literary matter, and in disseminating information, both in printed and stereotype form, to all the important papers of the Commonwealth.

Transportation facilities have been well looked after. There will be special trains and special rates on both lines of railroad, and a special car for the Governor. Their headquarters will be at the Western Division Station, with special telephone communication, and with twenty carriages and landaus at the service of guests. The Governor will ride in a landau with four white horses, and liveried outriders, and footmen, who will suggest something of the pomp and splendor of earlier days.

The Committee on Printing and Badges have decided to issue special badges to all the sub-committees, and have secured a beautiful design, with a cross bar bearing the name of the committee, and suspended therefrom a medallion with the city seal and other appropriate devices.

Information booths will be at all the railroad stations, and all the athletic grounds, and a member of the emergency department will be also at each booth. Special arrangements have been made for the services of physicians, in case of need.

Protection will be furnished by the Malden police, re-enforced by 100 officers from other cities.

The whole Celebration will be a splendid success, if money, energy and enthusiasm can make it such. Malden's latch-string will hang out. Sister communities are cordially invited to enter in and share her generous, hearty hospitality.

The Chilton Paint is an old-fashioned one except that it is made by modern machinery, and the colors are ground into the Linseed Oil instead of being stirred in with a stick. The grinding of the pigment into the oil makes not only a smoother and more perfectly amalgamated product, but also one that is less liable to fade, and can never look streaked. One coat of Chilton Paint means something. In painting a house it is cheaper to use a good paint and one that will last for years, rather than an inferior article which does not cover or protect. Note that the Chilton Paint contains no benzine and is not put up by short weight or measure.

SOUGHT AN ARMISTICE.

Filipino Commissioners Present the Same Old Story to General Otis.

The Latter Refused to Entertain the Proposal.

Mass of Natives Said to Be Anxious to Witness the End of Hostilities.

Manila, May 20.—Filipino commissioners, comprising two civil and two military delegates, appointed to cooperate with three citizens of Manila in negotiating terms of peace, arrived here at 8:15 a. m. today. They submitted no new proposition, but want an armistice pending the session of the Filipino congress. Major General Otis refused to entertain the proposal.

The Americans have entire control of the situation, if the rainy season does not set in within 10 days, and make further military operations impossible, should the insurgents still prove intractable.

The purpose of the native leaders to give up the struggle against American authority was made known by two delegates of the native peace commission who remained in San Isidro when it was captured and surrendered to Lawton's advance guard. In conversation with American officers, they stated that the insurgent forces have been for the last four days willing to secure peace on any terms that General Otis might see fit to offer.

They declare that General Lawton, by his rapid and energetic advance from Balinag, has not allowed their forces a moment's cessation from fighting. The delegates add, as their most important information, that Aguinaldo himself will sue for peace through the peace commission within two days. If he does not so act, the government will promptly repudiate him, as four-fifths of the natives are weary of the war, and desire the early ending of hostilities.

The native congress voted on May 6 to name a peace commission, which as finally made up consists of Buencamino, Del Pilar, Argnelles, Torres, Pamprenos, Paterno and Herrera. These delegates intended to proceed to General Lawton's headquarters to begin negotiations for a pacific settlement, but the American attack on San Isidro caused them to take flight to the northward.

It is stated that Aguinaldo fled from the town. He is now reported to be at Cabanatuan, 18 miles north of San Isidro. The whereabouts of General Gregorio del Pilar is unknown. It is only certain that he has gone northward.

The removal of the seat of government to Tarlao, 30 miles north of San Fernando, may lead to complications and delay in the pacification.

General Wheaton has been relieved of the command of the second division, for a special assignment, and General Funston has been assigned to his brigade.

A board, consisting of Colonel French of the Twenty-second infantry and Major Cabell and Captain Randolph of the Third artillery, has been appointed to proceed to Batavia for the purpose of investigating the European methods of providing for the health of the troops there and to report on the subject for the benefit of Americans here.

Agreements Repudiated.

Buffalo, May 20.—The grain shovellers last night adopted resolutions repudiating all agreements with the Lake Carriers' association and demanding the unequivocal abrogation of the contract with Mr. Connors. The striking freight handlers voted to ignore the advice of Bishop Quigley, in which he urged them to return to work under the terms granted by the associated lake lines. The action taken at these meetings, it is thought, will end for some time to come the negotiations which have been in progress for over two weeks to bring about a settlement of the dock troubles. The grain shovellers will refuse to make any further proposition to either the lake carriers or the contractor, and as the lake carriers some days ago decided to withdraw from the conflict, the indications are that the strike will be permitted to wear itself out.

Prospective Boom For Groveland.

Groveland, Mass., May 20.—A movement is on foot to establish a mammoth plant here for the manufacture of beet sugar. Representatives of the contemplated plant have been canvassing among the farmers in this vicinity, trying to induce them to utilize a part of their land for raising beets. Each farmer is asked to set apart not less than two acres for the cultivation of the vegetables, the company agreeing to furnish seed and to pay $4 a ton for all the beets raised. Many of the farmers in this vicinity are deeply interested in the project. The company proposes to build a factory to cost $500,000 and equip it with machinery costing an equal amount if they can secure the promise of an adequate supply of beets from farms within a radius of 100 miles.

Conflict at an End.

Pana, Ills., May 20.—As the result of a meeting of coal mine operators with the state board of arbitration and the United Mine Workers' officials, an agreement was signed last evening, formally settling the long-drawn-out struggle here between the union miners and the operators. The agreement gives the union recognition, and declares that all negroes shall leave the city, and only union men be employed. National President Mitchell said that all was arranged satisfactorily to both factions, and this was confirmed by both Secretary-Treasurer Ryan of the state United Mine Workers' union, and Banker Schuyler, who is the controlling power with the operators.

One Escaped.

St. Andrews, N. B., May 20.—At Second Chamcook lake yesterday three young men from St. Andrews, Herbert Williamson and Thomas Mallock and Sumner Mallock, brothers, were fishing from a boat when it upset. Williamson and Thomas Mallock were drowned; Sumner was saved.

Castle Square Theatre.

The remarkable popularity of Charles Hoyt's laughable comedy, "A Temperance Town," has again been shown by the great audiences at the Castle Square theatre the past week, and the continuance of this attraction during the coming week will be most gratifying to the amusement seekers of this vicinity. The comedy has never had a better cast in any of the productions in this city and all the members of the company share equally in the success of the performance. The laughable scenes introduced so cleverly by the author have been received with shouts of laughter at every performance and the constant succession of amusing situations, witty lines, and satirical suggestions, have been heartily enjoyed. Some very clever work has been done in staging this play, under Mr. Pitman's direction, and the favor which has been shown the production has been well merited. Some unusually strong attractions are in preparation at the Castle Square theatre.

MAY BE TOTAL WRECK,

Steamer Paris Goes Ashore on Dangerous Rocks of the Manacles.

Passengers Landed Without the Least Difficulty.

All Reassured by Captain's Demeanor, and Perfect Order Was Maintained.

Falmouth, May 22.—The American line steamer Paris, Captain Watkins, is hard and fast aground just off Lowlands Point, two miles east of Coverack. The vessel went aground in a dense fog. The passengers were landed safely at Falmouth. It is not yet known to what extent the vessel is damaged.

When the vessel struck assistance was summoned by means of rockets. As soon as the signals of distress were seen at Coverack the rocket apparatus was made ready and a crew of four men put out in a lifeboat and proceeded to the stranded ship. The men report that when they reached the Paris they found not the slightest sign of excitement aboard the ship.

From the first there was no danger. Lifeboats and tugs were soon literally swarming around the vessel to render assistance. A majority of the passengers, who numbered 380, were brought to Falmouth, where they obtained lodgings for the night.

The first intimation of the vessel's striking the rocks was a slight grating sound, which was followed by a second and more pronounced shock. The lookout shouted that there was something looming ahead, but before there was time to reverse the engines the ship had gone on the rocks, 200 yards from the shore. Assistance was summoned by means of rockets, and the coast guards promptly telephoned to the life saving station for boats.

A majority of the passengers were not aware that an accident had happened until they were called up by the stewards. On reaching the deck they found the ship's boats in perfect readiness for their reception. The sea was perfectly calm, and the only discomfort that the passengers experienced was caused by the slight rain that was falling at the time. Owing to the calmness of the sea the boats could be managed with entire safety. Perfect order prevailed aboard the vessel. Captain Watkins stood on the bridge giving orders, and his perfect self-possession and calmness of demeanor had a reassuring effect upon the passengers. In accordance with the instruction of the captain the women and children were the first to be taken off the ship. Such perfect order was maintained that a passenger described the scene as simply a slow procession of women and children walking in single file to the boats.

At daybreak the position of the vessel could be better discerned. The brilliant Saint Anthony light at the entrance of Falmouth harbor could be distinguished plainly through the misty rain, and the still standing masts of the ill-fated Mohegan could be seen nearby.

It is said that a Falmouth pilot boat showed a warning signal to the Paris, telling the captain that he would put the vessel on top of the Mohegan if he did not alter the course of the ship. The warning, however, came too late and the Paris struck on a ridge to the westward of the Manacles.

It is suggested that as this was only their second trip from Cherbourg the officers of the Paris were not familiar with the course.

The crew of the Paris are still aboard the vessel.

It is believed that the steamer has a large rent in her bottom in the forward part of the ship. Tugs are standing by her and will assist in an effort to get her off the rocks. The scene of the wreck is about five miles from Falmouth.

Among the passengers of the Paris were many poor female emigrants, mostly foreigners. All have been safely housed in the sailors' home here.

The news of the disaster to the Paris spread rapidly in London and great excitement and alarm was felt until the arrival of the information that all on board were safe. The company's offices were besieged with inquirers, anxiously asking for news regarding friends or relatives on board the steamer.

Further details of the disaster show that when the vessel struck the crew were summoned on deck. The passengers upon appearing were met at the companionway with comforting words and assurances of their safety. Exceptional coolness was shown on all sides, the stewards distributing coffee and stimulants to all who desired them.

Captain Watkins had his gig lowered and rowed ashore in order to ascertain his whereabouts and to telegraph to Falmouth for tugs to assist his ship. In the meantime rockets were sent up and signal guns were fired.

When dawn broke every one on board was relieved to find the shore on one side and lifeboats lying near by on the other.

The vessel lay with her head to the southwest, the reversing of her engines having put her broadside onto the rocks. Happily the sea was smooth and there was no wind. Otherwise there would probably have been a different tale to tell.

The danger of the vicinity was strikingly brought home to the passengers and crew by the masts of the wrecked steamer Mohegan, which are sticking out of the water and by a miserable bell buoy, which tolls almost constantly as though sounding a death knell.

When Captain Watkins returned from his trip ashore he learned that there was already considerable water in the hold; and the tugs which had arrived stood by in readiness for any emergency. All the passengers were transferred to the tug Dragon; but beyond the clothes they wore they took nothing with them. They were landed at Falmouth shortly after 7 o'clock, the local agents of the American line meeting them and providing them with every care and quartering them at the various hotels and the sailors' home.

The passengers are lavish in their praise of the admirable behavior of the officers and crew, and declare that it was due to their smartness that no accident occurred to any one. Perfect discipline, they say, was maintained throughout.

It is said that those in charge of the Paris were so perfectly confident that they were pursuing the proper course that the vessel was steaming 18 or 19 knots an hour when they struck. Though the steamer ran into a fog about midnight, nevertheless it is said she was running at full speed when the accident occurred.

In connection with the accident to the Paris it will be of interest to mariners and travelers to hear that persistent agitation since the wreck of the Mohegan has at last induced the Trinity brethren to act, and last week they promised to erect a gas lighted, automatic sound producing buoy on the Manacles in place of the useless bell buoy now there.

Gangs of men on lighters have gone to the stranded steamer to take off the belongings of the passengers. It is reported that two forward compartments of the Paris are full of water.

One of the coast guardsmen at Coverack has made the following statement:

"It was 1:21 a. m. when I discovered the lights of a steamer, close inland, just over the wreck of the Mohegan. I immediately fired a rocket, which was responded to in a few moments by the signal gun of the Paris. Chief Jeffers of the coast guard summoned his men and manned the lifeboat. Unlike the case of the Mohegan, the Paris could be easily seen. The rocket apparatus was prepared, and the first shot discharged. It failed to reach the vessel; but the second fell across her bows and was quickly fastened.

"In the meantime the Port Houstock lifeboat and the Falmouth tugs responded. There was a heavy ground swell running, with a southwesterly breeze, and it was very hazy.

"On reaching the Paris Chief Jeffers found Captain Watkins maintaining the best discipline. There were no signs of a panic. The starboard boats of the Paris were swung ready for launching; all the women and children were being collected together, and the prompt arrival of the tugs facilitated debarkation."

The passenger list included 85 first cabin passengers, 109 second cabin and 192 steerage.

Pilot boat "13" claims to have saved the Paris from the Manacles. She was on guard duty near the rock, and when she saw the lights of the Paris she showed a flare. The steamer starboarded her helm to clear the cutter, thus escaping the Manacles.

A Successful Chase.

Salem, Mass., May 22.—The drug store of Thomas E. Shea was entered by burglars Saturday night. When the store was opened yesterday the cash register was missing and something like $200 worth of stock had also been taken. A trail of cigaret boxes led the officers up the railroad track. Three men seen among the freight cars ran away when the officers approached and a lively chase ensued. Officer Dennis pursued one on a bicycle and finally captured his man. Officer Tivnan jumped on an electric car, and, following one man down Bridge street at a lively pace until abreast of the fugitive, the officer jumped off and made his capture. Officer Carr had a break-neck pursuit on foot and got his man. Throughout the pursuit the men were shedding cigarets, tooth brushes, chocolate drops, perfumery bottles and cigars, but considerable of the stuff was found when each was searched at the police station.

Had Bag of Silver.

Louisville, May 22.—George Murphy was arrested here as he stepped off an incoming train. He carried a grip containing $1000 in silver. It is thought he is the man who robbed the Adams Express company's office at Greensburg Saturday night. An agent of the company identified the bag in which the money was wrapped.

Where Thieves Suffer.

Fort Smith, Ark., May 22.—Two alleged cattle thieves, John Washtub and Joseph Starr, have been publicly flogged with 100 lashes each at San Bois, I. T. Several hundred Indians watched a deputy sheriff apply the lash. The penalty for a second offense is to be publicly shot.

Rev. Dr. Briggs Gives His Reasons For Entering the Episcopal Church

Thinks the World Is About to Enter a New Age.

Divine Truth Revealed Differently From That to Which He Was Trained.

New York, May 22.—The Tribune says: During all the controversy over his advancement to the priesthood in the Episcopal church, Rev. Dr. Charles A. Briggs preserved absolute silence as to criticisms of his book and of his action in seeking ordination. Even after he was made a priest by Bishop Potter no statement could be secured from him, but two days later he wrote to Right Rev. Dr. Thomas M. Clark, bishop of Rhode Island and presiding bishop of the Episcopal church in the United States. He wrote for the personal information of a presiding bishop, and not for publication, but Bishop Clark obtained Dr. Briggs' permission to use the letter at his own discretion. This, the first statement made by Dr. Briggs as to his entrance into the ministry of the Episcopal church, is as follows:

"I have not sought refuge in the Episcopal ministry; I made the change because I was assured that the banner of church unity was in the Protestant Episcopal church and nowhere else, and I have consecrated my life to that cause. If I know myself I hold to all the sacred deposit of Catholic truth in the church, as well as in holy scripture, and I shall do all in my power to bring out that truth and maintain it.

"I feel that my study of holy scripture and of Christian history, as well as my own experience of God's grace, have led me to see in holy scripture the divine truth in somewhat different relations and proportions from those in which I was trained. It has been my happy privilege to know and work with some of the noble men of our age, Roman Catholic and Protestant, Lutheran and Calvinistic, Methodist, Presbyterian and Anglican, in most of the great universities of the world, and I have been guided to recognize the living Christian in them all.

"I think we are about to enter a new age of the world, and that these things will be prominent in it—the imminence of God, the living, reigning Christ as priest and king, the presence of the indwelling spirit in the individual, and in the organism of the church; the practice of holy love, entire sanctification, the communion of saints in this world and in the other world and the reconciliation of reunion of Christ's church.

"I have been brought to see these things and to regard them as the great banner principles for the future. For them I stand with all my soul, while I do not neglect or in any way discard any portion of the inheritance of Christ's church in doctrine or in life. I am assured by my pupils that I make the bible to them more real, more powerful, more divine. I have never heard a single one of the 1300 theological students I have trained in the past 26 years who has said that I impaired his faith in holy scripture. The testimony is all the other way."

Suicide by Drowning.

Waverly, Mass., May 22.—The body of Miss Mary J. Ruthven, 50 years old, who lived entirely alone for a number of years on Lexington street, was found in a well yesterday by two of her neighbors. Nothing of Miss Ruthven had been seen for two weeks. It is generally believed that Miss Ruthven committed suicide, although she was always of a happy disposition. Since the death of her father, three years ago, she had refused to have any one live with her, and was regarded as a somewhat peculiar person. Her estate was located in the midst of the best residences.

Worried to Suicide.

New York, May 22.—Edward Selleck, who two months ago ended a service of 13 years as paymaster in the custom house, committed suicide at his home in this city yesterday by shooting. Mr. Selleck was 72 years of age, and a native of Norwalk, Conn. He leaves a wife. Two months ago it was decided to put a Republican in the custom house in the place of Mr. Selleck, who was a Democrat. The loss of his place is said to have worried Mr. Selleck until his health broke down.

Jockey Horton Killed.

New York, May 22.—Jockey Horton, who was injured Saturday at Morris park, while riding in the grand national steeplechase, died last night. When the accident happened he was on Tentore, who fell at one of the jumps, rolling completely over the jockey. Horton, during the brief time that he was conscious, said that the accident was caused by the Canadian horse Populist bumping into his mount.

St. Anne's Celebration.

Lowell, Mass., May 22.—Historic old St. Anne's Episcopal church began yesterday the observance of its 75th anniversary with exercises appropriate to Whitsun week. There were celebrations of the holy communion, followed by a sermon by Rt. Rev. William Lawrence, D. D., bishop of Massachusetts. The Sunday schools of St. Anne's of this city and North Billerica had a festival with a short address by Rev. Alfred E. Johnson. Rev. Charles W. Homer of Brooklyn reviewed the record of St. Anne's church. The exercises continue through today and Tuesday.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ And so Mr. Atkinson is to start a weekly newspaper to fight the administration. If it lives long, he'll stand a good chance for practically testing his receipt for living on 10 cents a day by use of his Aladdin oven. —Milford Journal.

☞ Some recent events in the stock market confirms the belief that the result of the gigantic trade combinations of the day is to be either an era of unexampled prosperity or one of great disaster, and that as yet it is impossible to say which.—Providence Journal.

☞ There is no doubt that the whole constitution of the body may be changed by diet alone. By it the fluids may be thinned or condensed, rendered mild or acrid, coagulated or diluted to almost any degree. Even brief attention to these things shows how directly health depends upon a proper regimen. It is not an easy matter to ascertain the exact amount of food proper for every age and constitution, for it was never intended that mankind should measure and weigh their food. We are taught by nature when we have enough, but the quality of the food we use merits especial consideration. —Albert G. Evans, in June Lippincott.

☞ Dewey is alone in the world, with exception of a son. A great and gaudy mansion, chocked by luxurious accessories and lost in space and room, would be of no use whatever. On the contrary, it would be a grievious burden, if not, indeed a real affliction. Twenty-five or thirty thousand dollars would secure for him a home in the locality he perfers, and the rest of the money subscribed should be invested in such a manner as to enable him him to maintain his establishment in proper style. To invest him with a gorgeous mansion would be to make him a Sibad with the Old Man of the Sea permanently fixed upon his shoulders.— Washington Post.

☞ The first duty you owe yourself, your family and your neighbors is to enjoy your life, and in so doing assist in the general happiness, and the basis of true enjoyment is self-control, calmness. Train yourself to accept life as you find it. Strive for fame, for riches, for anything you please, but in the striving always be able to say to yourself, "I'm happy." Whether success or defect confronts you, remain calm, master your emotions. More men have died of sudden joy than of unexpected disaster. Take hold of yourself each day of your life and compel an acquaintance, in the determination that you will direct your senses and never let them control you.—Brooklyn Times.

Did He Use X Rays?

Theodore Hermanson, engineer for C. H. Hardwick & Co., reported to the police Saturday that someone had stolen a $50 gold watch from his clothing, which was hanging in the engine room. Officer Barry was sent up to investigate. He sized up the men and then told one of them that he would give him until 6 o'clock that night to return it. An hour later upon going to his clothing Mr. Hermanson found the missing watch had been returned.

Q. H. S. FIELD DAY.

Interesting Sports Held on Saturday.

Class of '99 an Easy Winner of Championship

Their Joy Afterwards May Get Them Into Trouble.

Saturday was Field day at the High school, and in spite of the stormy weather, the events went off finely, with a large field of entries. The class of '99, made the most points, and won the championship of the school. Foss, '99, made the largest individual score, winning five firsts, two seconds, and one third.

Points were given as follow: First place, 5 points; second place, 3 points; third place, 2 points; fourth place, 1 point; tug of war, 6 points; relay race, 6 points.

The winners of each event were in the order below:

100 yds. dash,—Foss '99, Murphy '99, K. Lewis '00, Estabrooks '01; time, 11 4-5 seconds.

220 yds. dash,—Murphy '99, K. Lewis '00, Estabrooks '01, Berry '02; time, 26 3-5 seconds.

Running high jump,—Murphy '99; C. Lewis '01 and Foss '99 tied; Estabrooks '01 and Keyes '00 tied; height 4 ft., 8 in.

Putting 16 lb. shot,—Foss '99, Linnell '99, Hewitson '99, O'Brien '01; distance, 24 ft., 2 in.

Running hop, step and jump,—Murphy '99, Estabrooks '01, Foss '90, Ahearn '02; distance, 38 ft., 8 in.

Tug of war,—Won by class of '99.

Running broad jump,—Murphy '99, Foss '99, Ford '99, Hewitson '99; distance, 17 ft., 11 in.

Mile run,—Pitts '99, Anderson '01, White '01, Curtis '01; time, 5 min., 23 secs.

Base ball throw,—Foss '99, Whittemore '02, Murphy '01, C. Lewis '01; distance, 238 ft., 8 in.

Relay race,—Won by class of '99.

Standing broad jump,—Foss '99, Murphy '99, Estabrooks '01, Hewitson '99; distance, 9 feet.

Hammer throw,—Foss '99, K. Lewis '00, Linnell '99, Murphy '99; distance, 80 ft, 6 in.

Summary of points won by classes:

	1899	1900	1901	1902
100 yds. dash,	8	2	1		11
220 yds. dash,	5	3	2	1	11
Running high jump,	7 1-2	1-2	3		11

	87 1-2	8 1-2	21	5	122

Highest individual score:
1—Foss '99,—32 1-2 points.
2—Murphy '99,—27 points.

The '99 boys in the exuberance of their joy gained entrance to the High School building after the games and decorated all the blackboards with figures, etc. Later the work was discovered and erased.

Again on Sunday it was found that boys had been in the building again and repeated their work. It was again erased, but again this morning the boards were again covered and flags hung. No malicious mischief was done.

This morning after the discovery, the pupils were kept out of the building until the boards were cleaned and all evidence of the work of the boys removed. This required some time, and the doors were not opened until a few minutes after the usual hour for school to begin.

Here the malicious part came in. Some of the boys construed the master's orders, that they would have to wait, to their own fancy, and circulated the report that there would be no school.

From 20 to 30 of the boys went home, but all the others entered when the doors opened, and after a few words of advice from Mr. Harper, the work was continued as usual.

High school boys were seen about the building Sunday, and the ringleaders of the no-school movement are known, and it would not be surprising if the school authorities allowed the law to take its course.

Trap Shooting.

There was a well attended shoot at Wollaston Trap club ground on Saturday afternoon, with the following result:

10 birds, regular—winners, Simpson, Bates and Whitmarsh.

10 birds, unknown—winners, Simpson and Bates.

10 birds, reverse—winners, Simpson, Bates, Whitmarsh and Starrett.

5 birds, doubles—winners, Simpson and Starrett.

10 birds, regular—winners, Baker and Simpson.

10 birds, unknown—winners, Simpson and Whitmarsh.

10 birds, unknown—winner, Simpson.

The next shoot will be held on Memorial day at 9 o'clock, A. M.

VISIT TO PLYMOUTH.

Profitable Trip of 100 Wollaston School Children.

The sixth, seventh and eighth grades of the Wollaston and Massachusetts Fields school had a delightful time to Plymouth on Saturday. Two private cars were attached to the 8.45 train for their use. The run was made in about an hour.

All of the historical places were visited including the Rock; Pilgrim hall, the corner stone of which was laid in 1824, the hall in later years having been entirely remodelled at the expense of Mr. Stickney of Baltimore; Cole's hill, the first burial ground of the Pilgrims, including Governor Carver, Rose Standish and about fifty others; Burying hill, which was originally called Fort hill, from the circumstances of its occupation for defensive purposes immediately after the landing, the site of this ancient fort being distinctly marked today. From this hill a good view was obtained of Clark's island, named after the mate of the Mayflower, where the Pilgrims kept their first New England Sabbath. The Watson family, famous as seamen, have owned and occupied this bit of land for generations. The air being clear, a good view was also had of Captain's Hill and monument at Duxbury. This hill was at an early period assigned, with land adjacent, to Capt. Myles Standish. His dwelling house and spring were on the southerly part of the hill, and but a short distance from the water.

Leyden street, the oldest street in New England, was also visited. Strange to say this street did not receive its present name until 1823. In the Old Colony records it was referred to as First street, and sometimes Great, and also Broad street. The new Memorial (Unitarian) church was also visited.

The pupils also had ample time to visit Hammatt Billings monument in honor of the Pilgrims which was erected under the auspices of the Pilgrim society. On the main pedestal stands a figure of Faith, and upon each of the wing pedestals are seated figures of Morality, Law, Education and Freedom.

After visiting the other minor points of interest the 5.15 train was taken for home. The pupils were accompanied by Mr. Charles E. Finch, Jr., and six of his assistants.

Only Six Defeated Bogie.

There was one of those interesting bogie matches at the Wollaston golf links Saturday, where a player competes against a given number of strokes for each hole: There were 26 entries and each player had a handicap. Only six came out ahead of bogie. In the following summary a player is said to be up when he gained one or more holes over bogie, and down when he lost:

TODAY'S COURT.

Wilton H. Tirrell of Weymouth was fined $7 and John McDonald of Milton was fined $5 for drunkenness.

The continued case of Edmund G. Hayden, for assault on Francis M. McNeil, at Quincy, was called, and again continued until Saturday.

The continued cases of Dennis Mahoney and William F. Lyons for the larceny of $50 from A. L. Flint at Weymouth was heard.

The court found probable cause to believe both Lyons and Mahoney guilty and held them in $1,000 each for the grand jury.

DIED.

PERRY—In Quincy, May 20, Mrs. Lucy P., widow of Mr. David W. Perry, aged 88 years and 6 months.

HERE AND THERE.

Local Brevities of the City of Presidents.

Clear sky today.

Are you going to Malden tomorrow?

The sun was very welcome this morning.

Just enough rain to be cold and disagreeable on Sunday.

At 7.30 tonight one round of Box 171 will be sounded on the fire alarm.

The City Council will not meet this week, but the committees will be busy.

Representatives Sprague and Sheppard will please accept thanks for public documents received.

Another hearing on the charges against Inspector of Plumbing Keniley will be held at City Hall tonight.

Dr. H. M. Willard was one of the judges at the annual prize speaking contest at Tufts college, May 19.

A number of the Quincy members of the Patriarchs Militant will participate in the parade at Malden, tomorrow.

Elbridge Porter of the Granite Clothing Company is suffering from a severe cold. He is unable to speak out loud.

Word was received this morning that Mr. J. Watson Arnold of Braintree had died on the train Sunday while on his way from Chicago to Hot Springs.

A civil service examination for the position of clerk and carrier for the Quincy postoffice will be held at the Boston postoffice June 7. Application may be obtained at the Quincy office.

The City Council Committee on Finance meets tonight, the Committee on Streets and Public Buildings Tuesday night and the Committee on Ordinances Wednesday night.

Noon temperature of less than 50 degrees is rare in Quincy in May, but there was one day in 1896, one in 1897, and two in 1898. Sunday it was 49 the lowest since April 21.

William J. Thompson of Wollaston, who is identified with the advertising department of the "Christian Work" and has been travelling in the west for several months, is at home this week.

It was reported to the police this morning that the blacksmith shop of John Fallen & Sons on Quarry street had been entered between Saturday night and this morning, and a quantity of steel and stone tools carried away.

The Gorham Manufacturing Co. of New York, through their Boston representatives, Messrs. Bigelow & Kenward, have given the Quincy Yacht club a magnificent water color painting of the challenge cup. It will be suitably framed and hung in the club house.

One of the unique features of the trip of the pupils of the Wollaston schools to Plymouth on Saturday was the releasing of a carrier pigeon by Harold Sanders. Harold took the pigeon down and released it at 10 o'clock. A heavy easterly wind was blowing at the time which later developed into a gale. The pigeon had not arrived home this morning.

The funeral of Edward J. Colbert was held from the Sacred Heart church, Saturday at 9 A. M. The A. O. H., of which he was a member escorted the body to the church. Rev. Fr. Johnstone officiating at the mass. The flowers were many and magnificent, showing the high esteem in which he was held. He leaves a widow, mother, two brothers and two sisters to mourn his absence. The interment was at West Quincy.

The Nantasket Bill.

[SPECIAL TO THE DAILY LEDGER.]

The Nantasket Beach boulevard bill was taken from the table in the House of Representatives this morning.

Representative Donovan of Boston immediately raised several points against the bill, among which was that it was not in the scope of the petition, as Cohasset was included; that it elected to take land over which the tide makes, which could not be done without a hearing; and that it provides no liquor shall be sold within four hundred feet, which is a new proceeding. The bill was again tabled.

As the Boston men are after the bill it looks as though it might be defeated.

Upon Condition.

We learn that the article copied from the Boston Transcript which appeared in the Ledger of Saturday, under the heading "Electric Lights for Houghs Neck" was entirely misleading, as an important condition imposed by the Board of Gas and Electric Light Commissioners was not mentioned.

After a careful consideration of all facts in the case, the Board gave as an opinion, that in view of the uncertainty of the income from other sources, the petition should be granted only upon condition that Mr. Myers, whose interests are paramount, shall give to the company a bond or contract in a form approved by the Board which shall insure to the Company an income of not less than $150 per year for a term of three years.

SUCH SATISFACTION.

MRS. TENSPOT MAKES HER OWN GOWNS AND MAKES THEM WELL.

As She Explains to Her Dear Friend, Mrs. Fairfax, There Is Really No Trouble In Dressmaking if You Go About It Right.

"Oh, Mrs. Fairfax!" exclaimed Mrs. Tenspot, during a call of the former upon the latter. "Before you go I wish you to come up stairs and look at my new gown, that I made myself."

"I shall be delighted, I'm sure," replied the caller. "And so you have made a gown yourself, have you?"

"Yes, and you've no idea the satisfaction it is plan a gown all yourself and work it out. It's a real joy."

"I should dearly love to see it, and as I have finished my call I'll look at it now, if you don't mind."

Mrs. Tenspot led the way up stairs and produced the new gown, holding it before her in order to set off its beauties.

It was admired by Mrs. Fairfax to the maker's heart's content, and the caller said:

"The very idea of your making a garment like that yourself! But you are so very smart. I'm sure I could never do it in the world. Surely you didn't cut it out without assistance?"

"Oh, no! Mrs. Twill, who always has made my gowns heretofore, cut it out for me. I thought I would let her do that, you know, but it's a great satisfaction to have a gown one has made oneself, don't you think?"

"Indeed I do. It looks as though it would hang beautifully. How did you manage the fitting."

"It was so fortunate! You see, I had Miss Snipps in the house making some plain clothes for the baby, and she fitted it for me."

"I suppose she sewed on the waist, too, then?" asked Mrs. Fairfax.

"Oh, yes, but that's a very small part about the making of a dress, don't you think?"

"A mere incident. How graceful the sleeves are! I suppose you made those yourself?"

"Well, no. Miss Snipps happened to have a little lull in her work about that time and I let her make the sleeves. But don't you really think it's a pretty gown?"

"Indeed I do."

"I'm so glad to hear you say so, for your taste is perfect, and then it is such a satisfaction to have a dress one has made oneself. Don't you think so, Mrs. Fairfax?"

"Indeed it must be, Mrs. Tenspot. I wish I could make my own gowns."

"Oh, it really isn't any trouble after one sets one's mind on it! Why, must you go? Come again soon, dear."

"Thank you, but I believe you owe me two calls now."

"Do I? Well, I'll pay them soon. Goodby, dear."

"Goodby, dear."—New York World.

Making It Pleasant For Him.

"I'm thinkin what to do with James when he comes home from college," said the old man. "He'll be purty high toned then, won't he?"

"Reckon he will."

"Won't like to fool with common things?"

"'Course not!"

"Like the ole blin' mule, fer instance?"

"Now you're talkin!"

"Well, then, I'll tell you what I'll do—I'll buy some new plow lines an give him the white hoss to plow!"

INCENDIARY FIRES.

One Causes a Loss of $3,000 or More.

Saturday evening the firemen were called out for what proved to be one of the disastrous fires of the year. Box 172 on the New road was pulled, but the indicator at the central fire station indicated 171 and the apparatus went to Union street, so that valuable time was lost in reaching the scene.

The fire was in the carriage manufactory of S. Scammell at the corner of Quincy avenue and New road, only a few hundred feet from the central fire station with a hydrant opposite, but flames were coming out of the roof and windows before the department got to work.

The building was formerly the Geisler tannery, and the presence of oil doubtless helped along the fire, and it was not until four streams had been played for half an hour that the flames were under control.

The flames were discovered by residents of Glencoe place and a passing bicyclist about the same time, and they notified Mr. Scammell, who lives on New road, and he pulled in the box opposite his house. The fire seemed to be in the attic then. But Mr. Scammell is of the opinion that the fire started in the boiler room in the basement and went directly up a chute, and that it was of incendiary origin.

The loss is estimated at $3,000. Mr. Scammell had an insurance of $1,200 and $1,600, but some things included in the policy were not damaged, while others were, so that he will lose considerable.

Boat House Burned.

The alarm from Box 72 at 1.55 o'clock this morning was for a fire in the boat house of Charles L. Prescott situated at Point Holes. The fire, which was evidently caused by an incendian, was well under way when discovered and by the time the fire department arrived nothing was left standing save a few timbers. It is not known whether the building contained anything at the time but if it did it was probably destroyed. The loss on the b ilding will not exceed $75.

Today's Fire.

At 2.15 this afternoon Box 61 at the corner of Hancock and Squantum streets was pulled, and the apparatus from the central station made a remarkably quick run. The fire was for a house at Montclair occupied by Mr. Barney Marshal, and may be a total loss.

DEFENCE OPENED.

Officials of 1898 Stand Up for Inspector Keniley.

Board of Health Satisfied With City Stables.

Practical Plumbers Claim No Violation of Ordinances.

Another chapter in the charges against Inspector of Plumbing Keniley was enacted at City Hall, Saturday night, and was listened to by a large gathering. The petitioners, with the exception of a charge filed by a Mr. Thompson of Cranch hill, finished their side and several witnesses for Mr. Keniley were heard.

THE CRAIG CASE.

Arthur Craig, owner of the Craig block, was the first witness. He testified that Keniley did the plumbing in his building in the fall of 1886, and spring of 1897. George Ames also did some work in the drug store. He had trouble with the plumbing of his building. He knew there was concealed lead pipes and he had seen water come from the vent pipe in the drug store.

In answer to Lawyer McAnarney, witness said he had known of the condition of affairs for some time, and he had different plumbers look at it. He had nothing to do with Mr. Bates. Lawyer Jenness told him charges were to be preferred, and witness told him he would like his to go in at the same time.

In answer to a question as to whether he knew why concealed lead pipe caused any annoyance, or how wrought iron pipe would, witness said he would leave that to his plumbers.

No one had suggested that there was any difficulty with the cesspool and it never occurred to him that was the cause of the odors in the third story.

Victor J. Emery testified that he had examined the plumbing in the Craig building and found about 75 feet of concealed lead pipe and about 50 feet of wrought iron pipe.

Witnesses attempted to tell about lead pipe that he had found jammed, but it was ruled that the petitioners must confine themselvers to the charges.

In the drug store witness found that the pipe from soda fountain started with a lead pipe and connected to a wrought iron pipe, then went down cellar and made connection to a sink under the floor. Here he found a four inch trap.

Lawyer McAnarney: I am informed that Mr. Keniley refused to pass this drug store job and reported it to the Board of Health. If the petitioners have no evidence that he passed it he cannot be held.

In answar to questions by Mr. McAnarney witness said he examined the building at the request of Mr. Craig. He took it for granted that his examination was for this hearing.

George V. Eldridge, a Somerville plumber, said he examined the Craig block and found lead vent pipe and wrought iron pipe; about 50 feet of each.

In answer to Mr. McAnarney witness said he examined the building at the request of Mr. Craig and did not know he was to testify until Saturday afternoon. Lead pipe had been use back of ceilings and under floors.

Joseph W. Kenney, a South Boston plumber, said he had been working for Mr. Bates. He went to the Craig block that afternoon and found 60 feet of lead vent pipe and from 35 to 50 feet of wrought iron pipe.

The vent under the floor in the drug store was trapped in such a way that it would fill with water.

In answer to Mr. McAnarney, witness said he had worked for Mr. Bates about two weeks and got through that evening. He did not know where he was going to work next.

George Ames testified he had plumbed the drug store in the Craig block. Did not know whether Keniley was ever there or not. Keniley never found any fault with him about the job.

In answer to Mr. McAnarney witness said Frank Russell did the job. He did not know where he was now, but thought in South Boston. Witness had no personal knowledge that Keniley ever spoke to him about the job. Keniley never ordered him to do any work over again. He might have told my men but they never told me.

THE DEFENCE.

At this point the petitioners rested, and witnesses were put on for the defence.

Timothy J. Collins, formerly a journeyman plumber, and president of the Lynn journeymen plumbers and the New England journeymen plumbers, but now a drummer for plumbers' supplies, was shown diagram of the plumbing at the Parker house.

At this house it is claimed that the trap is at the foot of the vertical soil pipe.

Witness said that technically speaking it was practically at the foot of the vertical pipe but should say it complied with the ordinance. A trap at the foot of a vertical pipe means at the foot of the stack but here you have a breakage in the pipe so that when the water reaches the trap it does so easily, and he did not think there would be any danger of siphoning. He considered it a practical job.

In answer to Lawyer Jenness, witness said it was practically a vertical pipe. The ordinance says a running trap shall be used. It would be impossible to connect a vertical pipe to enter a running trap. The pipe did not necessarily enter where the clean-out should be. He should say this complied with the ordinances.

Frank J. Linnehan of Swamscott, a dealer in plumbers' supplies, and a practical plumber for fourteen years, was shown diagram. He did not call the trap at the foot of the vertical soil pipe for the reason that there was a set off by the bends. A vertical pipe would be from the trap straight to the roof. This was certainly a sanitary job and there was no danger of the trap being unsealed. He should call it a running trap.

Chairman Thompson: Should you consider that a practical job of plumbing?

Mr. Linnehan: Yes.

In answer to questions by Mr. Jenness, witness said that the short piece might technically be called a vertical pipe. You cannot enter a vertical pipe on the run. He did not think there was any danger of the trap being siphoned.

Henry C. Weeden, a dealer in plumbers' supplies for twenty years, testified in regard to the Whiton house which he owned at one time. Landers plumbed the house but first objected to doing so without taking out a permit. I told him a permit was not necessary as it was not to be connected with running water or a cesspool. The plumbing was done according to his directions.

Mr. McAnarney: Is a horse stall called a plumbing fixture?

Mr. Weeden: It never has been!

In answer to Mr. Jenness, witness said the plumbing was put in to sell the house; that he got it done as cheaply as possible; that a permit was not necessary as he had a right to it where running water was not connected. He had a right to put up a plumbing exhibit; an exhibit to sell the house; it was all right, nothing unsanitory about it, and he would have been willing to live there. The ordinances were made up mostly by men who did not know anything about plumbing.

Charles F. Knowlton, ex-Commissioner of Public Works, testified in relation to the city stables, and told of the interview with the Board of Health about the plumbing there. We wanted a storage room in the cellar and we fixed the pipe as we thought right. Mr. Keniley said the pipe from the wash room would have to have a trap and be vented. The Board of Health were also of the opinion that a plumbing fixture would require a trap. There was no law that required horse stall fixtures vented. The board said all they required was the wash basin and harness sink. The plans were approved by the Board of Health. I wanted the water to run to the manure pit, which was air tight, to keep it from burning. A vent 12 by 48 and running up fifty feet was put in and the Board of Health approved it. He had tried this vent several times, and knew there was a strong current of air passing up through it. He considered the whole a first class job.

In answer to Mr. Jenness, witness said the Board of Health decided how it should be done before the job was let. He did not tell the plumbers it was not to comply with the ordinances. He did not know it was submitted to plumbers. Keniley carried out the contract fully.

Mr. Knowlton said that Keniley made a reduction in his bill on account of charges, but did not know how much.

Dr. F. E. Jones, Secretary of the Board of Health in 1898, said the plumbing was talked over by the Board of Health, and we concluded the stable was not required to be ventilated. We decided that the pipe from the sink and harness room should be vented as some one slept in the building. We looked it over and told the inspector to have it done as it was.

Mr. McAnarney: Did Keniley ever report orally any complaint as to Mr. Ames' plumbing?

Dr. Jones: Yes, as many as twenty times.

In answer to Mr. Jenness, witness said Keniley was present when the city stables were talked over. The Board of Health did not go ahead regardless of the city ordinances. He should say the plans complied with the ordinances.

Adjourned until Monday evening, at 7.30.

Anniversary Sermons.

Malden, Mass., May 22.—The religious portion of the 250th anniversary exercises of Malden were held in the city churches yesterday, two gatherings in particular being the specific observance, although pastors in all pulpits preached upon the general topic. One of the special services was at the Immaculate Conception church, where Rev. Father Scully of Cambridge preached. The other was at the Anniversary hall in the evening, in which all the Protestant churches had united. Right Rev. William Lawrence, the Episcopal bishop, delivered the sermon.

Perhaps a Murder.

Webster, Mass., May 22.—The body of Mrs. Martha White, 72 years old, was found in the kitchen of her hermit home, situated in the Gore woods, about two miles from Webster Centre, and marks on the head of the dead woman give evidence of foul play. Since the death of her husband some years ago Mrs. White had lived alone. The old lady was last seen alive on Wednesday morning, when she was gathering wood by the roadside near her home, and the opinion is general that she met her death that evening.

Mother and Son Murdered.

Toledo, May 22.—Mrs. Rachel Austin and her son, Austin, were murdered yesterday, and their bodies were burned in the house at Middleburg, where the deed was committed. Ernest Austin, the youngest son of the widow, is lying at the home of a neighbor with a bullet wound, from which he cannot recover. The crime is charged against Ernest, but he states that he was called to the door by robbers, who, after shooting him, looted the house, murdered his mother and brother and then burned the house.

Arrival of Reina Mercedes.

Newport News, Va., May 22.—The Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes arrived in Hampton roads at 2:30 yesterday. She is now at anchor nearly two miles off Old Point Comfort, where she will be held in quarantine for five days. The Mercedes left Santiago a week ago Saturday, and reached Hampton roads a good deal sooner than was expected. When she is released from quarantine she will go to Portsmouth navy yard for repairs.

HEAVY HITTING.

Adams Defeated in Game with Roxbury Latin.

The game between the Adams Academy and the Roxbury Latin School nine, at Merrymount Park, on Saturday resulted in a victory for the visitors. The large score that they made was due to their heavy batting. As the summary shows, eleven of the nineteen runs were earned, and they had 14 base hits with a total of 20. Their batters placed the ball well, and the hollow in left field was the marke for many of their long hits. In the middle of the eighth, Donaher took Doble's place in the box for Adams, and struck out four men in succession. He has been suffering from an injured finger, but it is hoped that he will be able to pitch the rest of the season.

Turner did the best batting for the home team. He also played well at first base. Mr. Kent had a fine record at shortstop, putting out three men and making two assists.

Tate played his usual fine game at centre field, one of his catches bordering on the sensational.

With the exception of the third and eighth innings, when the Roxbury nine batted furiously, the game was close. The attendance was small owing to the rain. Mr. Gilbert Kent's umpiring was very satisfactory.

A game with the Roxbury Latin school nine is sure to be a pleasant one, for they are always a splendid crowd of boys. There is never any dispute or senseless coaching, and the game is always regarded as a friendly contest and not an occasion for tricks and quarrels.

NOVELTIES IN MILLINERY.

There was a time when rough straw was reserved for rough usage, but this year, such weave appears in dress hats and with delicate gossamer trimmings in which tulle has the lead. Some rough straws indeed, show tiny tulle frillings set carefully between the rows of straw, but usually such garniture appears in rosettes, though the foldings that are so prominent a feature in millinery, come not amiss. In contrast, the use of wings or quill feathers is very marked; in native stiffness, they dart upwards from soft surroundings and sometimes entire large birds set audaciously, complete the daring picture. Small flowers are now more used than at early openings and are certainly in better taste than the one huge blossom of the day, that nevertheless is reckoned stylish, and it can be added that thick, large clusters of violets are in extreme favor, because producing an effect similar to the mammoth flower. Violets in general were never quite so popular, and may compose medium hats or lavishly trim others of greater dimension.

AT A TURNING POINT.

Americans Will Deal Final Blow If Filipinos Do Not Yield.

Otis Will Not Permit Further Temporizing.

All the Moneyed Leaders of Insurrection Are Anxious For Peace.

Manila, May 22.—Today will mark a turning point in the progress of affairs. It will be either peace or a big battle. The Filipino commissioners had no better proposition to offer than to ask for an armistice. This request General Otis had refused the former envoys, and this time he made his refusal even more emphatic.

He made a concession, however, in instructing the American commanders to refrain from aggressive fighting for the present.

It is believed that the Filipino commissioners' request for an armistice was simply an attempt to save their dignity and that their request for permission to confer with the American commissions indicated that their real object was to secure peace on the best terms which they could get.

It was because Otis believed this to be the case that he agreed to suspend aggressive campaigning until he learned the definite result of the meeting between the Filipinos and American commissioners.

But, while Otis has stopped active fighting, he has not for a moment relaxed his grip on the situation. All his troops are placed in the most favorable locations. His positions are being strengthened and everything is in readiness to go forward and deal out one final, crushing blow to the rebels in case the meeting does not bring peace.

For days the energies of the American commanders have been devoted to perfecting their arrangements for dealing this blow. It is chiefly because Aguinaldo realized that this crushing onslaught was inevitable that he sent his latest envoys to seek for peace. He realized that there was no hope for him, and for this reason the American officers are more disposed than at any other time to believe that the rebel envoys really mean peace this time.

But if events should show that they do not, General Otis will have no more temporizing. He cannot afford to permit any, even if he were so inclined. The rainy season will be here in 10 days or two weeks, and the operations of the American forces would have to be abandoned to a large extent. This makes it imperative that the Filipinos take their choice at once, and if the meeting says more war, then the word will be "forward," and within the next 24 hours Aguinaldo's followers may expect such a smashing, crushing onslaught as will effectually crush the rebellion.

The Filipino commissioners held a conference this morning with Messrs. Schurman, Worcester and Denby. They say that they are without power to bind the so-called Filipino government in any particular and can only refer any results of the present negotiations to Aguinaldo.

The Filipino commissioners, General Del Pilar, Lieutenant Colonel Barretto, Major Zealoite and Senor Gonzaga, with their families, spent yesterday in visiting friends in Manila, and conferred with Senores Torros, Ocampo and Yanco, the members of the local Filipino association, who will participate in the meetings with the American commissioners.

Senor Torres was a member of Aguinaldo's commission before the war. He opposed independence, and favors autonomy, and he has been most influential in persuading the followers of Aguinaldo to make the present advances. Autonomy is the burden of the talk of the Filipinos, and it is thought that the kind they wish for would be little different from the scheme of an American protectorate, which they talked of before the war.

Senor Paterno, who has slated the irreconcilable Mabini as president of the so-called Filipino cabinet, is a student and a writer of ability. He once drew up a plan of autonomy under Spain, which the Spanish government promised to adopt, there then being a troublesome rebellion on foot. The American commissioners, in studying the question of Philippine government, have found several good points in this scheme. Paterno is now the strong man in Aguinaldo's party.

All the moneyed leaders of the insurrection see that it is hopeless, and are anxious for peace. Those who want money think they may profit by harrassing the Americans a while longer.

On the suggestion of Mr. Schurman, president of the American commission, the local Filipino peace party has started a newspaper.

Major Kobbe's expedition, to open communication with General Lawton, has occupied Arayat, about seven miles beyond Candaba, on the Rio Grande, following the course of the stream. No insurgents were found there, and the pampangas along the river are friendly.

Last Friday Major Kobbe took Santa Ana, about six miles northeast of San Fernando, on the road to San Isidro. A priest met the expedition with a white flag.

Delegations from San Nicolas and Santiago, small villages just south of Arayat, came to him with the news that 200 insurgents, who had been holding both places, had withdrawn. They invited the Americans to enter, and as the members of the expedition marched in the church bells were rung, and the timid natives, who had fled, flocked back.

Rumor of a Conflict.

Washington, May 22.—There is a rumor here that there has been a hostile meeting at Bluefields between the Nicaraguan gunboat San Jacinto and the United States cruiser Detroit, which is looking after the interests of American interests in that vicinity. The report lacks confirmation so far as official advices are obtainable, the statement being made in responsible quarters that there has been no information received in regard to it.

A Lively Street Duel.

Joplin, Mo., May 22.—One negro was killed and three white men wounded in a street duel which occurred here yesterday. Dewitt Leonard, foreman of the Chicago consolidated mines, and one of his men were walking along North Main street. Leonard asked Mrs. Andrew Woods, wife of a negro barber, if she was going to church, whereupon she struck him, knocking him off the sidewalk. He returned the blow and went on his way with several companions. They were overtaken in the next block by Andrew Woods with a pistol in his hand. His wife told him that a man wearing a white hat had struck her. Woods struck with his pistol the first man he met who wore a white hat. He struck another and finally hit Leonard, knocking him down. Leonard then snatched a pistol from a police officer and the two fired point blank at each other. Woods was shot three times and killed, while three bystanders were hit by stray bullets. Great excitement exists now among the negroes and trouble is feared.

New Commissioner's Eyes Open.

Boston, May 22.—The police force of the city perhaps never put in a more active Sunday in enforcing the liquor law than yesterday. This was in a measure due to the investigations of Commissioner Adams, the new member of the police board, who, a week ago, visited hotels and found only a technical observance of the victualling requirements of hotel liquor licenses. Anticipating an inspection of their premises, proprietors of the smaller hotels provided good food to serve with strong beverages instead of antique souvenir sandwiches. The report at police headquarters last night was that the liquor law had been strictly enforced. The liquor squad was also very active, making many seizures in unlicensed places.

Dawson's Awful Visitation.

Victoria, B. C., May 22.—The main portion of the city of Dawson was destroyed by fire on April 26, causing a loss of $4,000,000. In all 111 buildings, including the Bank of British North America, were burned. The fire occurred in the very heart of the business center of the city, near the opera house on the water front and, driven by a strong north wind, destroyed everything in its way on that street. The fire then took in all of the water front buildings abreast of the same blocks. It crossed the street, burned through and spread over to Second street, converting to ashes the principal business portion of Dawson. The fire was caused by a drunken woman upsetting a lamp in a notorious house.

McMillan and Alger.

Detroit, May 22.—Senator McMillan received the following dispatch from Secretary Alger: "Are the reports in the press to the effect that you are a candidate for the United States senate true? Answer at once, please."

The senator answered it as follows: "I should have preferred a personal conference with you, but your dispatch appears to demand an immediate answer. I am a candidate for the United States senate."

Secretary Alger's dispatch is looked upon by Senator McMillan's friends here as an indication that the secretary is considering a withdrawal from the senatorial race.

A Sensational Episode.

Calumet, Mich., May 22.—This city is excited over a sermon delivered by Rev. H. C. Hunter at the First Congregational church yesterday. Mr. Hunter took occasion to criticise the national administration for its Philippine policy and its course during the Spanish war. Charles Tomma, a volunteer in the Sixty-fourth Michigan, was in the audience, and he interrupted the pastor, saying: "Any man who talks like that is a traitor to his country and to his flag, and I refuse to listen to him." He then left the church.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—4:16; sets, 7:05.
Moon sets—2:46 a. m.
High water—9:45 a. m.; 10 p. m.

Local rains have prevailed in the states of the Missouri, upper Mississippi and middle and lower Ohio valleys, and in Tennessee and northern Georgia, and showers have continued along the immediate eastern New England coast. The temperature continues below the seasonal average generally over the northern half of the country. Fair weather is indicated over the New England states. Along the New England coast, fresh northeasterly winds will prevail.

STREET BATTLES AT ITHACA.

Cornell Students Went a Little Too Far In Celebrating a Baseball Victory.

Ithaca, N. Y., May 22.—After the victory of the Cornell baseball team over the Princeton team at Ithaca Saturday the students began at night to celebrate the occasion. Bonfires were built and a number of the prominent business men of the city lent the boys a hand. A large fire was started on the principal thoroughfare and the police interfered.

The boys became enraged at this action and began to make it unpleasant for the police. The chief of police then sent a call for the fire department, which arrived and attacked the crowd of students with streams of water. The boys made a raid on the firemen and police and wrested a hose line from the firemen. The boys cut the hose. The police and firemen were aided by a number of townspeople, but when the students captured the hose line the others retreated down the street and attacked another fire which had been started up. Here the fiercest fights of the night took place and the townspeople attacked the students with clubs or any other weapon that could be improvised.

The firemen advanced on the boys, drenching them with streams of water, until they finally cleared the boys from the fires.

Fights were of frequent occurrence. One student was struck from behind with a stick and felled. One member of the police force was slightly injured. Several others were more or less severely bruised. Only one arrest was made.

The Press Offended.

London, May 22.—The Daily Telegraph's correspondent at The Hague says: The impenetrable secrecy of the proceedings of the conference has caused dissatisfaction. The press representatives complain that the information circulated is inaccurate and misleading, and several delegates express unqualified disapproval of the methods adopted, which would be justifiable only if the press were the implacable enemy of peace arbitration. The representatives of several influential continental journals have resolved to leave immediately, and some have already gone.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Important Advice.

It is surprising how many people wake up in the morning nearly as tired as when they went to bed, a disagreeable taste in their mouth, the lips sticky, and the breath offensive, with a coated tongue. These are nature's first warnings of Dyspepsia and Liver Disorders, but if the U. S. Army & Navy Tablets are resorted to at this stage they will restore the system to a healthy condition. A few doses will do more for a weak or sour stomach and Constipation than a prolonged course of any other medicine.

If you can not get them at your drug store, send 10c, for a package of 12 to the U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLET CO., 17 EAST 14TH ST., NEW YORK.

Cuban System Applies to the Filipinos.

Natives to Be Given Largest Measure of Home Rule.

Proposed Form of Government Laid Before Peace Envoys.

Will Be Allowed to Choose Inferior Officials In the Beginning.

Indications That Our Commission's Offer May Be Speedily Accepted.

Washington, May 23.—The written proposition submitted to the Filipinos yesterday at Manila by the American commission was framed in Washington by Secretary Hay. It is the intention to give the Filipinos, just as the president has promised, as large a measure of self-government as they seem able to exercise with safety to themselves and due regard to the welfare of other nations. Therefore it is proposed to allow them to choose their own inferior judicial officials to begin with, and perhaps the principle may be extended if it works well in the lower grades.

The plan is the outgrowth of numerous cable and mail exchanges between President Schurman of the Philippine commission and Secretary Hay, as well as advice from General Otis and Admiral Dewey. The proposition to have a governor general and cabinet appointed by the president is substantially the same as the system now in operation in Cuba. Like the Cuban system, the administration will be military in character for the time being at least, while conditions are unsettled.

The authorities are acting on the theory that as in the case of Porto it will be for congress to establish the permanent form of government for the islands. It was understood at the time General Lawton went to Manila that General Otis would become governor general, while General Lawton assumed active direction of military affairs. It is not improbable that this plan might be carried out if the natives accept the plan now proposed, thus making General Otis the first governor general, with General Lawton and General MacArthur occupying positions similar to those of Generals Ludlow and Wood in Cuba. The proposed advisory council is also similar to that in Cuba, where Governor General Brooke has the advice of a native council, as well as that of the military officers under him.

The main idea of the system proposed in the Philippines is to carry out the assurances given in the proclamation issued some time ago to maintain the sovereignty of the United States over the islands, and at the same time give the natives the largest measure of home rule.

The proposition submitted by President Schurman was as follows:

"While the final decision as to the form of government is in the hands of congress, the president under his military powers, pending the action of congress, stands ready to offer the following form of government:

"A governor general to be appointed by the president; a cabinet to be appointed by the governor general; all the principal judges to be appointed by the president; the heads of departments and judges to be either Americans or natives, or both; and also a general advisory council, its members to be chosen by the people by a form of suffrage, to be hereafter carefully determined upon.

"The president earnestly desires that bloodshed cease, and that the people of the Philippines, at an early date, enjoy the largest measure of self-government compatible with peace and order."

The insurgents' envoys have made no definite propositions, except for a cessation of hostilities until they can present the question of peace to the people. Professor Schurman told the envoys that they had no means of gathering their people together, as the Americans had control of most of the ports. He also reminded them that a liberal form of government was offered them, and pointed out that it was better than the conditions existing under Spanish rule.

Gozaga, president of the native commission, replied that nothing could be worse than Spanish rule, and admitted that the form of government proposed was liberal.

The civilian members of the native commission have declined to co-operate with the other members of that commission, as the former consider Aguinaldo's latest demands to be preposterous, after Major General Otis' refusal of an armistice, referring to his wish for time in order to consult the Philippine congress.

The conference between the civilian members of the United States Philippine commission and the representatives of the Filipinos continues.

The military and civil elements of the American commission differ regarding the wisdom of continuing the conferences, the former adhering to their original demand for the unconditional surrender of the insurgents.

The war departments has received the following cablegram from General Otis: "Conditions as follows: In Bulacan province troops maintained at Quinga, Baliuag, San Miguel. Lawton proceeding down Rio Grande river from San Isidro. Has driven enemy from San Antonio, Carlao and Arayat westward, where he was joined yesterday by Kobbe's column. Will reach Santa Ana and Cadaba today. MacArthur still at San Fernando and will occupy cities south and westward. Insurgent forces disintegrating daily. Luna's forces at Tarlao much diminished. He has destroyed several miles of railway in his front; number of officers of rank have deserted Luna, and a few have entered Manila for protection. In Pampanga and Bulacan inhabitants returning to homes, only fear insurgent troops. South of Manila disintegration progressing, though large force still maintained. Conditions improving daily. Send battalion troops and gunboat to Negros tomorrow to allay excitement in southern portion of island and west coast of Cebu. Have denied the request of Aguinaldo's commissioners for armistice."

While it is not so affirmed at the department, the present movement is generally believed to mark the end of the active campaign before the wet weather sets in. MacArthur is at San Fernando, south of Arayat, where Kobbe and Lawton are now joined. This is the point that has been previously spoken of as a possible summer base for the American northern outposts. From Bacalor on the railway there is a highway running northeast through San Fernando, Mexico, Santa Ana and on to Arayat, on the river. The dispatch says that the American army will occupy the cities south and west. There is no present talk of another northern movement. This would leave a triangle between the railroad and the river that could be easily held and protected by the United States troops during the wet season, even though the insurgents were in much greater force than they are reported, and though they were inclined to be aggressive, which the reports indicate they are not.

Lawton's turning in his march north and proceeding down the Rio Grande is the natural result of his failure to get in behind the insurgents at San Isidro, and crush them at a blow, according to program.

In the movement north, Lawton travelled in a line east of the Rio Grande, and parallel to it. His march was through a rough and little travelled country toward the foot of the eastern mounatin range. It was a hard journey, and the insurgents slipped away before they could be hemmed in between Lawton and Kobbe and MacArthur's columns.

The reported dissolution of the insurgent forces, which are said to be in a bad condition at Tarlao, and the statement in General Otis' dispatch that he had again denied Aguinaldo's request for an armistice, are taken to indicate that there is some likelihood that the commission's offer of a form of government may be speedily accepted. That is a matter, however, on which there is no official inclination to speculate.

No particular importance is attached to the statement that the Filipinos are threatening trouble in the south. The American line in this direction is under command of General Ovenshine, and stretches across a narrow neck of land a few miles south of Manila, between the seacoast and Laguna de Bay. This is a position which the Filipinos could not force under any conditions, while the tin-clad fleet on the lagoon and the warships off the coast would be able to make the narrow stretch of country between them a very unhealthy resort for any large force of insurgents.

Malden's Festal Day.

Malden, Mass., May 23.—Yesterday was one of triumph in Malden's magnificent celebration. The sun shining gloriously from morning till night helped to bring out an immense throng of humanity. The streets were crowded, and many who applied for admission where public celebrations were being held had to be turned away. In the morning entertainments were held for the benefit of the school children. During the greater part of the day athletic sports, conducted on a generous scale, were in progress. On Ferryway green, in the afternoon, Dood's famous troop F, Third United States cavalry, drilled and maneuvered to the delight of thousands; and following the excellent entertainment of the cavalrymen on the green, came a balloon ascension. The principle features of the day's celebration, however, were the musical and literary exercises held in the afternoon and the grand ball held in the evening.

GIVEN SHARP ANSWER.

Congressman Norton Wanted Lake City Postoffice Re-established.

Department Has Decided to Keep It Closed

Until Community Makes Serious Efforts to Convict Postmaster's Lynchers.

Washington, May 23.—Representative Norton of South Carolina came to Washington a few days ago to try to get a postoffice re-established at Lake City. He showed that a village containing 500 people was obliged to send to a railroad station some miles away for its mail, and that in addition the people were not allowed to mail letters on the train. The drop slot in the side of the mail car is closed when that town is reached, and the postal clerks are not allowed to accept letters there. This punishment, Mr. Norton argued, worked a greater hardship to the innocent than to those guilty of the outrages which have caused the department to stop business in that town. Mr. Norton declared this action of the government to be "infamous," and demanded the re-establishment of the office.

But the postoffice department has given him a definite answer. It will not establish an office there until the community has made some serious effort to convict the persons who killed the late postmaster. Such efforts have not yet been made. Although the evidence against those accused of the crime seems to outsiders ample, the South Carolina jury stood 7 to 5 for their acquittal. The department states that if the people of Lake City had any complaints to make against their postmaster the department stood ready to hear them and to remove him if the facts warranted it. When any community sees fit to do its own removing of postmasters, the department will not see fit to continue doing business there, at least until some reasonable efforts are made by the community to convict the offenders.

It is said at the department that another effort will be made to secure conviction of the Lake City lynchers. It is noted that the two men who turned state's evidence are still at work in Washington, one in the mail bag and the other in the supply division of the postoffice.

Mr. Norton called on the president yesterday and had an interview of some length, in the nature of an appeal from the decision of the postoffice department. All the satisfaction he received was a promise by the president to take up the subject with the postmaster general.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, May 23.—When the house came in yesterday Mr. Russell of Boston secured recommitment of the Boston sewerage assessment bill, stating that recent court decision against the original act made a new draft necessary.

With the pending sewer bill sent back to the committee, Mayor Quincy at once secured the presentation of a petition in the senate for a new Boston sewer assessment bill, providing for maintenance of the works and for repaying those entitled by law to repayment of money paid for sewer taxes. Another petition was presented in the house for the repayment of all the money paid for special sewer taxes, whether the payments were made under protest or not. The committee will get to work on the matter at once.

Mr. Donovan raised several points of order against the bill for the taking of Nantasket Beach as a public reservation. At the request of the speaker the bill was laid over while Mr. Donovan put his points or order in writing.

Mr. Fitzgerald moved amendments to the bill giving the city council of Boston power to obtain information in certain cases where heads of departments refuse such information. These were rejected, as was the amendment to make the bill apply to any city. Mr. Brigham offered a substitute bill providing that either branch of the city council of Boston could appoint a committee to conduct an investigation in such matters with full power to compel attendance of witnesses and to send for persons and papers. This was adopted and engrossed.

The bill for the purchase of portraits of former governors was enacted in the senate, 8 to 3.

Senator Lott asked reconsideration of the vote, reference to the next general court, on the petition of Mayor Quincy that Westminster chambers may remain at their present height. By a vote of 12 to 14 the senate refused to reconsider.

The rules were suspended, and a bill to provide for a high-level sewer for the relief of the Charles and Neponset river valleys was engrossed.

Bills and resolves were engrossed to authorize Somerville to acquire land for a park, for participation of the state in the Paris exposition, for assessment of cost of metropolitan parks, appropriating $100,000 for expenses of exterminating contagious diseases in cattle, giving metropolitan park commission $300,000 for general purposes, in favor of Rhode Rosella Grant.

Another Georgia Outrage.

Fayetteville, Ga., May 23.—A crowd of masked men went to the house of Tom Linton, a negro, at Camp Creek, burst in his door and shot him. He died shortly after. Several negroes were whipped by whitecaps in that vicinity, and it is believed they intended doing likewise with Linton, but that he opened fire on them. Linton was an inoffensive negro. It is feared that some of the county's best citizens were involved in the affair.

Good Afternoon.

We confess considerable alarm at the formation of trusts, and the methods which are used in the organization. If a man purchased an estate for $2,000 and secured two mortgagees on it for $2,000 each he might be considered smart, but those who loaned the money would be fools. Yet the organization of trusts is similar: the promoters buy stock that is worth $2,000 for about $3,000 and float it for $4,000. In the case of the house the man does not expect to pay the interest from the income, but corporations must; and if a good investment is secured on double capitalization it is the consumer who must suffer.

There is no knowing where trusts may stop. They are in control of the railroads, the street railways, oil, sugar, coal, iron, steel, etc. Suppose it is decided to unite all the grocery stores of the city, then all the dry goods stores, and so on, and finally unite all the stores of the city. Then all the houses and land of a city. Wonder if groceries, dry goods, rents, etc., would be cheaper then "because of the reduced expenses of management."

We would not take a socialistic stand, but nevertheless endorse the note of warning of Rev. Dr. Roblin of Boston, who preached on "National Perils—Trusts," on Sunday. He said in part:

"Confessing at the outset of the discussion we enter upon this morning my limitations, knowing that few, if any, can see the outcome of the present trend in the business of our bustling world, I desire to raise a sign of caution, for I feel we are rushing at a tremendous pace toward conclusions which rest under deep shadows of obscurity, and no one, I think, can surely portray their ultimate influence upon the world, upon the fortunes of mankind.

"It is not my present purpose to point out the shortcomings which have prevailed in many pursuits, to note the pernicious features which have grown up in otherwise admirable systems; this work is done on every hand. But I desire to call attention to a new phase in our immediate time which is developing with tremendous rapidity in the economic world, namely the formation of trusts.

Is there grave danger lurking in this movement, danger to the freedom and happiness of mankind? Is there a tendency to selfishness here which points to the centralizing of wealth and power to such a degree that we shall have more of slavery, of serfdom, of poverty and suffering in the world? Is there ground for belief that there is underlying this movement a scheme to get such complete control of all enterprises as to make comparatively few people the commercial autocrats of the earth?

"If so, then truly we are slow in rising to oppose them, for already they have advanced a long distance in their undertakings. A tendency such as this, involving, as it does, radical changes throughout the entire field of material effort, cannot go on unquestioned. The people are bound to know its meaning sooner or later. If it is another sign of intent to make still wider the breach between the classes, which are supposed to be nonexistent in a democracy, but are more assuredly there than elsewhere, then the sooner we prepare for troublous times the better and safer it will be for us.

"For as truly as men are thinking seriously, deeply, intently, on social conditions, so surely will this be attended with dire results if it be shown that the latest advance of commercialism is toward more limited classes, with the world at their feet, as against the masses with the making of the world in their hands.

"There was a time when it mattered little what the people thought if it seemed wise to those who reigned in the consciousness of might to do a thing. They did it, and consulted only their own desires. It is not so now. Our civilization has happily reached a different stage in its development. The interests of all must be taken into account to some extent, and any enterprise which, on its face, bears signs of injustice to the multitude, has stamped upon it the certain mark of failure, and wise men are pretty sure to shun its tempting inducements.

It is to be deplored that college pranks have entered the public schools of Quincy, and it should be promptly checkmated. It is just as serious a crime for school boys to enter a school building after the doors are locked, as it is for other boys to enter and ransack a dwelling. The school authorities will act wisely if they allow the police department to investigate the case. That there are boys at the High school who would circulate malicious "no-school" rumors is also to be deplored, and the public regret to learn that it should have been done during the first week of a new master.

Drift of Opinion.

Monday Evening Club.

Bt the annual meeting of the Atlanic Monday Evening club at the Atlantic Memorial church the old board of officers was re-elected:

President, Rev. J. H. Whitaker.
Vice President, Mr. Charles A. Hall.
Secretary, Miss Isabel F. P. Emery.
Treasurer, Mrs. Charles L. Coe.

From the secretary's report it was learned that the average attendance was one hundred and thirty-eight. The largest number present any one evening was one hundred and eighty six.

The report of the treasurer showed a balance of nine dollars and sixty cents in the treasury.

Esteems It an Honor.

After considerable correspondence Capt. Joshua Slocum of the Spray has been persuaded to come over from New York and address the members of the Quincy Yacht club and their friends at the club's opening smoker on Wednesday evening, June 7. The small Yacht Spray sailed from Boston on April, 1895, and with only one man (Captain Slocum) on board made the cruise of 46,000 miles around the world.

Pilot Commissioners Ross and Bailey of Boston say that it was a wonderful feat of skill and daring, classing the voyage among the great voyages of discovery, because of the nerve and courage required to carry out such an undertaking, the skill and knowledge to build a boat capable of making such a voyage, and the courage to sail it alone around the world.

Captain Slocum in his letters to the club has expressed an earnest desire to meet the members personally and says that he considers it an honor to be invited to "gam" with such famous yachtsmen.

Not Burned.

It was rumored Monday night that John Shugrue, who has been employed by Charles L. Prescott and is said to have slept at his boat house, was burned to death in the fire Monday morning. Rumor says that he was seen in the vicinity of the boat house Sunday night but has not been seen since. Chief Williams says that a search of the ruins reveals nothing that could in any way have been a part of the remains of a human being.

Death of Mr. Arnold.

The body of Mr. E Watson Arnold reached Braintree today. Mrs. Arnold was with her husband on the train when he died. They were on an excursion of the New England hotel men Mr. Arnold was a member of the firm Skinner & Arnold, produce dealers, and had many hotel customers; he was 62 years of age and leaves four daughters.

Against Capt. Bean.

Other companies of the Fifth and Eighth regiments seem to be making opposition to their captains. The latest is Co. B. of Amesbury of the Eighth. The volunteers are maintaining a separate organigation, and they have accepted an invitation of the Grand Army to parade on Memorial day. Capt. Pettengill of the Marblehead company, a former lientenant of Co. B, will be in command.

REOGANIZATION.

Co. K Secures a Full Compliment of Men.

Maj. Morrison Addresses and Compliments Boys

He Takes Exceptions to Recent Criticisms.

In response to notices sent out by Lieut. Whitney, there was a good attendance Monday evening at the armory of Co. K to reorganize for the State militia. The meeting was a fruitful one and when it closed nearly the full compliment of men desired had been obtained, and success is assured.

Eight of the old members, whose enlistment had expired, thirty-two whose term had not expired, and eighteen of the U. S. V. signed, which gives practicaliy the number required. Another meeting will be held Friday evening.

Major Morrison who was captain of the company prior to Captain Kincaide was present, and received a warm welcome from the boys.

In his address to the boys he referred to an article in a recent issue of the Daily Ledger in which a statement was published from Captain Kincaide, in which he said that when he took command of the company it was badly off financially and that he had left it with $400 in its treasury.

Mayor Morrison said he left the company in good condition financially, when he turned it over to Captain Kincaide.

It was nothing to boast of that the company now had $500 in the bank to its credit when that money could have used to advantage for food and other necessities while the men were in camp. The question now, however, is not finances but of maintaining a good company, and such men as always had been in the company were needed now.

Lieut. Whitney also spoke to the men, explaning that Captain Kincaide had asked for a leave of absence for four months and that he had said he should resign at that time. He then said the rolls were open for signatures and the men came forward with the result above noted.

Carpenter Injured.

James Armstrong, a carpenter employed on the new Faxon block in City Square, had his collar bone broken Monday afternoon by a fall. He was at work upon a stageing when he accidentally stepped on the end of a board and fell heavily to the floor. The distance was not over six feet but he struck in such a manner as to break the bone. He was unconscious for some moments, and upon his recovery was taken to his home in Mr. Faxon's team when a physician was summoned.

More Light.

To the people of Quincy and vicinity:

June 1, the Brigham Electric Co, of Boston will open a branch office at the Dr. Garey place, 102 Washington street, Quincy, Mass., where they will be pleased to see or hear from any one wishing for any kind of electric work. Our experience in the construction part of the business for the past ten years, and the amount of business we have done in Boston and vicinity, should prove to our patrons that we know our business. We do our business square and above board, and with the best of help at moderate prices it ought to secure for us a share of your patronage.

We make a specialty of finished house work where it requires honest, reliable, expert help. We have lighted a large number of churches, and have given good satisfaction in all cases.

S. A. Brigham will reside at 102 Washington street, and will attend to the wants of all who may need anything in our line.

Repairing done to satisfaction. Estimates freely given. Gas and Electric fixtures and fittings furnished complete, and buildings left ready to light when the current is turned on. Gas lighting, bell and speaking-tube work also done in a neat and workman-like manner.

Respectfully,

If it were the policy of the Chilton Company to put up its paint short weight or measure, it would make so much difference that it would amount in the course of a year to a handsome profit, but this would all come out of the customers of Chilton Paint and therefore the scheme of scant quantity has never been entertained.

The Chilton Paint has always been made with Pure Linseed Oil and will continue to be so made until a better vehicle can be found, and, should an oil be made which is superior to that compressed from flaxseed, the Chilton Company would be the first to use it, and would then inform the public of the fact through its advertisements. Linseed Oil is the old-fashioned oil for paint and the one which should be used. Nothing has ever been found which approaches it for the purpose intended. No benzine or benzine drier is ever admitted to the Chilton Paint.

It enjoys the confidence of the people and deserves it.

NEARING THE END.

But Board of Health Are Not Yet Through.

Hearing the Charges Against Inspector.

The Craig, Briggs and Thompson Cases Heard.

Considerable progress was made at Monday night's hearing in the Keniley case, and when an adjournment was reached at 10.20 the end of the hearing was in sight, so that this week will probably see the wind up. There were not many startling developments although the audience found plenty of amusement in the answers by witnesses.

THE CRAIG BLOCK.

The first witness was G. B. Bates, who said he had examined the Craig block. He found lead vent pipes back of the sheathing and under the floors; about 50 feet that was not exposed to view. He also found 62 feet of wrought iron vent pipe, some exposed and some concealed. In the drug store there was an S trap under the soda fountain with a bow vent to the cellar, entering a wrought iron pipe which run along the cellar to a trap that takes waste from the sink.

In answer to Lawyer McAnarney, witness said the use of a bow vent was optional with the inspector this year, but was against ordinance in 1896. Witness did not use wrought iron pipe. Some used wrought iron pipe last year. His men might have used it without his knowledge.

Mr. McAnarney: Was it possible with a plumber situated the same as you are to have his men use wrought iron pipe and you not know it?

Mr. Bates: Yes.

Mr. McAnarney: Then it would have been equally possible for Keniley's man to have used it without Keniley's knowledge?

Mr. Bates: I can not answer for him.

Mr. McAnarney: Do you know what kind of vent pipe was used in your block?

Mr. Bates: I should say cast iron.

This ended the petitioner's evidence in the Craig case.

THOMPSON'S HOUSE.

The charge in relation to the Thompson house was taken up.

Antone J. Thompson said he lived at 16 Cranch street. Had trouble with his plumbing last winter, the sink stopping up. He had a plumber examine it. The floor was taken up and the pipe found to run along the floor on a level with it.

In answer to Mr. McAnarney, witness said Mr. Bates was the plumber who examined the job which was put in by Mr. Hirtle. He first saw the charges at Julius Johnson's house. He did not know he was to sign papers when he went there.

G. B. Bates testified that he examined the Thompson house March 10. Before he did any work he called in Dr. Garey, one of the Board of Health. He found sink vent stopped up under the floor. A two-inch waste pipe filled with grease. The vent was all wrought iron pipe from the floor to the stack.

In answer to Mr. McAnarney, witness said it was possible for a sink pipe to get stopped by carelessness on the part of the housekeeper.

This completed the evidence in the Thompson case and no evidence was produced to show who inspected the job or if it was ever inspected.

THE BRIGGS CHARGE.

The next charge taken up was that of H. N. Briggs, which was that Keniley received pay twice for the same job on the Chapman house.

H. N. Briggs testified that he went to City Hall and examined the bills paid Keniley Dec. 31, 1896, and on April 30, 1897.

In answer to Mr. McAnarney, witness said he was the man who was building Mr. Bates' house.

Mr. McAnarney: How did you happen to go to City Hall?

Mr. Briggs: I heard Mr. Bates and Mr. Chapman say bill was collected twice and I went to satisfy myself.

Mr. McAnarney: Who asked you to go?

Mr. Briggs: No one; I wanted to satisfy myself.

Mrr McAnarney: How did you happen to sign the complaint?

Mr. Briggs: Because it was not right.

Mr. McAnarney: You did not look up record of any other official at City Hall?

Mr. Briggs: No.

Mr. McAnarney: Who asked you to sign the comp'aint?

Mr. Briggs: Mr. Bates. I did not see the comp'aint before I went to City Hall.

Mr. McAnarney: Who went to City Hall with you?

Mr. Briggs: Mr. Bates. I went to City Hall in the morning, and signed complaint in Bates' store in the afternoon.

Hazen B. Chapman said he had built two houses on Beach street. Mr. Todd did the plumbing on the second house. Mr. A. J Scott started the plumbing on the first one which was finished by Mr. Bates Scott put in the soil pipe ready for testing. Bates finished his job March 15, 1897. Work was being done on the building in December of 1896. I think it was tested when Scott got through.

G. B. Bates testified he took out a permit Dec. 10, 1896, for this house. The first work he did was March 2, 1897. At that time the stack and branches were in, ready for testing. Keniley was not at the building to his knowledge while he was at work upon it.

Mr. McAnarney: Were you there yourself every day between the 2d and 15th?

Mr. Bates: Very nearly. Would not say I was or was not. Might have been away a day on more than one occasion.

Mr. McAnarney: Was there any reason why an inspector could not have tested those pipes in a day?

Mr. Bates: Yes.

Mr. McAnarney: Was it a physical impossibility to do it in a day?

Mr. Bates: I cannot answer.

Mr. McAnarney: How long would it take to make a test?

Mr. Bates: Fifteen minutes.

Mr. McAnarney: Then why did you not answer?

Mr. Bates: I did.

Mr. McAnarney: Do you know who were there when you were away?

Mr. Bates: Page and Burtin.

Eugene Page said he was present at the house every day. Keniley was not there to his knowledge. Saw no inspector of plumbing between March 2 and 15.

In answer to Mr. McAnarney witness said he staid on the ground all the time. He might have stopped work early some days.

At this point the petitioners rested their cases upon all charges, with the exception of the Chapman house.

THE DEFENCE.

The defence put on two witnesses on the Craig block case.

Joseph McNeally testified that he formerly worked for George Ames. He did the work for Ames on the Craig job. There was no one with him except Mr. Ames, who did part of the work. No man by the name of Russell did any work there.

Mr. Jenness: You work for Keniley now?

Mr. McNeally: Yes.

John Smith, a South Quincy plumber, testified that he was requested to look at the plumbing by Julius Johnson, by a letter from Mr. Craig. Looked at the building with Johnson but did not go at Mr. Craig's request. Craig called at my store and asked me to go and a few minutes later I got his letter. When witness looked at building last fall he found the cause of the odor was on account of the cesspool He found twelve inches of solid matter on top of cesspool. Saw some leaky joints in the cellar. Should say that strap had been taken off and unsealed. If trap was not put back properly gas would come in.

In answer to Mr. Jenness, witness said he did not lay the leaking to the plumbing. It might have been caused by the building settling. Understood from Mr. Craig that the cess pool had been cleaned.

At this point Mr. McAnarney raised several points upon which he desired the board's ruling. It was finally agreed that the points in question should be submitted to the City Solicitor.

The points raised were not made public, but one of them is presumed to be that raised by Mr. McAnarney at the first hearing, which was that the inspector could not be held responsible for work passed by the sub-inspector.

Adjourned until Friday at 7.30 P. M.

A Great American Industry.

The well-known New York Condensed Milk Co., of New York City, has just been re-organized and incorporated as Borden's Condensed Milk Company. The capitalization is $20,000,000. The incorporators are H. Lee Borden, Joseph Milbank, William J. Rogers, Albert J. Milbank and Isaac Milbank. The entire amount of stock was taken by the stockholders of the old company, except a portion which was set aside to be sold to some of the prominent and most valued employes of the company. Borden's Condensed Milk Company is at the present time the largest manufacturers of proprietary food products in the world.

The first output of Gail Borden's valuable invention dates back to 1857 and a year later an organization was formed which has been long and favorably known as the New York Condensed Milk Company. The fame of the Gail Borden's Eagle Brand became world-wide. The civil war precipitated upon the company very heavy demands for its product, and the Northern armies were supplied as extensively as manufacturing facilities would permit. It was a happy day when the Southern soldier was lucky enough to get access to a Union supply train, and thereby obtain Borden's Condensed Milk.

During the late war with Spain among the first food supplies to follow the American troops, whether in Cuba, Porto Rico or the Philippines, was the Eagle Brand and the Red Cross outfit was not considered complete without a liberal stock. Since the days of Dr. Kane, the exploring expeditions to the Arctic regions, have deemed it their most important item of food. Lieutenant Peary only recently testified very highly of its value, and his present expedition was well supplied with it.

Constant additions to the Company's manufacturing facilities have been made year by year to keep pace with the increasing demand. New factories have been added, until now it operates fifteen very large plants, among which are some that outrank in size, capacity and actual product manufactured, any other factories of a similar nature in the world.

DEFENDED LYNCHING.

Mr. Northen Thinks It Necessary So Long as Crime Continues.

Bishop Arnett Presents the Side of the Negro.

Mob Vengeance In Southern States Discussed Before Congregational Club.

Boston, May 23.—Ex-Governor W. J. Northen of Georgia, resident within an hour's ride of the spot where Sam Hose was burned to death, told the "white man's side" of the lynching of negroes, as viewed by a former slave owner, before the Congregational club of Boston at Tremont Temple last evening.

The ex-governor lives within an hour's ride of where the burning of Sam Hose occurred, and he gave the "white man's" side of the lynching of negroes.

From strawberries and cream, the 600 guests passed to such a diet of southern eloquence as made many a woman bow her face in her hands and shiver, as the gray-bearded old soldier from down in Dixie pictured, without mincing his words, the horrible details of the crime for which Hose was tortured and slain.

Twice ex-Governor Northen was interrupted by Dr. Plumb as he read on, without gesture, while the hours crept slowly by, and Bishop Benjamin W. Arnett, D. D., of Ohio, wondered when his turn was to come, to give "the black man's side" of the "present situation as to the colored people of the south."

Turning upon the press and the people of the Bay State, who had denounced the lynching as "fiendish brutality" by "human devils," Mr. Northen thundered: "Say what you may, Massachusetts will not be one whit behind Georgia when you make Mrs. Cranford the wife of a farmer in your state, and Sam Hose, a brutal fiend in human shape, a neighbor near your home."

"Make the case your own," said the speaker, giving mercilessly the details of Hose's crime, continuing:

"Tell me, would you not feel that the punishment of the nethermost hell, whether administered here or hereafter, was not too much for such a human fiend? What would you do? What would your neighbors do? What would a mob in Massachusetts do?

"Is the state of the president lacking in civilization? If not, how did it happen that an unhindered mob seized the fiend Seymour Newland and lynched him upon a tree near by, because of an assault upon a respectable white woman of 81 years?

"Is the state of Illinois without civilization when her state attorney says they have had a half dozen lynchings in the last few years, and the world knows how the mob shot down negroes with the approval of the governor, for no other reason than that they had entered the state in search of work.

"Do you ask me how these lynchings can be stopped in the south? I answer promptly—just as they can be stopped at the north, and in no other way. Stop the outrages and the lynchings will cease. Continue the outrages and the lynchings will always follow, regardless of threats by the law, whether in Georgia, Minnesota, Illinois, Ohio or other states.

"Is it forgotten that the people of Massachusetts themselves burned a negro woman at the stake, who had been simply suspected, and not convicted, of poisoning a white man and his wife?

"Negro politics, in my judgment, as taught during reconstruction and continued to the present day, seeking to dominate the white people of the south, are responsible for most of the blood that has been spilt, the outrages that have been perpetrated, and the sorrows that have come to the whites and negroes of the south. The south is a white man's country, and it will never be delivered over to negroes, whatever the power and influence brought to bear to force this fearful end.

"If the slave trade, the promoter of slavery in America, was a sin, whose sin was it? Not the sin of the south, but the sin of England, the Dutch and New England.

"If the avenues to division and hate and blood and carnage, outrages and lynchings and violence and mobs have been opened up at the south through the ballot given to the negro and the politics taught him to pursue in the destruction of the white man were a sin, whose sin was it? Not the sin of the south, but the sin of the north.

"Let me say that the relations between the races at the south are in no sense alarming. Under God we will work out the problem in righteous settlement for both races if we are left alone."

Bishop Arnett had a hearty welcome, although the hour was late when he began to speak of the black man's view, and he abandoned his prepared address.

He reminded his audience that while there is one negro brute whose crime has been so thrillingly told, there are millions who are not brutes; many are true Christian men trying to elevate their race. The disagreement between the ex-governor and himself, he said, is in their view of the principles of civil government, the opposite ideas of civil liberty at Plymouth Rock and at Jamestown. He contrasted the achievements of prominent white and black men, and asked which has travelled the farthest and achieved the most?

He was glad that Slater and Peabody had faith in the colored race, each to the extent of $1,000,000, and their faith begins to bear fruit in the great number of educated preachers and ministers already elevating their race. The colored people, in feeding and clothing their children while in school, do far more than the whites to pay the teachers; they are doing pretty well for 250 years of service. So far as the negroes' power of organization is concerned, his church organization as Methodists alone, with 52 conferences in the United States, and half as many more outside, shows that it is growing.

Of crime, he said the mass of the negroes repudiated; they are ambitious to be men; they see their duty, and are disposed to be cordial and harmonious with all who wish them well.

WE ARE NOT CONJURERS.

We cannot move our hands in the air and produce a suit of clothes. We cannot and do not pretend to do impossible things; but we can, and we do, and we will sell you Clothing, Hats and Furnishings from 10 to 30 per cent. less than you can buy them in Quincy or Boston.

Nothing mysterious about our end of it. Nothing to keep secret. Nothing to hide. The rents in Boston are enormous. Thousands of dollars a year. Think what a large portion of profits must go to pay the rent alone. Our is a little over $1.20 a day. Why can't we sell for less.

Who but us in this city sells all wool Working Pants for 99c.? Where can you buy all wool Child's Suits, ages 3 to 16, from $1.48 upwards, and all wool Men's Suits from $5.00 to $10.00 in Blue Serges, Worsteds, and all the new style Cassimeres? What store sells all the Men's 50c. Overalls for 39c., and makes Custom Suits for $12.00, $15.00, $18.00, $20.00.

SEVEN IN A BUNCH.

Bostons' Spurt in the Third Took the Heart of St. Louis Players.

St. Louis, May 23.—The champion Bostons have pushed the St. Louis team out of the place they have held since the opening of the league season, and which was at the very top round of the ladder.

The Bostons really won the game in the third inning. At that stage Clarke walked and went out on Hickman's hit to Wallace. Stahl singled to center. Tenney singled and took second, scoring Hickman. Long singled to left, bringing in Stahl and Tenney. Collins tripled to right bleachers. Duffy hit through Wallace, scoring Collins. Lowe tripled to right, and Duffy scored. Bates was here substituted for Jones. Stafford hit safe to short, Lowe scored. Clarke singled to Childs, forcing Stafford. Hickman went out, pitcher to first. Seven runs.

These seven runs took the heart out of St. Louis. They never played ball afterwards, and they lost by this one-sided score:

Attributed to Boer Police.

London, May 23.—The Johannesburg correspondent of The Morning Post, in a dispatch dealing with the recent arrests of former British officers on the charge of conspiracy to promote a rising, says he is now convinced that the conspiracy was primarily one of the Boer officials, in which Police Commissioner Schutte was the prime mover. Schutte, who evidently used President Kruger's son as a tool, has been forced to resign.

Buffalo Strike Ended.

Buffalo, May 23.—The grain shovelers' strike has been settled. The agreement signed late last night by a sub-committee representing the strikers, of which President Keefe of the Longshoremen's association was a member, and Contractor Conners, has been approved by the full committee of the Grain Shovelers' union. The strike is to be declared off and the men will return to work tomorrow morning

Yale Accepts.

New York, May 23.—Captain Fisher of the Yale athletic team has notified C. H. Sherrill, chairman of the graduate advisory committee, that the challenge from Oxford and Cambridge universities to a dual athletic meeting had been formally accepted. Mr. Sherrill said that there seemed to be no doubt about Harvard sending a formal acceptance in a short time. The games will be held in July.

Practically Settled.

Havana, May 23.—The Cuban arms question is apparently nearing a complete and rapid settlement. The payment and dispersal of half the armed bands that have been voluntarily or involuntarily quartered in the country will begin, according to the present program, next Saturday in this city.

Barrows and Wife Sentenced.

Boston, May 23.—Fred H. Barrows, for performing a criminal operation on Mrs. Frances Adams, was sentenced to state prison for a term of not more than nine years and not less than seven. Annie Barrows, his wife, for assisting in the operation, was sentenced to the women's prison for a term of five years.

Whole Family Killed.

Center, Ala., May 23.—William Evans, with his wife and little child, started on a drive for Fort Payne yesterday, when their horse became frightened, ran away, upsetting the buggy and instantly killing Evans and his wife. The infant died soon after the accident.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—4:15; sets, 7:05.
Moon sets—3:25 a. m.
High water—10:30 a. m.; 10:45 p. m.

No well defined storm appears within the region of observation. Showers occurred Monday in the south Atlantic states, Tennessee and Arkansas, and also in the states of middle and upper Missouri valley. Elsewhere fair weather has prevailed. The temperature is unseasonably low generally over the northern half of the country. It promises to be fair in the New England states. Along the Atlantic coast the winds will be variable.

"TWO DISGUISED CONFEDERATES.

Dr. Parkhurst Holds a Very Poor Opinion of Messrs. Platt and Croker.

New York, May 23.—The Tribune says: Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst gave out a statement last evening relative to the probable effect of the Mazet investigation. He expressed confidence in the integrity and moral courage of Mr. Moss, counsel for the investigating committee, and said:

"This falling out between Mr. Croker and Mr. Platt is one of the most interesting and promising features of the present situation, and Mr. Mazet's committee will not have been in vain if it contributes, in no matter how small a degree, toward getting these two arch-enemies of our municipal weal so far estranged as to complicate the tendency to reconciliation. That will give us the opportunity to attack bossism piecemeal.

"I see little to indicate that the investigation will issue in any moral uprising. It may accumulate sufficient material to make basis for anti-Tammany legislation. But the anti-Tammany legislation of 1895, even with a moral uprising behind it, produced little beside temporary results, which are already principally a matter of memory. Nevertheless, even if the Mazet committee does not do what it nominally came to do, it may do something a great deal better, and may yield not only wholesome, but permanent, results, by helping to crush beyond possibility of recovery the alliance of those two disguised confederates, to whom, in my judgment, more than any other combination, is due the horror and the infamy of the situation into which Mr. Moss is prying with honest persistency, and over which Mr. Mazet is officially bending with well-stimulated surprise."

Thanks and Prayer.

Falmouth, May 23.—A number of the passengers of the Paris met at the Falmouth hotel last evening to render thanksgiving for their deliverance. The object was to asknowledge spontaneously the kindness and courtesy the passengers had received since the disaster at the hands of the company, the officers of the liner and the crew. They very highest praise, they asserted, was due to Captain Watkins and the crew for coolness and promptness and to the coast guards for their heroism. Baron Oppenheim asked the company to devote five minutes to silent prayer, the suggestion being immediately adopted, all present standing.

To Fight at Night.

New York, May 23.—The Fitzsimmons-Jeffries fight is to take place at night instead of the afternoon of June 9. The directors of the Coney Island Sporting club have decided on this change. Brady says that 53 boxes have been sold, the total sum paid for them being $7950. Frank Dwyer has received $5000 to bet for westerners on Fitzsimmons at odds of 8 to 5.

Cleveland's Big String.

Toledo, May 23.—Ex-President Cleveland has broken the record for bass catching at Middle Bass. He pulled in 125 pounds of fish, while Captain Evans caught 45 bass from one to two pounds in weight. Messrs. Cleveland and Evans will leave for home tomorrow.

The Phoenix Bridge company of Phoenixville, Pa., has received the contract from the Japanese government to build a large steel bridge for the imperial railway of Japan.

An American Suspected.

Santiago, May 23.—The startling discovery was made yesterday that the famous shrine of Nuestra Senora Caridad, at El Cobre, had been robbed of jewels valued at $25,000, and that the head of the statue had been broken off and removed. The report caused great excitement in the town, where the shrine has long been the principal attraction. It is supposed to have miraculous healing powers and is visited annually by thousands of pilgrims from all parts of Cuba, from Mexico and even from Europe, who have loaded the image with rich gifts. It is asserted that an American will be arrested on charge of being the criminal, and the police hope to recover the jewels.

A Texas Tornado.

Houston, May 23.—A tornado passed over Titus and Erath counties. Several homes and church buildings were wrecked. At Mount Pleasant the storm struck a church, just as services were closing. A bolt of lightning and the wind wrecked the building. William Kauffman was killed and 15 others were injured, some fatally. The tornado wrecked many houses at Stephenville, but no one was killed. One man was killed and three injured near Dublin. It is reported that several persons were killed six miles southeast of Stephenville. Trees and crops in the path of the storm were destroyed.

Two Consu's Lose Their Jobs.

Washington, May 23.—The state department has cabled to United States Consul Hanna at San Juan, Porto Rico, and to United States Consul Williams at Manila to close up their offices on July 1. After that date neither of these officials will be in the service of the United States and the consulates will be abolished. Congress omitted appropriations for their maintenance owing to the acquirement of Porto Rico and the Philippines as a result of the war, and the state department has been retaining the officers at their posts for some time past in the capacity of special agents.

Bogus Bishop Punished.

St. Paul, May 23.—Dr. Samuel Ginner, "bishop" of the American church, which was established by himself, pleaded guilty in the district court to an indictment for grand larceny and was sentenced to the penitentiary for three years. Ginner was formerly the supreme president and supreme treasurer of the order of Minnehaha, and he was charged with misappropriating $3300 of the funds of the order.

SAVED BY A POSTAL CARD.

Thousands who have written for one of the free trial bottles of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy have literally had their lives saved by a postal card. They got the trial bottle, and it proved to them that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was the only real cure for diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder and Blood, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia and Chronic Constipation. They bought a large sized bottle of their druggists and it benefited or cured them (the above is not an idle statement, but the result of careful investigation.)

You can do the same thing. If you are in doubt as to whether you have trouble with your Kidneys or bladder, put some of your urine in a glass tumbler and let it stand 24 hours, it it has a sediment, or a milky, cloudy appearance, if it is ropy or stringy, pale or discolored, you should lose no time in taking Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, it can be had of all druggists at $1.00 a large bottle, or six bottles for $500. It is without question the surest medicine of the age to put a stop to such dangerous symptoms as pain in the back, a frequent desire to urinate, especially at night, scalding burning pain in passing water, inability to hold urine and all the unpleasant and dangerous effects produced on the system by the use of whiskey and beer.

Send your full name and address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., and be sure to mention the Quincy Ledger, when a trial bottle, with a pamphlet of valuable medical advice, will be mailed to you absolutely free. The publishers of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this liberal offer.

Dogs Must Be Licensed

ON OR BEFORE APRIL 30th,

Or the Owners or Keepers Thereof are

LIABLE TO A FINE

CITY OF QUINCY.

[Extracts from the Laws of this Commonwealth.]

Every owner or keeper of a dog of three months old or over, shall annually on or before the THIRTIETH DAY OF APRIL, cause it to be REGISTERED, NUMBERED, DESCRIBED and LICENSED for one year from the first day of the ensuing May, in the office of the Clerk of the city or town wherein said dog is kept, and shall cause it to wear around its neck a collar distinctly marked with the owner's name and its registered number.

Any owner of a dog may at any time have it licensed until the first day of the ensuing May; and a person becoming the owner or keeper of a dog after the first day of May, not duly licensed, shall cause it to be registered, numbered, described and licensed as provided in the preceding section.

The FEE for every license shall be TWO DOLLARS for a Male dog and FIVE DOLLARS for a Female dog.

Whoever keeps a dog contrary to the provisions of this chapter shall forfeit FIFTEEN DOLLARS, five dollars of which shall be paid to the complainant and ten dollars to the treasurer of the county in which the dog is kept.

Every owner or keeper of dogs kept for breeding purposes may receive annually a special license authorizing him to keep such dogs upon the premises described in such license. When the number of dogs so kept does not exceed five, the fee for such license shall be TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS; when the number of dogs so kept exceeds five, the fee shall be FIFTY DOLLARS, and no fee shall be required for the dogs of such owner or keeper under the age of six months.

Any owner or keeper of a dog not duly licensed, which becomes three months old after the thirtieth day of April in any year, shall, whenever it is three months old, cause it to be registered, numbered, described and licensed until the first day of the ensuing May, as provided in Section 80 of Chapter 102 of the Public Statutes, and shall cause is to wear around its neck a collar distinctly marked with its owner's name and its registered number.

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate.

BY Virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Hamlin E. Chilcott, of Boston, in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to George L. Baxter, of Somerville, in said Commonwealth, dated May 8, 1895, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, libro 735, folio 461, for breach of the condition of said mortgage, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises on SATURDAY, the 10th day of June, 1899, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, all and singular, the premises conveyed by said mortgage and therein described as follows, to wit:

A certain parcel of land situated in that part of the City of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk and Commonwealth aforesaid, called "Atlantic," being Lot No. 222 on plan of "Norfolk Downs," by Charles D. Elliot, dated April, 1892, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, Book of Plans No. 14, plan numbered 640, bounded and described as follows, viz.: Southwesterly by Freeman street, fifty (50) feet; northwesterly by lot No. 221 on said plan, one hundred (100) feet; northeasterly by lot No. 252 on said plan, fifty (50) feet; southeasterly by lot No. 223 on said plan, one hundred (100) feet; containing according to said plan, five thousand (5,000) square feet of land. Being the same premises conveyed to said Hamlin E. Chilcott by Henry H. Savage et. al., trustees, by deed dated January 16, 1895, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, libro 729, folio 152; and subject to the restrictions recited in said deed.

Said premises will be sold subject to aforesaid restrictions, and unpaid taxes, assessments and tax titles, if any there be.

Further terms at sale.

Important Advice.

It is surprising how many people wake up in the morning nearly as tired as when they went to bed, a disagreeable taste in their mouth, the lips sticky, and the breath offensive, with a coated tongue. These are nature's first warnings of Dyspepsia and Liver Disorders, but if the U. S. Army & Navy Tablets are resorted to at this stage they will restore the system to a healthy condition. A few doses will do more for a weak or sour stomach and Constipation than a prolonged course of any other medicine.

If you can not get them at your drug store, send 10c. for a package of 12 to the U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLET CO., 17 EAST 14TH ST., NEW YORK.

LONGEST IN HISTORY.

Queen Victoria's Reign Has Reached Almost Sixty-Two Years.

All England Pays Homage to the Beloved Monarch.

Notable Gathering at Windsor In Honor of Her Eightieth Birthday.

London, May 24.—Queen Victoria is 80 years old today. Her reign over England has now reached almost 62 years. It is the longest reign of any monarch of ancient or modern times.

Her life is the story of a little princess born without hope of a throne, but early apprised of her prospects. From the hour that greatness dawned every moment was spent in preparation for the high honor that afterwards came to her.

QUEEN VICTORIA.

The history of the reign of Victoria I is the most glorious in British annals. No great wars, such as those of the time of Marlborough or Wellington and Nelson are set down, but the confines of the empire have been vastly extended eastward and southward. Her reign has, nevertheless, been signalized by a large number of wars, none of them against any European power save that against Russia in the Crimea.

Beginning as a queen, she has become an empress. Her government has exercised a potential part in every rearrangement of the map of Europe. So vast is her imperial domain that on it "the sun never sets."

The gathering of the royal family at Windsor Castle today to celebrate the birthday of the queen is the largest, with the exception of the jubilee, gathering that has assembled there in many years. Not only are four generations in succession present, but there is a great gathering of children and grandchildren of her majesty.

The return of sunshine was a happy augury of the success of the celebration. The royal borough is in gala dress; the country itself is brilliant with lilac, chestnut and laburnum blooms, while the grey old castle is gay with the royal standard and British flags.

A gorgeous, if unambitious, pageant of military knights, Scots guards, choral societies and holiday makers, was most successful. The program opened with a serenade madrigal sung by the choral societies in the quadrangle of the castle at 10 o'clock this morning. This was followed by the presentation of addresses and rose baskets by the royal warrant holders, a parade of the Second regiment of Scots guards, the firing of guns and a thanksgiving service in St. George's chapel. A performance of "Lohengrin" will occur this evening in the Waterloo chamber of the castle, in which the entire Covent Garden company will appear.

Although the official celebration in London will not occur until June 3, there were thanksgiving services in St. Paul's cathedral and Westminster abbey, as well as in many other large churches, and reviews at all the military barracks.

During the day the queen for the first time used the electrophone to hear the national anthem sung in various parts of the kingdom.

To Undergo an Operation.

London, May 24.—Truth, in spite of semi-official statements to the contrary, insists that an operation for cataract on the queen's eyes is inevitable. It says: The queen has just consulted Professor Pagenstecker of Wiesbaden, who guaranteed the success of the operation, and opines the queen will entirely regain the excellent sight she possessed until recently.

Prisoners Set Free.

Dublin, May 24.—The lord lieutenant of Ireland, Earl Cadogan, has released O'Hanlon, Mullet and James Fitz Harris, alias "skin the goat," the last three Irish political prisoners, who were sentenced to imprisonment for life for conspiring to murder Lord Frederick Cavendish, chief secretary for Ireland, and T. H. Burke, permanent under secretary for Ireland, who were assassinated by stabbing in Phoenix park, Dublin, May 6, 1882.

Countess Behind Counter.

London, May 24.—The Countess of Warwick, who recently created a sensation by floating the Warwick Estate company, limited, personally attended yesterday at the opening of her shop for the sale of school needle-work in New Bond street, and served at the counter. Her appearance in this capacity caused a great rush to the establishment.

BOSTON AN EASY MARK.

Tebeau Puts New Life In St. Louis Men and They Won Handily.

St. Louis, May 24.—Boston was beaten by St. Louis in a game in which St. Louis had the best of it all the way through, hitting the ball and scoring runs in almost every inning.

Tebeau took up his old position at first base, and his reappearance seemed to put new life in the players. The weather was clear, but cool, and a crowd of nearly 6000 persons were in attendance.

They cheered for the home team, instead of guying it as they did in the opening game on Monday. Collins had an off day, and his poor work at third contributed greatly to the victory of the home team.

Happy Malden.

Malden, Mass., May 24.—With all that went to make up a fitting climax to a celebration which for many years to come will be pointed to with just pride, the city of Malden yesterday brought to a close the festivities attending the 250th anniversary of its incorporation as a town. "Open house" was the motto of the day on every hand. The program of the events of the day was a lengthy one, but they were all successfully carried out in every detail and with satisfaction to all concerned. The big parade in the morning was one of the chief features, and was witnessed by an immense gathering, which cheered itself almost to hoarseness as the different bodies marched past to the sound of the many bands of music. Many of the citizens at their own expense had erected grand stands on their lawns and at other conspicuous places. One of these collapsed, causing slight injuries to some of the occupants. Governor Wolcott, with Adjutant General Dalton and members of his staff, President Smith of the senate and Speaker Bates of the house of representatives, were numbered among the guests of the city. There were band concerts given at different intervals during the day, and in the evening came the two big events, which served as great attractions. Officially the big three days' celebration closed with the banquet in the mammoth anniversary building, where about 1500 persons, representing the wealth and the beauty of the city, gathered about flower-laden tables and partook of a sumptuous repast. While the banquet was going on the fireworks at Eaton's field served as an attraction for about 10,000 others.

The Fate of the Paris.

Falmouth, May 24.—A leading Cornish diver takes a very pessimistic view of the prospects of saving the Paris. He says: "I do not anticipate that the Paris will ever be refloated. She is pierced by rocks amidships, her fore holds are badly damaged, the bulkheads are practically useless and, even if she were got off the rocks, I believe she would sink. In my opinion the only remedy is a false bottom, which it would take a month to complete, and I believe that even moderately rough water in the meantime would break up the ship."

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

CHARGES JUSTIFIED.

Unjust Discrimination In Appraisement of Dutiable Imports.

Due to Faulty and Inconsiderate Methods.

Appraiser Wakeman, However, Has Been Governed by Honesty of Purpose.

Washington, May 24.—The commission composed of Special Agents Whitehead, Maher and Parker, appointed to investigate charges of maladministration at the appraisers' stores in New York, has submitted its first report. While the details of the report will not be made public at present it is understood that certain charges preferred by four New York firms form the basis of the investigation. The charges are that there has been discrimination, inconsistency and delay in the appraisement of the merchandise of certain importers, and that methods not contemplated by law have been resorted to in fixing dutiable values.

The commission finds that Appraiser Wakeman has administered his office in an energetic manner, and that he has been governed by honesty of purpose. The opinion is expressed that consigned goods have not paid their full measure of duties at the custom house; that invoices of that character afford a fruitful field for officers who are on the alert to detect and prevent undervaluations, and that no mistake was made when the subject of embroideries from St. Gall, involving imports of the value of $7,000,000 annually, paying 60 percent advalorem duty, was taken up for consideration. But the commission condemns the method of appraisement in vogue during the early part of 1898 as improper. Appraisement under section 11 of the customs administrative act, by taking the selling price in the United States as a basis for appraisement, is declared to be the direct cause of the complaints made. In the opinion of the commission, the law is applicable only when the dutiable value cannot be otherwise ascertained. St. Gall goods, having a market value in the country whence exported to the United States, an appraisement on any other basis, or to take into consideration selling prices in this country, was without authority of law.

It appears, the report says, to be established that, through faulty and inconsiderate methods of appraisement, inconsistencies and irregularities in valuation have occurred, the result of which seems to justify the charges alleging unjust discrimination.

Specific evidence was obtained in many instances to sustain the charge of unreasonable delay. It is shown that, after hearing both sides of the controversy, entries, invoices, etc., were examined, and from them alone were the facts determined. This silent testimony demonstrates that goods of certain importers were in instances largely advanced on appraisement, while similar goods of other importers were passed as invoiced.

The report states that an assistant appraiser has exposed invoices of one importer to a competitor in business, and that the same officer has in other ways violated the rules of the department by disclosing the secrets of business concerning which he gained a knowledge through his official position.

The commission does not agree with the contention that it is a violation of law for Mr. Wakeman to hold both the office of appraiser and that of secretary of the American Protective Tariff league. It says his connection with the organization referred to, while holding the office of appraiser, involves a question of propriety, which it is not the province of the commission to decide.

There are other matters under consideration by the commission, and further reports will from time to time be made.

McPartland Beats Sullivan.

New York, May 24.—After 25 rounds of fast and vicious fighting last night "Kid" McPartland was given the decision over "Spike" Sullivan. Going into the fight on the short end of the betting, McPartland completely upset the calculations of the sports. He bested his man at every point, and administered to him the most severe punishment that Sullivan has ever received in his pugilistic career. Despite the terrible punishment, Sullivan showed remarkable recuperative power, and often came back surprisingly strong. The men fought as if they had a grudge. It was a contest replete with sensations, and the large crowd was on its feet yelling half a dozen times. The men fought under Queensberry rules, with the understanding that each must protect himself in the breakaways. And as a result Referee White worked almost as hard as the principals. The men clinched repeatedly, and constantly sought to hit in the clinches. Sullivan seemed to keep his elbows up close to McPartland's mouth, and McPartland often had the appearance of hitting his man while holding him.

Employes to Give It Up.

Springfield, Mass., May 24.—As a result of a conference between the Springfield Breweries company and the Brewery Workmen's union the latter will probably decide not to leave work on the threatened strike. The company refused to grant the most important concession asked, that of a nine-hour day in the four winter months. The employes believe it useless to take issue on this.

Good Afternoon.

The Socialist-Democrats were much pleased with the Ledger's editorial of Tuesday relative to trusts, and say we are eligible for membership in the new party. The Ledger would however accomplish the reform within the present parties. Parties with a single object, as the Temperance party, the Labor party, etc., never amount to anything, and often retard the reform for which they are working. We fear it will be the same with the Socialists or Anti-Trust party. The members are not the only ones who are opposed to trusts.

The disability of Postmaster Thomas of Boston again reminds us that the people are making too many demands upon their public men. Col. Thomas has always been found ready and willing to speak on all occasions and has been an interesting and popular speaker at many patriotic and educational gatherings and dinners. To administer the duties of a large establishment like the Boston post office is quite as much as a man ought to undertake, but he has not neglected his obligations to the government, and the strain has been too much for him. His many friends hope the alarming reports may have been exaggerated.

The Ledger recently stated that the railroad crossings at Adams street, Dimmock street, Granite street and School street might be involved in the petition to abolish the grade crossings at Savil street and Water street, thereby increasing the expense. We have been asked if the Ledger believes that they have anything to do with the two crossings named. Certainly, it does. The grade crossing act says, "A petition may embrace several grade crossings or several railroad crossings at or near the same point, or by order of the court several separate petitions may be consolidated and heard as one."

It is reported that the plan of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. for the abolition of the Savil street and Water street crossings contemplates beginning at a point north of Presidents' bridge at Adams street, and raising the grade nearly to Capens bridge at Braintree. It is well known that there is a heavy grade from Water street to Braintree, and that the railroad would oppose any attempt to depress its tracks at said street. If the tracks are raised at this point to allow Water street to go under, the School street bridge must also be raised, and in turn all the other bridges. Raising of the tracks may also call for granite abutment walls from Granite street to the old pumping station of the water works. If the city has to pay even one-tenth of all this cost it will have a big bill, possibly as large as Brockton, which was called upon to pay over $200,000. Again we ask, are there not other improvements which could be made with this money which would be of greater benefit to Quincy?

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Charles Francis Adams, in very polite and diplomatic language, told the anti-imperialists to shut up. It "hurted" some of them.—Lynn Item.

☞ A young man who committed suicide in Manchester, N. H., last Friday, had often been heard to remark that a man without money had no business to live. If all men who are afflicted in this manner were to follow this unfortunate's example, what a busy time the undertakers would have. Brockton Times.

☞ Real religion is not, and it never has been, a thing apart from the common life of man. They blunder sadly who think that, to get near the hearts of men and women who are outside of the churches, they must discuss secular affairs.—Christian Register.

☞ Possibly the remedy for the divorce evil will be found in better laws. But there is not much hope of better laws without a better public sentiment, and if there were the better sentiment, the laws would hardly be necessary.—New Bedford Standard.

☞ If men will but see it, the very fact that a peace congress of the nations is actually in session is the indication of a tremendous advance. Plenty of men now living can remember when such a congress would not merely have been impossible, — it would have been unthinkable in the popular mind.—New Bedford Standard.

☞ Our heroic dead made our history, made us a free, united, happy and prosperous people. Let us, then, pay homage to their memory. The mounds of dead are increasing every year and the ladies of the Relief Corps find it a hard task to provide flowers for all. Every one, then, lend a hand. Save all the flowers. Be an American.—Nashua Press.

☞ There is no doubt whatever that the public school question is beginning to be looked into by the people, along the line of thought that after all perhaps, in some particulars, at least, the common schools are rather private than public, to the degree that some of the branches taught are for the benefit of few rather than of the many.—Milford Journal.

☞ Riding a wheel these beautiful spring days comes about as near being an ideal pleasure as one can ask. To appreciate the glory and beauty of the season one wants to start early, go into the side paths and by ways, ride slowly and stop frequently. The person who cannot enjoy such an experience must be out of kilter generally and should look after his liver.—Stoughton Sentinel.

☞ Charles Francis Adams has disturbed the anti-imperialistic league by his letter to that body. Adams is a vice-president of the league, but has come to the conclusion that its policy requires decided modification. The descendant of two presidents has the courage to abandon a course that appears unwise and impolitic, and to acknowledge the logic of accomplished facts.—Brockton Times.

☞ Give your own town the best of it anywhere and everywhere you may be! Help your town and yourself with it! Criticise certain features of its life and business if you will, but let that criticism be fair and helpful and don't "knock" your town for the mere pleasure of knocking. It is the belief-in-ourselves spirit that has enabled Brockton to surpass every other place in Plymouth county, and it is that spirit which will keep her at the front.—Brockton Enterprise.

☞ The "reformers" in Massachusetts who represent the salt of the earth and the glories of the stellar universe, are very wroth because the men who served in the Spanish war are put in the preference list under the civil service commission in this state, claiming that it is a direct blow at the system. They were perfectly willing, however, that these men should enlist. The trouble with these worthies is, that they fear the chances are lessened for themselves and their friends "monkeying" themselves into office —Milford Journal.

TWO ATTEMPTS.

Suicide of Wollaston Young Man.

Jumped in Front of an Express Train.

Insane from Effects of a Fall a Year Ago.

Benjamin H. Kingsley of Wollaston, aged 28 years and unmarried, made two attempts this morning to commit suicide by jumping in front of moving trains. The first attempt was unsuccessful owing to the prompt action of Warren Cameron, the assistant station agent. The second attempt which was made an hour later was successful, however, and Kingsley was killed instantly.

It was shortly after 9 o'clock when Kingsley jumped in front of an inward express train just as it was passing the Wollaston depot. Cameron who stood near by and witnessed the act, rushed onto the track and succeeded in getting the would-be suicide off, as the train rushed by. Both, however, had a narrow escape from being killed, as the engine only cleared them by a few feet.

Kingsley quietly remarked, "Well, you saved my life that time," and started up Newport avenue toward Quincy.

Officer Barry who had been notified went to Wollaston and there saw the young man's father, who said his son was out of his head at times, and he had the papers made out ready to have him examined and sent away.

Officer Barry took the car for Quincy and on the way up passed Kingsley who was walking leisurely along the street.

Shortly after word was received by the police that a man had been killed by the 10.12 inward train from Quincy. The man proved to be Kingsley.

It seems that after the car containing Officer Barry had passed he went upon the railroad track near the sewer department freight house and when the 10.12 train came along jumped in front of it. He was struck and instantly killed. The train was stopped and the body placed in the bagagge car and taken to the Wollaston depot where it was later viewed by the medical examiner.

Kingsley was a painter by trade and about a year ago fell from a building at Norfolk Downs and injured his head severely, from which he has never recovered. He has been insane at times but never violent. It was, however, thought best to have him taken care of, and as stated above, papers had been taken out to have him examined and if necessary sent away. It is possible that he became aware of the proceedings.

No one, save the engineer of the train, saw Kingsley when he threw himself upon the track; but it is said that he stood near the outside rail until just before the engine reached him when he threw himself forward in such a manner that the wheels passed over his head crushing it into an unrecognizable mass.

Officer Barry says that when he saw the young man's father, after the first attempt, that he offered his assistance in taking care of him, but the father said it was not necessary as the young man was harmless.

"Comfort" in the Sick Room.

IN THE CITY NURSERY

Young Saplings Which Together Assume Importance.

John R. Graham is in New York this week on a brief business trip.

There are a few chainless bicycles in Quincy. They come high.

The yacht "Say When" makes her first trip today to South Boston.

One-half of the Point bridge is being repaired while the other half is left open for passing.

William O. Grant of Copeland street had a shock of the brain Sunday and is seriously ill.

Daniel Mahoney of Co. K has joined the regular army and is at Fort Slocum, New York.

Rev. Robert Westly Peach is in Minneapolis, Minn., a delegate to the General Presbytery.

We were not aware that Quincy Clothing Co. made clothing to order, until their "ad" of today.

The homestead of the late David Joy on Packard's lane will be sold by the executor tomorrow at 5 P. M.

A handsome sarcophagus monument has been erected this week by Burke Bros. upon their lot at Mount Wollaston.

Lovell's grove will be open May 30. Jordan Marsh & Co. base ball team will play the Tubular Rivets of Wollaston for a purse of $100.

The graduation exercises at the Brighton high school, of which Frederic Allison Tupper is master, will take place June 22.

Charles H. Morse, the chief engineer of the Braintree & Weymouth street railway will be the engineer of the steamer City of Quincy this year.

The choirs of Christ church, Quincy, and St. Chrysostom, Wollaston, attend tonight the Church of the Advent for the ninth annual festival of the choir guild.

Quincy court of Forresters had an interesting smoke talk on Monday evening, with speeches, music, readings and impersonations, followed by refreshments.

C. H. Johnson has in his possession an ancient Masonic chart, which is to Masons a curiosity. It comprises the blue lodge, chapter and royal arch degrees. The picture is 31 by 26.

Cards are out for the church wedding of Miss Grace White Pettengill and Mr. Henry Lincoln Kincaide. The marriage will take place in the First church, Wednesday evening, June 7 at eight o'clock.

Barre evidently wants the credit of that 200-ton block which the Granite Railway company of Quincy has just quarried, for the Times copied the Ledger item without the word Quincy in it, and said "it its one of the sights of the city."

The June Ladies' Home Journal has an interesting article, with illustrations, on "Where Our Presidents Are Buried." The illustrations are in the order in which they were president, Mount Vernon being first and the old First church at Quincy second. John Tyler is the only president whose grave is unmarked and Quincy is the only place to have two presidents buried in the same tomb.

The Rescue of the Whalers, a sled journey of 1,600 miles in the arctic regions, is one of the leading articles in the June number of Harper's magazine. It is by Lieut. Ellsworth P. Bertholf, U. S. R. C. S., and tells of the trip of the revenue-cutter Bear into the arctic regions to rescue eight whaling vessels blocked in the ice near Point Barrow. In a group picture of the officers, Mr. Herbert W. Spear, chief engineer, a Quincy boy, is easily recognized.

☞ Household Sewing Machines worth $40, our price, $19. 10 years guarantee. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

Volunteer Meeting.

A meeting of the Volunteers of the Spanish-American war from Quincy and surrounding towns will be held in Y. M. C. A. rooms tomorrow evening at eight o'clock. It is necessary that as many as possilbe be present as an organization of some kind will be started. Any man, no matter what branch of the service he was in, is invited to take part. A vote will be taken as to whether it be an independent order or a part of the National order. Arrangements will also be made for honoring Private John Boyd and assisting the G. A. R. on Memorial day.

Atwood Turned Down.

A stormy session of the Boston school committee was held Tuesday evening. The committee on new buildings had recommended that Harrison H. Atwood be selected to prepare plans for the proposed normal school. It was voted 13 to 10, with one absent, to recommit the whole matter.

☞ Columbia Graphophones, $10 and $15 The finest talking machine on earth. They are simply wonderful. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

Duncan Has a Rival.

The different branches of the National Granite Cutters' Union are busy selecting a secretary and headquarters. There are two candidates in the field this year for the secretaryship, James Duncan, the present incumbent and Bennett Julian, the present financial secretary of Barre branch. All the unions will vote for their choice before June 1st.

The following from the Concord, N. H., Monitor, of May 18th, shows how that branch stands:

"At the last meeting of the Concord branch of the Granite Cutters' National Union it was voted to support the candidacy of Bennett Julian of Barre, Vt., as first choice relative to the secretaryship of the National Union. James Duncan was second choice. It was also voted to select Boston as the seat of government."

At a meeting of the Tool Sharpeners branch in Barre last week they voted by a large majority to support Mr. Julian. The Barre branch of the G. C. N. U. will meet next Saturday to vote and the Times says, for the credit of the Union and the city it is hoped there will be a very large attendance and a big vote.

Lively Runaway.

There was a lively runaway accident at Wollaston this morning, and as a result Dr. Curtis received a severe shaking up and his horse a serious injury.

The doctor was driving up Beach street toward Hancock street, when his horse became frightened at a man picking up brush. The animal jumped one side overturning the buggy and throwing the doctor out. The animal continued on his mad run and soon cleared himself of everything but the shafts of the carriage. As the horse dashed across the Beale street bridge he ran into a team coming in the opposite direction, with such force that the shaft was driven into his breast, making a ragged wound.

The doctor's horse dropped like a log, and it was some minutes before he was cleared of the wreckage and taken home. Dr. Curtis was severely bruised but fortunately escaped without breaking any bones.

Slight Fire.

The prompt action of Inspector McKay this morning prevented what might have proved a disastrous fire at the residence of Isaac Hull Adams on Elm street. Inspector McKay was passing the house a few minutes past 8 o'clock when the servant rushed out and informed him there was a fire in the house, and she had been unable to locate it. Inspector McKay rushed in and found the house full of smoke. It was some minutes before he was able to locate the fire, which was under the sink in the kitchen, but he extinguished it.

The servant had been cleaning the stove with a rag which she afterward placed under the sink. The rag was covered with stove blacking and the heat caused it to ignite. The only damage done was to burn a box and some of the wood work under the sink.

Very Close Golf Match.

Mr. Richardson saved the Harvard golf club from defeat at the Wollaston links on Tuesday by breaking the nine-hole competition record with 37, which gave him 5 holes up with Mr. Freeman. There were nine men on a side and five of the Wollaston men won, but Harvard won the match by just one hole, 14 to 13. The summary:

TODAY'S COURT.

The continued case of Henry H. Burrell of Weymouth for drunkenness was called, and he was defaulted.

The continued case of Thomas O'Holloran for violations of the liquor law at Randolph was called, and he was fined $50.

The continued case of George Arbuckle for indecent exposure at Quincy was called, and he was fined $5.

Allesancho Massa was fined $10 for disturbing the peace at Weymouth.

The continued case of George Fisher, the witness in the Teresa Grant liquor case, who was held on the charge of perjury, was called and again continued until Saturday.

The continued case of William Metcalf of Quincy for non-support was called and was again continued for three months.

Charles H. Totman and Charles F. Ashport, who were in court last week for the larceny of hens at Braintree and were sentenced to jail, were brought into court this morning.

Totman and Ashport were arraigned for the larceny of eighteen hens from John Quinn at Milton, and were sentenced to four additional months in the house of correction.

Ashport was also arraigned for the larceny of eleven hens from James Needham at Milton and was sentenced to four months more in the house of correction.

Totman and Ashport having been sentenced for a similar offence last week, Totman will be locked up for eleven months and Ashport for fifteen months.

WEYMOUTH.

Mrs. John Long and sons of Springfield have been making a visit with her mother Mrs. Ellen Pratt at Porter.

Miss Mabel Dyer of Norwell is visiting friends in this place.

Mr. Peter Burke who has been ill for a number of months with consumption passed away at his home on Pleasant street last week.

Musical Festival.

The ninth annual festival of the choir guild will begin this evening at the Church of the Advent, the choirs taking part coming from the Advent, St. Paul's, Brookline; St. Mary's, Dorchester; Christ church, Hyde Park; St. John's, Jamaica Plain; Messiah, Boston; Christ church, Quincy; and St. Chrysostom, Wollaston. The second section of the festival will be in St. Paul's church, Boston, Wednesday evening, May 31, and the third section in Emmanuel church, Boston, Wednesday, June 7, S. B. Whitney, Edgar A. Barrett and H. P. Newcomb will be the different organists.

Prof. Churchill.

The readings by Prof. J.B. Churchill at the High School building on Monday evening fully met the expectations of those who have heard of him, and of those who listened to his recitals years ago. He gave a lengthy programme of great variety, selections from Victor Hugo, Sand McDonald's Signal, Dante, Gabriel Rossetti's "Sister Helen," impersonations of a Frenchman, "Lord Clive" by Browning and a selection from the Pickwick Papers.

—The best map of Boston published is to be found in the Greater-Boston business directory for 1899. It not only shows all the streets of Boston but some of the suburban cities. About the only criticism we would make is that it does not include Quincy as well as Somerville Cambridge and Brookline.

—A good railway engine will travel about 1,000,000 miles before it wears out. However, the life of an engine depends as to its length upon the treatment it receives. With ordinary service it ought to last 12 years.

The Magazines.

The complete novel in the June issue of Lippincott's is entitled "Green Withes," by Jeannette H. Walworth. This is a tale of strong human interest, touching, as it does on one of the vital questions of today. The snapping of the green withes of convention and the inevitable awakening are told in a forceful and interesting way, which is calculated to arouse the reader's deepest sympathy. A truly delightful article on "The Summer's Birds," by Dr. Charles C. Abbott, will be found entertaining, as well as useful in country walks this summer.

MUCH TACT REQUIRED,

Military and Civilian Members of Commission Not of One Mind.

War Department Inclined to Support General Otis.

His Dealings With Filipinos Thus Far Satisfactory to the Cabinet.

Washington, May 24.—The indication clearly set out in the news dispatches from Manila of a division of opinion among the United States commissioners as to the best method of dealing with the insurgents at this critical stage, has aroused deep interest here.

Nothing was received at the state department yesterday from President Schurman of the commission and in General Otis' dispatches to Secretary Alger, or at least all of them made public, there is no reference to any dissatisfaction on his part with the attitude of the civilian members of the commission. It is regarded as perhaps a misfortune that this phase of the situation was not reached before Admiral Dewey, by leaving Manila for home, lost to the commission the benefit of his experience and sound judgment. It is realized here that much tact is required at this juncture in order, while avoiding extreme measures with the Filipinos, not to fall into the much graver error of losing the expensively bought fruits of the victories of the American army and navy.

The war department is inclined to support General Otis, not only because of his connection with the war, but also on the ground that his longer experience with the insurgents better fits him to understand the native character. However, the president is giving the matter his close personal attention, assisted not only by Secretary Hay, who is directly responsible for the instructions given to the commission, but by all of the members of the cabinet, and a proper outcome of the little difference may be expected.

It is said at the war department that the town of Zamboango is not to be permanently abandoned to the possession of the insurgents in that quarter of the Philippines. The Spanish garrison will be withdrawn before General Otis is ready to occupy the place, but just as soon as conditions at Manila and vicinity permit of the withdrawal of a sufficient military force, Zamboango will be garrisoned by American troops.

General Otis' report, received by mail and read by the president at the cabinet meeting yesterday, is pronounced by those who heard it a most interesting summary of the situation in the Philippines. In the main, it presents the subject from a military point of view.

But probably the most important contribution is that covering the correspondence between General Otis and Aguinaldo just preceding the outbreak, showing conclusively that the American commander used every effort to avoid a conflict. The communication from Aguinaldo bear his signature and give little evidence of a conciliatory spirit or a disposition to accept American rule. The members of the cabinet believe that they furnish a conclusive showing of the rectitude of our course in dealing with the uprising. It was felt to be such a strong presentation of the conditions leading up to the insurrection now existing that it was determined to make it public at once. Time was required, however, to make a summary and prepare copies. The report covers about 15 typewritten pages and brings the subject up to about six weeks ago.

Secretary Hay has received from President Schurman a long message giving the results of the meetings thus far held with the native Filipino commission sent by Aguinaldo to treat with the Americans. The message was laid before the president last night. He was very much gratified at its contents, which are said to be very encouraging for the outlook that something definite may be accomplished. President Schurman reports that the native commissioners will take back to their people the proposition for a form of government, etc., suggested by the American commissioner. The text of the dispatch will not be made public. It was stated on the authority of a gentleman who spent some time with the president, that there are no difficulties of any consequence between the military and civilian members of the Philippine commission as to the course to be adopted in dealing with the natives.

May Soon Be Released.

Washington, May 24. — Admiral Dewey's last concern before leaving Manila was for the safety of the unfortunate crew of the Yorktown's launch, held captive by the Filipinos. He has initiated steps that are expected to result very soon in the release of these captives, but it is deemed unwise to make them public in advance of their execution. At Admiral Dewey's request General Otis has succeeded in making arrangements with the insurgent leaders whereby he is enabled to supply the American prisoners with necessary food and clothing.

Dozen Officials Suspended.

Washington, May 24.—In the cases of the 22 customs inspectors at New York recently suspended upon charges of neglect of duty and of accepting tips from incoming steamship passengers, the collector and surveyor of the port who investigated the charges have reported that as to 10 of the men the charges were not sustained, and as to the remaining 12 it was found that the facts warranted their suspension from duty. These recommendations have been approved by Assistant Secretary Spaulding.

"As Ithers See Us."

Washington, May 24.—An example of the manner in which anti-American prejudice is formed in some quarters of Europe has just been brought to the attention of the state department in a recent issue of Le Petit Marseillais of Marseilles, France. This paper contains a full page illustration representing the public flogging of a young woman by the sheriff at Manassas, Va., in the presence of a crowd of persons of both sexes, and all make some severe comment on the scene. As a matter of fact punishment by flogging is not authorized by the laws of Virginia, and the illustration is purely imiginary.

Great Day at Washington.

Washington, May 24.—Beginning with an imposing parade of military and other uniformed organizations, and closing with a display of fireworks at night, the national capital yesterday inaugurated a three days' peace jubilee. The main thoroughfares of the city and all the public buildings were decorated with bunting, and the attractive program of parades and festivities has drawn a large number of visitors. The parade, which was the feature of the first day, moved between cheering throngs, and passed in review before the president and a distinguished party of public officials. The day opened with the boom of big guns from the Dolphin, which fired the national salute at sunrise, and church chimes and hundreds of steam whistles joined in the noisy chorus. At noon the departments closed, and poured their thousands out to join the crowds on the streets, and at the same hour a salute of 45 guns was fired.

Dishonest Silver Teller.

Washington, May 24.—Chief Wilkie of the secret service has announced the arrest in Chicago of William Coleman, a silver teller in the sub-treasury there, on a charge of having abstracted silver from bags received from the banks. It is said that Coleman has been engaged in tampering with the coin bags since last November.

Buffalo Strike Straightened Out.

Buffalo, May 24.—Yesterday saw the general breaking up of the dock strikes here. The settlement of the grain shovelers' trouble was quickly followed by the disintegration of all of the other strikes along the water front. The strikes of the freight handlers, marine firemen, coal heavers and handlers were merely incident to the scoopers' movement and brought about largely because of sympathy for them. The freight handlers' committee held a conference early last night with Contractor Connors and representatives of the associated lake lines. The freight handlers agreed to waive the question of wages in return for other substantial concessions. The agreement was ratified and the strikers voted to go back to work in the morning. The marine firemen who went out in sympathy for the grain shovelers voted to return to work. The ore and coal men were in conference. An advance in wages and other minor concessions were granted to the men, and both strikes were declared off. From 3000 to 12,000 workingmen have taken part in the struggle from first to last, and yet the whole history of the strike does not contain the stain of a single riot or a single authenticated attempt to destroy property or interfere with the rights of others.

International Law May Be Discussed.

London, May 24.—The correspondent of The Morning Post at The Hague says: The question of international law is likely to be discussed by the conference. The code prepared for submission to the conference provides that the autonomy of nations is invincible; that there is no right of conquest between them; that they possess the right of legitimate defense, and are subject to the same principles of law and equity as individuals; that no nation has a right to declare war upon another, and that disputes between nations are to be settled by legal methods. The colonial section of the code deals with the formation of colonies. It recognizes their right to claim autonomy or independence, though other nations may intervene when, in their opinion, the administration is unsatisfactory, or the mother country does not heed the colonial representations.

Christian Scientists Arrested.

Buffalo, May 24.—George H. Kinter and wife, well known in Christian Science circles, are under arrest on warrants charging them with manslaughter in causing the death of Ralph L. Saunders, 9 years old, who, with his parents, had been visiting the home of Captain Sample at Fort Porter. Warrants on the same charge were also issued for Mr. and Mrs. James C. Saunders of Fort Townsend, Wash., the parents of the child. The boy is said to have died of pneumonia and without medical care.

The navy department has under construction an addition to the big gunshop at the Washington navy yard. The new building is 300 feet long, making the main shop 900 feet in length.

The Michigan house refused to concur in the railroad taxation bill passed by the senate increasing railroad taxation under the present law about $32,000 annually.

WEATHER AND CROPS.

Unfavorable Conditions Kept Farming Operations Practically at a Standstill.

Boston, May 23.—Cold and cloudy was the weather in New England during the past week. Compared with the previous week in these respects, the contrast is strong. Tuesday, the 16th, was a cold day. There were frosts in northern sections—killing in the interior of Maine. On the 17th ice one-eighth of an inch thick formed in Maine, and frosts occurred in the three northern states. Somewhat warmer weather followed, attending the general cloudiness that covered the section for the greater portion of the week remaining.

The almost unanimous report of the correspondents is that owing to the cold, cloudy weather, crops have been practically at a standstill during the week. This is true more particularly of the planted crops; seed just planted germinates slowly or not at all; potatos and corn that have appeared above ground show the effect of unfavorable weather. Grass and fruit thrive better, especially grass, which has improved somewhat. The reports on the fruit crop differ little from those of a week ago. The caterpillar is doing much harm to foliage and buds in northern sections. In general, the light rainfall of the week, averaging less than one-half of an inch, although of benefit, is not nearly enough to satisfy farmers.

Rye continues to do fairly well in most districts. Oats have made little headway in the south. In the north the crop is mostly sown. Corn at this writing is most discouraging. In parts of the southern states, where the plants have appeared above the ground, they are turning yellow. There is some complaint of seed not germinating at all. Above all, corn needs warm weather.

The past week has been more favorable than otherwise to grass, but more rain is needed. In portions of Massachusetts and Vermont stock is being fed in the barn for want of pasture. In northern portions of New Hampshire and Vermont grass has been winter killed to a considerable extent. In Connecticut and Rhode Island this crop is doing moderately well.

Correspondents continue to report the prospect for apples below the average—this is true particularly of the winter varieties. The destruction of young foliage and buds by caterpillars in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont is becoming more serious. Of cherries and plums the reports of this week are less favorable than a week ago. Peaches are, to a considerable extent, winter killed. The fireworm is increasing in numbers on cranberry bogs.

Potatoes have grown little during the week. In Maine this crop is about half planted, a few small patches in the interior of Maine that were above ground were injured by the frosts; also other early garden truck. Onions are doing well. In Connecticut and Rhode Island peas and beans are growing nicely. Except in the most northern sections, vegetables generally have been sown and cultivation has begun in the south.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, May 24.—It is stated at the state house that Governor Wolcott will send to the legislature his veto of the bill authorizing the relaying of the street car tracks on Tremont street. When the subway was built these tracks were removed, but this year a bill passed both branches, although with considerable opposition, permitting the Elevated road to again run surface cars in this part of the city. The contest over the measure proved to be the feature of the present session. If the governor vetoes the bill, it is not unlikely to be passed over his objections.

There was a deserted air about the state house yesterday. The governor and his staff had gone to Malden for the 250th anniversary, and the house also had adjourned until afternoon, so that the morning hours were dull. Many of the state officials were away at the celebration.

Before the governor went away he signed the bill reorganizing the military examining board. Also the bill authorizing the governor to designate justices of the peace to solemnize marriages. He also signed the bill to abolish the East Boston grade crossings.

The senate, after a long debate, passed, without a division, the bill abolishing the Boston board of apportionment.

Senator Chamberlain urged the substitution of his bill for the bill apportioning the cost of the New Bedford and Fairhaven bridge. By a vote of 10 to 15, substitution was refused, and the bill was ordered to a third reading.

The house refused to concur with the senate in the amendments to the widetire bill, and a committee of conference was appointed.

A Mental Collapse.

Boston, May 24.—The Post says that the condition of Postmaster Henry A. Thomas is so serious that physicians in consultation yesterday ordered his removal to a sanitarium for special treatment. Overwork and insomnia have combined to bring on a mental collapse. The government has already granted Postmaster Thomas a 30 days' leave of absence on account of ill health.

A Grand Ovation.

Omaha, May 24.—The tribute of respect that Omaha people have been paying to Admiral Schley during the past few days reached its culmination last night at Boyd's Opera House, when the admiral occupied a box to witness Richard Mansfield's production of "Cyrano de Bergorac." The admiral entered the theater about 10 minutes before the curtain rose and the immense audience rose and cheered to the echo. He made a brief speech. At the close of the first act the ovation began again and continued for 10 minutes. It culminated when Mayor Moores proposed three cheers for the hero of Santiago. The response nearly raised the roof and Schley had to make another speech. The house was crowded to the doors by the best people of Omaha.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—4:14; sets, 7:08.
Moon rises—Morn.
High water—11:15 a. m.; 11:30 p. m.

Showers occurred yesterday in the gulf states and along the immediate Atlantic coast and in the north Pacific coast states; elsewhere fair weather prevailed. The temperature has risen generally, but continues below the seasonal average. Fair weather will continue over the northern half of the country. No marked changes in temperature are indicated. Along the Atlantic coast the winds will continue from the northeast.

Mortgagee's Sale.

TO Charles M. Smith and all others interested. Pursuant to the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Charles M. Smith to Albee E. Loker, dated May, 1894, and recorded in Norfolk Deeds, libro 713, folio 65, will be sold at public auction on the premises for breach of the conditions of said mortgage on SATURDAY, June tenth, 1899, at three o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the real estate contained in said deed, to wit:

A parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated in that part of Quincy, Mass., called Atlantic, being lot No. 529 on plan of "Norfolk Downs" by Charles D. Elliot, dated April, 1892, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, book of plans No. 14, plan 640, and bounded and described as follows: Easterly by Hamilton street, fifty feet; southerly by lot No. 530 on said plan, seventy feet; westerly by lot No. 546 on said plan, fifty feet; northerly by lot No. 528 on said plan, seventy feet. Containing according to said plan, 3,500 square feet of land.

Said premises will be sold subject to any existing restrictions and unpaid taxes, if any, together with all benefit and equity of redemption of the said Smith, his heirs, executors, administrators and assigns therein. Subject also to a prior mortgage of $1,100 to William W. Loker. Terms made known at the time and place of sale.

NORFOLK, ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO the heirs-at-law next of kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of ROBERT CLARKE, late of Quincy, in said County, deceased, intestate.

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Albert Clarke of Quincy without giving a surety on his bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, on the fourteenth day of June, A. D., 1899, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, George White, Esquire, Judge of said Court this twelfth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine.

Important Advice.

It is surprising how many people wake up in the morning nearly as tired as when they went to bed, a disagreeable taste in their mouth, the lips sticky, and the breath offensive, with a coated tongue. These are nature's first warnings of Dyspepsia and Liver Disorders, but if the U. S. Army & Navy Tablets are resorted to at this stage they will restore the system to a healthy condition. A few doses will do more for a weak or sour stomach and Constipation than a prolonged course of any other medicine.

If you can not get them at your drug store, send 10c. for a package of 12 to the U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLET CO., 17 EAST 14TH ST., NEW YORK.

A WAR STORY

Dealing With Interesting Events In Philippines.

Mac Arthur Tells How Insurgents Violated a Promise.

Showed Premeditated Purpose to Force a Collision.

American Troops Ready For Business When the Time Arrived.

Combat Characterized by Fine Display of Initiative by Our Men.

Washington, May 25.—Major General MacArthur, in a report to the war department, covers a period of time from the evening of Feb. 4, when the insurgent outbreak began, to Feb. 28. He gives a vivid picture of the conditions prevailing in Manila and its suburbs during the exciting times that followed the initiation of the insurgent attack. His report demonstrates the responsibility of the insurgents for the outbreak.

General MacArthur's command was the second division of the Eighth army corps, which included the Twentieth Kansas (Funston's command) and the Utah battery. General MacArthur mentions also a little naval contingent in the shape of a Colt automatic gun loaned by the Helena, manned by Lieutenant Davis, who volunteered with three marines. Making a brief statement of the position of the United States troops in Manila and suburbs just preceding the outbreak of Feb. 4, General MacArthur comes to the incidents leading up to the rupture. He says:

"The pertinacity of the insurgents in passing armed parties over the line of delimitation into American territory induced a correspondence which, in the light of the subsequent events, is interesting as indicating with considerable precision a premeditated purpose on the part of somebody in the insurgent army to force a collision." General MacArthur addressed a note to Colonel San Miguel of the insurgent army. The note from General MacArthur was as follows:

"The line between your command and my command has been long established and is well understood by yourself and myself. It is quite necessary under present conditions that this line should not be passed by armed men of either command. An armed party from your command now occupies the village in front of blockhouse No. 7, at a point considerably more than 100 yards on my side of the line, and is very active in exhibiting hostile intentions. This party must be withdrawn to your side of the line at once.

"From this date, if the line is crossed by your men with arms in their hands, they must be regarded as subject to such action as I may deem necessary."

To this note Colonel San Miguel responded as follows: "In reply to yours, dated this day, in which you inform me that my soldiers have been passing the line of demarcation fixed by agreement, I desire to say that this is foreign to my wishes and I shall give immediate orders in the premises that they retire."

Next came the disregard of the promise which precipitated the outbreak, and this is described by General MacArthur in the following language:

"At about 8:30 p. m., Feb. 4, an insurgent patrol, consisting of four armed soldiers, entered our territory at blockhouse No. 7 and advanced to the little village of Santel, which was occupied from the pipe line outpost of the Nebraska regiment. The American sentinel challenged twice and then, as the insurgent patrol continued to advance, he fired, whereupon the patrol retired to blockhouse No. 7, whence fire was immediately opened by the entire insurgent outpost at that point. At 9 p. m. Colonel Stotsenburg, First Nebraska infantry, U. S. V., reported considerable firing at his outposts, which extended gradually along the entire front of the division.

"At 10:10 p. m. it was evident that hostilities had been commenced in earnest by the insurgents, and accordingly an order issued from these headquarters to put everything on the firing line according to a program which had been prearranged for such an emergency."

Continuing, the report shows that the fighting progressed fiercely all night, and the next day the insurgents were driven back from their whole line. The Tennessee regiment and the South Dakota regiment are particularly mentioned as rendering good service. Says General MacArthur:

"The combat was characterized by a fine display of initiative on the part of the troops engaged, all of whom were essential to the final success achieved."

The affair of Feb 7 is described as an outpost affair originating between opposing sentinels and ending with a hand-to-hand conflict between three and a half companies, under Colonel Funston and Major Metcalf, and 200 insurgents. The latter stood firmly, and clubs, muskets and bayonets were freely used, the result being a complete rout of the enemy.

The general plan of the attack on Caloocan is described in the report. The program is said to have been carried out with almost exact precision, the tactical execution being excellent and the resistance such as to require the best efforts of all concerned. Company M of the Montana regiment is specially mentioned for its performance under Major Bell of some extra hazardous duty in making a feint.

Of the Nebraska regiment General MacArthur says: "In consequence of its advanced position at the pumping station, the Nebraska regiment has been engaged in a series of minor operations, which have resulted in a large amount of arduous and dangerous work, all of which has been cordially and well performed by this excellent regiment."

The attempt of the natives within the city, assisted by the insurgents outside, to rise within the city of Manila on the 23rd of February, is described is a formidable movement. General MacArthur says the situation was made embarrassing by the fact that a number of insurgent soldiers had succeeded in getting back of the American lines, and he shows how the Montana regiment, accompanied by Major Mallory, inspector general of the division, materially aided in suppressing the demonstration. High commendation is bestowed upon the little army gunboat Laguna de Bay, commanded by Captain Randolph, and upon the volunteer signal corps detachment under Captain Edgar Russell. Under this head it is shown how the signal corps made it possible to fully develop the co-operation of the navy by its system.

The quartermaster and subsistence departments are praised as completely successful in every detail. Says the report: "The supply of American soldiers engaged in active field operations on these distant shores with choice fresh beef from Australia, the very best quality of fresh vegetables from the United States and condensed water, together with all other parts of the ration in abundant quantity and good quality, is certainly a just cause for warm congratulation to all concerned."

After taking the medical department into his chapter of commendation, General MacArthur speaks of the results of the work of the American troops as follows: "The punishment inflicted by the division may be estimated from the fact that official reports have been made of the actual burial of 374 insurgents killed in action during the month. The enemy's wounded were as a general rule successfully removed, so that it is impossible to speak with any precision in that respect, but it is assumed that 300 to 1 killed would be a reasonable estimate."

The report concludes with special tributes to the enlisted men first, then to general officers and lastly to the staff.

America and Queen Victoria.

London, May 25.—The Times, this morning, commenting upon the universality of the birthday celebration, says: Love and reverence for the queen are not confined to her empire, wide as are its frontiers. Most deeply are these influences felt by that great "commonwealth of states," and it must be among the deepest satisfactions of her age to see the unhappy feeling evocated by that separation disappear at last in that sense of Anglo-Saxon brotherhood and prestage of Anglo-Saxon destiny to which Colonel Taylor, of the American society in London, gave eloquent utterance and which President McKinley has expressed as the regard and affection which the American people cherish toward our queen.

Floral Parade Disappointing.

Washington, May 25.—The feature of the second day of the national jubilee celebration was the civic parade. It consisted of all the fraternal, civil and trade organizations of the city, together with a long procession of floats. President McKinley, his cabinet and a distinguished company reviewed it from a stand in front of the White House grounds. There was much merriment and enthusiasm, and the parade was a distinct success. It was over an hour passing the reviewing stand. After the civic parade there was a floral procession of flower-decorated carriages, but these were few in number, and this feature was a disappointment to the crowd.

LAWTON'S GOOD WORK

Accomplished With Only Six Men Killed and Thirty-One Wounded.

American Prisoners Terribly Abused by Captors.

Twenty of Our Men Wounded In a Brilliant Charge Led by Funston.

Manila, May 25.—General Lawton, with most of his troops, has arrived at Malolos. His remarkable expedition marched 120 miles in 20 days, had 22 fights, captured 28 towns, destroyed 300,000 bushels of rice, and lost only six men killed and 31 wounded. On the other hand, General Lawton estimates that his troops killed 400 insurgents and wounded double that number.

General Lawton reports that he is convinced from evidence found at San Isidro that American prisoners in the hands of the Filipinos, particularly the captured men of the Yorktown, have been subjected to outrageous indignities.

He says he learned from Colonel Ray, a rescued Spanish officer, that one of the Americans who tried to escape was recaptured, stretched on the ground before his fellow prisoners and given 20 lashes near San Isidro. Lawton says they found a letter, written by one of the Yorktown's crew, which says they were being kicked and cuffed, their hair was pulled out by their captors and they begged the Americans to hurry to their rescue.

Majors Guison and Mapua, two members of the Filipino general staff, stole through the American lines yesterday and surrendered.

General Lawton's rear guard, consisting of detachments of the Third and Twenty-second infantry, while escorting the signal corps from San Miguel to Balinag, had a running fight for the whole distance of 10 miles. The Americans lost one man killed and one officer and 14 privates wounded. They captured 20 of the insurgents.

General Funston again distinguished himself in a fight with the rebels near Santa Arita, north of San Fernando, yesterday.

Scouts sent out by General MacArthur were fired on from the trenches and withdrew. General MacArthur, who heard the firing, sent General Funston with the Montana and Kansas regiments to the scene.

General Funston at the head of his troops led a brilliant charge on the double quick, sweeping the rebels from their positions and dispersing them.

The insurgents, who numbered nearly 1000, lost heavily. About 20 Americans are reported wounded.

President Schurman's Report.

Washington, May 25.—Following a rule established when the Philippine commission first landed at Manila, Secretary Hay declines to make public the report which came by cable from President Schurman on the progress of the negotiations with the Filipinos.

It is positively asserted, however, that President Schurman makes no reference to any friction between the civilian members of the American commission and general Otis, who, since Admiral Dewey's departure from Manila, is now sole representative on the commission of the military and naval elements.

The general tone of President Schurman's dispatch is optimistic, indicating a belief that the Filipino commissioners will succed in prevailing upon their people to accept the terms held out in the president's instructions, touching the form of government for the islands.

Later reports from Manila show that the American military authorities have not ceased their operations against the insurgents because of any negotiations that the civilian members may be conducting with the insurgent representatives.

The impression is gathered from the statements of high officials here that the attitude of the military officers is thoroughly approved by the war department, where it is fully expected that the campaign will be pushed by General Otis regardless of season or condition all through the summer, if need be, unless by submission to the terms described the insurgents terminate hostilities.

There is no disposition at the war department to countenance an armistice that might only give fresh strength and life to the insurrection, and this is to be kept in view, regardless of any peace negotiations that may be in progress, although, of course, there is no intention of embarrassing these, save where it is absolutely essential to the success of the military operations.

More Troops For Otis.

Washington, May 25.—The war department has been advised by General Otis of the arrival at Manila of the Newport, which sailed from San Francisco April 20 with 15 officers and 260 enlisted marines; light battery F., Fourth, and F. Fifth artillery, under command of Major Tiernon, eight officers and 223 enlisted men. No casualties occurred during the trip.

Old Record Wiped Out.

Paris, May 2.—In the race between motor cars and motor cycles from Bordeaux to Paris, a distance of 333 miles, M. Charron won in Duke, a petroleum autocar, covering the distance in 11 hours, 43 minutes and 22 seconds, beating the previous record by three hours, 35 minutes and 11 seconds. M. Charron claims that his autocar can maintain an average of 30 miles an hour for 12 hours. It has four seats, and is of 14 horse-power.

Good Afternoon.

F. D. Greany, formerly of Quincy, has kindly forwarded to the Ledger copies of Honolulu papers which are of interest. Two editorial opinions are quoted in the "Drift of Opinion" column.

The collison of Dr. Curtis' runaway horse with H. T. Whitman's team, on the narrow Beale street bridge Wednesday forenoon again emphasizes the need of a wider structure at that point. As this is the only means of access to the station for Wollaston people its unfitness for its present use is almost criminal. There is no foot way or railing to protect the hundreds of pedestrians who are compelled by the New Haven management to daily use it. Should a runaway horse attempt to dash across this narrow passage just before an inward morning train is due the resultant accidents are awful to contemplate.

There is no question but what Hancock street is the heaviest travelled thoroughfare in the city. To keep constantly repairing it with gravel or macadam is a heavy drain on the city's finances. It is no sooner laid than the endless traffic soon wears away the best built macadam road. There seems to be but one way to effectually repair this highway, and that is to pave it its whole length. Although the first cost is expensive after that there is no comparison when the question of maintenance is considered. A paved street will wear for an indefinite number of years without a cent being laid out for repairs. To complete paving the rest of Hancock street this year would perhaps be too large a financial undertaking. To do it in yearly sections would seem to be a feasible plan. This year the council is asked to appropriate $13,000 for a section which, if this order is not passed must be repaired in a temporary manner at a large expense out of the general repair fund, to the detriment of every other street in the city which is also in pressing need of repairs. Should the order pass it will be not only a benefit to Hancock street, but to all streets in the city, as the money which would be tied up in that street will be available for the others. In this connection, the sooner the street railway puts in a double track on Hancock street the better. It should be done in advance of the paving.

Drift of Opinion.

☞When imperialism in the United States signifies in fact a positive foreign policy, the calamnity howlers have little success in frightening the people with the inflated bugbears sent out under the name "the downfall of the republic."—Honolulu Evening Bulletin, April 25.

☞Beware of Yukon and other wild cat investment schemes. Plant your money right here at home under your own eyes. Build a tenement or some business that will benefit yourself and the community as well.—South Framingham News.

☞The proper time to eat a hearty meal is in the evening, when the body and mind are at rest, and a season of quiet can be enjoyed after it. Most men of any age, who are accustomed to a late dinner, can then eat with impunity food that might prove highly dangerous to them in the morning or at midday. The young middle-aged, of course, have more endurance than the elderly, but if they would observe the same care while they are still young they would gain a reserve of strength and vitality that would stand them in good stead in their declining years.—Minneapolis Tribune.

☞It seems that the question of an eight-hour day for employes of the city has got to go to the people and be decided in that way. There ought to be very little doubt of the result. The average citizen is not likely to vote for any longer working day than the law allows.—Brockton Enterprise.

☞Before the Cape Cod canal is built Representative Bennett will have filed his last objection, Hayes will have cracked his final dubious joke, Myers will for the last time have attracted the attention of the house, and Mellen will have made his final exhaustive appeal in behalf of the downtrodden people.—Clinton Item.

☞Perhaps the most serious of the many vexing questions which confront society at this season of the year is how to maintain proper and harmonious relations between the man who has a garden and his neighbor who is raising chickens.—Beverly Times.

☞American champions of Aguinaldo find great solace in saying, "Americans fought for national independence, why should the Filipino be condemned?" A greater fallacy was never foisted upon an enlightened people as an excuse for an argument. An independent Filipino republic offers no guarantee for the protection of life or property of foreign residents. It is quite as wise to state that the escaped convict is fighting for the same principle as the American forefathers.—Honolulu Bulletin.

The Nantasket Bill.

The little opposition on the part of Boston to the Nantasket bill, has aroused the friends of the measure, and by a vote of 112 to 42 it took its third reading in the House today. Such a large majority assures the success of the measure.

The Skirmish Line.

Gen. H. B. Carrington, who gives the memorial address at the Congregational church, Wollaston, Sunday evening, was, up to the breaking out of the war, a lawyer. In 1857 he became adjutant general of Ohio, organized its state militia, and sent two regiments to Washington within sixty hours after President Lincoln's first call for troops. In his official capacity he mustered into service Presidents Garfield, Hayes and McKinley, and signed the commissions of the first two. After the war, Gen. Carrington has considerable experience with the hostile Indians, and has retired from active service on account of wounds received. He is an author of note, and has achieved a reputation as a public speaker. What he says cannot fail of exciting the deepest interest. Gen. Carrington's subject will be: "The Skirmish Line in War and Peace."

FOR SALE.

I have had left with me to sell for a limited time 5000 shares of mining stock in a safe and conservative company, its property is situated in Colorado and consists of 17 mines with 27 true fissure veins in one group, all very rich in gold and silver and well developed by shafts and tunnels. In addition to the above is another vein nearby, recently added to the company's list, which is one of the most wonderful veins of copper yet discovered in Colorado.

A party not in any way connected with the company recently had four specimens of this copper ore assayed in Boston at his own expense that averaged $33.34 to the ton.

The President of the Company I have known for over thirty years, and he is all right. The Treasurer is one of the solid men of Quincy. Par value of shares $1.00 but for a very limited time, or until a sufficient amount is raised for the machinery required at the new copper mine, the stock can be had for 50 cents a share. Sales have been made every day this month so far, and it is expected the necessary amount will be raised by June 15, when the stock will certainly be advanced to par, partial payments received. THE CASH SYSTEM.

The Credit Grocer Is Handicapped.

Boston Branch Grocery to Make Change.

Will then Be Able to Compete with Boston.

Conditions are changing rapidly in the conduct of business in these days, and the local store keeper as well as the metropolitan merchant must be alert to make the most of his opportunities. Radical changes are not always met with favor, in fact they seldom are, regardless of the benefit. Unquestionably goods can be bought cheaper at a cash store than at a credit store, and it is for this reason that Quincy people have found better bargains in some lines in Boston.

A year ago John F. Merrill of the Boston Branch grocery endeavored to get other local groceries to join him in a change from the credit system to the cash system, but was unsuccessful. But he has continued his investigation and noted results elsewhere, and has alone taken an advanced stand. His circular is self explanatory:

"On and after June 1, 1899, we shall discontinue our credit system and conduct our business only on a strictly cash basis. We make this change only after much careful thought. We will this year complete our twenty-first year of business in Quincy. During that time we have done a large credit business, and from the experience of those years, we are firmly convinced that the credit system is an expensive way of doing business both for the dealer and the customer. We have also learned by experience that it is often those in whom we have reason to place the most confidence who prove unfaithful to their financial obligations to us, and therefore, we can see no half way method of giving credit.

"Explain it away as much as we please, the fact remains that the credit grocer is handicapped by some long-winded and poor accounts, so by selling for cash and cash only, lower prices can be made than when credit is given, because business can be done at very much less expense, and the loss by bad bills entirely eliminated. We shall prove to you by prices quoted on and after June 1, that the little effort required to pay cash on delivery of goods will be more than made up to you in the saving of money by the change.

"While we wish to collect in our outstanding accounts as soon as possible, we do not mean by this change to express any dissatisfaction over unsettled accounts due us, and shall exercise a reasonable amount of patience until you become accustomed to the change and can see your way clear to meet your obligations.

"We take this opportunity to thank you for your generous patronage in the past, and shall make every effort possible, not alone by reduced prices, but by courteous treatment and prompt attention, to merit a continuance and increase of the same.

"Believing the cash system to be the more honest and equitable way of doing business and hoping this may be accepted in the spirit in which it is given, we are," etc.

Mr. Merrill is one of the long established and most successful merchants of the city. He came to Quincy in 1878, after an experience of six years with Cobb, Bates & Yerxa of Boston, and as a partner of D. E. Parlin of Lewiston, Maine. He was first located in the Robertson block, now the Greenleaf block, but increasing business caused him to seek more room and a more attractive store, and to secure this he and Mr. Durgin erected the present modern block. Even this commodious store with up-to-date conveniences has proved too small and has been extended from time to time in the rear. For several years he has been doing a very extensive business, estimated at over $100,000 per year, and has sent his order wagons not only to the different wards of Quincy, but outside the limits of the city.

When interviewed by the Ledger, Mr. Merrill thought his circular above quoted told the whole story, but was ready to talk and used convincing arguments in favor of the change. He had adopted the cash system on general principles and not because of any particular losses of late. Much different methods were necessary now in the conduct of business than even ten years ago. Since the establishment of weekly payments customers are in a position to pay daily as well as weekly, and they will buy cheaper because our expenses and losses will be greatly reduced and we will be able to quote much lower prices. On the credit system we could not compete with the department stores selling for cash, but on the cash system and the position to buy our goods at the lowest prices, we can not only compete but undersell Boston stores.

I expect at the start to lose trade and good customers, but feel confident they will come back, as is the experience elsewhere.

The Atlantic Methodist church has placed its dime cards out to receive contributions on its debt. The new idea which they have adopted certainly ought to be very productive when no one is asked for more than a dime and especially as it is to be largely confined to Quincy where every one is interested in the welfare of its public institutions.

Francis G. Park of Quincy, who is now visiting relatives in Springfield was tendered a reception, by Arthur H. Paterson and friends at the home of Mr. C. W. Cummings, on Tuesday evening. Miss Maude Collins who has won much renown by her singing, was present, and delighted everyone by her several selections. Miss Hardie, rendered a number of pleasing selections on an autoharp.

The Hospital Aid Association points with great satisfaction to the work it has accomplished in the past ten years: having paid the treasurer in clean cash the sum of $9,738.50 besides supplying a large amount of furnishing. In appealing to the people of Quincy and vicinity for assistance at this time the association feels sure of hearty and generous cooperation and support.

The Cemetery Becomes More Beautiful Each Year.

Few cemeteries look more beautiful at this time of the year than does Mt. Wollaston, where a large force of men have been at work during the past month under James Nicol, the efficient superintendent, putting things in readiness for Memorial day. Mt. Wollaston has many visitors every day, but it is near Memorial day that largest number visit these hallowed grounds. But one needs to go there alone and wander along the avenues, to realize what a beautiful spot it is. Truly it seems to grow more and more attractive every year which is largely due to having a superintendent who thoroughly understands his business.

The lawn system, so called adds greatly to the beauty of the spot, and every year one sees that additional lot owners have furthered this system. Several were last year regraded and put on the lawn system, and the superintendent reports that he has a number of orders for this year, so that in time every lot will be regraded. Then not only will the expense of keeping the lots in order be lessened but the general appearance will be better.

There have been quite a number of new monuments erected and numerous headstones, or markers. The largest monument is that upon the lot owned by Burke Bros. where a handsome sarcophagus monument of Quincy granite has been erected.

Other new monuments and markers noticed were on the Damon, Gregory, Fletcher, Osborne and Prior lots, the T. A. Whicher, Joseph York, John Magee, Ephraim Thayer, Margaret Newcomb and Jonathan Baxter lots. There will probably be a number more in position before Memoriai day.

Not a Boy.

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

In a previous issue of the Ledger there appeared a notice concerning the larceny of a watch from Mr. Hermanson at C. H. Hardwick's quarry. The theft was supposed to be committed by a boy whom the police questioned very closely, but later was found to be innocent. The real culprit, however, has not yet been apprehended, still the authorities are in hopes of locating the guilty one ere long.

Trial Races.

Not the least of the exciting yacht races this summer will be the duel between the Faxon-Keith boat and Commodore Rice's Recruit at the trial races for selecting the cup defender. The Recruit is to be put in the best possible condition, having been practically rebuilt, and will be sailed by a professional skipper. It is needless to say that the Faxon boat will also be tuned up to the highest pitch.

KINGSLEY—In Wollaston, May 24, Mr. Benjamin H. Kingsley, son of Mr. A. Hale and Mrs. Adelia P. Kingsley of Beale street, aged 28 years, 11 months and 12 days.

A LIVELY BLAZE.

West Quincy Family in Danger Aroused With Difficulty.

The fire department which has had plenty of work of late, was called out again shortly after midnight this morning by an alarm from Box 46, which was rung in for a lively fire in a dwelling house at the corner of Crescent and Cross streets. For a time it looked as though the building was doomed. The house is what is known as the Robert Smith estate, and was owned by Patrick Kelley, and occupied in part by his son Frank Kelley. Just how the fire started is a mystery but appearances would indicate that it started in a closet on the first floor and worked its way up behind the roof which was badly burned.

It was shortly before midnight when a young man who came from the late train in passing down Cross street discovered that the house was on fire. He with difficulty aroused the inmates of the house, who succeeded in getting practically all of their furniture out.

Meantime an alarm had been sounded from Box 46. When the department arrived the roof was one mass of flames. Streams of water were soon being thrown onto the fire, and it took but a short time to drown it out. The part burned was the roof, and the damage by fire and water is estimated at $500.

Pay too Small.

The travelling public of Wollaston will regret to learn that after a half a dozen faithful years' service, Mr. Arthur C. Burrell, station agent at that place, retires from the employ of the New Haven road to go into business for himself. Mr. Burrell's genial presence at the ticket office window will be universally and regretfully missed.

It will be a surprise to people to learn that a man holding his responsible position as agent of a large station and telegraph operator as well, with two employes under him, received but $9 a week and the rent of a cheap apartment in a old tenement house owned by the corporation, fancifully valued by them at $15 per month, in reality dear at much less. His successor has not yet been appointed.

"A good thick coat of paint" is an erroneous expression. It should read "a good thin coat of paint," for paint should not be plastered upon a building but spread on it with a brush and well brushed out. This wrist work of the painter makes him tired, but if he is conscientious and does his work carefully and thoroughly, he will use less paint with a much better result than the careless man who takes no interest in results.

Employ a good painter and pay him a fair price for his work. Have thin coats of Pure Linseed Oil Paint applied to a dry surface and have them well brushed out.

The cheapest paint and the best paint that ever was used on a house is the CHILTON.

They would do well to turn their attention to graver matters in their city which demand their efforts at reform. From all reports, Lynn is a good field for such labor."—Herald.

HAS HIS OLD NERVE.

Dewey Suffers Only From the Effects of a Tropical Climate.

Medical Advice Not Needed During Past Year.

Flagship Olympia's Surgeon Talks of the Health of the Hero of Manila.

Washington, May 25.—Surgeon Page of Admiral Dewey's flagship, the Olympia, has arrived here on leave. He came ahead of the Olympia to avoid the long delays of the sail via the Suez canal. Up to the date of his departure from Manila, Surgeon Page had been on the flagship ever since Dewey took command, seeing him daily and having general charge of medical affairs, so that he is in a position to give an intelligent view of the admiral's health and general condition. He says:

"Admiral Dewey is in no sense a sick man, but is as well as any man could be after spending a year in the tropics. I was on the Olympia at the time he came aboard, and from that time to the present I do not believe there has been any appreciable change in his appearance, weight or general condition. Anyone who thinks he is a physical wreck should hear the admiral on the quarter deck when he gets aroused. He is the gentlest man living, and yet he expects every man to do his exact duty, and when there is any shortcoming the admiral will be heard from in no feeble or sickly manner. Of course every one in the fleet has suffered in health more or less during the last year, owing to the terrific and long sustained heat and the enervating climate. It takes all the life out of a strong man, and weakens his energy and ambition. In that Dewey suffered with all the rest of us. It was particularly arduous during blockade duty, when for a long stretch no man could get ashore."

Surgeon Page was asked if Admiral Dewey's responsibilities had not weighed heavily on him.

"I think not," he answered, "and I believe it will be found that he has just as much nerve as on the morning he fought the battle of Manila bay. He is a man who carries responsibilitiy lightly, and does not let it break him down. On the morning of the battle he was perfectly cool, and only once throughout the action did he show signs of anxiety. That was when the head gunner reported that our ammunition was running short. This was about the time we pulled off for breakfast, and it had rather a depressing effect. But it was quickly offset when the officer of the deck reported that the Reina Christina and Castilla were afire. That was the turning point, and the admiral had no anxiety after that."

Asked if he had prescribed for Dewey of late, Surgeon Page said:

"No, he has no need for prescriptions. During the last year he has not once asked for a prescription or taken medical advice, except in a casual way. If he wants anything he sends down to the ship's apothecary and get it. His habits are so regular that he needs little or no medicine. His smoking and drinking are in perfect moderation. He eats well and sleeps well, and it is one of the recognized offenses on board ship to tramp heavily over the admiral's cabin after he has retired."

"It has needed a pretty calm man at the head of affairs," said Surgeon Page, when asked as to the reports of friction with German naval officers. "I know nothing of any differences, but we all felt that much reliance was to be placed in the admiral's tact and conservatism as a means of avoiding any possible difference. Throughout the fleet he was universally admired, not only as a naval commander, but also for his statesmanship and discretion."

Screams Saved Him.

Lynn, Mass., May 25.—While John A. Myers was on his way to his home at a late hour last night he noticed a man walking behind him, and as he entered Johnson street the man knocked him down by a terrific blow. At the same time the assailant reached for Myers' watch chain, but as he did so, Myers gave him a hard kick in the face. This infuriated the highwayman, who grabbed Myers by the throat and inflicted serious injuries on him. The screams of Myers brought a large number of neighbors to the scene, and the man escaped.

President Accepts Invitation.

Washington, May 25.—Representative Gillette of Massachusetts called on the president yesterday to arrange for a reception in Springfield while on his way to Mount Holyoke college to attend the graduation of his niece, Miss Grace McKinley. The president expressed his pleasure at the invitation and said he would be glad to meet the people of Springfield.

Cleveland at Home.

Princeton, N. J., May 25.—Mr. Cleveland arrived in Princeton last evening. His coming was unexpected and there was no one to meet him, Mrs. Cleveland being at a ball game. Under the circumstances the ex-president walked down Bayard avenue to his home. He seemed to be in his usual health.

Quarter of a Million Capital.

Harrisburg, May 25.—The Carnegie company, which made application to the state department recently for a charter, has filed notice of an amendment of its title to the Carnegie Steel company. The proposed corporation is capitalized at $100,000, which amount will be increased to $250,000,000.

Awful Havoc by Disease.

Bombay, May 25.—Cholera is raging in Carachi, the principal seaport town of Sando. Two hundred and thirty-two new cases were officially reported yesterday and 208 deaths. The official returns show a total of 1197 cases and 1099 deaths since the beginning of the outbreak.

LEWIS PROVED A PUZZLE.

His Twirling Was Too Difficult For St. Louis, While Young Was Hit Hard.

St. Louis, May 25.—Tebeau went into the game on Tuesday, and his men stacked up against the champions like stake horses in a bunch of selling platers. Such free hitting, daring base running, snappy fielding, is the real quality of pennant-winning baseball, and St. Louis people thought their team was surely a match for the champion Bostons.

But these hopes were dispelled, the Boston boys beating St. Louis on Tuesday about as easily as you would a carpet. This time Cy Young pitched for St. Louis, and Lewis did the twirling for the visitors. Young was hit hard all through, while Lewis proved a puzzle to the home team, and they could do but little with him.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, May 25.—Governor Wolcott has signed the bill for relaying the street car tracks on Tremont street, this city.

The bill imposing a 5 percent tax upon legacies and successions, with an amendment providing that the proceeds of the tax be used exclusively by the cities and towns for purposes of education, was passed to be engrossed in the house.

The bill increasing the salary of District Attorney Harris of the southeastern district was passed to be engrossed, as was the bill forbidding unauthorized trust companies doing business in this state.

A bill appropriating $10,000 to be expended by the harbor and land commissioners in 1899 in the survey of harbors and repairing of damages done by the great storm of 1898 was passed to engrossment.

The death of Captain Campbell, member from Westfield, was announced. A committee was appointed to draw up resolutions and attend the funeral. As a further mark of respect the house adjourned until today.

The senate concurred with the house in admitting the petition of John B. Dumond for amendment of the liquor law, this being the third edition of the "Dumond bill."

The senate insisted on the amendments to the wide tire bill.

A bill was introduced to allow Stoneham to take land now used as a cemetery for a public park.

Bills and resolves were engrossed to change the location of the Manufacturers' Trust company; to incorporate the Swan Dale Cemetery association; giving the metropolitan park commissioners $500,000 additional for roadways and boulevards; to legalize proceedings of the towns of Abington and Melrose; to legalize the acts of Clarence W. Gallup.

The bill for protection to shade trees was tabled after several amendments had been offered.

Senator George advocated the substitution of his bill for that of the committee on agriculture, for the inspection of nurseries. It provides simply for an investigation of the habits of injurious insects, with $2000 for traveling and other expenses. The George amendment bill was engrossed.

The house bill to enable the Boston city council to obtain information went to a third reading, 15 to 11.

The resolve providing for a new gymnasium at the hospital for dipsomaniacs at Foxboro was adopted.

Held Up by Ice.

St. John's, May 25.—The whole northwest coast of this island has been blocked with ice for the last six weeks, the result being that navigation along the coast has been practically impossible. The people in many sections are now destitute of provisions, owing to inability to replace their supplies, and the commercial operations of almost 80,000 people have been virtually suspended. Fishery outfitting for Labrador and the off-shore fishing grounds will be quite out of the question until the ice blockade is raised.

Demented Woman Missing.

Boston, May 25.—The police have been notified that Miss Frances Falen, 22 years old, who is slightly demented and has been confined in an institution in Brookline street for some time, has escaped. The young woman had neither hat nor coat when she left the house, nor had she any money. The officers have traced her to a dozen different spots in the city widely apart, but in every case she had gone when her pursuers arrived. It is feared now that she may have committed suicide.

Book Will Be Revised.

Denver, May 25.—The alleged heresy of Rev. D. R. Foster, who occupies the chair of systematic theology in the theological seminary at Lebanon, Tenn., received attention in the Cumberland Presbyterian general assembly yesterday. Dr. Foster published a book on "systematic theology," in which, it is alleged, he teaches that regeneration precedes repentence and faith, whereas the doctrine of the church is that repentence and faith come first. Dr. Foster says now that he has been misunderstood, and that he will revise the subject in his book and make himself clearer. The committee on education embodied his promise in its report.

Settling Down to Business.

Buffalo, May 25.—The harbor will be clear of grain-laden boats before the end of the week, is the prediction confidently made by Contractor Conners and elevator men. With the big force of scoopers that were at work yesterday, 2,000,000 bushels of grain had been elevated up to 6 o'clock, and work went on rapidly with night shifts. The adoption of the new system brought about by the strike was attended by no trouble of any consequence.

Pythian Officials.

Boston, May 25.—The grand lodge, Knights of Pythias, yesterday elected the following officers: Chancellor, Charles L. Young, Springfield; vice chancellor, Frank R. Hayden, Worcester; prelate, Rev. George M. Dodge, Leominster; master of exchequer, Henry C. Allen, Roxbury; keeper of records and seal, Charles A. Cross, Lowell, trustee, George H. Howe, Worcester.

A Plague-Stricken District.

Paris, May 25.—The minister of the colonies, M. Guillane, has announced that Grand Bassam (a French town of Africa, upper Guinea, on the Gold coast) has been evacuated, owing to the ravages of yellow fever, and that it will probably cease to be the capital of the French Ivory coast. It is stated elsewhere that the sickness at Grand Bassam is really the plague.

Corset May Have Saved Her Life.

Providence, May 25.—Barba Pasquall murderously assaulted his sister-in-law, Louisa Barba, with a knife at her home last night. The knife was turned aside by the woman's corsets and the wound inflicted under the left breast was a slight one. Pasquall escaped and is still at large. The affray was the result of a family quarrel.

SAVED BY A POSTAL CARD.

Thousands who have written for one of the free trial bottles of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy have literally had their lives saved by a postal card. They got the trial bottle, and it proved to them that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was the only real cure for diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder and Blood, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia and Chronic Constipation. They bought a large sized bottle of their druggists and it benefited or cured them (the above is not an idle statement, but the result of careful investigation.)

You can do the same thing. If you are in doubt as to whether you have trouble with your Kidneys or bladder, put some of your urine in a glass tumbler and let it stand 24 hours, if it has a sediment, or a milky, cloudy appearance, if it is ropy or stringy, pale or discolored, you should lose no time in taking Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, it can be had of all druggists at $1.00 a large bottle, or six bottles for $5.00. It is without question the surest medicine of the age to put a stop to such dangerous symptoms as pain in the back, a frequent desire to urinate, especially at night, scalding burning pain in passing water, inability to hold urine and all the unpleasant and dangerous effects produced on the system by the use of whiskey and beer.

Send your full name and address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., and be sure to mention the Quincy Ledger, when a trial bottle, with a pamphlet of valuable medical advice, will be mailed to you absolutely free. The publishers of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this liberal offer.

Dogs Must Be Licensed

ON OR BEFORE APRIL 30th,

Or the Owners or Keepers Thereof are

LIABLE TO A FINE

CITY OF QUINCY.

[Extracts from the Laws of this Commonwealth.]

Every owner or keeper of a dog of three months old or over, shall annually on or before the THIRTIETH DAY OF APRIL, cause it to be REGISTERED, NUMBERED, DESCRIBED and LICENSED for one year from the first day of the ensuing May, in the office of the Clerk of the city or town wherein said dog is kept, and shall cause it to wear around its neck a collar distinctly marked with the owner's name and its registered number.

Any owner of a dog may at any time have it licensed until the first day of the ensuing May; and a person becoming the owner or keeper of a dog after the first day of May, not duly licensed, shall cause it to be registered, numbered, described and licensed as provided in the preceding section.

The FEE for every license shall be TWO DOLLARS for a Male dog and FIVE DOLLARS for a Female dog.

Whoever keeps a dog contrary to the provisions of this chapter shall forfeit FIFTEEN DOLLARS, five dollars of which shall be paid to the complainant and ten dollars to the treasurer of the county in which the dog is kept.

Every owner or keeper of dogs kept for breeding purposes may receive annually a special license authorizing him to keep such dogs upon the premises described in such license. When the number of dogs so kept does not exceed five, the fee for such license shall be TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS; when the number of dogs so kept exceeds five, the fee shall be FIFTY DOLLARS, and no fee shall be required for the dogs of such owner or keeper under the age of six months.

Any owner or keeper of a dog not duly licensed, which becomes three months old after the thirtieth day of April in any year, shall, whenever it is three months old, cause it to be registered, numbered, described and licensed until the first day of the ensuing May, as provided in Section 80 of Chapter 102 of the Public Statutes, and shall cause is to wear around its neck a collar distinctly marked with its owner's name and its registered number.

Important Advice.

It is surprising how many people wake up in the morning nearly as tired as when they went to bed, a disagreeable taste in their mouth, the lips sticky, and the breath offensive, with a coated tongue. These are nature's first warnings of Dyspepsia and Liver Disorders, but if the U. S. Army & Navy Tablets are resorted to at this stage they will restore the system to a healthy condition. A few doses will do more for a weak or sour stomach and Constipation than a prolonged course of any other medicine.

If you can not get them at your drug store, send 10c. for a package of 12 to the U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLET CO., 17 EAST 14TH ST., NEW YORK.

CONFERENCE IS CLOSED

Departure of Filipinos Without Reaching a Satisfactory Conclusion.

Fighting May Continue For Some Time to Come.

Insurgents Have an Advantage Over Americans During Rainy Season.

Washington, May 26.—President Schurman has officially reported to Secretary Hay the close of the conference with the native commission, and the return of the latter to Aguinaldo's headquarters without any satisfactory conclusion having been reached.

Mr. Schurman seems to think important the fact that a member of Aguinaldo's cabinet and a leading insurgent general were members of the commission. The natives sought to have explained various details of the form of government offered by the United States, but whatever was said and done, it is apparent that no results could have been looked for by the Americans, in view of the limited power conferred upon his envoys by Aguinaldo.

It can be stated on the authority of a gentleman who talked with the president that Mr. Schurman did not mention in his report any friction between the civil and military members of the commission.

Press dispatches from Manila say that the native commissioners left there by a special train yesterday. They were escorted to their lines under a flag of truce. It is expected they will return soon.

President Gonzaga of the Filipino commission, previous to his departure, said: "We greatly appreciate the courtesy shown us. We have spent some time with your commissioners, incidentally considering the American constitution. Its principles impress us profundly. ,

"The plan of government offered the Philippines seems, on the whole, a good colonial system. But why should a nation with your constitution seek to make a colony of a distant people who have so long been fighting against Spain to secure the same rights your constitution gives? You fought the same battle in America when you fought against England."

The news received from Manila that the Filipinos have resumed aggressive movements has caused considerable uneasiness in the war department, where it was hoped the insurgents had been so thoroughly cowed that they would not resume offensive operations, but would content themselves with a mere show of resistance until, at last, thoroughly tired out, they would lay down their arms.

It now looks to the Washington officials as if the fighting might continue for some time to come.

General Otis has advised the department that, despite the conferences which have been in progress for some days between the American authorities and the envoys of Aguinaldo, it is not his intention to discontinue active operations, nor does he intend to let the rainy season interfere with military movements.

It is evident, however, that climatic conditions must seriously interfere with an active campaign this summer.

In a few days rains will follow so heavily that it will be physically impossible for the men to move, while the transportation of supplies and ammunition will be out of the question, as wagons will sink up to their hubs in thick mud, which has all the consistency of mortar.

While this weather lasts it will be impossible for men to remain in the field. To do so would be to invite death, as the men would fall ready victims to fevers and other diseases for which tropical climates at this season of the year are noted. It will be necessary to keep our men under cover as much as possible, and to take every precaution to prevent them from catching cold and sleeping on the damp ground. If the men are in the field no such precautions can be taken.

It is believed here that the Filipino leaders are quite shrewd enough to understand this, and are determined to keep up the campaign until the rainy season, hoping that our troops, decimated by disease, will be incapable of performing military service.

The Filipinos undoubtedly argue from what happened while they were fighting Spaniards. One reason why the Filipinos were able to defy the Spanish for so long was that, as soon as the rainy season came on, the Spaniards abandoned their operations in the field, and retired to Manila and the other cities, which gave the Filipinos not only an opportunity to recover their lost ground, but to advance to the walls of Manila itself, and perpetually annoy the Spanish garrison.

It would seem that by this time the Filipinos ought to have learned the difference between Spanish and American soldiers, but evidently the insurgents believe that it is impossible for Americans to withstand the deadly assaults of a Philippine summer, just as the Spaniards thought no Americans could live in Cuba during the rainy season; and that, what between rain and yellow fever, there would be only one ending to the American invasion of Cuba.

The Spaniards discovered their mistake, just as the Filipinos will a little later.

It is not denied by the highest military officials that military operations may have to come almost to a standstill for several weeks, but if they do, that will not have any effect on the final result.

During the rainy season the insurgents will be held in check, and in the fall, when military operations are again possible, the campaign will be pushed with redoubled vigor, if before that time the insurgents have not seen the absurdity of further resistance and made their surrender.

General Otis has forwarded the following dispatch to the war department:

"On the 23rd instant the Third infantry, returning to Baliuag from San Miguel, were attacked morning, noon and evening by a large force of the enemy, suffering in casualties two men killed and 13 wounded. Enemy repulsed, leaving on the field 16 killed. Large number wounded and prisoners. Wednesday enemy appeared in vicinity San Fernando. Attacked by Kansas and Montana regiments, which suffered a slight loss. Enemy driven through rice fields, leaving 50 dead, 28 wounded and 28 prisoners. Fifty rifles and other property captured. Their retreat through swamp lands saved them from destruction. Lawton returning, leaving with MacArthur on the front regular troops to replace volunteers."

In the fighting at San Fernando Wednesday 50 insurgents were killed and many wounded. The Americans had two killed and 12 wounded.

Insurgents Again Routed.

Manila, May 26.—A scouting party of American troops encountered a body of insurgents at Santa Rita, and the Americans, being reinforced by Brigadier General Funston with the South Dakota regiment, a warm fight ensued. A lieutenant and five men of the American force were wounded, and 10 of the insurgents were killed and several captured.

Spain Loses a Statesman.

Madrid, May 26.—Emilio Castelar, the distinguished Republican orator and statesman, who had been suffering from an attack of pulmonary catarrh contracted last winter, is dead. Senor Castelar passed away at Murcia, capital of the ancient kingdom and modern province of that name. The immediate cause of death was albuminuria. The news of his demise caused profound emotion throughout Spain. The queen regent and the members of the cabinet immediately telegraphed condolences to the family. The body will be embalmed and brought here and the chamber of deputies will give the deceased a public funeral.

SENOR EMILIO CASTELAR.

Smallpox In Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, May 26.—The health authorities are making every effort to check the spread of smallpox which appeared a few days ago in the negro settlement of Nicetown, a suburb of this city. There are now 24 smallpox patients in the municipal hospital. The cases are mild. The bureau of health has issued orders closing the Asa Packer public school, which is attended by 1200 pupils, including the colored children who live in the section where the disease is prevalent.

Is Esterhazy Guilty?

Paris, May 26.—The Figaro publishes a long article arguing from the whole body of evidence offered before the court of cassation that Esterhazy is guilty of the crime for which Dreyfus is being punished. The Aurore says that M. Menard's conclusions demand a new trial for Dreyfus by a new court-martial.

IN OLD-TIME FORM.

Nichols Showed the Cincinnatis That He Still Knows How to Play Ball.

Cincinnati, May 26.—If as some of the writers have it Nichols has gone back in form, he was cunning enough to conceal it, for in the many years that he has been coming to this city he never pitched steadier or prettier ball than he did against the Reds.

The eight hits that were made off his delivery were scattered through seven innings, and only in the ninth, when the game had been clinched for Boston, did the Reds manage to squeeze in consecutive hits, which with a long fly allowed them to score their only run.

Dwyer, who had been laid up with a bad arm since the season opened, essayed to pitch for the Reds. He pitched good ball up to the seventh inning, when consecutive hits and a bit of wildness on his part allowed the Bostons one run and filled the bases, with two men out. After two strikes and two balls had been called on Stafford, Dwyer was taken out and Hahns substituted. He disposed of Stafford, and the danger of a large score on the visitors' side of the book was over.

Triple Lynching In Texas.

Houston, May 26.—Three white men, James Humphries and his two sons, were lynched last night near the village of Aley. Several months ago Constable Melton, of the Aley precinct, was murdered by a man who had committed a crime and whom he was attempting to arrest. The people searched the country, but failed to apprehend the murderer. The Humphries were known to have been on friendly terms with the fugitive, and were suspected of having aided him to escape. A few days ago the murderer was seen in the neighborhood, and arrangements to effect his capture were made. The Humphries are acused of having harbored the murderer, and of assisting him in making his second escape. This enraged the people, and the lynching of the Humphries followed.

Jubilee Ended.

Washington, May 26.—A grand historic street pageant, followed by patriotic addresses, was the chief feature of the last day of the national peace jubilee in this city. The pageant typified the great historic epochs in our country from Columbus at the court of Spain and the discovery of America down to the victory which crowned our arms in the war with Spain. President McKinley and his cabinet reviewed the parade. The addresses from the reviewing stand followed. Senator Thurston of Nebraska presided, and speeches were made by Senator Cullom of Illinois, ex-Secretary of the Navy Herbert of Alabama and Hon. Webster Davis of Missouri. The jubilee closed last night with masked revelries at convention hall and a display of fireworks.

Americans Stand Firm.

London, May 26.—The correspondent of The Daily Telegraph at The Hague says: Serious differences of opinion have been manifested between the United States representatives and those of certain powers on the subject of discussing the seizure of private property at sea. The Americans insist upon the discussion, agreeing to abide by the voice of a majority in the decision, but they will not have the matter ruled out of court. I hear that the Americans will be allowed their way. All the dispatches to the morning papers from The Hague show that the peace conference is suffering from lack of preparation.

Wanted a Girl for General Housework.
City of Quincy—Hearing.

Good Afternoon.

An interesting report of a class trip by pupils of the Willard school to Boston and Cambridge will appear in Saturday's Ledger. It will be instructive to many native born Quincy people who are now of mature age, and as an essay will show the accomplishments of a seventh grade pupil in our grammar schools.

Wollaston parents and people in general will regret to learn that the Wollaston school exhibition, which for several years under Mr. Finch's supervision has been a marked educational feature, is to be omitted this year. It required a large amount of labor to arrange the details for those exhibitions of the children's work, but at the same time it gave the parents an unexcelled opportunity to judge of what their children had been doing.

As usual the Grand Army will depend on the school children for flowers for Memorial day, and it should be a pleasure for the boys and girls to gather wild flowers on Saturday and Sunday to decorate the graves of heroes. Pupils are requested to take the flowers to school Monday morning, and they will then be collected. As Commander Warner says in his general orders, "Bring flowers that no so dier's or sailor's grave may be unremembered by this beautiful tribute."

Drift of Opinion.

☞"Peezness is peezness." Depew and Platt are having a nice little fight for the express business of the Hudson valley, and the beneficaries of the war are not afraid that either contestant will break under the strain, and are taking the cut rates while they are going.—Bangor Commercial.

☞The tariff issue has been dead for several years, the return of prosperity has wiped out the financial issue, the surrender of Aguinaldo will eliminate the issue of imperialism, and a party division cannot be had on the question of suppressing trusts. What is the Democratic party going to do for a live issue in 1900?—Kansas City Journal.

☞The peace congress may vote in favor of humaner methods of warfare, but lest it does not, or lest if it does its recommendations should not be adopted, the United States is keeping an eye upon its own interests. When Captain Crozier, the military member of the American delegation, started for the Hague, he carried credentials to French and German military depots, with instructions to investigate and report in the latest phazes and developments in quick-firing field artillery.—New Bedford Standard.

☞And the Bradley-Martins also have quit the country for good, following the example of William Waldorf Astor. It's all right, Bradley; we hate to lose you from our "set," but we guess the rest of us will pull through without you.—Waltham News.

☞Labor is demanding a share of the present prosperity. There are strikes and demands for more pay everywhere. The only way employers can withhold reasonable concessions is to shut down and themselves lose the profitable opportunities that their competitors are taking advantage of.—Biddeford Record.

☞That the trust evil is a serious one must be apparent to everybody, but it is equally apparent that it is an evil which cannot be overcome by hysterical legislation. Anti-trust laws are badly needed, but they must be such laws as will stand the test of constitutionality and leave no loophole for escape from their penalties.—New Orleans Picayune.

☞With an automobile trust, with the street cars in the hands of private corporations, with the bicycle makers inevitably headed towards a gigantic corporation that shall dictate prices (lower than the present, however,) and with a shoe trust, the future individual who likes to show his independence will be compelled to walk, and that, too, on sandals made from, say, the hide of the family dog.—Detroit Journal.

☞One of the reasons for sending children to school is to teach them right ideas in regard to beauty of every kind—to educate them to know grace and sweetness and artistic purity wherever they may find it. How can they be better educated than by a living, breathing, moving model—a fair maid revealing to the students the truth that nature has been kind to her, and that woman unadorned — to a certain extent—is adorned the most?—Brockton Enterprise.

☞An exchange points to the fact that while the people are talking about raising thousands of dollars for Admiral Dewey and the construction of a cottage for him, they might consider the proposition of a $500 cottage for each of the men of Dewey's fleet who stood by the guns. The point is well taken, without robbing the admiral of any of the honor that is certainly his.—Newburyport News.

☞The Harvard vandal has again shown his hand by defacing the pedestal of the John Harvard monument. There being no excitement at the college, such as was deemed sufficient to excuse the break of a few years ago, when the statue was painted red as a symbol of the prevalent feeling at Harvard over a great victory, there seems to be no excuse, and it has been suggested that the daubing of the memorial was only a sign of the silly season that frequently prevails at Cambridge, and under its influence students are forced to do flat and insipid tricks.—Lynn Item.

CITY OF QUINCY.

In Council, May 15, 1899.

WHEREAS, in the opinion of the City Council of the City of Quincy, the public necessity and convenience of the inhabitants of said City require that Arthur and Nelson streets should be laid out as ways of the City from Buckley street to Garfield street, and from Arthur street to Carlmark street, and that the grade thereof be established, as shown on plans in the office of the City Clerk: It is therefore hereby ORDERED, That due notice be given to all parties interested, that the City Council intends to lay out the ways before mentioned, and that MONDAY, the 5th day of June, 1899, at 8.10 o'clock P. M., is appointed as the time for a public hearing of any objections which may be made to said laying out, at the City Council Chamber, in the City Hall, in said City of Quincy.

Adopted May 15, 1899.

Attest: CHRISTOPHER A. SPEAR,
26-2t Clerk of Council.

RECKLESS RIDING.

Bicyclist Comes in Collision With Furniture Wagon.

The evils of bicycle scorching was again made apparent Thursday evening, when Timothy Moriarty, aged about 15 years and residing on Sumner street, was severely if not fatally injured. Moriarty with a companion were scorching down Washington street, Moriarty being bent so far over his wheel as to obscure his view. When nearly opposite the residence of Capt. T. H. Newcomb he met a two-horse furniture team coming in the opposite direction.

People who saw the young man's danger say the driver shouted to him, but he evidently did not hear for he did not check his speed. The result was that he ran into the pole of the team which struck him in the chest. The force of the blow was terrific and that he was not impaled was a wonder. As it was he was rendered unconscious. He was attended by Dr. Jones who removed him to his home. The young man regained consciousness about 10 o'clock, and this morning was reported out of danger. No bones were broken, but his chest was scraped and his face cut somwhat.

The team was owned by C. E. Bean of Boston, and the two men on the team were W. A. Simmon the driver, and David B. Collins. No blame is attached to the driver. At the time of the accident it is said Moriarty was on the wrong side of the street.

INCENDIARY FIRE.

Norfolk Downs House Damaged About $500.

The fire department was given another opportunity this morning to prove its efficiency in extinguishing fires. It was shortly after 3.30 o'clock when neighbors discovered a fire in the upper part of a new unoccupied house on Hamden Circle, Norfolk Downs, and at 3.40 an alarm was sounded from Box 151.

When the department arrived the fire was burning briskly in the upper story. Several powerful streams were soon thrown into the burning building and as the flames could not resist the water they were soon put out, although not before the upper part of the building had been damaged to an extent of $500.

As near as could be ascertained, the fire started in the bath room, and as early arrivals upon the scene say, they found the front door of the house opened it would seem that the fire was the work of an incendiary. The building was built by Mr. Steves, and was owned by the Quincy Savings Bank.

The Afternoon Fire.

Box 71, at the corner of Washington and Mill steets was pulled at 1.25 this afternoon for a hen house in the rear of the estate of John H. Dinegan. It caught from a bonfire, and got a good headway in a dangerous locality, and might have been serious but from prompt aid. The flames were checked by a sill cock stream and connecting fences were torn down.

THE VOLUNTEERS.

Will Parade on Memorial Day and Decorate Boyd's Grave.

An adjourned meeting of the United States Volunteers was held Thursday evening at the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. Sergt. Leslie of the committee appointed at the meeting last week, reported, recommending that non-commissioned officer a bugler and eight privates be appointed to accompany the Grand Army to West Quincy on Memorial day and decorate the grave of Comrade John A. Boyd.

This report was accepted and Sergt. Leslie was appointed to have charge of the squad and the required number of privates quickly volunteered. An invitation, however, was given to all who desired to participate.

For the afternoon parade it was voted that the Grand Army invitation be accepted, and that as many as possible turn out wearing the uniforms of the branch of the service in which they participated, and also white gloves.

An invitation was received from Rev. C. W. Wilder to attend the memorial service of the West Quincy Methodist church Sunday morning which was accepted, and it was voted not to attend in a body but that as many as possible would attend as individuals.

A committee consisting of Sergt. McGrath, Mohan, Leslie and Private McLaughlin was appointed to secure a floral set piece for Private Boyd's grave.

In regard to forming a permanent organization, the committee reported that after looking into the matter they were of the opinion and would recommend that they should become a part of the National organization, as more benefits would be derived than by a local organization.

A committee consisting of Privates McLaughlin and Pierce of the volunteer army and Davison of the navy, were appointed to wait upon the grand officers and arrange to have one of them visit Quincy and explain more fully the aims and objects of the National organization.

Before adjourning a vote of thanks was extended to Secretary Hoehn of the Y. M. C. A., for the use of the room and for his many acts of kindness to the members of the U. S. V.

Favorable Bids.

The city continues to make excellent terms when in need of money to carry on its improvements. At 4 P. M. Thursday Mayor Keith and City Treasurer Burke opened numerous bids for the serial loan of $30,000, three and one-half per cent. currency loan dated May and running from one to thirty years for the water extensions of 1899. It was awarded to E. H. Rollins & Sons for 104.337. The average number of years was fifteen and one-half, so that the basis was a trifle over 3.14. This was even better than the sewer loans of last month, when the average number of years was seventeen and the basis 3.15. A Boston paper today reports the city of Chicopee to have sold $23,000 3-2 per cent. 10-year gold school bonds to Messrs. Blodgett, Merritt & Co. at 103.153. There were 14 bids, ranging down to 101.89.

Brockton also floated bonds aggregating $98,000 Thursday, including $93,000 with an average term of ten and one-half years and $5,000 on an average term of three years at $103.10 for a 3.15 basis.

The Quincy bids:

E. H. Rollins & Sons, 104.337.
N. W. Harris & Co., 104.187.
C. B. Wilbar & Co , 104.145.
Rudolph Kleybolte, 104.070.

Atlantic Entertainment.

The literary and musical entertainment given by the young ladies of the literary committee of the Atlantic M. E. church on Wednesday evening was very well attended and proved quite a success financially and otherwise. The cornet imitatins of Mrs. Anna Hayes of Boston, and heard for the first time in Atlantic, were excellently rendered and enthusiastically received. While her selections on the zither and autoharp, accompanied by her daughter Mabel, were also generously applauded. Solos by Mrs. Bachelor of Jamaica Plain and Miss Dutton of Wollaston were given. The literary part of the entertainment was ably maintained by Misses Vogler, Walker Metherall, Lowe, Hearn, Miles and Masters Peters and Williams. Special praise is to be accorded to Misses Newcomb, Hultman, and Jacobson for their work on the piano.

—The third-rail system of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R., is being extended to Cohasset and will be used about June 1. The practice of dropping cars on the main at Braintree will then be discontinued.

HERE AND THERE.

Local Brevities of the City of Presidents.

The Council Committee on Streets will meet tonight.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jones is on a visit to her daughter in Gloucester.

Rev. E. W. Preble will preach at Saugus and Marblehead on Sunday.

Several of the schools are to have outdoor Memorial exercises on Monday.

Abbot L. Melcher of Bigelow street has had his fine estate connected with the sewer.

An exhibit of the work at the High school is being shown in the rooms of the School Committee.

Fashions in bathing dresses will be illustrated and described in the Saturday eight-page Ledger.

As usual a band will be one of the features of the Coddington school exercises Monday afternoon.

Francis A. Spear, the probation officer, is getting his famous pneumatic machine ready for a trial spin.

Mr. J. O'Heron has been awarded the contract by the Sewer Commissioners for laying about 10,000 feet of sewer.

The unfinished house which was moved by Contractor Shaw still stands poised high in the air on Massachusetts Fields.

The annual banquet of the Wollaston Unity club takes place this evening, and will be reported at length in the Ledger tomorrow.

Mr. Sampson, the principal of the Quincy school, took all his class to Boston, Thursday afternoon, to visit different places of interest.

Ernest O. Preble, who has been with the Traveler for some time, has been advanced to a responsible position in the advertising department.

Prof. Ike, the boot black, must vacate his present quarters at the depot, for the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R., they themselves, have said it.

Dr. Everett has had several young trees planted on his pretty estate, which may in time take the place of the large elms destroyed in the big storm.

The new business block on the corner of Hancock street and Merrymount road will be one story high with a brick front and ends and will contain six stores.

Rev. E. C. Butler delivered an address on "Unitarianism" at the Norfolk Unitarian conference at Brookline on Thursday, which was followed by a discussion.

Another hearing in the charges against Inspector of Plumbing Keniley will be held tonight. It is probable that the hearing will be finished at tonight's session.

The South Boston Yacht club extends to the officers and members of the Quincy Yacht club with ladies, the hospitalities of the new club house, South Boston, on Memorial day, May 30, from 12 M. to 6 P. M.

General Freight Agent J. M. Williams and Assistant General Freight Agent George L. Winlock of the N. Y., N. H. H. & H. R. R., were in Quincy on Thursday as guests of Superintendent Anderson of the Quincy Quarry Co.

The steam yacht "Jule" sailed down the river Wednesday through the Quincy Point bridge, as handsome as a swan. She was launched from the Fore River Iron Works and is owned by B.P. Cheney of Boston and is handsomely furnished throughout.

The Hospital Aid Association points with great satisfaction to the work it has accomplished in the past ten years: having paid the treasurer in clean cash the sum of $9,738.50 besides supplying a large amount of furnishing. In appealing to the people of Quincy and vicinity for assistance at this time the association feels sure of hearty and generous cooperation and support.

Many Quincy young men will recall Will J. Sleep, who resided here about fifteen years ago, and was a charter member of Mt. Wollaston lodge of Odd Fellows. Since he entered business in Gloucester he has been very successful, and his popularity in the fish city is shown by his election to the common council and aldermen. He is now president of the latter board, and today visited Boston and Quincy as one of the committee on public property, to inspect school buildings.

Mrs. William M. Chase of Wollaston Park was surprised by about fifty of her friends at her residence on Wednesday evening on the occasion of her —th anniversary when they presented her with a handsome pitcher. The jolly party repaired to the W. Y. C. house close by where more room could be had, and passed the evening in a pleasant manner in dancing and whist. Ice cream and cake were served, and the good time was kept up until late. Many happy returns was showered upon Mrs. Chase.

HOUGHS NECK.

Houghs Neck has begun to assume its summer appearance and the cottagers are arriving. It is a little early yet for the season to open, as it is not until after schools close that the majority of the summer residents arrive.

M. T. Dunham has built an addition to his cottage.

William Agnew and family are at the Idlewild cottage.

Mrs. Turner is at her cottage on Bay View avenue.

Mrs. O'Toole has moved into the opera house building.

Arthur Dunham has made several additions to his postoffice store.

Hough Neck will not lack for grocery stores, for several new ones have been opened this year. If they keep on increasing there will be a store to every cottage.

E. N. Thayer and family of Holbrook are in their cottage on Great Hill.

Mr. Goldie and family of Boston are in the Bass cottage.

Isaac Littlefield of Avon is building two new cottages off Bay View avenue near the shore front.

John O. Day is building a new cottage on Day place.

People on Mears avenue are complaining because the city will not extend the water main a short distance to connect with their houses which are now without water and will not do it even at owner's expense. One lady says she has been to City hall to see about it several times but cannot get any satisfaction.

An Interesting Lecture.

Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, held a special meeting at the John Adams birthplace on Thursday afternoon, when Miss Elizabeth Porter Gould of Boston gave her paper on "Two Colonial School Teachers; John Adams and Ezekil Cheever."

An invitation had been extended through Supt. Lull and the newspapers to the teachers of Quincy to visit the old house and listen to the lecture. Shortly after half-past three large delegations of teachers arrived, filling the main room to overflowing so that it was impossible for some of the late comers to get within hearing distance, so that they lost many interesting bits of Miss Gould's paper, which was much to be regretted as it is seldom a more entertaining paper has been given in Quincy.

All, however, were much interested in wandering over the house, many never having been in it before. All the rooms were thrown open and the teachers thoroughly enjoyed the privilege accorded them. The chapter hopes next fall to entertain the different schools setting apart a day for each school.

The John Adams birthplace is leased to Adams Chapter by the Adams family, and ever since they took possession they have been most generous in opening the house to the public and entertaining guests at their regular meetings and receptions.

The house still needs antique furniture, especially chairs and tables and anyone having any pieces which they do not care to give outright, might loan them to the chapter. A caretaker is in the house and everything is kept in first class order.

The visitors book shows guests from all over the United States.

Red Men from Chelsea.

Thursday evening, on the arrival of the 8.28 train from Boston, Wollaston was ablaze with red fire, as a signal to direct Powhatan tribe to the wigwam of Hodenosauee tribe, where a special council fire had been kindled.

The Powhatan Warrior's degree staff had come on invitation of their brethren to work the degree on several candidates, and the council chamber was filled with Red Men. Besides the two tribes mentioned, delegations were present from Nahanton of South Braintree, Algonquin of Brighton and Wingaersheek of Gloucester. The degree was finely rendered, and after the quenching of the council fire, corn and venison was disposed of and calumets lighted. Long and short talks followed, and it was low sun before the last visitor took the trail for his wigwam.

WEYMOUTH.

As Sunday will be Trinity Sunday, the day will be specially observed at Trinity church, Weymouth. Special music for the day will form a part of the services. Rev. William Hyde will preach on the meaning of the day, and the new brass cross for the altar will be dedicated.

Many Babies Die

MILTON.

East Milton has a mystery, and the question everybody is asking is, who is painting the Congregational church. The church needed painting all right but the finances would not permit. One day this week, however, a painter appeared upon the scene with his kit and commenced covering the building with a coat of immaculate white paint. The deacons and other good people waited upon the painter to find out who gave the orders and who was to pay the bill. The knight of the brush said the pay and order was all right, but said he did not know where they came from. He was simply waited upon by an agent of the unknown philanthropist and told to go ahead with the job and he did. This is all the information that can be learned as he will not tell who gave him the order. The church people are pleased but would like to thank the generous citizen.

James Gallagher was severely injured last week by a green horse. He approached the animal and began to pet him when he began to kick. One blow struck Mr. Gallagher in the face cutting a deep gash under the eye, and another struck him in the stomach. No serious results will follow.

Philip Burns, the plumber, has moved to Wollaston.

The rubber game between the Enterprise and Unions clubs will be played at the park Saturday. Each nine has won a game and Saturday's game settles who has the cup.

The Thursday Evening club held a smoke talk Thursday evening.

The new houses of Miss Sarah Smith and Mr. Dolan on Milton Hillside are nearly completed.

The Jamaica Plain A. A. and Milton A. A. play a game of ball upon the park next Tuesday.

Rev. Andrew Mulnix gives his lecture on "A year in Europe," at the Congregational church tonight.

A bicycle dance will be held at the Town Hall tonight.

Clarence Levy has closed his blacksmith shop.

John Graham and Miss Annie O'Toole are among the new bicycle riders.

A special meeting of the Milton Firemen's Relief Association will be held at the central fire station Monday evening to act upon a proposed change in the by-laws.

William Flanders, who was taken to the hospital in Boston several weeks ago with a broken leg, has returned to his home.

Frank Kemp and his daughter sail for Scotland June 17.

Lyman Cenney has purchased a handsome new turnout.

At Miltons' Camp.

Mr. Harry W. Read, of Atlantic, will take a jolly party to his Camp Windleblo, Lake Winnipesaukee on the 26th. Mr. Sayward of Wollaston, Kingman of Dorchester, Coombs of Savin Hill, Rheims, of New York, and others.

Mr. Hollings also takes a party to Camp Winnepau. The B. & M. R. R. have provided a private car to Wolfboro and return, and a royal time is expected.

Mr. E. T. Milton formerly associated with Mr. Roger Wilde of Atlantic, will open his new camp on Sunday the 28th, and Mr. Wilde and friends will go up Saturday and stay until Tuesday. Mr. Read's party has been requested to assist in the opening exercises at Milton's camp. Covers will be laid for 20, and all anticipate a "Hot time in the old town." Fish, fish, and more fish.

Hospital Aid to Celebrate.

About thirty ladies attended the meeting of the Hospital Aid association held Thursday afternoon at the hospital. Mrs. Keyes, the president, presided. Progressive reports were received from various committees on the coming festival of holidays, to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the association, and details were discussed.

The festival will open at 3 P. M. on June 14, and in the evening there will be an entertainment furnished in part by each of the different wards of the city. On the afternoon of the next day their will be an entertainment for the little children by children from the Barnard Memorial of Boston, including National dances in costume.

There will be seven booths representing different holidays, with useful ornamental and eatable articles for sale. The ladies completed at the meeting several articles for the table.

At the close Miss Thayer, the matron, and Mrs. Rice entertained at an afternoon tea at which light refreshments were served.

—The "Festival of Holidays" to be given June 14 and 15 in Music hall for the benefit of City Hospital promises to be a most successful affair. Already great interest is manifested, and liberal contributions for the holidays are being made.

DIED.

McLEOD—In Quincy, May 25, Mrs. Annie C., wife of Mr. Alexander M. T. McLeod, aged 41 years.

Home Wedding.

The solemn marriage vows of Mr. James Warren Fletcher and Miss Flora Edith Rolerson were exchanged at the residence of James B. Fletcher, on Garfield street Thursday evening at 9 o'clock, in the presence of a large company of neighbors and friends.

The house was radiant with light and flowers lent their charm to the happy occasion, as youth and beauty joined hands at the home altar. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Edgar W. Preble, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Morton, the latter a sister of the groom, acted as best man and bridesmaid. After the period of congratulation, the company repaired to the dining room where a dainty spread awaited them. The young people so happily wed, were the recipients of many beautiful presents. The fair bride is a native of Maine and the groom is a young man of sterling character who is engaged with his father and brother in the granite shipping business. Besides the Quincy guests people were present from Somerville, Roxbury and Boston.

The Adams—Milton Game.

The game Wednesday between Milton High scool and Adams Academy was a most interesting one. The first half of it was close. Hodges played well at first base, Mr. Kent distinguished himself at short stop and Tate made another phenomenal catch and a good throw to the plate which resulted in a put-out. Burchsted's catching was excellent, and his success in capturing high foul balls was loudly applauded. The whole nine played well and deserves much credit. The nine is fortunate in having an excellent battery with several good substitute pitchers.

The batting of the team has improved. Hits were much better placed.

Mr. Kent did the best batting, with three hits and a total of five. A bat offered by Mr. Hall, for the best batting in the game, was won by Donaher who had two hits with a total of three runs. Mr. Kent not being a candidate for prizes. A change of pitchers on the Milton team resulted in 15 run for Adams in the sixth innings. As five of the runs in the game were earned, was against Milton's one, the batting advantage was decidedly with the home nine. A large crowd witnessed the game.

DRINK GRAIN-O
after you have concluded that you ought not to drink coffee. It is not a medicine but doctors order it, because it is healthful, invigorating and appetizing. It is made from pure grains and has that rich seal brown color and tastes like the finest grades of coffee and costs about 1-4 as much. Children like it and thrive on it because it is a genuine food drink containing nothing but nourishment. Ask your grocer for Grain-O, the new food drink. 15 and 25c.

THE DEWEY HOME FUND

Does Not Appear to Be Accumulating as Swiftly as Its Projectors Anticipated.

Washington, May 25.—The Dewey fund is not growing as fast as it might. From the volume of joyous acclaim heard when the subscription scheme was first broached, it was thought that $500,000 would be raised in a few days. The receipts yesterday were less than $50. Something heroic will have to be done to gather together $100,000 by the time the admiral reaches home. History records many similar instances.

Not so very long ago an enthusiastic admirer of Admiral Schley organized a plan for raising a magnificent fund for the hero of Santiago, only loyal Marylanders to contribute. The suggestion was received throughout the state with wildest enthusiasm. A day was set for passing the plate. When the pennies were counted it was discovered that in the county where the man lived who started the project and where Admiral Schley was born, the entire amount raised was only $3. The rest of the state was correspondingly liberal, and as much as $50 or $60 went into the fund. So it was decided that instead of giving the admiral a country home, the subscribers would present him with a "stein" suitably inscribed. Then some rich merchants came shamefully forward and contributed enough to raise the fund to $700, and a loving cup instead of a "stein" was purchased.

Misdeeds In Georgia.

Oliver, Ga., May 25.—Frank Evans was killed and J. B. Proctor fatally wounded by Sam Perry, a notorious negro, Tuesday night near Cameron. Perry's wife was abusing Proctor's children and cursing "white folks" when Evans rebuked him. Perry thereupon shot Evans dead. Mr. Proctor then appeared on the scene and was shot down. Mr. Proctor's son was shot at, but not hit. Thomas Lee rushed toward the negro and was shot, but not seriously. Perry began to reload, but Brown Evans, brother of the murdered man, appeared and threatened to kill Perry. The negro ran, and though shot at by a posse, escaped. The negro woman had already fled. She was captured in a swamp and may be lynched. Perry is being closely pursued and if captured will be lynched.

Griffin, Ga., May 25.—The flogging of three colored operatives of the Kincaid mills on Monday night by whitecaps has led to sensational developments. Tuesday night another negro was taken from his house and severely beaten and cut. These negroes are law abiding citizens. Yesterday the superintendent and others at the Kincaid mills were notified to leave at once or they would be "dealt with." It now transpires that a club has been formed here known as "The Laborers' Union Band," with the purpose to drive the negroes out of the county. The information is that this band was formed in connection with others in the state, and the rules and oaths followed by the men are more rigid than those enforced by Jesse James. The Griffin "Laborers' Union Band" has about 500 members.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Three men were killed and three seriously, if not fatally, burned in an explosion at the Cambria blast furnace, Johnstown, Pa.

Probably 20,000 people greeted Admiral Schley at the public reception given at the state house at Denver. Admiral Schley briefly addressed the crowd.

Governor Sayres of Texas signed the anti-trust bill passed by the legislature. The law does not become operative until Jan. 31, 1901.

Charles R. Flint of New York addressed a number of Boston's most prominent bankers and financiers upon "Industrial Organizations," speaking in defense of combinations in trade, without which, he asserted, we could not go forward in developing our foreign trade.

Aaron B. Magoun, who recently celebrated his 90th birthday, died at Boston. Mr. Magoun was appointed master of the Harvard high and grammar school of Cambridge, Mass., in 1838, and retained that position until 1881. He bore a very strong resemblance to Gladstone.

Representatives of the League of American Wheelmen, the Amateur Athletic union and the Intercollegiate Athletic association met at New York and formed an alliance between the L. A. W. and the Intercollegiate Bicycle Racing association.

The vice admiralty court at St. John's has handed down a decision awarding the sum of $12,500 to the sailing steamer Kite as salvage for rescuing the Canadian liner Gaspesia from the ice floes in the gulf of St. Lawrence, amid which she was imprisoned for 66 days.

Mrs. Isaac Payne, aged 32, committed suicide by hanging at South Norwalk, Conn. She attached a rope about her neck, then tied it to the stair rail on an upper floor and let herself drop. She had been in ill health and was despondent.

One hundred houses were destroyed by fire during a heavy gale at Bulyrki, Russia. There is great suffering among the homeless victims of the disaster.

Rev. J. T. Landry, aged 60, for 25 years professor of philosophy in Niagara university, and afterward superior of St. John's college, Brooklyn, died at Baltimore of a complication of diseases.

A gift was reported of $5000 from Mrs. Thomas G. Bennett of New Haven, to be added to the foundation of the W. W. Winchester prize in the school of fine arts; also an addition of $1000 from Henry F. English of New Haven to the fund of the Alice K. English prize in the art school.

It was voted to proceed with the immediate erection of the final building for the law school in front of the present building.

Walter Croker, 3 years old, was instantly killed by falling from the third story window of a house at Boston.

A man supposed to be James Logue of Portland, Me., was found dead in the doorway of a house at Boston. A physician pronounced death due to natural causes.

Colonel E. W. Cole of Nashville, for many years one of the most prominent figures in the business world of the new south, died suddenly at New York last night. Colonel Cole was 20 years ago the richest man in the south.

MODERN DUTCH COTTAGE.

Built on Old Lines, but With All the Modern Conveniences.

[Copyright, 1899, by George Palliser, 32 Park place, New York.]

The original Dutch settlers in New York, Pennsylvania and adjacent states were a pretty clever lot, as the work done by them in the erection of their homes fully shows. They were imbued with practical common sense and made the most of their surroundings. They used stone freely because it was cheap and only needed their individual labor to utilize it. They hewed their timber, squared and cut it up themselves and built their homes with but little skilled labor to help them. Their old fashioned lines and arrangements have come down to us with welcome suggestions, and we have not been slow in taking them up and in many ways improving them to meet the customs of today.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW.

If some of our old Dutch ancestors could only come back to us and inspect the new ideas born of their own times, they would no doubt be much surprised. It would be more like a dream of fairyland to them than anything else. The modern Dutch colonial cottage, replete with heating apparatus located in cellar, with pipes and registers or radiators on the different floors to warm each room, would be a revelation to them, while the modern cooking stove (in lieu of the old fashioned Dutch oven and yawning fireplace of brick and stone), with its hot water back and boiler and water supply accompaniment, furnishing hot and cold water to all parts of the house, would also be a poser for them. Then our methods of construction as brought out by our sawmills and our woodworking facilities, results of the improved machinery for doing such work, would indeed be a miracle to them, and their astonishment would know no bounds. When we consider the differences of a hundred years, we can readily realize our advancement. It is wonderful, and nothing short of it.

The modern Dutch cottage here shown has many good points. It is built on old lines with new phases. As a representative example of this style it stands ahead and is well worth adopting in its entirety. The plan is an excellent one. Simplicity is its forte, and the adjustment of the rooms for the greatest economy and comfort of its inmates cannot be bettered. A house of this kind would accommodate quite a family. The simple, quiet dignity of its exterior would be worthy of any setting, and no situation would be too good for it.

Many people would ask about the cost of such a house. I answer that this can be made whatever you wish. Settle the cost yourself, then build to suit as to size. A house can be made any size, to suit any cost, it being simply a question of material and finish. Cost, size and materials are the three points to look after, and of course it takes some knowledge and experience to do it. Let each man think a little for himself and study and digest the ideas here given, and they will help to train his mind to form ideas of his own.

Care of Silver.

Bureau and personal ornaments made of silver must be kept with scrupulous care if they are to retain their beauty. Rubber, for instance, tarnishes silver very quickly, and rubber bands and dress shields should be kept out of the bureau drawer or wherever the silver articles are put for safe keeping.—Selected.

A PRESIDENT CHOSEN.

Arthur T. Hadley Will Preside Over Affairs at Yale University.

Famous In Educational and Literary World.

Announcement of Resignations of Secretary Dexter and Treasurer Farnam.

New Haven, May 26.—The Yale corporation held its regular May meeting yesterday and at the session in the afternoon elected Professor Arthur Twining Hadley, M. A., president of Yale university to succeed Timothy Dwight, resigned. There was almost a full membership of the corporation present, and it is understood the vote was practically unanimous.

At the morning session, before the balloting for president had begun, the resignations of Secretary B. Dexter, M. A., and Treasurer William W. Farnam, M. A., were announced. Both gentlemen had determined long ago that when President Dwight resigned they should also sever their connections with the Yale university corporation, and this action was taken without regard to the probable successor to President Dwight.

Professor Dexter has been for 30 years secretary of the corporation. He will still continue his connection with Yale as assistant librarian of the university. Treasurer Farnam has for 11 years served the university as treasurer. The resignations of both gentlemen are sincerely regretted by the corporation and by the alumni in general. Professor Dexter's resignation takes effect at commencement and Treasurer Farnam's at the close of the fiscal year, Dec. 1.

The resignation of Louis S. Deforest, M. D., clinical professor of medicine, was accepted, to take effect at commencement. Professor Charles E. Beecher was appointed curator of the geological collections, in succession to the late Professor Othniel C. Marsh. Dr. George L. Amerman, Yale, 1890, was appointed registrar of the scientific school, and George F. Eaton was appointed instructor in comparative osteology in the same school. M. Matsumoto, assistant in the psychological labratory, was reappointed, and K. F. Geiser, now a student in the graduate school, was appointed an assistant in history in the college.

A series of demonstrations by Yale students, whose magnitude has not been surpassed even during celebrations of notable athletic victories, marked the announcement on the campus that the corporation had chosen Professor A. T. Hadley as president of Yale university. The students organized a spontaneous notification celebration, which, without any concerted action, simply grew, and when the serenading party reached Professor Hadley's residence 2000 students were in line. This attestation of respect and appreciation of Yale's next president by the student body had its effect upon Professor Hadley, who evidenced the emotions that plainly animated him. It was five minutes after the students reached the residence of the newly elected executive before the enthusiasm had spent itself so that he could make a brief speech. The same scene was repeated at President Dwight's residence, and deafening cheers for the space of several minutes greeted the conclusion of his speech. The procession then went back to the campus, where a huge bonfire had been lighted, and the students gathered around it, singing college songs, chief among which was heard the strains of "Dear Old Yale."

Professor Arthur Twining Hadley is one of New Haven's most distinguished sons. He was born in New Haven, April 23, 1856, and was the only son of Professor James B. Hadley of Yale college, the famous Greek professor, and Annie Twining Hadley. Apart from a few years spent abroad he has always resided in New Haven.

His preparatory education was acquired in the public schools, and in 1872 he entered Yale college. His course in the university was a notable one, and in '76 he received his degrees with high honors. The next three years were devoted to the study of history and political science, and during that time two years were passed at the University of Berlin pursuing these subjects, of which he is now a recognized authority. In 1879 he accepted a tutorship in Yale and held that position for four years, when he became a university lecturer on railroad administration, for which he was particularly fitted, and in 1886 he was made professor of political science in the graduate department.

It was, however, in the period from 1891 until 1893, when Professor Sumner was compelled by failing health to take an extended vacation, that Professor Hadley's work was markedly notable, as he was appointed to take the place of Professor Sumner in the academic department during the latter's absence.

Professor Hadley is very popular with the students in the classroom, and his course of lectures is among the most popular in the university. Of late years he has taken much interest in developing debaters in Yale university for oratorical contests with Harvard and Princeton, and has coached the debaters a good deal.

Professor Hadley's ability in his special line has long been recognized throughout this country and Europe, and he has lectured at Harvard university, the Massachusetts institute of technology, and in other parts of the United States, as well as before the British Association for the Advancement of Science, whose guest he was in 1890.

Professor Hadley's published writings are numerous and include a great number of magazine articles contributed to different publications. His principal work is the volume entitled, "Railway Transportation, Its History and Its Laws," which has been translated into French. The only public office he ever held was that of commissioner of labor of Connecticut, from '85 to '87.

Professor Hadley received the degree of M. A. from Yale in 1886. Though of a high-strung, nervous temperament, Professor Hadley has a predilection for athletics, and before he became a golfer he excelled at tennis.

He was married in New Haven on June 30, 1891, to Miss Helen Harrison Morris, daughter of Luzon B. Morris, formerly governor of Connecticut.

Left to New York Presbytery.

Minneapolis, May 26.—In the hands of the Presbytery of New York is the fate of Rev. Arthur C. McGiffert, professor of church history in the Union theological seminary, New York. The general assembly of the Presbyterian church steered clear, as it hopes, of the rocks of another heresy trial when it voted, after a tumultuous and sometimes personal debate, to refer the whole matter to the PROFESSOR M'GIFFERT.

Presbytery of New York "for such disposition as in its judgment the peace of the church and the purity of the doctrine may require." The bills and overtures committee's report was a review of the case and the statement of four fundamental doctrines of the church which Dr. McGiffert's "History of Christianity in the Apostolic Age" is held to deny.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, May 26.—A long and careful debate in the lower branch of the legislature resulted in the passage to a third reading of the Nantasket Beach reservation bill.

An attempt was made shortly after 2 o'clock to have the house adjourn, the incentive presumably being a ball game announced to take place between members of the legislature and the Boston common council, but on a rising vote the house refused to adjourn, and shortly afterward it ordered the Cape Cod canal bill to a third reading, just as it came from the senate earlier in the week.

The senate by a complicated and rather amusing series of votes managed to throw out the bill for inspection of nurseries, and in the afternoon took carriages for a drive through Brookline on invitation of Senator Williams.

In the metropolitan affairs committee room an agreement was reached on the Boston sewer tax controversy, by which it was decided to report a bill confirming bonds already issued, authorizing short-term bonds for repayments of money paid last year under the sewer assessment law, and authorizing loan transfers for maintenance of sewerage works.

A chamber of commerce delegation called on the governor in an effort to find out what was to be done by the state toward entertaining Admiral Dewey. The governor seems inclined to the belief that the $12,000 in the contingent fund will be sufficient to meet all demands, without a special appropriation.

The committee on the liquor law voted to report the bill to protect newspapers advertising liquor concerns in no-license places.

A bill was reported to permit Taunton to supply water in that part of Raynham controlled by the trustees of the Taunton insane asylum.

There was a long contest before the calendar was taken up, on a motion to reconsider the vote whereby Senator George's substitute was engrossed in place of the agriculture committee's bill for the inspection of orchards and an investigation into the habits of the cranberry bug. By a vote of 16 to 14 the engrossment was reconsidered. By 16 to 15 substitution of the George bill was reconsidered. Then by 12 to 18 the substitution of the George bill was refused. Senator Kenefick moved to refer the bill to the next general court. A fourth roll-call was taken on reference to the next general court, resulting 13 yes, 17 no. Then came a vote on engrossment, 15 to 15 on a rising vote, and 16 to 15 on a roll-call. Then President Smith sent Clerk Coolidge back to his desk, and his name was called. He voted no, and by a tie vote, 16 to 16, the bill was given its death blow, to the delight of Senator George.

The rule for a recess at 1 o'clock was suspended and at 12:30, exactly two hours after assembling, the call of the calendar began.

Bills were engrossed for an equitable process after judgment; as to suits to quiet title to real estate; to extend the provisions of state pay for soldiers to those who enlisted from Feb. 14, 1898; to incorporate the Arlington mills; to authorize Stoneham to discontinue a cemetery; to authorize Canton to supply Knollwood cemetery in Sharon with water; to legalize proceedings of town of South Hadley.

Wholesale Slaughter.

Joplin, Mo., May 26.—In and near a tent here were found the partly decomposed bodies of J. E. Moss, his wife, an infant child, a girl of seven years and a boy of nine. The heads of all save Moss had been smashed with a hammer. He had a bullet hole in his head, and clasped a revolver. He had apparently killed his family and then committed suicide. The motive is a mystery.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—4:13; sets, 7:10.
Moon rises—9:51 p. m.
High water—12:15 a. m.; 1 p. m.

The temperature has risen generally east of the Rocky mountains and is above the seasonal average. The barometer continues high over the Atlantic coast states. Generally fair and warmer weather is indicated for the New England states during the next two days.

The Millbury (Mass.) cotton mills, which have been running out stock for some months, have shut down for an indefinite time. The mills are in the hands of a trustee.

ANTI-TRUST BANQUET

Leaders of the Democratic Party Attack Monoplies In General.

Bryan Presents His Views to St. Louis People.

Says That the Federal Constitution Acts as a Shield For Trusts.

St. Louis, May 26.—The mammoth Democratic anti-trust banquet occurred here last night. No speeches were made during the banquet. By the time the tables were cleared the 5000 seats of the amphitheater were filled with spectators, representing the society of St. Louis, and the speaking began.

The first speaker of the evening was Harry B. Hawes, president of the Jefferson club, who delivered the address of welcome. Mr. Hawes said that the battle line must be drawn sharp and clear with Democracy on one hand and the trusts and the monopolies on the other.

Champ Clark, Colonel M. C. Wetmore and David DeArmond spoke upon the theme of the evening. Mr. Bryan, when introduced, was given an ovation. He spoke in part as follows:

"The principle of monopoly is incompatible with our institutions. Where there is competition between producers the purchaser is sure to obtain what he wants at a reasonable price. When competition is eliminated, the price is controlled, not by reason, but by the greed of the one who possesses the monopoly.

"It has been said that power to tax is a power to destroy. A monopoly possesses the power to tax; it can levy such assessments as it will upon the purchaser, and we can no more afford to permit such a power to be exercised by private individuals than we could afford to authorize a private individual to use the machinery of taxation in order to enrich himself at the expense of his fellows.

"The government would be guilty if it permitted an individual to secure a monopoly even without legislative assistance, but it is still more culpable if by legislative act it furnishes the means by which a monopoly is secured. The corporation is the means now employed by those who seek to secure a monopoly. Since the corporation is a fictitious person, created by law, the power that creates can regulate, restrain or annihilate. To say that the government is impotent to prevent the organization of trusts is to say that it has called into existence a fictitious person, and that the fictitious person created has become greater than the creator.

"One of the difficulties which has been encountered in opposing trusts is that the trust hides behind the federal constitution when attacked by state legislation, and shields itself behind its state charter when attacked in the federal courts. No remedy will be complete that is not co-extensive with the federal government. If the extinguishment of the trusts is left to state legislation the public at large will be victimized as long as a single state will furnish a robber's roost where the spoils collected in other states can be divided.

"Just now people are startled by the principal of monopoly as it manifests itself in the industrial trust, and well may they be startled. The principle, however, is the same as that which manifests itself in the effort of the national banks to secure a monopoly of the issue of paper money.

"The greenback is a rival of the bank-note, and its presence is a constant menace to the banks of issue. Some who recognize the evils that flow from a soap trust seem indifferent to the dangers that attend the formation of a paper money trust.

"The principle of monopoly not only lies at the foundation of the attempt to destroy the greenbacks, but it is the controlling principle that underlies the crusade against silver as a standard money. Between 1850 and 1860, when the production of gold was increasing and the production of silver was small, three nations demnetized gold and gave silver a monopoly of mint privileges. Early in the 70s the financiers became alarmed at the increase in the production of silver, and conspired to destroy silver as a standard money and give a monopoly to gold, the production of which at that time was stationary.

"The standard money trust is not only the parent trust, but is in the hands of foreigners.

"The Republican party is impotent to destroy the trusts. It is controlled by those who are interested in trusts and its campaign funds and sinews of war are supplied by the trusts. The policies for which it now stands disregard the interests of the producers of wealth and give to money a consideration which is denied to the individual.

"Abraham Lincoln, in the very beginning of his presidential career, warned the country against the threatened attempt to put capital above labor in the structure of the government. Modern Republicanism is fulfilling the prophesy made by Lincoln; it is putting the dollar above the man.

"The Democratic party is opposed to the principle of monopoly wherever it manifests itself. It has declared war on the trusts. Not a little trust only, but a big trust, as well. Not against one kind of trust only, but against all trusts."

Mr. Bryan touched briefly upon the silver question, declaring that it was an issue that must be met. He then returned to the attack on the trusts, which he accused of lack of good faith toward the people. "A rich man," he declared, "who pays his taxes is as much of a patriot as any man who swims a river or who climbed up San Juan hill."

Following Mr. Bryan came O. H. P. Belmont of New York, who declared himself as in favor of the election of Mr. Bryan in 1900.

Ex-Governor Altgeld dwelt upon the principles of the Chicago platform, declaring that a continued adherence to them by the Democratic party would mean a great success in the future.

Ex-Mayor E. A. Noonan of St. Louis and Hon. A. M. Dockery of Gallatin spoke briefly.

Important Advice.

It is surprising how many people wake up in the morning nearly as tired as when they went to bed, a disagreeable taste in their mouth, the lips sticky, and the breath offensive, with a coated tongue. These are nature's first warnings of Dyspepsia and Liver Disorders, but if the U. S. Army & Navy Tablets are resorted to at this stage they will restore the system to a healthy condition. A few doses will do more for a weak or sour stomach and Constipation than a prolonged course of any other medicine.

If you can not get them at your drug store, send 10c. for a package of 12 to the U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLET CO., 17 EAST 14TH ST., NEW YORK.

LITERARY FEAST.

As Well as An Excellent Banquet.

The Annual of Wollaston Unity Club.

A Touching Tribute to the Late James E. Bagley.

After a winter's work delving into Italian history the sixth year of the Unity club was fittingly brought to a close on Friday evening by a banquet at the United States hotel.

The members and friends to the number of about 150 began to assemble in the parlors of the hotel at quarter to seven o'clock. From seven until half past an informal reception was held.

The banquet was held in the large private banquet hall. Six tables were needed to seat the guests. One, the head table where the presiding officer, the toastmaster, the speakers and leading officers of the club were seated, ran the entire length of the hall. At right angles from this table five others extended.

PRESIDENT FINCH

Before being seated the members sang an invocation,

"Hear us and bless us, God, as now our prayer we raise;
For daily food and every good, we sing our loving praise. Amen."

The menu was of elaborate design, and the food delicious:

Little neck clams on shell.
Clear green turtle.
Olives.
Fried fillets of sole, tartar sauce.
Iced cucumbers. Normande potatoes.
Boston gosling, puree of apples.
Tenderloin of beef larded, mushroom sauce.
Hollandaise potatoes. Green peas.
Patties of capon, with truffles.
Fried bananas, benedictine sauce.
Strawberry Bavarian cream.
Harlequin ice cream. Maraschino jelly.
Frozen pudding.
Assorted cake.
Fruits.
Water wafers. Edam cheese.
Coffee.

After the tables had been cleared President Finch arose and briefly welcomed the members and reviewed the work of the club the past season in its historical researches on Italy. He then introduced as the toastmaster of the evening, Mr. H. W. Lull

Mr. Lull, after a few facetious words introduced as the first speaker, Mr. W. G. Corthell, who responded to the toast: "Italy versus Wollaston; or where would you rather be?"

Mrs. Alma Faunce Smith played upon the piano the "Italian Royal March" by Gabetti.

Mrs. John H. Litchfield responded to the toast "America, another name for opportunity," and was followed by the singing of the "Garibaldi Hymn" by Dr. George B. Rice.

Mr. Frederic Allison Tupper very wittily responded to the toast:

"The man that has no humor in himself,
Nor is not moved by the laughter of merry wit,
Is fit for treason, stratagems, and he spoils."
—Baconspeare.

He told among other things, a clever encyclopeadia story. Miss Marion Sherman followed with a reading of a bright little skit by Eugene Field on the same subject.

Mrs. Wilson Marsh responded to the toast "The Gentlemen, God bless them!"

Mr. E. Walter Arnold sang Dudley Buck's "Sunset."

Mr. Emery L. Crane responded to "Mr. White Man's burden," a very clever parody on Rudyard Kipling's "Take up the White Man's burden." For good sound philosophy, deep research and keen wit this little "topical song" of Mr. Crane's easily bore off the palm. There seemed to be nothing

SAVED BY A POSTAL CARD.

Thousands who have written for one of the free trial bottles of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy have literally had their lives saved by a postal card. They got the trial bottle, and it proved to them that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was the only real cure for diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder and Blood, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia and Chronic Constipation. They bought a large sized bottle of their druggists and it benefited or cured them (the above is not an idle statement, but the result of careful investigation.)

You can do the same thing. If you are in doubt as to whether you have trouble with your Kidneys or bladder, put some of your urine in a glass tumbler and let it stand 24 hours, it it has a sediment, or a milky, cloudy appearance, if it is ropy or stringy, pale or discolored, you should lose no time in taking Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, it can be had of all druggists at $1.00 a large bottle, or six bottles for $5.00. It is without question the surest medicine of the age to put a stop to such dangerous symptoms as pain in the back, a frequent desire to urinate, especially at night, scalding burning pain in passing water, inability to hold urine and all the unpleasant and dangerous effects produced on the system by the use of whiskey and beer.

Send your full name and address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., and be sure to mention the Quincy Ledger, when a trial bottle, with a pamphlet of valuable medical advice, will be mailed to you absolutely free. The publishers of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this liberal offer.

OLD STRAW THRESHED,

Italy's Severe Defeat In Abyssinia Recalled In Chamber of Deputies.

Reassertion That Baratieri Showed Cowardice.

Crispi's Attempt to Seek Justification Causes an Immense Uproar.

Rome, May2 7.—Former Premier Crispi, in the chamber of deputies, yesterday, asked permission to explain the circumstances leading to the Italian rout in Erythrea. His remarks led to an immense uproar, during which anathemas were hurled indiscriminately, and the din became so great that the session was suspended. After its resumption there was a repetition of the scenes previously witnessed. Signor Ferry, Socialist, accused General Baratieria, who commanded the Italian manded by General Baratieria at Adowa, ing his troops in the lurch. Ferry refused to withdraw his accusation, and, in the midst of indescribable confusion, the house adjourned.

PREMIER CRISPI.

The Italian rout in Erythrea refers to the defeat of the Italian army, comforces in Erythrea, of fleeing and leavthe Italian east African colony, in March, 1896. The exact number of men killed and made prisoners on that occasion has not been made public, but the Italian war office officials, during the exciting scenes in the chamber of deputies, which followed Italy's reverses, admitted that about 12,000 native Italian troops were engaged, in addition to some 7000 auxiliaries, and that about 150 officers and 5000 men were killed by the forces of Menelik of Abyssinnia. In addition, it is known that a large number of Italians were made prisoners.

Some reports at that time had it that the Italians lost about 10,000 men in killed and wounded, in addition to losing 75 pieces of artillery and their ammunition and wagon trains.

General Baratieri, who commanded the Italian troops at Adowa, a former governor of Erythrea, was tried by court-martial and acquitted of the charges of having attacked the Abyssinians from inexcusable motives, under circumstances rendering defeat inevitable, and of having abandoned the chief command of the troops from 12:30 on March 1 until 9 o'clock on March 3.

Signor Crispi was premier at the time of this disaster to the Italian arms, and a great deal of odium fell upon him.

His resignation was accepted on March 24, 1898, after a committee of the chamber of deputies had reported recommending "political censure" for his connection with the Bank of Naples scandals during his premiership.

Officers Barred.

Paris, May 27.—Minister of War Krantz has issued stringent orders that no officer, either in civilian costume or in uniform, shall frequent the palace of justice, or its precincts, next week, during the public hearing of the demand for a revision of the Dreyfus trial and during the trial before the court of assizes of Paul Deroulede and Marcel Habert on the charge of provoking offenses against the security of the state and inciting the army to mutiny. On the day of President Faure's funeral Deroulede and Marcel Habert tried to lead the troops into a revolutionary movement.

Doctors In Queer Business.

Berlin, May 27.—A sensation has been caused by the arrest of two physicians at Elberfeld and Renischoid, charged with systematically drugging recruits so as to exempt them from military service. It is asserted that four of the persons thus treated have died from the results of the drugs administered to them. The prisoners offered bail in the sum of 50,000 marks, but this was refused.

General Montero Dead.

Manila, May 27.—Spanish General Montero, while on the way hither with the Spanish garrison from Zamboanga, on the steamer Leon XIII, died of wounds received in a recent engagement with the Filipinos in Mindanao.

Another Arrest.

Berlin, May 27.—The Lokal Anzeiger says a that third German, Captain Knise, is now under arrest on the German cruiser Falke, at Apia, charged, like Herr Hufnagel and Marquart, with complicity in the recent insurrection.

Negotiations Not Ended.

Ottawa, May 27.—In the house of commons yesterday Premier Laurier denied that negotiations between Canada and the United States had come to an end.

An Automobile's Performance.

New York, May 27.—The automobile which left Cleveland at 7 o'clock Monday morning to establish an automobile record between Cleveland and New York arrived in front of the Astor House at 5:45 o'clock last evening. The record made was an average of 17.6 miles an hour. The trip was accomplished with only one accident of a serious nature, the breaking of the axle of the vehicle.

ROSA BONHEUR IS DEAD.

She Stood at the Head of the List of Eminent Female Painters.

Fontainebleu, France, May 27.—Rosa Bonheur, the famous animal painter, is dead. For the greater part of the present year she has been in failing health, suffering from a cancer, and has been living in retirement at her country house.

Rosa Bonheur was born in Bordeaux, March 16, 1822. She was the eldest of four children. Her father was a teacher of drawing. Her mother died when Rosa was only seven years old. Then the poor drawing master went to Paris with his children, and eked out with difficulty a precarious livelihood.

After a tempestuous school experience Rosa took pity on her struggling father and put her shoulder to the wheel. She replaced the dead mother. Brothers and sisters fell ill. Their state developed the affections and the will of Rosa, who had naturally a deal of character. A sense of responsibility grew up, and brought precocious wisdom to her. She became the preceptress of the youthful band. But her acquirements were very limited. The only thing that she could do well was to use her pe... A family drawing class was formed. Rosa was the teacher.

The Bonheurs, from Rosa downwards, are sculptors and painters of animals. It was the famous elder sister who impelled the younger children in this direction. Circumstances aided. They made friends with some wretched mongrels, with sheep that grazed on the waste land at Chaillot, and with a goat which supplied them with milk. Their flat was a garret, with a broad terrace on the street side. Here they kept the goat, for which they went into all the wild spots they could think of to gather forage. Capricorn was the living model for the budding artists. They drew it in every point of view.

Neighbors began to respect the Bohemian family of the drawing master, and some old ladies paid the brothers and sisters to execute portraits on canvas, and in pipeclay, of their canine favorites. The best prices were commanded by Rosa, who, at 16, was a master of the art.

There was no bravado in Rosa Bonheur's assumption of masculine garments. She donned them to be able to go among stablemen, butchers and graziers at horse and cattle fairs—the schools in which she studied—without exposing herself to jeers and insults. Her sex was not suspected.

Her life has been that of an estimable bachelor. Romance has had a small place in it. For a number of years Rosa Bonheur has resided at Thomery, near Fontainebleu, where she had a byre-studio.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW.

Strength Maintained In Nearly All Branches. Export Trade Lighter.

New York, May 27.—Bradstreet's says: Favorable features of current trade still largely outnumber those of an opposite character. Wholesale distribution is naturally less active as the season advances, but comparisons with last year are still very satisfactory. Much is hoped for from better weather conditions, stimulating retail trade, hitherto held in check by the backward spring season.

Industrial activity is widespread, and the prices of most staples are either very firm or tending upward, except in the cases of products affected by weather conditions. The iron and steel trade reports increasing, rather than lessening, activity, notwithstanding the approach of warm weather.

The market for manufactures of cotton is a good second to that of iron and steel, strength being a feautre in nearly all branches, and a number of advances being registered for the week. The raw product, however, reflects little of this strength, though the advance in finished products may be taken to have offset slightly improved crop conditions, a result of needed rains.

Wool is rather less active so far as new business is concerned, but reflects recent heavy speculative buying, and relatively higher prices at interior points than at the seaboard in firm quotations.

Boots and shoes hold recent advances, and hides and leather are firm in sympathy.

The trade situation, is, however, not entirely without its drawbacks. Reports from winter wheat become increasingly unfavorable, conservative estimates pointing to 100,000,000 bushels smaller crop, owing to insect damage.

Bank clearings aggregate $1,884,000,000, a decrease of 1 percent from last week, notwithstanding a gain at New York, but an increase of 53 percent over this week a year ago. Compared with corresponding weeks of 1896 and 1897, current clearings have more than doubled.

Business failures for the week number 158, as against 168 last week, 231 in this week a year ago, and 257 in 1897.

Treaty Ratified.

Muskogee, I. T., May 27.—James Bixby, chairman of the Dawes commission, has completed the counting of the votes at the February election by citizens of the Creek nation to determine the ratification or rejection of the Dawes-Creek treaty. The treaty was ratified by a majority of 485 votes. This treaty, if confirmed by congress, will place the Creek people far in advance of any of the other five tribes. Chief Isparhecher has selected his allotment. This will be a signal for hundreds of Creeks to take similar action.

Fined Fifty Dollars Each.

Worcester, Mass., May 27.—Michael C. Galvin, a motorman, and Thomas Riney, a conductor on the Millbury electric road, who were indicted for manslaughter on account of the accident at Leicester last December, in which two persons were killed, appeared in court yesterday for sentence. After strong pleas for mercy had been made by their attorneys, Judge Hopkins fined each defendant $50, which they paid, and they were then discharged.

Havoc by Worms.

Waterville, Me., May 27.—The apple, pear and cherry crops of Maine are seriously endangered by the caterpiller worm, which has appeared in certain sections in numbers never before experienced. At Hallowell, whose fame has gone abroad for its cherry crops, despite the efforts made to exterminate them, there will be no fruit.

STRIDE TOWARD PEACE

Principle of Permanent Arbitration Tribunal Meets With Endorsement.

Winning Card Played by Sir Julian Pauncefote.

Important Meetings of Peace Conference Committees at The Hague.

The Hague, May 27.—Peace prospects touched high water mark yesterday when the conference found itself face to face with arbitration in a practicable and acceptable form and as a permanent international achievement. This honor is mainly due to Sir Julian Pauncefote. When the members of the arbitration section had finished reading the Russian proposals on this subject, Sir Julian expressed his complete approval of them, but said it would be a great pity if the conference failed to embody the principle of arbitration in some permanent shape.

The arbitration committee met under the presidency of the chief of the French delegation, Leon Bourgeois, who was flanked by the honorary presidents of the committee, Sir Julian Pauncefote, chief of the British delegation, and Count Nigra, chief of the Italian delegation. M. Bourgeois presented the questions of mediation and arbitration, and suggested a program the committee might follow, urging recourse to all pacific means to settle international questions before a recourse to war. He submitted a long list of possible subjects of dispute which might arise between nations and yet might find solution in arbitration, closing with the more difficult problems. He then presented a scheme already introduced to the full conference by a Russian delegate, a scheme consisting of 40 articles. The statement of M. Bourgeois was clear and concise, commanding the closest attention.

Sir Julian Pauncefote proposed that the committee should immediately proceed, bfore all else, to consider the question of a permanent tribunal of arbitration. "I now beg to propose," said he, "the formal establishment of a permanent arbitration tribunal, empowered to deal with all matters in dispute capable of reference to the judgment of an umpire. I do not intend to trouble you with details as to its mechanism today, nor until you accept the principle of my proposal. Therefore, I ask you to accept the principle now."

M. De Staal at once declared: "Sir Julian Pauncefote having presented his proposal, we are prepared to supplement and to complete the printed suggestions just distributed by others, dealing with a permanent arbitration board."

Thereupon the Russian president of the conference drew a paper from his pocket and laid it upon the table. The paper contained the foundation of a permanent tribunal, suggesting the substitution of a new clause and referring to an appendix not yet drawn up. The amazed delegates crowded around Sir Julian, congratulating him upon having played the winning card, which had so quickly precipitated the Russian alternative scheme. Some stood agast, as the matter was not contemplated in their instructions. Finally it was decided to refer the matter to a sub-committee.

M. Bourgeois observed that the committee, by not opposing it, gave adhesion to the principle favoring a peaceful solution of international questions before a recourse to arms.

Recognizing that the committee was too large to consider the Russian proposals, M. Bourgeois appointed a sub-committee giving a representation to all the great powers, as well as to Holland, Belgium and Switzerland.

The various committees have settled down to work, and the delegates have begun a formal exchange of views. It was decided yesterday to appoint committees to receive all suggestions, proposals and petitions emanating from outsiders; but, so far as is yet ascertainable, these will be pigeon-holed without consideration unless they come within the perview of the questions enumerated in the circular of Count Muravieff, the Russian minister of foreign affairs, in outlining the subjects for consideration.

The disarmament committee met yesterday, and M. Bernaert, chief of the Belgian delegation, who presided, set forth the points submitted for consideration. The two sections immediately divided and proceeded to a discussion of the question of firearms and explosives, which continued until the hour for adjournment.

The Americans, it is believed, are elaborating an organic statute for the erection of a permanent tribunal, which will probably be laid before the conference, and be supported by the British delegates when the principle embodied in Sir Julian's resolution is accepted.

Great importance is attached to the meetings held yesterday, and to the unanimous acceptance of the general principle of arbitration and mediation.

The recall of the minister of the Netherlands at St. Petersburg, Dr. Stoetwegen, is one of the incidents of the conference. It is due to a newspaper letter charging Great Britain with preventing the Transvaal from sending representatives to the conference. Probably, however, it will not affect the cordial spirit of the delegates.

Won't Aid Public Enemy.

Boston, May 27.—Charles J. Bonaparte of Baltimore, who recently was elected a vice president of the Anti-Imperialist league of this city, has written a letter to the organization declining to accept the proffered distinction on the ground that while he does not agree with the President of the United States in his Philippine policy, as he understands it, as the country is at war with Aguinaldo and his followers he is "unwilling to take any part in an agitation which may have some tendency to cause a public enemy to persist in armed resistance, or maybe at least plausibly represented as having this tendency."

WON'T GIVE UP ARMS.

Many Cubans Will Also Reject Their Portion of the $3,000,000.

Evidence That Cubans "Doctored" Muster Rolls.

No Trouble Anticipated During Distribution of Money, Which Begins Today.

Havana, May 27.—At a meeting of the Veterans of Independence, which was largely attended, it was resolved to approve the decision of the army in the orient, or eastern provinces, and to recommend the army in the occident, or western provinces, to take the same course. A resolution declaring against either giving up arms or accepting money from the United States was carried unanimously.

In accordance with this action, Colonel Nunez began to disband his followers yesterday, 800 men being billeted among the towns of Pinar del Rio province. The first brigade—400 infantry and 500 cavalry—is under orders to muster out on May 31. The second brigade—347 cavalry and 300 infantry—will begin to muster out today. Four regiments which Colonel Illeras has quartered near San Antonio de los Banos, with 80 cavalrymen, will be mustered out next Monday. The Cubans are attempting to form a club, composed of all the government employes, with a view to a contribution of a percentage of salaries to a general fund for the relief of the necessities of ex-soldiers.

The distribution of the $3,000,000 which the United States government has offered as a gratuity to the Cuban troops on disbanding and surrendering their arms will begin today.

Under the swollen muster rolls prepared by the late Cuban military assembly, the Americans, who have closely followed the subject, are curious to see what proportion of the numbers listed will actually appear. There are only 400 on the list for Havana, and Lieutenant Colonel Randall, the commissioner superintending the distribution here, does not expect any trouble.

That the rolls are regarded as unreliable is plain from the official report of Clerk Chadwick, who has had charge of the preparation of rolls in behalf of the paymaster. He says that lists aggregating 1324 names were received from several department commanders, representing men engaged in civil employment in their respective departments. The organizations in the Cuban army to which these men belong were not definitely stated in more than 200 cases, leaving 1124 names to be searched for on rolls containing 40,000 names. "Of these," says Mr. Chadwick, "27 were found. It appears strange that such indefinite data should have been given in so many cases unless purposely done."

Major General Ludlow, military governor of the department of Havana, in forwarding the list for his department, says: "Some of the employes refused to give the desired information, while others, ex-soldiers of the Cuban army, denied having been members of the Cuban army at all. Many things in the rolls from which our copies were made go toward creating the impression that they have been made up for the occasion of this payment; but, as General Ernst in his letter to the adjutant general of the division on his relinquishing his command here covered these fully, I do not deem it necessary to repeat them on paper, lest the generals should have determined to discourage the soldiers taking the $75."

Attempted Wife Murder.

Attleboro, Mass., May 27.—William Fontneau, a clerk in a market here, shot his wife yesterday, inflicting wounds which may prove fatal. Fontneau disappeared after the shooting. It appears that Fontneau has been addicted to the habit of intoxication, and that on several occasions he has threatened to shoot his wife. Mrs. Fontneau was unconscious when the neighbors found her, but later she recovered sufficiently to state that her injuries was caused by her husband. Mrs. Fontneau is about 25 years old. Her husband is about the same age. They had been married about four years. Mrs. Fontneau has two bullets in her brain. One plugs an artery in her head. Should this become dislodged a hemorrhage would follow, with fatal result.

Conquest Will Be Hard Work.

Madrid, May 27.—Minister of War Polavieja has received a dispatch announcing the evacuation of Zamboanga, island of Mindanao, by the Spanish garrison. The dispatch further said that as the Spaniards had declined to assent to the Filipinos' demands that the arms and munitions of war should be surrendered with the city fighting ensued, the Spaniards suffering some loss. The dispatch adds that the natives continue bitterly opposed to the idea of American annexation, and that the conquest of Mindanao will prove to be a tough task.

Gave False Testimony.

Boston, May 27.—Another conviction was secured by the government in the series of counterfeiting cases recently tried. On April 8 Antonio Laspada testified in behalf of one of the accused counterfeiters, and upon leaving the building was arrested on the charge of perjury. Antonio Laverino and Rosa Raniera, two other witnesses, were arrested at the same time. Laverino was acquitted Thursday. Yesterday the case against the woman was nol prossed, and Laspada was declared guilty. He will be sentenced later.

Dewey In No Hurry.

Washington, May 27.—Admiral Dewey telegraphs the navy department that he will stop at various places on his way to the United States, and will reach New York about Oct. 1. The dispatch did not enumerate the points where the Olympia will touch en route to New York. Some of Dewey's friends in the navy department suspect that the admiral is purposely evading a statement of his itinerary, desiring to avoid, as far as possible, all demonstrations.

IS IT A NEWSPAPER SCHEME?

New York Police Still In the Dark In the Clark Kidnapping Case.

New York, May 27.—The kidnapping of Marion Clark, who disappeared with her nurse last Sunday in Central park, is as much a mystery today as ever.

The efforts of the police appear to be fruitless, though they have never relaxed their vigilance for a moment. Chief of Police Devery has ordered the police to watch every letter box in Second avenue between Houston and Sixty-fifth street, in the hope of discovering the kidnappers, through an effort on their part to communicate with the parents of the lost child by means of the mails.

MARION CLARK.

Each officer is armed with a letter box key, and when a letter is posted it can be immediately scrutinized.

A young newspaper woman who is employed on a periodical in this city is said to bear a striking resemblance to Carrie Jones, the missing nurse girl. This is interesting, from the fact that the letter signed "Three," which was delivered to Mr. Clark, was prepared by someone who is accustomed to writing for publication.

The police have never lost sight of the theory that the kidnapping was planned and directed by someone who intended to sell the story exclusively to a New York paper for an enormous price.

Captain McClusky has said that he believed the crime was planned and directed by someone familiar with a newspaper office.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, May 27.—The committee on liquor law of the legislature gave a hearing yesterday on a bill by W. H. I. Hayes of Lowell to declare that the publishers of a newspaper which prints liquor advertisements and whose newspaper is circulated in no-license towns shall not be guilty of soliciting for the sale of intoxicating liquors. The committee was not all present, but the members present voted to report "ought not to pass" on the bill. There will be some dissenting.

Governor Wolcott signed the bill which was re-enacted in the senate the other day, prohibiting reappointments to the state board of pharmacy. This bill limits the term of the board's members to five years, and was strongly opposed by the governor when first sent to him.

The governor gave a hearing on the Boston board of apportionment bill, and received a delegation from the legislature, who called to see him relative to the makeup of the new cattle commission. He signed the Middlesex court officer bill.

After a long debate, the house ordered the Cape Cod canal bill, for incorporation of the Boston and New York Canal company, to engrossment. This puts the bill through both branches, except for the merely formal enactment stage.

The bills for the building of a Cape Cod canal by convict labor was taken from the table and referred to the next general court, as was the Bass river canal bill.

The house refused to accept the report of the conference on the bill for the inspection of gas and gas meters, recommending that the house recede from its refusal to concur in the senate, and a new committee of conference was appointed.

The Dumond summer liquor license bill was passed to be engrossed. The bill to make soldiers and sailors of the war with Spain, who enlisted on or after Feb. 4, 1898, and prior to the declaration of war with Spain, eligible to the bounty law of 1898 was engrossed.

The senate spent a long time on the resolve in aid of the Carney hospital, which aroused much opposition. But the senate refused to reject it.

Won't Save Kennedy.

Washington, May 27.—Governor Roosevelt of New York has transmitted to the state department a response to the communication of the British foreign office giving a confession by Richard T. Nicholson, now in a London prison, claiming that he killed "Dollie" Reynolds, for whose death Dr. Samuel J. Kennedy is now under sentence of death by electrocution. The governor submits with approval a letter from the district attorney of New York city, Colonel Gardiner, analyzing the confession and showing its inconsistency and untruthfulness. The New York authorities make no request for the extradition of Nicholson. The effect of this action is to dismiss the Nicholson confession as a means of postponing the electrocution of Kennedy.

Newton Merchants Swindled.

Newton, Mass., May 27.—During the past few days, Newton business men have been made a victim of a clever confidence game. A bogus check is enclosed in an envelope, with a note addressed to a prominent storekeeper. The note purports to be from one of his regular customers, and is a polite request to cash the check, it being after banking hours. The checks vary in denomination from $10 to $25 and are always presented by a small boy whom the operator sends. The business man generally complies with the request and encloses the money in the envelope. This is returned to the boy, who immediately disappears. When the check is presented at the bank it is found to be worthless.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—4:12; sets, 7:12.
Moon rises—10:33 p. m.
High water—1 a. m.; 1:45 p. m.

Showers have occurred in the lake regions and upper Mississippi valley and thence over the northern Rocky mountain and north Pacific coast districts; elsewhere fair weather has prevailed. The western storm will move eastward over the lake regions, carrying the rain area over the Ohio valley and the interior of the middle Atlantic and New England states. Brisk south to southwest winds are indicated for the New England coast.

CLEARLY OUTPOINTED.

Cincinnatis Phenomenal Pitcher Couldn't Wrest the Game From Hickman.

Cincinnati, May 27.—The Reds suffered their first shutout of the season, and the star performer in the tragedy was Hickman, of whom members of the Boston team said on Thursday that "he was a comer and would be a good pitcher in another year."

According to the ideas of the local followers of the game Hickman has arrived, with strength enough to give him a hot argument to anything that wears spiked shoes. Hahn, the Red's latest "phenom," was stacked up against Hickman, and, while he made a good showing, he was clearly outpointed by his Boston opponent. Hickman was not hit near so hard as was Nichols in the game on Thursday, only three hits being made off him, one of which was a bunt in front of the plate.

Palma and Cuban Finances.

New York, May 27.—T. E. Palma of the Cuban junta yesterday gave out a statement in answer to the request of the Cuban-American league for an explanation of the disposition of money subscribed for the Cuban fund during the struggle for liberty. Mr. Palma said that the whole amount received from voluntary contributions, sales of bonds and the taxes levied on property in the island was about $1,513,000. The contributions from the United States from Jan. 30, 1895, to Jan. 30, 1899, amounted to $505,000. He said the whole amount was expended in assisting the cause of Cuban independence, with the exception of a small balance, which is to be applied to the repatriation of indigent Cubans and in "executing other instructions of the assembly."

Two Hundred Houses Burned.

New York, May 27.—A big blaze destroyed 200 houses at Coney Island yesterday. As a result, property of the value, according to the highest estimates, of nearly $1,000,000 was destroyed, 20 acres in the heart of the summer resort section, the district known as "the Bowery," being reduced to ashes. The buildings burned ranged in size and importance from a wabbly bathing "pavilion" to the handsome five-story Hygeia hotel, and included theatres, concert halls, dancing pavilions, stores of various kinds, restaurants and hotels of every grade. The fire made shelterless for a time a "native" and transent population of about 3500, including 500 men and women classed as comedians and soubrettes, employed in the district, and silenced no less than 100 pianos.

Work Nearly Completed.

Washington, May 27.—Practically all the work of the war investigating commission in preparing for publication the testimony taken by that body, together with its report, has been completed, except the printing, and the civilian employes have been given notice of their discharge. The expenses thus far incurred have almost entirely absorbed the special allotment from the $50,000,000 emergency war appropriation set aside for the commission, so there are no funds immediately available with which to do the printing.

Message From the Deep.

Cape Henry, Va., May 27.—S. L. Dosher weather bureau observer, Hatteras, Va., reports that a bottle was picked up on the beach yesterday in which was found the following letter: "Stormy all day, both masts gone. Very little hope, going to pieces rapidly; almost gone. No hope. Good bye. Ship Vixen, crew 8 men, Captain Carter." The letter contained nothing to indicate where the bottle was thrown overboard. It appeared to have been in the water for a long time.

Attempt at Assasination.

New Orleans, May 27.—Private advices received here say that General Reyes, leader of the late Nicaraguan revolution, is lying seriously ill at Bocas del Torro, Colombia, from the effects of an attempted assassination. Parties sprang from ambush and beat him with sticks until he was unconscious. Owing to his age his condition is critical.

Two Thousand More.

Washington, May 27.—The secretary of war has ordered 2000 recruits now at San Francisco for regular regiments in the Philippines to sail on the transport Sheridan June 7 for Manila. This ship will be utilized to bring home volunteers now in the Philippines.

CANCER CURED

BY ABSORPTION
NO KNIFE.

The result of years of scientific research by America's greatest blood specialist. A pleasant treatment that relieves immediately, cures permanently all forms of CANCERS, TUMORS and CHRONIC DISEASES. Hundreds of wonderful cures effected in and around Boston. Read the following:

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

Important Advice.

It is surprising how many people wake up in the morning nearly as tired as when they went to bed, a disagreeable taste in their mouth, the lips sticky, and the breath offensive, with a coated tongue. These are nature's first warnings of Dyspepsia and Liver Disorders, but if the U. S. Army & Navy Tablets are resorted to at this stage they will restore the system to a healthy condition. A few doses will do more for a weak or sour stomach and Constipation than a prolonged course of any other medicine.

If you can not get them at your drug store, send 10c. for a package of 12 to the U. S. ARMY & NAVY TABLET CO., 17 EAST 14TH ST., NEW YORK.

CITY OF QUINCY.

In Council, May 15, 1899.

WHEREAS, in the opinion of the City Council of the City of Quincy, the public necessity and convenience of the inhabitants of said City require that Arthur and Nelson streets should be laid out as ways of the City from Buckley street to Garfield street, and from Arthur street to Carlmark street, and that the grade thereof be established, as shown on plans in the office of the City Clerk: It is therefore hereby ORDERED, That due notice be given to all parties interested, that the City Council intends to lay out the ways before mentioned, and that MONDAY, the 5th day of June, 1899, at 8.10 o'clock P. M., is appointed as the time for a public hearing of any objections which may be made to said laying out, at the City Council Chamber, in the City Hall, in said City of Quincy.

HOLIDAY NOTICE.

Memorial Day (Tuesday May 30) will be observed by the Daily Ledger as a holiday, and the office of publication closed. But the reportorial staff will be alert and Wednesday's paper will report at length the observance of the day by the Grand Army, and also the sports and all the current local news.

Good Afternoon.

The Railroad Commissioners will give a hearing June 6, on the petition of several of the street railways included in the new trust for authority to consolidate and to increase capital stock, and it will be of interest to watch the attitude of the commissioners. The petition includes the Hingham Street Railway Company, the Hanover Street Railway Company, the Rockland and Abington Street Railway Company, the Bridgewater, Whitman & Rockland Street Railway Company and the Braintree & Weymouth Street Railway Company.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ It seems a little tough that the only shoe manufacturer in the city who stood by the union in the late difficulty should be forced to assign on account, as he says, of difficulty with the union workmen. It looks like a case where reciprocity didn't reciprocate.—Marlboro Enterprise.

☞ Though one day is just as important as another with those to whom all of life is important, and, though the memory of the past deeds of those we love should be ever with us as a daily benison; yet it is so natural a thing for human beings to set aside times and seasons for performing certain acts, that we cannot be blamed for having one day of the year for special decoration of the graves of our soldier dead. Once more, therefore, with a joy that comes from realizing an increasing unity in a country once almost rent assunder, and with a new solemnity, because many of the new graves of the past year are the graves of those who were young and strong, we approach this season. The years that have passed have seen our women tenderly decorating in honor of a former generation; this year sees us bending low over the green mounds that cover the manhood of today. Thus one touch of common sorrow unites the past and the present. G. G. Dawe in Dedham Transcript.

Two Races a Week.

The first race of the Floral Boat club took place Wednesday afternoon and resulted as follows:

Lemuel Hayward, 1st; J. J. Parker Hayward, 2d; Charles Hayward, 3d; Captain Pratt, 4th; Francis Hayward, 5th; N. F. Hunt, 6th; D. Newcomb, 7th; W. E. Loud, 8th.

The wind was very poor and it took nearly two hours to go over the course. The next race will be this afternoon.

Sewing Machine Fraud.

People cannot be too careful how they allow strangers to enter their houses, especially if they have valuables of any kind laying about. The world is full of sharpers and sneak thieves, who are ever on the watch for an opportunity to help themselves as the following will show.

Yesterday Mrs. Wright of Hancock street expected a man from a Boston sewing machine company to repair her machine, so that when a young roughly dressed stranger appeared at her door and said he had come to fix her machine she readily admitted him.

Mrs. Wright staid with the fellow all of the time he was in the house with the exception of a few minutes when she was called out of the room. Upon her return she noticed that the fellow appeared somewhat flustrated, but said nothing. When he was ready to depart he charged seventy-five cents for the job, which was somewhat surprising as the company were to make the repairs free of charge. Mrs. Wright paid him, however, and he went his way. A few minutes later another man appeared who proved to be the one expected from the Boston office who pronounced the first man a fraud.

Mrs. Wright then became aroused and began to look after her valuables, but all she missed was a gold pin which the fellow had evidently taken when she left him alone for a few minutes. Near by was $15 in money and a gold watch which the fellow did not have time to get before her return. The matter was reported to the police.

State Tax.

The State tax bill as reported in the Legislature yesterday levies $1,500,000, the same as last year, and Quincy's assessment will be $10,005, as in 1898. Cities and large towns will contribute as follows, Boston paying a little over one-third, and Quincy which ranks about 25 in valuation one-hundredth: Boston $536,670, Worcester $56,505, Springfield $37,065, Pittsfield $8,415, Northampton $6,495, Brockton $14,250 New Bedford $31,905, Fall River $38,730, Brookline $36,360, Cambridge $46,195, Chelsea $12,675, Chicopee $5,370, Clinton $3,975, Everett $8,130, Fitchburg $12,510, Gloucester $8,895, Haverhill $14,085, Holyoke $18,285, Hyde Park $5,130, Lawrence $20,205, Lowell $39,720, Lynn $28,095, Malden $15,690, Marlboro $5,100, Medford $10,020, Melrose $6,645, Milton $10,890, Newton $29,775, Quincy $10,005, Salem $16,005, Somerville $27,075, Taunton $11,745, Waltham $10,320.

—The reputation of Elmer Chickering of Boston for superior photographic work, needs no further endorsement of the Ledger. He makes a liberal offer for a limited period to Ledger readers today which doubtless many will take advantage of. He has all the novelties.

☞ The next thing to a good dinner is an attractive dining room. If you have just a dollar bill and a reasonable prospect before you, you can have your whole house furnished as attractively as you like by calling at Guy's Coliseum.

Gold and Copper Stock
FOR SALE.

I have had left with me to sell for a limited time 5000 shares of mining stock in a safe and conservative company, its property is situated in Colorado and consists of 17 mines with 27 true fissure veins in one group, all very rich in gold and silver and well developed by shafts and tunnels. In addition to the above is another vein nearby, recently added to the company's list, which is one of the most wonderful veins of copper yet discovered in Colorado.

A party not in any way connected with the company recently had four specimens of this copper ore assayed in Boston at his own expense that averaged $33.34 to the ton.

The President of the Company I have known for over thirty years, and he is all right. The Treasurer is one of the solid men of Quincy. Par value of shares $1.00 but for a very limited time, or until a sufficient amount is raised for the machinery required at the new copper mine, the stock can be had for 50 cents a share. Sales have been made every day this month so far, and it is expected the necessary amount will be raised by June 15, when the stock will certainly be advanced to par, partial payments received. Specimens of ore on exhibition, also circulars, maps etc., can be procured by addressing

The Quincy Quarry Co. has recently forwarded three unusually heavily loaded cars the loads weighing respectively 72,800 pounds 76,000 pounds and 75,300 pounds. All three cars were of 80,000 pounds capacity the first-named car being loaded with 3,600 city paving and the other two with grout.

The City Council Committee on Streets went on another of their junkets yesterday afternoon, visiting those streets for which orders and petitions have been referred to them. They found it a dry and dusty trip, especially on Quarry street. In the evening the committee met at City Hall.

The Relief Corps has kindly assumed the arduous but pleasant duty of providing a collation for all who take part in the work of the day and the invited guest. It is a large undertaking, and they invite friends of the soldiers to contribute food and fruit, and have designated places in each ward where they may be left.

Col. Anderson from active fighting in the Civil war, and prominence in National Grand Army circles, is perfectly at home when talking to soldiers, and his addresses at the Co. K banquet and to the Sons of Veterans have stimulated a desire to hear more of his war stories and reminiscences. He is always entertaining. There should be a large congregation to hear him Sunday evening.

The funeral of Mr. Benjamin H. Kingsley of Wollaston, who met a violent death on the railroad track on Wednesday, took place from the home of his father, Mr. A. Hale Kingsley, on Beale street, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The services were simple. They were conducted by the Rev. Joseph E. Waterhouse, pastor of the M. E. society. There were many beautiful floral pieces. The interment was at the Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

QUINCY, MAY 15, 1899.

GENERAL ORDER No. 1.

COMRADES: Tuesday, May 30 next, the Soldiers' Sabbath day will in accordance with General Orders No. 8, from National Headquarters, and in keeping with the Divinely inspired custom that has prevailed for over thirty years, be observed by Post 88, G. A. R. as Memorial Day.

This graceful and appropriate method of keeping alive the memory of the Nation's valiant dead which the Grand Army of the Republic so happily introduced, has been adopted by societies, families and individuals all over our land and will long outlive its founders. But while we who gave it birth are yet alive, let us do for our dear Comrades who have gone before, what kind hands and throbbing hearts will some day do for us, when that dreaded Azrael will have cast over us the shadow of his wing, and darkened our eyes forever to the beauties of a world in which we had not lived in vain.

How sound they sleep! no more the joyous shout
No reveille awake them to the light.
The tattoo beats for them a long, long night,
They heed no earthly taps, their light is out.

They sleep soundly indeed, my Comrades, those dear old companions of ours. They will wake no more in this world, but oh! the glory of their awakening in that beautiful world beyond, where He, who is the source of all liberty and of all justice, has prepared a Paradise for them who fought and suffered that that liberty might shed its beneficient light o'er all our land, and that equal justice might be dispensed to all its people.

On Sunday, May 28,

the Post will assemble in full uniform at Headquarters at 9.45 A. M., for the purpose of attending Memorial Service at the Methodist Church, West Quincy, Rev. C. W. Wilder, pastor. At 6.30 P. M., the Post will assemble again in full uniform at Headquarters and take cars for Washington Street Congregational Church to listen to an oration by the Rev. Mr. Anderson.

Francis L. Souther Camp, No. 27, Sons of Veterans, Paul Revere Woman's Relief Corps, No. 103, Ladies' Aid to Sons of Veterans and all soldiers and sailors are invited to be present.

Contribution of food and flowers from our many friends will be gratefully received and may be left at the following residences: Mrs. F. P. Loud, Ward 1; Mrs. H. O. Souther, Ward 2; Mrs. E. Richardson, Ward 3; Mrs. J. Farrell, Ward 4; Mrs. Joseph Newcomb, Ward 5; Mrs. C. Moore, Ward 6.

The principals and teachers of the schools are invited to request their pupils to bring flowers to the schoolhouse on the morning of May 29. They will be collected for the purpose of decorating our Comrades' graves on Memorial Day. Bring flowers that no soldier's or sailor's grave may be unremembered by this beautiful tribute.

HISTORIC SIGHTS.

A Class Trip of Willard School Children.

Observations of a Wide Awake Boy.

Visited Interesting Places Not Familiar to Adults.

On the morning of May sixth I left my home at seven-thirty with my dinner. I arrived at the West Quincy station a little before the time we were told to be there.

The station agent at West Quincy handed to our teacher a five dollar bill given by a friend of the classes so that our teachers could give us a still better time.

I went into the car with James White and sat on the east side. As we were going in we saw the boats and schooners.

It was a very pleasant trip into Boston and it was not long before we were pulling into the station.

This was the first visit to many and we looked around a little. It was the first time that I was ever in the South Union station. It was there that we formed in line and marched in twos out of the station.

The first place visited was where Daniel Webster once lived, the defender of the Constitution of the United States. The building is not standing now but there is a tablet on this large building to show that he once lived where this building now stands.

Not very far from the home of Daniel Webster is the postoffice where the mail of Massachusetts goes out to foreign countries and our own states.

The birthplace of Benjamin Franklin was burned down in 1810 and there is now a large building there. Benjamin Franklin was one of America's greatest men who discovered that lightning and electricity were the same thing.

The Old South meeting house is where the people of Boston used to meet, and when the British in the winter of 1715 held Boston, used it as a riding school.

Almost across the street from this is the Corner bookstore said to be the oldest brick building in Boston it is where Anne Hutchinson's home once was. She was banished from the colonies and went to Rhode Island and made a settlement there

City Hall is where the mayor of Boson has his office. It is a stone building. King's Chapel is the church of England where the officers in the English army went to whorship in the siege of Boston.

The State House is a large building on Beacon Hill, and is the capitol of the State of Massachusetts. In this building is where the legslature meets and makes the laws of the State. In the Senate Chamber is a Hessian's hat, drum and gun captured at Bennington when Col. Stark defeated the British. There is also a gun captured at Lexington and the gun of Captain Parker.

We had a good view of the city and surrounding places from the dome of the State House. Across from the State House is the Shaw memorial, which is a statue of Shaw on horseback and his colored troops.

One of the oldest burying grounds of Boston is the Granary burying ground. Here was buried Adams, James Otis, Paul Revere, John Hancock and Benjamin Franklin's father and mother, a gentleman offered to let us go in.

The Old State House used to be the capitol of the State of Massachusetts. Among many other things in this building is Franklin's printing press.

The place where the Boston Massacre occurred is on State street just in front of the Old State House and there are some paving stones arranged in a circle so as to tell where it occurred. It was the first bloodshed of the Revolution.

As we were standing near where the Boston Massacre occurred a gentleman came out of the Stock Exchange building and offered to take us into the Stock Exchange, and visitors gallery. But our teacher declined the offer as it was nearly dinner time.

The Hancock tavern was once owned by John Hancock and a kind lady took us into the house and gave us a glass of ice water. She said that in a room at one corner of the house, which she showed us, was where the patriots disguised as Mohawk Indians to throw the tea overboard. She showed us a snuff box given by Lafayette to Mrs. Duggan.

We did not go into Faneuil Hall because of its being repaired. We passed through the Quincy market and we saw meat of all kinds.

The house of Paul Revere is in North Square. He was the man who gave the alarm that the British were going to march to Concord and take the stores there. This house is not very far from the Old North church, where the lanterns were hung to tell Paul Revere that the British were to march by land. At 1 o'clock we heard the chiming of the first bells in America.

In the Copp's Hill burying ground we saw where the British put their guns to fire on Bunker Hill and we also saw the oldest headstone there. From this burying ground we saw the U. S. Bancroft, the receiving ship Wabash, and the captured Spanish steamer Don Pedros.

The Marshall inn, which for fifty years has fed and lodged people came next. It was first occupied by Ebenezer Hancock, brother of Gov. John Hancock. This is standing yet, and very near it at the back of a building in the side are a round stone and a square stone on which is printed Boston stone 1737.

On another building in Boston we saw a green dragon. This was once where the Green Dargon inn was.

The North Union station was once the largest station in Boston but the South Union station is larger. In this station we sat down and had a rest.

The ride in the subway was splendid and we got transfers to Cambridge. Going out we saw the Boston Public library and many other noted buildings. In Cambridge we saw the Harvard buildings.

The visit to Elmwood, the home of James Russell Lowell, (our school poet for the seventh grade) was spendid. This house was built in old colonial style and was used as a hospital for our soldiers wounded at Bunker Hill.

The home of Longfellow is very pretty and here was the headquarters of General Washington during the siege of Boston. His park is very pretty and there the grass was very green. The house is now being painted. When walking from Lowell's to Longfellow's home we saw some of the Harvard men rowing.

The "Washintgon Elm" is in Cambridge, and it is a very old tree. Under its branches was the place where Washington took command of the American army. Near this elm is a church where the soldiers lodged and worshiped. In Cambridge we each had a soda. From Cambridge we went to Boston in the cars stopping at the Public Garden.

The Public Garden was very pretty with many beds of tulips and pansies and there was a statue of Washington on horseback. All of the class enjoyed a ride in the swanboats.

Across from the Public Garden was the Boston Common and there the boys of Boston were playing base ball; it was here the boys of Boston skated in the Revolution. It was nearly six o'clock so we started for the station; we bought bananas at a fruit stand. At the station we got into the railroad car and started home; it was a very good trip without an accident. We were tired but we did not care for that.

The class arrived at the West Quincy station at fifteen minutes of seven. All were very glad of the trip.

Hawaiian Odd Fellows.

Odd Fellows will be interested in the following item from the Hawaiia Star of Honolulu, showing the wide extent of the great order:

Odd Fellowship was early introduced into these Islands, Excelsior lodge being organized December 10, 1846, making it older than any other Odd Fellow lodge west of the Rocky Mountains, and perhaps west of the Mississippi. For a time it was under the jurisdiction of the Sovereign Grand lodge and then was attached to the Grand lodge of California. This arrangement was not wholly satisfactory, however, and it was again constituted a separate jurisdiction attached to the Sovereign Grand lodge. It has grown in strength and numbers with the growth of the order everywhere, until there are now two subordinate lodges, one encampment and two Rebekah lodges.

The eightieth anniversary of Odd Fellowship was celebrated April 25, by the "Jurisdiction of the Sandwich Islands."

"Odd Fellowship has a good deal to be proud of and the members of the local lodges are thoroughly imbued with zeal for the order. It is this spirit that gives their annual celebrations such zest and makes them occasions of interest."

Civil Trial List.

The following cases are marked for trial at the civil session of the District Court next Tuesday:

91—Waldo vs. Litchfield & tr.
100—Cresto vs. Titus.
101—Cresto vs. Titus.

IT TAKES THE ACHE,

the pain, the soreness and lameness out of your muscles like magic. Rheumatism cannot withstand it, stiffness and swelling of joints vanish before it, strains and sprains are quickly healed; in short, means limber joints and muscles, new strength and activity, freedom from pain, and enjoyment of life.

MuscleOil

And a trial costs but a trifle—25 or 50 cents a bottle.

The look of satisfaction in a woman's face is the best recommendation of

Keystone
Silver White
Gelatine

It receives the praise of every housewife who tries it; the unanimous endorsement of the leading chefs of America. It is supreme in the kitchen because of its reliability, being free from acids and artificial flavoring, simply a pure gelatine; supreme on the table because there is no jelly like that made from KEYSTONE SILVER WHITE GELATINE. Proved by every test that science and culinary art can apply to be the best gelatine the world produces. Used in the best mansions and hotels of the country. You as well can test its quality. Why not try it.

THE SOCIAL REALM.

Mrs. L. T. Tupper and family of Spear street, are at their summer cottage at Post Island.

Over 300 members of the Daughters of the Revolution of Massachusetts listened while regents of the different chapters of the State, gave reports of the doings of their chapters during the past year at the Vendome in Boston yesterday from 2 to 4. At 4 o'clock all were invited to an adjoining room where a beautifully decorated table was laden with all the "good things" of the day. From 4 to 6 was spent in social chat and partaking of the delicacies set before them. Mrs. A. H. Gilson served the chocolate, Miss H. Pierce, coffee, and Misses Mary and Belle Nightingale the frappe, all from Adams chapter of Quincy. The chairman of the social part and the decorator of the table was also a member of Adams chapter, Mrs. H. Belcher of Randolph. The Adams chapter was well represented, about twenty of its members being present. A comparison of the regent's reports showed that Adams chapter was a leader in patriotic work.

The Hospital Aid Association having reached the age of ten years was invited to the City Hospital Thursday from three to five o'clock. There were twenty-nine ladies present as guests of the maton Miss Blanche Thayer and Mrs. William B. Rice The real anniversary celebration will be held in Music hall in June and tongues and needles flew making plans and preparations. Delicious refreshments were served

While on a visit to Miss Kate Sanborn, the writer, Miss Elizabeth Porter Gould saw in her study a card with th words "Don't Worry." The word lingered in her memory and while on the train returning to Boston she thought out a few lines appropriate to the sentiment of "Don't Worry." These lines were published at the head of the social realm column in the Ledger of May 20. Miss Gould gave several copies of the poem, as souvenirs, to the guests at the old Adams house on Thursday afternoon.

The Greene family gave a largely attended concert at Odd Fellows hall, Wollaston, last evening, consisting of violin and cornet solos, duets, trios and selections by orchestra. They were assisted by Musician Harry F. Greene, the drummer of Co. M, 6th Regt.; Miss V. Clyde Robbins, elocutionist; Mr. W. H. Rupert, tenor; Mr. W. A. Coles, the blind humorist and the Mount Ætna mandolin and banjo trio.

T. L. Williams has just placed a handsome show window case in his jewelry store window. The case has a background of plate looking glass, and the silverware shown rests on black velvet. The whole is very attractive.

ALL, SAVE ONE.

The lady rode in her coach of state
As the air grew chill and the day grew late,
But she felt no longing to turn and go
To her own hearthstone with its royal glow,
For though it was warm and rich and fair
There was never a child to greet her there.

What treasures had she in that princely home!
There were silks from Persia and busts from Rome,
Pictures from Paris and London town,
Books and books, up stairs and down,
Strange, quaint things from the curious east,
But never a child to share the feast.

In the lady's mind was a goodly store
Of wit and learning and culture more.
She had sailed to the east and sailed to the west,
She had seen all the things that are rarest and best,
And many a wondrous tale she knew,
But she had no child to tell them to.

And deep in the lady's heart there lay
Such power of loving and giving, they say,
Such fancy for feeling her warm arms close
Round a slim little form, with cheeks of rose,
Such wealth of love had this lady true,
But never a child to give it to.

Oh, women who fret at the ills of life,
The round of duty, the small, small strife
Of daily living, with children's needs
Drawing you back from prouder deeds—
Think of yourselves bereft and lone,
For love, ambition; for bread, a stone.
—Louise Morgan Sill in Ladies' Home Journal.

Winning of Corinne.

"I be marry now 40 year an have nice leet' family—13, boy an girl. Dat's an onlucky number, you say? Well, I don' know 'bout dat. None dem be die yet, an all do well. He not h'onderstan' dat jus' for we love h'each oder we mus' be marry. He not t'ink I be reech 'nough for marry hees fille. Well, I go one day for ask him dat I want for marry Corinne. M'sieu, dat ol' Gingras, he jus' dance wit' mad when I spik 'bout dat.

"'W'at's dat? You want for marry ma fille? How you make for keep wife? You ask for my Corinne? I know what you t'ink. You t'ink you got my money w'en I be die. Bapteme! No! You got not'ing. You not marry her.'

"I tol' him dat I spik Corinne already, an she say yes, she marry me, an I say I go for marry her anyway, sure. Wit' dat he h'order me h'out hees maison an say if h'ever he catch me wit' Corinne he have me arres' an fine'.

"'Softly,' I say, 'not so fas'! W'at you not lak me for son-in-law?'

"'You got not'ing,' he say. 'You pauvre jus' take one beggar. Dat's de raison I not lak you.'

"'Bien m'sieu!' I say. 'I got my leet' farm. How moch money I mus' have, too, an you let Corinne marry me?'

"'W'en you have four hund' dollar h'in de bak, I let you have Corinne, an you not mus' come here till dat tam.'

"'Very well,' I say. 'I go got dat four hund' dollar, an I come back den for Corinne.'

"I spik lak I feel sure I mek dat money h'in t'ree, four mont', but I not be feel near so brave as I try to mek h'out. Four hund' dollar! Dat's a lot money for poor habitant to mek. You see, m'sieu, it's lak dis. We grow h'all we want for h'eat, plantee patao an grain. We have t'ree h'on our farm for keep good fire h'in de wintaire tam. Les moutons grow wool for mek warm clothes. No man go 'ungry or col'. We grow de tabac Canadien for smoke. Mais, m'sieu, we not be see ver' moch money.

"I t'ink for long tam how I go for mek dat four hund' dollar. S'pose I work ma farm an save h'all I can, it tek me long tam 'fore I be h'able for marry Corrine, an I not feel lak wait for long tam.

"I have cousin h'on Quebec—smart man, same lak steel trap—an I go for see him. I tell him 'bout w'at bonhomme Gingrass say an ask him w'at he t'ink I mus' do. He study for while, an den he jomp h'up.

"'Ma foi,' he say, 'I got de ver' t'ing! I know how you feex dat ol' man. I t'ink I 'ear dat dey fin' some gol' not ver' far from your farm.

"'Oui,' I say; 'dey fin some at Pierre Boulanger place, 'bout t'ree mile from me.'

"'Dat's good! Dat's all correc'! I go for veesit your farm h'in 'bout two week. You not let h'on dat you be know me h'at all.'

"He tell me h'all w'at he mek, an in 'bout two week he come an bring 'noder man wit' him. Dey have leet' 'ammer an go hall 'bout my place. Dey chip h'off piece rock here an piece rock dere, but dey have oder piece h'in de pocket dey bring wit' dem. Den dey go h'on de house bonhomme Gingras.

"He's 'ear 'bout dat dey veesit ma farm, an he feel curious for know w'at for dey do dat. He h'invite dem for stay an tek supper h'at hees place, for try fin' h'out. At firs' dey not be tell moch. Dat mek de bonhomme more curious as before. After while dey tell him dey's sure dere be gol' h'on ma farm. Dey tell him dat hin confidance, for he be hones' man. Dey go for try buy h'all de right for mine h'on ma farm. Dey say he mus' not be tol' me dat, an dey buy dem cheap. Den dey show him some dat rock dey be bring wit' dem, an say dat be specimen quartz from ma farm. Dey let him kip one dem piece. He ask how moch dey t'ink h'all dem right be wort'. Dey say dey be wort' moch, but p'raps dey buy de whole t'ing for t'ousan dollar, for I be h'ignorant man an not be know de value.

"W'en dey lef' for home, ol' bonhomme Gingras laugh at dem for fool man. He t'ink he see way for mek some money, an nex' day he start queek for Quebec wit' hees leet' bit quartz. He get dat analyze' an fin' gol' h'in h'it.

"After he get back home he come for see me an want for buy ma farm.

"'Jacques, how moch you tek for your farm?' he say.

"'Bien, M. Gingras!' I say. 'I not be want for sell ma farm. Dat b'long to h'our familee for long tam now.'

"He try an try for I sell, but I know h'all 'bout w'at he mek, an I not sell h'at all. Den he say he t'ink mebbe dere be h'iron h'on ma farm, an he want for buy de right for mine. I say he try for mek me joke an dat I never see h'any h'iron dere. He h'offer me one hund', den t'ree hund'. I let him go 'head till he h'offer five hund'. Den I say:

"'M'sieu! I tell you w'at I do. You be give me Corinne an two hund' dollar, I let you have h'all dem right. Mebbe,' I say, 'dere be h'iron dere, I don't know, an mebbe dere be gol' mine.'

"He prick h'up hees ear w'en I say dat, an he say he give me one hund' dollar an I tek Corinne. After we talk for while he say he let me marry Corinne an give me one hund' dollar an cow.

"Bonhomme Gingras was h'in beeg hurry dat I marry queeck, for he be 'fraid dem two men come back. Well, m'sieu, I marry my leet' Corrine, an dey's not be come back yet for buy dem right from Pere Gingras."—New York Post.

Acrobatic Soldiers.

Gymnasium practice is one of the requirements of the German army service, as well as special military practice in scaling walls, etc. To test the soldier's agility and strength a board wall 16½ feet high is built, with a platform on top of it. How can a man six feet tall climb a wall without a single projection to catch hold of? Alone it would be impossible, but with his comrades to assist it becomes possible, though by no means easy. Two of the soldiers stoop down and place their clasped hands under the feet of one of their comrades, who stands erect. Then as he places his hands on the wall to steady himself the stooping soldiers straighten up, raising him as far as they can.

The soldier is not yet able to reach the top of the wall and pull himself up. A comrade who is on top stretches himself out on the roof, lying down at full length, and extends his hands to the soldier below. Then by main strength and considerable scrambling the man is pulled up until he can catch a hold of the top and help himself up.

Officers stand by with bayonets guarded by little bags of chamois, so that no one can be pierced by a prod, and hurry the practicing privates. Speed is a necessary part of the evolution, for an enemy is not going to stand idly by while the Germans climb their ramparts, and the man who scrambles up fastest is proclaimed victor in this test of agility. It is no easy matter, with heavy knapsack on your back and clothed in marching garments, to get up a straight wall like this.

Mother and Son at the Zoo.

I once watched a monkey, which had a baby in arms, being fed with grapes. The youngster was most anxious to have a grape, but his mother, being either too selfish to allow him to share her treat or afraid the fruit might not be good for her son's juvenile digestive organs, would not allow him to have any and boxed his ears soundly for being rude enough to attempt to take a grape out of her mouth. The keeper in charge said she did not "spare the rod and spoil the child" when he became "obstreperous."

As his parent would not give him any fruit, the little fellow endeavored to obtain some on his own account and several times escaped from her arms and began to climb the wire netting in the front of his cage, but was promptly hauled back by the tail. At length he managed to get free, and, running up to the top of his cage, put one hand through the meshes of the galvanized wire and pleaded eloquently with his upturned dark little eyes for a "taster," while his mother actually bit herself in sheer rage over naughty boy's bad behavior.—Cassell's "Little Folks."

OUR WEEKLY FASHION PLATE.

RED AND WHITE SERGE BATHING SUIT FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

The model from which our pattern gown of woman's bathing dress is made is of dark red serge (well shrunk before making), and is made upon very late lines. The skirt is a shaped three-piece design with no superfluous fulness at the top, but sufficiently wide for comfort and beauty at the lower part. No hem is allowed on the pattern which is published by Harper's Bazar where the design originally appeared, but a facing shaped to fit the curved edge accompanies it. The fulness at the back of the skirt is folded under in inward turning pleats, secured under a strap. The skirt is opened in front, and may be fastened by large buttons, as shown in the illustration, of by a concealed "fly." In the present instance the trimming employed is white wash (linen) ribbon, stitched to the skirt upon the upper edge. The blouse is easy fitting, and follows the lines of an ordinary street blouse but for the low, rounded neck. The deep sailor collar of white serge crosses the shoulders, and reaches in shaped points to the belt-line. The vest has a shallow yoke of white serge into which thread serge is closely gathered. The sleeves are of comfortable size, and are gathered into the arm-hole, and finished at the elbow with a full ribbon-trimmed ruffle. The knickerbockers are made to reach just under the knee, and may be joined to the blouse or fastened to it by a series of flat bone buttons. The position for the buttons on the belt is indicated in the pattern, and a regular outside belt pattern, that may be ornamented with ribbon to match the skirt, or simply stitched with white, is also included in the pattern. To make this costume of serge 44 inches wide, 6 yards of red, 1 yard of white will be required. This costume pattern may be had in complete form only.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning May 28—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Established in heart.—Ps. cxii, 1-10; Rom. i, 11, 12.

To be established in heart, according to the psalmist, is to trust in God rather than in self. The blessedness of heart establishment is apparent. The psalmist declares that the righteous shall not be afraid of evil tidings because "his heart is fixed, trusting in the Lord. His heart is established. He shall not be afraid." Fearlessness is a characteristic of one who has his heart established. He fears neither evil tidings nor his enemies, knowing that the destiny of his life is in the hand of God. God keeps those in perfect peace whose mind is staid on Him.

The need of the establishment of the heart in God lies in the fact of the treacherousness of the human heart and of its tremendous influence on the life. The heart is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked. It is naturally at enmity with God, and therefore before it can be trusted it must be changed by the power of God, by faith and trust in God. Furthermore, as a man is in his heart, in his inward life, so is he. "Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh." The heart not only directs the speech, but also the life. A pure heart makes a pure life; an impure heart makes an impure life. How necessary and important, therefore, that the heart should be right; that it should be divinely established; be filled with love to God and directed and controlled by the will of God.

An established heart is not conformed to this world. It is not fashioned after worldly patterns, but is transformed. The heart is changed, and it is arraigned against sinful worldliness rather than being conformed to it. This transformation in the human heart is accomplished only by the power of the Holy Ghost. "Be not conformed to this world," says the apostle, "but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind."

This renewal of the mind, which is equivalent to the changing of the heart, is the work of the Holy Ghost. It is the regeneration of the soul, of which Christ speaks to Nicodemus.

Amid the trials, tribulations, evil bodings, oppositions of life, let us keep our minds and hearts established in God. Then we need fear no evil, "though the earth be removed and the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea."

Bible Readings.—Gen. vi, 5-7; I Sam. x, 1-9; xvi, 7; I Kings iii, 5-14; iv, 29; Ps. xxviii, 7; xlvi, 1-5; cxix, 11, 80; cxxxix, 23, 24; Prov. iv, 23-27; xxiii, 7; Jer. xvii, 9, 10; Ezek. xviii, 31, 32; Luke x, 25-27; Rom. x, 10; Heb. xiii, 9; I Pet. iii, 15.

The Missionary Cause.

Lack of knowledge is responsible for lack of interest in the missionary cause. The romance and heroism of missions are absolutely unknown to the vast majority of our church members. They are ignorant of the very names which ought to thrill every Christian heart with inspiration to self sacrifice. No wonder they do not give! And this lamentable lack is the result of the want of family training. When fathers and mothers are interested in missions, when they talk of missionary achievements, when they set the example of giving regularly and systematically, when they invest the whole subject with the thought of heroism and speak of missionaries as personal friends, to be prayed for and helped, then the children will receive the missionary impulse, be trained in the missionary spirit, and we shall have a generation of givers.—Rev. E. F. Snow in Congregationalist.

A Higher Education.

The sunlight of true education alone can disperse the gathering clouds of materialism, of envy, of discontent, of irreligion—not a narrow training of the mind, not concrete study alone. Such an education would merely awaken the laboring masses to a stronger and more misguided conception of the injustice of the present order of things.

Such an education, the higher it is carried, the more it unfits them for their surroundings. It would make them, like George, in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," still more discontented with their lot. Such an education breeds socialists and anarchists.

No, it must be a broader, a higher, a truer education.—American Hebrew.

A Spiritual Tramp.

The church is not an ecclesiastical boarding house, but a spiritual home. Family life is there and the fellowship of kindred minds. He who takes up lodgings in a Lutheran house today, in an Episcopal house tomcrrow, in a Presbyterian house the day after, is a spiritual tramp and has never known what it is to have and love a home.—Lutheran.

Point the Way.

God's laws are signboards on the Christian highway.—William T. Ellis.

Into the Depths.

The tempest is over, the breakers are singing—
Are singing a song from the depths of the sea—
And this is the message the glad waves are bringing:
From the depths of His love, my God loveth me.
Yes, my God loveth me,
As sung by the sea.

The sun on those depths is shining the brightest;
The silvery waves roll in peace o'er the sea.
So Thy love seems the deepest, my heart is the lightest
When I read that my sins are hidden by Thee—
Yes, hidden by Thee
In the depths of the sea.

As the stones on the shore like snowdrops are lying,
Overwashed by the waves from the depths of the sea,
So wash me, so cleanse me, may I ever be crying,
From the depths of Thy love, my God, wash me—
Yes, my God, wash me
As those gems of the sea.

There Are Some Things a Man Can Never Escape.

"Brace up, old chap," urged the sympathetic friend. "Something may turn up. You've got nearly a week yet."

"Five days, 19 hours and 13 minutes," groaned the victim gloomily.

"Well, that's plenty of time for a blizzard or a pestilence or an earthquake or some universal catastrophe to intervene," argued the friend, with an effort at cheerfulness.

"It'd be no good," retorted the victim, refusing to see any hope.

"Well, your house may burn down," said the friend, seeking something consolatory, "or some of your relatives may die."

"There's no such luck," replied the victim, shaking his head despondently.

"Well, you may break a leg or come down with pneumonia or get laid up some way yourself," said the friend hopefully.

"I know you mean it kindly, old man," rejoined the victim hopelessly. "I realize that. But it'd be kinder not to raise false hopes. I've got to face the inevitable, that's all there is to it. Why, I'll bet you anything," he continued wildly, "that I couldn't escape playing whist at my wife's whist party next Thursday if the world came to an end between now and then twice."—New York World.

True to His Trust.

The teacher discovered that a very small boy, not more than 5 years old, was chewing gum, and she ordered him out and bade him disgorge it.

"I can't," he said.

"You can't?" she answered in surprise. "Why, yes, you can, and you must!"

"No, I can't," he persisted, and kept the gum in his mouth.

"Now why can't you give me that gum, Johnnie?" the teacher asked.

"Because," said Johnnie stoutly, "it belongs to a little girl in Somerville!"—Boston Transcript.

Castle Square Theatre.

The twenty-four performances of "A Temperance Town" at the Castle Square theatre, given during the last two weeks, have failed to afford anything like the number of opportunities to enjoy this play demanded by the public, and a third week has necessarily been announced for this attraction by the management. Mr. Hoyt's unique reproduction of New England scenes and types of character, which are given in "A Temperance Town," are all most admirably realized in this Castle Square theatre production of his play, which quite equals that originally seen for many consecutive months at the Park theatre. The great audiences of the last two weeks, limited in numbers only by the capacity of the theatre, have shown the keenest enjoyment of the play and its players, and the advance sale for the coming week indicates a continuance of the great popularity of this attraction. A production of Hoyt's "A Midnight Bell," will follow at the Castle Square theatre, after the run of "A Temperance Town."

IT CAN'T BE DONE

No One Can Remain Well, No Chronic Disease Can Be Cured Unless the Stomach is First Made Strong and Vigorous.

This is plain because every organ in the body depends on the stomach for its nourishment. Nerve, bone, sinew, blood are made from the food which the stomach converts to our use.

How useless to treat disease with this, that and the other remedy and neglect the most important of all, the stomach.

The earliest symptoms of indigestion are sour risings, bad taste in the mouth, gas in stomach and bowels, palpitation, all-gone feeling, faintness, headaches, constipation; later comes loss of flesh, consumption, liver and heart troubles, kidney diseases, nervous prostration, all of which are the indirect result of poor nutrition.

Any person suffering from indigestion should make it a practice to take after each meal one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, allowing it to dissolve in the mouth and thus mingle with the saliva and enter the stomach in the most natural way. These Tablets are highly recommended by Dr. Jennison because they are composed of the natural digestive acids and fruit essences which assist the stomach in digesting all wholesome food before it has time to ferment and sour.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by druggists, full sized packages at 50 cents. They are also excellent for invalids and children. A book on stomach diseases and thousands of testimonials of genuine cures sent free by addressing F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich. 27-29-1.

BRAINTREE.

Mr. Eben Prescott is putting a hot water heater into his house.

The Braintree Band will play in Norwood next Tuesday afternoon.

The new machinery is being set up in the Braintree & Weymouth power house.

Mrs. Hattie Howard (Ellis) Burgess is expected to sing in the First church tomorrow morning.

Mr. P. J. Minchin, who has been quite ill, is slowly improving under the care of Dr. Granger.

Miss Florence Gilman finished her second year at the Tufts College Medical school Tuesday.

Walter Harrison was one of the contestants in the swimming contest in Malden, Tuesday, and came in fourth.

A movement has been started at the south part of the town towards having the stores close three nights a week instead of two.

The case of Holbrook vs. the Town of Braintree, for alleged injuries caused by falling into a hole near the sidewalk, about two years ago, has been put over to October on account of an accident to the judge and the illness of the plaintiff's counsel.

The members of the Braintree club observed ladies' night in their pleasant rooms on Holbrook avenue, Wednesday evening, with their families and invited guests.

The procession will start from South Braintree square Tuesday morning at 8.30.

The proposed antiphonal service in the First church has been given up for the present.

The Hingham street railway company has been purchasing coal from Joel F. Sheppard, and it was drawn from Weymouth square by electric cars in ten ton lots. It is something of a new departure to see freight trains in our streets and gives a glimpse of what may be done in the future.

The spelling match arranged by Principal Field of the Monatiquot school, between the fifth and eighth grades and the sixth and seventh, took place Tuesday night and attracted a fair sized audience. Twenty pupils were chosen on each side, and Mrs. F. W. Crooker was invited to give out the words.

Thursday evening, through the courtesy of our young and popular student of Physical Culture, George E. Sampson, a number of people of this place including teachers of the Monatiquot and Pond schools, attended the graduating exercises of the Posse Gymnasium, Boston. The affair was of a most novel and entertaining character and great credit was due not only to the teachers but the scholars who executed so admirably.

The much talked of opera that has been in preparation by the pupils of the High school, under the direction of Mr. J. A. Ewart and Mr. C. W. Crooker, was successfully given last night in the school hall before a full house; and to say that the work of both chorus and soloists excelled anything ever attempted in the schools of Braintree would not be putting it too strongly.

The committee of the Town of Braintree, to whom was referred the controversy over electric lighting by the Morrison plant, received a communication this week from the counsel of the Morrisons, notifying the town that said company was ready to transfer its public lighting to the town when the town was prepared to supply the current.

The Jonas Perkins School Association presented the comedy drama entitled "Our Folks," at their hall on Tuesday evening to a large and appreciative audience. The play deals mostly with home life in the country which produced a rural effect making everybody feel light and gay. To give each and every member of the cast full credit would take up the whole paper, but as a whole it was a grand success both historically and financially

Town Treasurer B. F. Dyer has received from the State Treasurer a check for $643.74; the amount of Braintree's share of the street railway tax, as provided by the new law regulating such matters.

Keith's Theatre.

Felix Morris returns to Keith's the week of May 29, with his little company of players, and will present the delightful one-act play, "The Vagabond," in which he was so successful during a previous engagement. Other entertainers will be: Milton and Dollie Nobles, in one of their funny farces; James Harrigan, the funny "tramp" juggler; Jim Morton and Maude Revelle, in the eccentric comedy sketch, in which Mr. Morton does the rapid talking that has made him famous among theatregoers; Earl and Wilson, comedy musical artists; the Harpers (colored), dancers and singers; Brown Harrison and Brown, Lew Palmer, Edward I. Boyle, Kelly and Ashby, Whitney brothers, and a score of others equally well known and clever. The local views being shown in the biograph are attracting an immense amount of attention. Ching Ling Foo, the famous Chinese juggler, will not appear until June 12, as his engagement in New York has proven one of the most remarkable in the history of vaudeville in that city.

LITERARY FEAST.

on, or beneath, or above the earth which it did not hit. It was up-to-date and began by firing into the immense crop of Dewey poems with which the country has been inflicted the past year then came the miserable tumble down Quincy station of the New Haven road; the much despised Wollaston fence; the crowded railroad cars with the probable comment of the New Haven officials that the "public be jammed"; the magazine was papers the city's poor highways; the curfew law; the cut of the Council at the evening schools and last but not least the long papers with which the Unity club has been inflicted the past two years.

Miss Adelaide Thomas played a violin solo.

The last speaker of the evening was the Rev. Edward A. Horton who responded to "Italy, the Unity club and the choir invisible." He opened his address with a few bright stories, and then in one of those flights of rhetoric of which he alone is master paid a magnificent tribute to the founder of the club, the Rev. James E. Bagley.

The audience, before the invocation of the divine blessing by the Rev. Mr. Horton arose and sang this tribute to Mr. Bagley, which was written by Mrs. John H. Litchfield:

Maker of all things, loving all Thy creatures,
God of all goodness, infinite in mercy,
Changless, eternal, holiest and wisest,
Hear thou Thy children.
Bless Thou our loved one, consecrate his labors,
Keep us still faithful to his high ideals;
Grand and progressive, may we grow more noble,
Worthy our leader.
Service and honor, love and admiration,
Still would we render, God, to friend so gracious;
Steadfast and earnest, heart and soul together,
Treasure his memory.
Father, inspire us, quicken all our nature,
Strengthen our purpose, grant to us his courage;
Guide us, sustain us, make our lives a tribute,
Father, our Father.

Boston Museum.

In response to most emphatic public demand, made through the box-office by the purchase of tickets, and repeated calls for seats beyond Saturday, June 3d, the management of the Boston Museum has again extended the engagement of Viola Allen in "The Christian" to and including Saturday evening, June 10, when she will positively conclude her run and make her last appearance for all time in "The Christian" in Boston and New England. An extra matinee will be presented next Tuesday afternoon, Memorial Day. No other special performance will be given. Beginning next Monday, the 29th inst., there remains but 17 more performances. Miss Allen came to the Boston Museum originally under a six weeks' contract. Her success was instantaneous and her audiences immediately became so large that one had to procure seats weeks ahead to secure accommodations. Without public announcement, her engagement was extended to eight weeks, and then to 11 weeks. There being no abatement in the demand for tickets her run was again extended to June 3d, or to 13 weeks. The further extension of one week to June 10, making her engagement 14 weeks, imposed considerable hardship on Miss Allen, completely disrupting her plans for her tour abroad, but she smilingly consented to again postpone her departure and will now not sail for Europe till June 21st. When Miss Allen closes her engagement at the Boston Museum Saturday evening, June 10, she will have played 110 performances, the longest run made in the Hub in many years. Her 100th performance will occur Friday evening, June 2d. Seats may now be secured for all remaining performances, and, for the first time during Miss Allen's stay, one may go to the box-office an hour before any performance begins with the assurance that good seats may be had for it. Up to this time it has been almost impossible to secure seats unless purchased at least three or four days in advance. Every evening at 7.50; every matinee at 2 P. M.

THE TRUE TONIC TRUE'S ELIXIR

is not a stimulant but a blood purifying, cleansing and harmless mixture of vegetable ingredients which cures disorders of the digestive tract and expels worms. It does not whip the tired organs into temporary activity as most remedies do, followed by an equal reaction, but True's Elixir removes the cause of the trouble and its tonic effects are due to good, sound digestion and pure blood, which follow its use. A favorite family medicine for 47 years. Its popularity is due entirely to its cures. Ask your druggist for it. 35 cents a bottle. DR. J. F. TRUE & CO., AUBURN, ME.

There is no "patent" about the CHILTON PAINT nor are there any secret processes. Any one having the requisite amount of capital and proper machinery can make just as good paint, provided the right disposition is there. This "disposition" is what is lacking. It has been the disposition of the Chilton Company to always make as good an article of paint as it was possible to turn out, regardless of expense, and it is due to this same "disposition" that it is a fact that more CHILTON PAINT is used in the section of country where it is known than of any other paint.

Sunday Convention at Boston Nominates a Ticket and Does Other Business.

Boston, May 29.—The state convention of the Social Democracy was held in this city yesterday, 25 branches being represented by 56 delegates. A state ticket was placed in nomination, a state central committee elected, and a platform containing a declaration of principles was adopted. James Carey of Haverhill acted as chairman.

Mayor Chase of Haverhill contended that society had not yet divided into two classes, but maintained that the division is now taking place.

The convention finally decided that the division into a large class of capitalists or exploiters on one hand, and an ever-increasing and large dispossessed class of wage workers on the other, is going on at present.

The following state ticket was then placed in nomination:

For governor, Winfield P. Porter of Newburyport.

Lieutenant governor, Isaac W. Skinner of Brockton.

Secretary of state, Charles H. Bradley of Haverhill.

Treasurer, C. W. White of Winchester.

Auditor, Angus McDonald of Boston.

It was decided to conduct an aggressive campaign until the day of the state election, and the convention then adjourned.

The principal demands in the platform are:

Revision of our antiquated federal constitution in order to remove the obstacles to full and complete control of the government by all the people, irrespective of sex.

Public ownership of all industries controlled by monopolies, trusts and combines.

[illegible] eight per day, and further in proportion to the increasing facilities of production.

Labor regulations to be made national, as well as local, and international where possible.

Equal civil and political rights for women, and the abolition of all laws discriminating against women.

Abolition of war as far as the United States is concerned, and the introduction of international arbitration instead.

The right of trial by jury in case of contempt of court.

A more efficient employers' liability law.

Self-government for cities and towns in all local affairs.

The state to assume life and fire insurance.

Cocheco Strike Endorsed.

Boston, May 29.—The executive committee of the National Federation of Textile Operators held a meeting here yesterday and discussed the strike of the 430 weavers at the Cocheco mills of Dover, N. H., at great length. The committee endorsed the strike, and it was decided to tax the members of the federation 5 cents per capita per week. It was also decided to appeal to the various local unions and central bodies to assist in bringing the strike to a successful issue. It was stated that the federation was willing to submit the matter to arbitration, provided that they are allowed a representative at the hearing.

She Wasn't Afraid.

Montpelier, Vt., May 29.—With loaded revolvers in each hand Nancy Stevens, a widow, aged 75, ordered Martin Pembroke, the road commissioner, from in front of her house in Middlesex village, where men were widening the street. Her attitude compelled the men to stop work. When officers went to the house to arrest her for breach of the peace she had revolvers in her hands and had to be overpowered. She fought desperately while being taken to jail here for safe keeping. She claims the town was taking land from her without right.

Mrs. Fontneau Still Alive.

Attleboro, Mass., May 29.—There are practically no new developments in the Fontneau shooting. Although trace of the fugitive had been found Saturday night he succeeded in eluding searchers after an exciting chase through the woods. Fontneau went for liquor to a saloon on Seekonk Plains and there was identified by a man who gave an alarm. Mrs. Fontneau remains critical. She suffered severe hemmorrhage from the nose and mouth during Sunday. Her pulse remains strong, however.

Citizens Not Alarmed.

Fall River, Mass., May 29.—A new case of smallpox was discovered yesterday by the board of health at a house on Morton street. Although it is believed that many hundreds have been exposed to the disease no general alarm is manifest, and there is every confidence in the measures that have been taken to stamp it out.

In the Lynching District.

Savannah, May 29.—Susan Grant, a young colored woman, disappeared on Wednesday. Yesterday her body was discovered on the Louisville road two miles from the city. There were evidences of a severe struggle, the coroner's jury found that she had been outraged and then murdered. A black man is suspected.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

The resignation of Edward Leighton, the veteran conductor of the Boston and Maine road, has taken effect, thereby closing a service of 50 years and two months on the road. He began work on the old Eastern railroad in March, 1849. Mr. Leighton retires to his home in Rockport, Mass.

Fred Dutremble, aged 30, was fatally injured by being thrown from a wagon during a runaway at Biddeford, Me., and his uncle, Nazarie Boulanger, was seriously injured.

John Carroll, 5 years old, fell down an elevator well at Boston and was instantly killed.

Premier Silvela denies that the Spanish government intends to alter the duty on sugar.

Robert Cloyd was knocked down at Boston by an unknown man, with whom he had an altercation. Cloyd sustained concussion of the brain and is expected to die. His assailant escaped.

A horse attached to an ambulance on the way to the Boston city hospital ran away, throwing the driver and a policeman to the ground and knocking down two other policemen who attempted to stop him. John Flanigan, a patient, who was in the vehicle very critically ill, was badly shaken up, and now little hope is entertained of his recovery.

Professor William R. Shipman of Tufts college has been granted a year's leave of absence after 35 years of continuous teaching at the institution at Medford.

The pail factory of Russell & Whitcomb, the box factory of A. H. & G. E. Whitcomb, with a number of dryhouses and lumber sheds at West Swanzey, Mass., were destroyed by fire. The loss on the property is over $20,000.

Brigadier General George W. West, a Maine veteran of the Civil war, died at Athol, Mass., after a lingering sickness. He was born in Lowell, Mass., in 1832. At the breaking out of the war of the rebellion, he enlisted in the Fifth Massachusetts, and was promoted to brigadier general for bravery at the battle of Antietam. He also participated in the battles of Gettysburg, Fredericksburg and The Wilderness, besides a number of other smaller fights.

The United States treasury department has notified the International Navigation company that it intends to hold an inquiry as soon as possible into the stranding of the Atlantic liner Paris, and the company has replied offering the government every assistance in its power.

HAD A VARIED CAREER.

Dr. Cornwall Ends His Troubles by Putting Bullet Through His Brain.

Had Been Suspected of Four Capital Offenses.

Number of Others Seek Relief In Death by Shooting or Drowning.

Kansas City, May 29.—Dr. Richmond Cornwall, a prominent local physician, committed suicide in the home of his brother-in-law, Dr. J. C. Whittier, yesterday, by shooting himself through the head. He left a note saying that despondency over financial affairs prompted the act.

Dr. Cornwall was 33 years old and had a wife and child. He came to Kansas City from St. Louis several years ago and had passed through several thrilling experiences.

Early in life he was accused of taking the life of a young St. Louis girl by means of poisoned flowers.

Nine months later he eloped with a prominent St. Louis girl. She suddenly died, and allegations of poisoning were made. Her body was about to be cremated when her relatives demanded that the coffin be opened. The matter was dropped.

He was also connected with the disappearance of Miss Maud Belle Bonesteele, daughter of a Kansas City physician, in 1894, and who has never been found.

In St. Louis on July 7, 1897, Dr. Cornwall was accused of killing a brother, Herbert Cornwall, whom he claimed to have found in the act of beating his father. He was tried for this latter crime and found not guilty.

Four years ago Dr. Cornwall married a second time, marrying Miss Ida Woods, whose parents live in Michigan.

A Batch of Suicides.

Attleboro, Mass., May 29.—Patrick Maloney, 35 years of age, a coachman, committed suicide yesterday by taking paris green. He was alive when discovered, but died a few hours later. Despondency due to his wife's long illness was the cause of the act. He leaves six children.

Salem, Mass., May 29.—George Fadens, 76 years old, [illegible] committed suicide last evening by hanging. He had been suffering for some months with a mental disease, although an hour previous to his death he was seen on the street apparently in good health.

Boston, May 29.—Mrs. Addie J. Huse, 52 years old, living at 21 Marcellus street, committed suicide yesterday by drowning herself in the pond in Forest Hills cemetery. The body was recovered. The woman had been ill for some time.

Belfast, Me., May 29.—Coroner Charles R. Coombs was called to Lincolnville to view the remains of Joseph Thomas, who committed suicide by drowning. Mr. Thomas was 70 years old and had been in poor health for some time.

Buckeye State Politics.

Cincinnati, May 29.—The unusual interest in the Republican state convention at Columbus this week is due to its indirect effect on President McKinley next year, as well as to its direct effects on state factions and contending candidates this year. In the earlier skirmishing there was talk of the possibility of a state administration that would use its power to secure an anti-McKinley delegation from Ohio to the Republican national convention next year. Since all but four of the 88 counties have selected delegates it is found that about the only thing the delegates are unanimous upon is the indorsement of the national administration. Even the Kurtz-Bushnell-McKisson element announce that they are not against McKinley, but that they are against Hanna and any candidate favored by Hanna.

In Interest of Agriculture.

Washington, May 29.—Frank H. Hitchcock, chief of the section of foreign markets, department of agriculture, sailed for Europe Saturday on a government commission, whose object is the extension of the agricultural export trade of the United States. For several years Mr. Hitchcock has had charge of the foreign field for the department, and his work in securing important data from heretofore unyielding sources and his exploitation of new information covering agricultural conditions in all our recent territorial acquisitions led to his being sent abroad to study agricultural resources there and work up a larger interest in our agricultural products.

Sambson's Squadron Coming North.

New York, May 29.—The ships of the North Atlantic squadron—the cruiser New York and the battleships Texas, Indiana and Massachusetts—Admiral Sampson commanding, sailed last evening for Newport, R. I. The squadron will use Newport as the base of the summer evolutions, and will engage in practice cruises, after which the fleet will visit the cities on the New England coast, putting into Boston harbor a short time before Bunker Hill day, June 17.

Disastrous Tornado.

Chamberlain, S. D., May 29.—A tornado passed over the country in the vicinity of Bijou, resulting in the death of seven persons, and the serious injury of three others. The tornado formed in plain view of hundreds of people, and moved in a southerly course. The path covered by the storm was only about 20 rods wide and about three miles in length.

PROPOSALS
...FOR...
Coal and Wood.

CITY OF QUINCY.

THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE of the City of Quincy will, until MONDAY noon, June 5, 1899, receive proposals for furnishing and delivering about 350 tons of White Ash Egg Coal, about 325 tons Lehigh Egg and about 175 tons Lehigh broken; also about 150 tons George's Creek, Big Vein, Cumberland Coal.

The best quality of screened coal must be furnished in proper qualities and sizes to supply the several school buildings. The bids must include the trimming of the bins.

The Committee will also receive proposals for furnishing and delivering within the school buildings, about 24 cords of pine wood and about 8 cords of hard wood. The wood must be of the best quality and must be cut into lengths required by the different schools. Five cords must be split. The bids for the pine and the hard wood must be separate.

All the wood and coal must be delivered on or before August 31, 1899.

The right to reject any and all bids is reserved. Address sealed proposals, distinctly marked on the outside of the envelope, "Proposals for Fuel," to

HOLIDAY NOTICE.

Memorial Day (Tuesday May 30) will be observed by the Daily Ledger as a holiday, and the office of publication closed. But the reportorial staff will be alert and Wednesday's paper will report at length the observance of the day by the Grand Army, and also the sports and all the current local news.

Drift of Opinion.

☞Why does not the legislature pass a few resolutions correcting cold weather in May, and why not a commission to discover why so many residents of Massachusetts find it convenient to wear eyeglasses? There are some things that are developed in the regular course of nature that are not a subject of legislation, they are part of a man's struggle for existance. It seems to us that a visitation of the gypsy moth, the brown-tail moth, the cranberry bug, cold weather and sore eyes are in this category.—Fall River Herald.

☞Some teachers have good business ability. Yesterday I heard of an energetic young woman who had worked her way by serving without pay as a stewardess on a steamer. Her fees were sufficient to cover her expenses for an excursion from the terminal port until the steamer returned on her second trip. In this way she was seeing the world in her summer vacations. Would that there were were more of us as hustling.—Sciolus in Milford Gazette.

☞It is remarked that "no one but a peace advocate would call that miserable affair in the Philippines a war now." It never has been much of a war except in the excited imaginations of men who have viewed it from afar. This country has had Indian wars within its old limits which were much bigger affairs.—New Bedford Standard.

☞It is too bad that Atkinaldo could not have provided at least his friend Aguinaldo with a bunch of his tracts on criminal aggression. The latter might have scattered them as he fled from capital to capital, as proclamations. Aguinaldo has not had time lately to write any original proclamations, and a bunch of ready-made ones would have come in handy.—Portsmouth Chronicle.

☞In future years when the population of this portion of the state, even aside from the teeming thousands from Boston shall be in evidence, the wisdom of the state in the action taken in behalf of Nantasket will be more emphatically apparent. — Brockton Times.

☞Not even the praise justly due Gen. Joe Wheeler for his enthusiastic devotion to his country's present cause can altogether obscure the loyalty of his daughter, who, after an already admirable patriotic service, has asked the war department to send her to the Philippines. These deeds are more eloquent than words.—Kennebec Journal.

☞Ohio's Republican state convention will be held about five months before the election. That gives plenty of time to get tired of the campaign.—New Bedford Standard.

GOD IS WITH US.

Three Memorial Addresses on Sunday.

Blessings Come from Good Deeds of Fathers.

Our Nation Leads Because People Are Free.

A large number of the comrades of Paul Revere Post 88, G. A. R., and members of the Sons of Veterans, Woman's Relief Corps and Ladies' Aid Society, accepted the invitation of Rev. C. W. Wilder and attended services Sunday morning at the West Quincy Methodist church. The decorations were confined to a large American flag which was draped over the desk.

Rev. Mr. Wilder took for his text the words found in Jeremiah XVIII, 7 and 8 verses. In opening the speaker said we were nearing the close of the most wonderful century in human history. Not because of any special merit of the people of this century but because we are reaping the benefits of those who have gone before. God is no respector of persons but has an equal love for all races of men. It is hard at times to believe that God has as much regard for other nations as for us, yet it is the truth. God loves justice and righteousness. He hates sin and unrighteousness. Upon these great principles he deals with all men.

There is a hereafter for individuals but God deals with nations here. The blessings we enjoys and the suffering we have are from the good and evil deeds of the fathers before us. No nation that has been characterized by wrong and oppression but sooner or later is punished, and God sometimes uses one nation to punish another. No nation has ever had such opportunities for progress as Spain, but by her rule of oppression she has lost all of her colonies. God has used this nation to carry out his purposes in bringing oppression to an end.

We entered upon the war with Spain with a pure motive. Far reaching results have come from that war. It has placed greater responsibilities upon us than we anticipated. Some benefits have come to us. A unifying of our nation. The old dividing line has been wiped out. Those who thirty years ago were against this banner were now following it with those from the north. It has revived patriotism. It has given opportunities for heroism that have not been equalled for years. This will bring blessing to us and to them. But if we follow the example of Spain we shall be punished as she has been.

AT QUINCY POINT.

Probably the largest gathering of Grand Army veterans at a recent Memorial Sunday service was that of Sunday evening at the Quincy Point church when Paul Revere post and auxiliary bodies accepted the invitation of the pastor, Rev. Edward Anderson. The church was decorated with large and small flags and flowers, and the music was all patriotic including "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," "The Vacant Chair," "Dixie," "America," etc.

The pastor was colonel of an Indiana cavalry during the Civil war, and his conversational talk to the veterans as comrades recalled old times, and moved the good deacon to applause.

He said the Southerners were worthy of our steel, and the conflict had made our nation the grandest of the world. The coming out of Egypt was nothing to the glory of our country today.

The Revolution established our country, but it was split by the factions of Plymouth and Jamestown. But God had led us. For development had come the gold find of California in 1849, then the Missouri compromise, the free State movement in Kansas, gold and Pikes Peak, and then to unite the whole country the secession movement. A million of the North were killed out of 31 million, but the soldiers travelled on foot and horseback all over the country, and since the war they had developed the South.

Then to show the hold of humanatarism came the cry of distress from Cuba, and America responded. The world was astonished at our stand, and we astonished them as time went on. They found America different than any other country of the world, and were forced to admit that it was because our people are free.

The Rebellion not only freed the slaves, but the whites of the South, and gave the North freedom in the South. On Memorial day we should rejoice not mourn; we should rejoice as we do for Jesus. Comrades take pride.

All united at the close in singing "America," and when the congregation faltered the pastor led them as he did the cavalry in the 60's.

Miss Sara Kelley presided at the organ, and a quartette composed of Mrs. R. H. Newcomb, Mrs. C. W. Newcomb, Mr. Marcus Wright and Mr. Walter Holmes rendered the selections.

AT WOLLASTON.

Gen. Henry B. Carrington, U. S. A., (retired), spoke before a large audience at the Wollaston Congregational church on Sunday evening. The Rev. Rufus B. Tobey conducted the meeting. After an organ prelude by Miss Hinckley the quartette sang "Sing Unto the Lord." Mr. Tobey read the lesson from the scriptures, which was followed by the singing of the duet "Love Divine," by Nicolai, by Mr. Samuel M. King and Miss Mary Virginia Hastings. After the prayer Mr. King sang Keller's "Angel of Peace."

General Carrington, who is an enthusiastic soldier with a wide experience in both the civil and later Indian wars, having been retired from active service on account of wounds, took as his subject "The Skirmish Line in War and Peace." His address was replete with illustrations taken from army and civil life, of what a great factor the skirmish line is in the affairs of the world.

In conclusion the general expressed unbounded faith in "Empire." "Empire is power" he said, imperialism is here to stay, it is not to be scorned, it is the country's destiny. God is with our arms in this vast undertaking. The past year was the first for 140 years when the West Indies have not been repeatedly devastated by hurricanes or courged by yellow fever. During the war there was not a single tornado nor a yellow fever epidemic. If it had not been for the interposition of Providence our army and navy might have been blotted out.

To Tax Franchises.

Governor Roosevelt has had his extra session of the Legislature, and his amendments to the Ford franchise tax bill were promptly passed. They have not called for any particular protest from the friends of the bill since they were understood, the principal one being that the property of corporations should be assessed by the State Tax Commissioners, instead of the local assessors. The New York World estimates that the new measures will probably add about a thousand millions to the tax-rolls of New York city alone. It promises to take off between one-third and one-fourth of the present enormous public burden upon its rent-payers and wage-earners. Although the corporations are prelicting disaster from the operations of the law it is a curious fact that coincident with the passage of the bill, several of the interests most likely to be affected rose several points in the market.—Boston Transcript.

Quincy Boy in Crew.

The Harlem regatta of Memorial day will be of local interest as Holden, '00 of Quincy will be one of the Weld crew. The Harvard Crimson of Friday said: The Weld junior crew will leave on Sunday for New York, to row in the Harlem regatta on Tuesday. The order of the crew follows: Stroke, Evans '01 (capt.); 7, Grew '02; 6, Holden '00; 5, Ivins '01,; 4, Burton '01; 3, Richardson '02; 2, Stanton '00; bow, Hart '01; cox., Sweetser '01. As the Weld senior crew has dissolved there will be only one crew entered from Harvard. F. J. Snite '99 and W. A. Hickman, '99 will also go to New York to row in the junior single scull race.

Gold and Copper Stock
FOR SALE.

I have had left with me to sell for a limited time 5000 shares of mining stock in a safe and conservative company, its property is situated in Colorado and consists of 17 mines with 27 true fissure veins in one group, all very rich in gold and silver and well developed by shafts and tunnels. In addition to the above is another vein nearby, recently added to the company's list, which is one of the most wonderful veins of copper yet discovered in Colorado.

A party not in any way connected with the company recently had four specimens of this copper ore assayed in Boston at his own expense that averaged $33.34 to the ton.

The President of the Company I have known for over thirty years, and he is all right. The Treasurer is one of the solid men of Quincy. Par value of shares $1.00 but for a very limited time, or until a sufficient amount is raised for the machinery required at the new copper mine, the stock can be had for 50 cents a share. Sales have been made every day this month so far, and it is expected the necessary amount will be raised by June 15, when the stock will certainly be advanced to par, partial payments received. Specimens of ore on exhibition, also circulars, maps etc., can be procured by addressing

For Epicures and Invalids

Both the professional cook and the trained nurse appreciate the value of KEYSTONE Silver White GELATINE. From this pure, refined gelatine, the one makes dainty dishes that would tempt an anchorite, and the other prepares light yet wholesome jellies as a nourishing food for children and the most delicate invalids. By following the recipes (written by famous chefs) that are found in each box of the most inexperienced cook or housewife can make fruit, wine and meat jellies, Spanish cream, charlottes, sherbets and many other desserts as delicious as those that are served anywhere. Keystone Silver White Gelatine makes the clearest, finest jelly, has no disagreeable taste and being perfectly pure and unadulterated, dissolves quickly in hot water.

If you cannot get it of your grocer, send us his name and we will mail you a sample package and recipes by leading cooks of the country. Large box mailed for 15 cents.

Why Not Defenders?

Those who saw active service or enlisted for the war with Spain have frequently been referred to as veterans. This title is strongly objected to by many of those who served in the Civil war. They say they have the highest regard and admiration for those who responded to the call for the war with Spain but in no sense are they entitled to the title of veterans. The title of veteran was one established by an act of Congress in 1863, which act provided that any soldier who had served two years and then reenlisted for three years should be known as veterans and entitled to wear the veterans stripe. This stripe, or ensigna was a narrow blue stripe worn on the right arm, above which was a gold eagle on a white field. Why not call the Boys of '98, the Defenders of '98 or the Patriots of '98!

THIRTEEN - ELEVEN.

Adams Academy Defeats a Quincy Picked Nine.

Adams academy played a picked team of Quincy fellows on Saturday, winning by the score of 13 to 11.

The features of the game were Burchsted's work behind the bat, and Kent's at short. Both teams batted well, and Smith made two three-base hits. He also made a sensational catch of a fowl near the benches at first base.

Masonic Mutual.

Some of the members of the defunct South Shore Masonic Mutual Relief Association resided in Quincy and will be interested in the report of Judge J. H. Flint, the receiver, who has filed his first report with the clerk of the Supreme Court. He was appointed March 9, 1898, and on Oct. 28 last the Court ordered that all claims must be presented before Jan. 1 of this year, or be forever barred. The report shows that the receiver now has on hand $2,307.33, and claims agregating slightly under $200 have been admitted to proof. The receiver has also found that there were seventy-four members in good standing at the time of his appointment, who are entitled to an equal share of the money remaining after the payment of all claims, charges and expenses. He prays that he may be authorized to pay in full the claims above mentioned, and that the Court make him an allowance for compensation and expenses.

IT CAN'T BE DONE

No One Can Remain Well, No Chronic Disease Can Be Cured Unless the Stomach is First Made Strong and Vigorous.

This is plain because every organ in the body depends on the stomach for its nourishment. Nerve, bone, sinew, blood are made from the food which the stomach converts to our use.

How useless to treat disease with this, that and the other remedy and neglect the most important of all, the stomach.

The earliest symptoms of indigestion are sour risings, bad taste in the mouth, gas in stomach and bowels, palpitation, all-gone feeling, faintness, headaches, constipation; later comes loss of flesh, consumption, liver and heart troubles, kidney diseases, nervous prostration, all of which are the indirect result of poor nutrition.

Any person suffering from indigestion should make it a practice to take after each meal one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, allowing it to dissolve in the mouth and thus mingle with the saliva and enter the stomach in the most natural way. These Tablets are highly recommended by Dr. Jennison because they are composed of the natural digestive acids and fruit essences which assist the stomach in digesting all wholesome food before it has time to ferment and sour.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by druggists, full sized packages at 50 cents. They are also excellent for invalids and children. A book on stomach diseases and thousands of testimonials of genuine cures sent free by addressing F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich. 27-29-1.

The best article of paint that can be made is none too good. It should always be made with Pure Linseed Oil, and never contain Benzine or Benzine Drier. Good paint performs, poor paint promises and fails. The CHILTON PAINT is as near perfect as paint can be, because it is made with the very best Linseed Oil, whatever Drier is needed is made with Turpentine, and the Colors are mixed and ground by machinery so many times that it covers more surface and lasts longer than any other paint. It is the cheapest because it takes less and because it lasts longest.

IN THE SCHOOLS.

Pupils Imbued With Patriotism of the Day.

As previously noted in the Ledger, the reception at the Wollaston school, formerly held in the evening was combined with the regular parents' day exercises today.

This year each teacher mounted some of the regular school work in her own room, while the "best work" envelopes which were exhibited for inspection contained specimens of each pupil's best efforts in the various lines of his school work.

The mounted work together with flags and flowers made the different rooms very attractive.

Shortly after the opening of school in the morning, the upper grades gathered in the school hall and listened to the earnest words of comrades Hallowell and De Forest of Paul Revere Post, G. A. R., who were introduced by Mr. Finch the principal. These exercises closed with three hearty cheers for the speakers, and a salute to the flag.

The regular general exercises of the day began at two o'clock when the parents gathered in the various grades and listened to the delightful exercises which had been so carefully prepared under the direction of the painstaking teachers.

At the close of these exercises, each teacher held an informal reception in her room; and the parents and friends of the school were cordially invited to remain and inspect the work of the children, also to become better acquainted with their teachers.

The graduating class held their exercises in the school hall and carried out the following programme in a very praiseworthy manner.

Singing, Class.
Recitation, Harvey Jewell.
Picture Study Essays—Raphael and Millet, Louise Bates; Sargent and Rembrandt, M. Marion Macleod; Michael Angelo and Corot, Helen Barnes.
Piano Solo, Mabel Hastings.

AT MASSACHUSETTS FIELDS

The Memorial day observances at the Massachusetts Fields school began at 1.30 this afternoon, when Principal Finch greeted the parents, and conducted the programme. Ex-Councilman Jonas Shackley was present to represent the Grand Army, and spoke interestingly from personal experience.

At 2 P. M. exercises were held in each of the other rooms, and enjoyed by pupils and parents.

No work was shown at this building today, it all being reserved for Friday, June 16, when parents' day will be observed.

At the Coddington and Washington schools open air exercises are being held this afternoon and these and other schools will be reported in Wedesday's Ledger.

AT HIGH SCHOOL.

The first hour at the High school this morning was devoted to exercises appropriate to Memorial day. Music comprised the greater part of the programme, the order being:

"Spirit of the Nation."
"Song of Peace."
Address by Col. Anderson.
"The Watch on the Rhine."
"Russian National Hymn."
"The National Hymn."
"Hymn of the Fisherman's Children."

Col. Anderson's address was very interesting and was a treat to the pupils.

Col. Parker at Head.

A Chicago dispatch to the Boston Journal reports that Mrs. Emmons Blaine, 344 Erie street, is maturing plans for the endowment of a pedagogic school or college to be located in Chicago. The institution will be started with a fund of several hundred thousand dollars, and in time it may reach even $1,000,000. This will be used for buildings and investments that will assure the institution permanent maintenance.

Col. Francis W. Parker, present head of the Cook County Normal School at Normal Park, and formerly superintendent of schools at Quincy, Mass., will be the head of the college, and he will be given wide powers for carrying to fruition educational ideas he has developed during his career as a teacher. The institution will be on the North Side, perhaps not far from Mrs. Blaine's residence. Within ten days or two weeks more explicit information concernring the plans under consideration may be announced. Mrs. Blaine's financial advisers long ago were apprised of her intention to found such an institution, and they have been called in consultation with her several times. It is considered likely, too, that other persons of means who are interested in educational projects may help swell the endowment.

Mrs. Blaine has had this idea in mind since 1893. It is her purpose to accomplish a practical good for the poor, whose condiion and advancement have formed one of the studies of her life in recent years. She desires to bestow some permanent benefit upon them.

Mrs. Blaine's liberality in educational matters was shown by a donation one year ago of $25,000 to the Teachers' College of the Universiy of Chicago.

Mrs. Blaine was Miss Antia McCormick, daughter of Cyrus H. McCormick, and inherited a fortune from him. She is a daughter-in-law of James G. Blaine.

NEW LEASE OF LIFE.

Insurgents Intend to Take Advantage of the Rainy Season.

Americans Have Many Refugees to Feed.

General Otis Invites His Volunteers to Re-enlis For Six Months.

Manila, May 29.—The approach of the wet season finds the insurrection seemingly taking a new lease of life. All along the American lines the rebels are showing more aggressive activity in their guerilla style than at any time before the fall of Malolos. They keep the United States troops in the trenches, sleeping in their clothing and constantly on the alert against dashes upon our outposts, and they make life warm for the American garrisons in the towns.

The bands of General Luna and General Mascardo, which retreated toward Tarlio when they feared they would be caught between General MacArthur and General Lawton, have returned in force to their old trenches around San Fernando, where there are daily collisions.

Opposite our lines on the south protecting Manila, all the way around to San Pedro Macati, the Filipinos have three rows of trenches most of the distance.

Reports from prisoners indicate that the insurgents construe the peace negotiations to mean that the Americans have had enough of fighting. The Filipinos are also encouraged by the belief that the Americans are preparing for an interval of inactivity during the wet season.

This period is sure to be followed by much suffering. Thousands of acres that were under cultivation last year have not been ploughed this year, and the government will probably be obliged to feed thousands, just as it fed the Cubans.

Friendly natives, Amigos, continue to pour into the American lines by land and river routes, coming from the territory of insurrection into the country where the passage of the two armies has left no food and practically throwing themselves upon the charity of their conquerors. Such able-bodied men as are not in the Filipino ranks have been kept by the insurgent leaders to dig trenches, and old men, women and children form the mass of the refugees. These are doing some ploughing, but they will be confronted with hunger before they can realize any subsistence from their crops.

The United States army has organized a system of distributing rice at Malolos and some of the smaller towns where Filipino stores were captured; but the latter will soon be exhausted.

General Otis has notified the president through the war department that he believes he ought to have more troops than he has had, unless the rebellion collapses immediately, as he evidently does not expect will be the case.

General Otis has shown his desire to have the country know that he thinks more troops are necessary by allowing press dispatches to that effect to pass through the censorship of his officers at Manila, and still more significantly Saturday by announcing through the same medium that he has issued in general orders an invitation for the volunteers to re-enlist for six months under the authority given by the army act.

As this action could not have been taken without the approval of the administration, it must be that General Otis reported his need of more troops at least a day or two ago, and received permission to ask the volunteers to remain. He does not expect that the volunteers generally will care to remain in the Philippines throughout the rainy season, but will prefer to return home as rapidly as transportation is provided.

The United States transport Morgan City, which arrived here from San Francisco with 600 recruits for various regiments, sailed yesterday for Iloilo with the troops.

As it was impossible to take to Spain the remains of the Spanish general, Montero, who was fatally wounded in a recent engagement with the Filipinos in the island of Mindanao, and who died while being brought here from Zamboanga on the transport Leon XIII, it was decided that the interment should take place in Manila. The funeral took place yesterday, hundreds of Spanish soldiers and civilians attending the services in the cathedral and following the cortege to the grave with wreaths and flags.

The Spanish papers declare that Montero was a victim of the Spanish government's neglect.

The war department made public the following dispatch from General Otis, dated may 28: "Two battalions Twenty-third infantry in quiet possession of Jolo. Spanish troops withdrawn from Zamboanga after battle with insurgents with severe loss to latter. Spanish loss nine killed, 27 wounded, among whom Commanding General Montero died from wounds; buried here yesterday. Insurgents used rifles, artillery and ammunition captured from gunboats, expending major part of ammunition. Conference followed between General Rios, who went from Manila to withdraw troops and insurgents. Latter stated to him would not oppose landing Americans, but would accept conditions in Luzon. Spanish troops withdrawn now here depart for Spain tomorrow.

"Feeble attack by insurgents on inhabitants southeast portion Negros necessitated sending battalion troops from Manila there. Will soon restore order.

"Insurgent falsehoods circulated in southern islands of overwhelming insurgent victories in Luzon keep up excitement in that section among the more ignorant classes, although intelligent people know American arms have never met reverses, and they call for United States protection.

"Have turned over to navy for use on coast southern islands number of purchased Spanish gunboats, from which excellent results expected."

not be. He gives his reason that he is unwilling to devote the balance of his life to a struggle to maintain a political position.

Crooked Cubans.

Havana, May 29.—There were 111 applicants yesterday for shares in the $3,000,000 which the United States has offered as a gratuity to the Cuban troops. Thirty were given $75 each. The others were not on the rolls, although they had guns which they were ready to turn in and certificates of service. The opinion is freely expressed that a large proportion of the names are fictitious, and that the rolls omit a majority of the names of those rightly entitled to share in the gratuity. The object of this, apparently, is to discredit the entire proceedings and to show the Cuban public that a large number of the troops refuse to take American money. Lieutenant Colonel Randall, who is superintending the distribution here, went carefully over the rolls of one battalion with its commandant. The commandant pointed out 34 names of men who are dead and names of others who had not been heard of outside the rolls. Of those paid yesterday 25 turned in arms. The other five showed receipts vouching for the delivery of their arms.

Absolutely Impaled.

Coverack, Cornwall, May 29.—The ninth attempt to float the American line steamer Paris was made last evening and proved an utter failure. Her bow is absolutely impaled by the rocks. Five tugs were used in the endeavor to tow her off, three others standing by for an emergency. Her boilers excepting those used for the pumps, were emptied to lighten the ship. The effect of last week's attempts is apparent in the increase of water in the engine room. Efforts to pull her off will now be discontinued, and it is proposed to concoct some new plan for lightening the vessel. The pertinacity of the attempts to tow the liner hasc aused considerable surprise among experts here, owing to the impalement of the bow, as her removal by towing must mean, in the opinion of experts, the tearing off of the bow.

The Dreyfus Case.

London, May 29.—M. De Blowitz, the Paris correspondent of The Times, commenting on the steps about to be taken by the court of cassation, in the case of Dreyfus, says: The report of M. Ballot de Beaupre ends by saying: "If the court adopts the conclusion of its reporter, it will order a revision of the case, and will send Dreyfus before a fresh court-martial to be judged according to law." In that case acquittal is certain. I doubt whether there will even be a partial secrecy in the new trial, as everything has already been revealed and no danger has arisen either at home or abroad.

Unfortunate Woman's Deed.

Nashville, May 29.—While delirious from fever, Mrs. Ode Clayton yesterday shot and dangerously wounded her 5-year old daughter. Mrs. Clayton then turned the revolver on herself and sent a bullet through her brain, death ensuing instantly.

Struck by Lightning.

Sandusky, O., May 29.—Louis Ebert, a farmer of Oxford township, was killed by lightning at a barn warming near his home. About 30 people were in the barn, and all were prostrated, several of them being more or less injured by the shock.

MAY BE THE CLARK CHILD.

A Little Waif at Buffalo In Wh m Much Interest s Now Centerer'.

Buffalo, May 29.—One week ago yesterday a man giving the name of Robert Hale, residence at St. Louis, lodged at the house of Mrs. King in this city. He had with him two children, a 5-year-old boy and a girl apparently 17 months old. Monday morning Hale disappeared, taking with him the boy, but leaving the girl behind. The deserted infant was turned over to the Erie county hospital. Dr. McGilray of the hospital staff, believing that the child resembled the Clark child abducted in New York, asked for a more complete description of the missing child, and on receiving it found that it compared exactly with the child in his possession.

The hair and eyes were of the same color and one or two marks on the body were identical. After this discovery was made a photograph of the Clark child was sent for. It arrived last Friday, and Dr. McGilray says that anyone comparing the Hale child's face with the face in the photograph would quickly say that the photograph is the Hale child. The similarity is so striking that the New York police authorities have been communicated with.

Superintendent Churchill of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children says that Hale, accompanied by the two children, was in his office a week ago last Friday, two days before the abduction of the Clark child. He, however, says that the coincidence is so remarkable that further inquiry is prudent.

Greatest on Record.

Washington, May 29.—The statistics of the production of coal in the United States during 1898 have just been completed, showing that the total production of all kinds of coal in 1898 reached the figure of 219,835,993 short tons, an increase of nearly 10 percent over the output in 1897, which amounted in round figures to 200,220,000 tons, and was up to that time the largest tonnage ever obtained in the United States.

Woman and Infant Fatally Hurt.

Toledo, May 29.—Mrs. Edwin Cooper and her 2-year-old daughter of Findlay were yesterday fatally injured by a vicious horse. The horse first attacked the child and had it under its feet. In attempting to rescue the child Mrs. Cooper was knocked down and her head crushed and body stamped upon. The animal was beaten away with a club.

THOUSANDS OF REQUESTS
For Free Bottles.

Are received by the manufacturers of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and upon strict investigation it has been found that no less than 91 per cent. of those receiving trial bottles have been so helped by the Remedy sent, that they have bought large sized bottles at their druggists.

There is no doubt that Favorite Remedy is the very best medicine known for diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder, and Blood, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia and Chronic Constipation. The manufacturers are prepared to send free trial bottles postpaid to all those who will write, giving their full name and post-office address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., and mention the Quincy Ledger.

Put some of your urine in a glass tumbler, if in 24 hours it has a sediment, or a milky, cloudy condition, if it is pale or discolored, ropy or stringy, you need a good medicine, and Favorite Remedy is the best one you can take. It speedily cures such dangerous symptoms as pain in the back, frequent desire to urinate especially at night, scalding, burning pain in passing water, staining of your linen by the urine and inability to hold it. Also the unpleasant and dangerous effects produced on the system by the use of whiskey or beer.

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is sold at all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle, or six bottles for $5.00

BAY STATE SOLDIERS

Receive High Praise From "Fighting Joe" Wheeler.

Our Prowess Has Won the World's Admiration.

Due to Spirit of True Nobility Taught by American Mothers.

A Glance at the Benefits Which May Accrue From the Policy of Expansion.

Boston, May 31.—Boston took General "Joe" Wheeler—he wrote it that way himself—to its bosom yesterday. He was given an ovation at the Boston theatre, which Senator Smith declared was the most enthusiastic ever accorded, within his recollection, to any visitor from any distant state or country.

He read the Memorial day oration for the Edward W. Kinsley post, No. 113, G. A. R., before an audience which crowded every available bit of standing or seating room in the largest theatre in the Hub.

He was banqueted at Young's, where he defended the president's foreign policy, and where the department commander of the G. A. R. of the state repudiated a recent declaration that a "mistake" had been made in inviting a former Confederate to utter the eulogy over the dead soldiers of the Union cause. He was cheered when pointed out as a fitting man for second place on the next presidential ticket with William McKinley.

The Confederate hero sang "The Red, White, and Blue,' and the Union veterans applauded "Dixie" and united their voices in "Maryland, My Maryland." Then, his hands clasped in those of "his dearest foes," Confederate joined with Federal in "Auld Lang Syne," and, hands on shoulders, circled the hall to the tune of "There's One Wide River to Cross."

In his address at the Boston theatre General Wheeler said:

"It is a great pleasure to meet you here today, my fellow countrymen. I am glad to be in this Athens of New England, made famous by the brilliant minds of her noble sons, and in the state renowned for the landing of its Pilgrim pioneers.

"It is a matter of history that the proud old commonwealth of Massachusetts furnished more soldiers in the Revolution than any of the other states. In 1775 the Massachusetts soldiers comprised almost one-half of the entire Continental army. In the War of 1812 and in the Mexican war you furnished your full quota, and in the great war of 1861-65 Massachusetts furnished more soldiers than any state except the large and populous states of New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio and Indiana. It was my proud privilege to have under my command in the late Spanish war your gallant Ninth Massachusetts regiment and to hear the guns of the Second Massachusetts in their brilliant victory at El Caney. It was here in Massachusetts that the glorious morning of freedom dawned upon America, and the rosters in your archives are full to overflowing with distinguished names of your sons, famous in all ranks of life.

"I remember your pioneer scholar, John Harvard, the founder of the renowned university that bears his name. James Otis, the orator, whose burning eloquence made him, as Adams said, the progenitor of American independence.

"He lived to see liberty won—though not long enough to see the young republic equipped and started on its career of glory. I remember Captain Isaac Davis and Private Hosmer, whose lives were liberty's first sacrifice; your statesmen, the Adamses of three generations, Quincy and Hancock, and the patriot, Warren; your poets, Longfellow and Whittier. Dearest to the hearts of the whole country is the memory of that greatest of American patriots and statesmen, Daniel Webster.

"This Memorial day of 1899 possesses interest which has not been felt in any preceding anniversary. Today throughout our land new graves are being covered with flowers—graves of sons of every state, who have fallen in battle since the celebration of a year ago.

"The dead warriors who fell side by side at Las Guasimas, San Juan and El Caney, men from the north and south, among them some of your brave boys from the Second Massachusetts, were buried together in the great national cemetery at Arlington, while a brave Federal officer, who took part in the Civil war, and now the chief executive of the nation, by his presence, conferred honor upon their funeral obsequies.

"No honor is to great to be paid to the memory of the American soldier. His prowess has won the admiration of the world, and history's page will hold no higher record for chivalry and courage than that which tells his worth.

"In the character of every soldier who laid down his life there was some distinctive merit, and in every battle death had a special grandeur, and to each we should accord his special meed of honor. Seldom is it that the soldiers who fall are approaching declining years. They are usually young men, strong in the first flush of manhood, standing on the threshold of vigorous, hopeful, useful careers; men to whom life is sweet and home dear, and who have looked forward to the peaceful triumphs of life. But duty called them, and they were the first to obey the summons. Vocations were abandoned, previous interests were sacrificed, and sad partings were endured.

"It is the graves of such men we cover with flowers upon Memorial day. It is good to cherish their memories, and from the graves of such will spring emotions common to us all, creating in our hearts a closer brotherhood and a purer and more abiding love of country.

"The enjoyment of peace is a blessed boon to humanity, but the history of the world from its earliest periods teaches that the only security for peace is to be always prepared to engage in war. That nation whose people are ready to respond to a call to arms with men and resources for any emergency is the one that shall most certainly be able to avoid the desolation and horrors of war. This is why the country takes pride in the martial spirit of its people, which is the greatest, in fact the only barrier, against aggression.

"So long as the dominant spirit which controls any country is one of honor, chivalry, glory and patroltism, so long will that nation continue to achieve power and greatness. The spirit of true nobility taught by American mothers has made our country the pride and fear of the world. It was this spirit with which the ancestors of the people now before me were imbued, and which caused them to strike for country and for home a century and a quarter ago. It was this spirit which inspired your ancestors who, without organization or military instruction, bared their breasts to the trained English soldiers at Lexington, Concord and Bunker Hill. The determined struggle for liberty and country which inspired your brave ancestors at Lexington under Parker, and Concord under Barrett on April 19, 1775, and under Prescott at Bunker Hill on June 17 of the same year, fired the hearts of the American patriots, and laid the foundation of the greatest republic which has existed on this earth."

General Wheeler here reviewed the principal wars of the present century, exemplifying that the glory and prestige of nations is greatly enhanced by successful wars. Continuing, he said:

"While all Christian people deprecate the carnage of war, with all its train of miseries and suffering, yet it is not without its compensating features. One effect of war is to call into action, in all their strength and breadth, the energies and resources of a people, and, though at the close of such a struggle the country seems prostrated, the latent influences that were evoked render the work of rehabilitation easy.

"A great war also demonstrates to the world the resources of a nation, and after it is over greatly assists in the enlargement of its commercial relations, and in its material progress and prosperity.

"The rapidity with which England emerged from this condition of 'debt, dissatisfaction and despondency,' is an interesting chapter of history. Her commerce followed the flag borne by her navy into all the corners of the earth. Her manufacturing industries attained a prosperity never dreamed of, and in a few years England became the wealthiest country on earth, the mistress of the sea and the pride and glory of the world.

"This certainly suggests an idea which is of interest to every thinking American.

"In the progress of civilization the constant rapid creations of new conditions are met by inventions, discoveries and further development of existing resources, and these new elements have always arisen co-equal with requirements which are from time to time evolved.

"It seems to me that instead of brooding over the possibilities of the evil which may arise from the extension of American influence and power, it would be well to consider the possible benefits which may come to us. The possession of depots protected by our flag upon the borders of countries containing from 500,000,000 to 700,000,000 people will give us an advantage which would enable us to meet the condition which, as an industrial and progressive people, is confronting us.

"Our pacific ports are face to face with the ports which would connect us with these people, and with the completion of the Nicaraguan canal our Atlantic and gulf cities will be more accessible to these new markets than are the ports of any rival nation. The advantages that are thus presented to us are similar to those for which European nations have struggled for centuries.

"There is another thought. It is very certain that wherever the influence of the American government has been felt the highest type of civilization has resulted. We must remember that our flag is the only standard on earth under which there exists the untrammeled right of man to worship God according

Memorial day weather was an agreeable disappointment, and all that could be desired. The threatening clouds that had gathered during the night disappeared and the sun shone forth in all its glory. The cool winds that had prevailed for the week past gave place to warm winds and as the sun climbed higher and higher so did the mercury, so that at noon it was uncomfortably warm, especially to the gray haired comrades of the Grand Army who marched along with that faltering, quivering step that comes with age. Yet the quick beat of the drum and the shrill note of the bugle would at times quicken the loyal blood, that coursed through the veins of these battle scarred comrades, and for a moment their step would be as elastic as in days of yore, when they marched shoulder to shoulder, eyes to the front, right into the very jaws of the death dealing leaden hail.

How different it is today. Yet few are they whose thoughts did not momentarily take a backward flight to the scenes and actions of the Memorial days of the early sixties which seemed but yesterday.

Faces and forms the well remembered were missing and as they heaved a sigh for those that had gone before, the thought must have come, soon it will be my turn and in twenty-five years at the most not one of the Grand Army of the Republic will be on earth. This year Memorial day had a double meaning, for since last the Grand Army were decorating the graves of comrades gone before, many stirring scenes have transpired and many a young life has been offered up upon the altar of sacrifice that those of Cuba might enjoy the freedom of we who live under that banner Old Glory enjoy.

One comrade of the war of 1898 lies buried in Quincy, John A. Boyd of the 9th Massachusetts, and to do honor to his memory many of those who went to the front with Co. K turned out and paraded with the Grand Army and Sons of Veterans.

The post reported at headquarters at 7 o'clock and details were dispatched to decorate the graves of comrades of Paul Revere Post who lie buried in other cemeteries than those in Quincy. A detail with the chaplain of the day Col. Edward Anderson proceeded to the National Sailors' Home where brief services were held. Details also decorated the graves at Mt. Wollaston, the Hancock and English cemeteries.

At 9.30 a line was formed in front of headquarters in the following order:

Officer of the Day.
City Band.
S. of V. Drum Corp.
Francis L. Souther, S. of V.,
Capt. Holmes.
Paul Revere Post, 88, G. A. R,
Commander Warner.
Members of Co. K., U. S. V.,
Sergt. Leslie.
Carriages containing Chaplain of the day, and guests.

A march was taken to near the junction of School and Franklin streets where cars and barges were taken for West Quincy. Arriving at the junction of Copeland and Crescent streets the line was formed again and a march taken to the Hall cemetery, where the command formed about the Willard monument.

Here brief exercises were held consisting of music by the band, prayer by Rev. C. W. Wilder and brief address by Col. Anderson, and the firing of the salute to the dead.

Col. Anderson in his remarks referred to the constantly thinning

Good Afternoon.

Not a fire for several days.

The Spanish War Patriots were not the only new attraction locally at Memorial day exercises. Many of the people of Quincy saw and heard Rev. Edward Anderson for the first time, although he has been a resident of the city nearly a year. He is the new pastor of the Quincy Point church, and it is not surprising that this church is taking a new lease of life. Col. Anderson who commanded an Indiana cavalry during the Civil war, was in demand as a speaker at the schools on Monday, and at the cemeteries on Tuesday, and each time he had entertaining thoughts to present which were enjoyed by the veterans and his hearers generally.

Drift of Opinion.

That Boynton bicycle road is a good imitator of the Milford, Upton & Grafton electric line in the way of promises made but never kept.—Milford Journal.

Every true American knows that our congress will be perfectly fair in its treatment of the Filipinos, and they would know it, too, were it not for the deception practiced by Aguinaldo and the unpatriotic utterances of certain Americans.—Springfield Union.

Christianity, the greatest of all moral forces, is bringing about the sure and happy completion of the work of unity, the world over. We point to the Christianity of the world for the consummation of the happiness of mankind. Christianity possesses the whole truth that theosophy, Christian Science, and all the isms and ologies fall so very far short of Christian truth is mighty, and must prevail over the fallacies of sectisms.—Boston Courier.

Whether we care, or whether we are careless, we are certainly actors of varying degrees of action in the world's drama, that according to every sign is daily approaching some extraordinary issue. There is "something in the air," which seems to denote not only the moving about of individuals and tribes, but that points toward some general revolution of whose essence and consequence we are as yet unaware.—Boston Courier.

Who Wouldn't

Praise Comfort Powder for giving a sick baby sweet sleep. Miss E. I. Burroughs, Trained Nurse, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., says:—"It worked like a charm on a baby with badly irritated skin, allaying and curing the trouble."

—Huntington F. Wolcott post 102 G. A. R., attended union memorial services at the Milton Centre Unitarian church Sunday morning, and were addressed by Rev. Theodore C. Williams of Boston. Rev. Roderick Stebbins, Rev. Mr. Mulnix and Rev. Henry F. Huntington assisted in the service.

In the repairing of the drawbridge at Quincy Point, pedestrians say that there is great danger of an accident. For the railroad leave its cars on the bridge on the Point side; and opposite the car tracks a large amount of timber is also left as an obstruction, which makes a very narrow passage.

—Gov. Wolcott has vetoed the Trades Union insurance bill and the Veterans' preference bill.

—The livery stable of W. P. Mason at Rockland was burned Monday; loss $15,000.

GRAND ARMY DAY.

ranks of the Grand Army, to the work of decorating the graves that was falling upon the Sons of Veterans, and to those who enlisted for the recent war, who were just as brave and true, and responded as quickly to the call as had the boys of '61. He also referred to the lessons taught by the war with Spain.

After details had decorated the graves in his cemetery prayer was offered and then the command proceeded to St. Mary's cemetery where services were held by Rev. J. P. Cuffe, and the graves decorated and a salute fired.

While the exercises were being held a squad of four privates from Co. E 9th Mass. U. S. V., visited the grave of Private John A. Boyd and placed upon it a marker and flag, and a wreath of ivy marked "U. S. V." The four comrades then knelt and offered a brief prayer.

A little later Co. K, U. S V., to the number of twenty-five, under command of Sergt. Leslie visited Comrade Boyd's grave, upon which they placed a silk flag, a wreath and a pillow of roses marked "U. S. V." Taps were sounded by Buglers Johnson of Co. K and Quill of Co. I, 9th.

The marker placed on the grave was a five pointed star bearing the words "Veteran, war 1898."

At the conclusion of the exercises at St. Mary's cemetery the command marched to the junction of Copeland and Crescent streets, where barges and cars were taken for headquarters.

Dinner was served by the Woman's Relief Corps and Ladies' Aid society at Hancock hall.

IN THE AFTERNOON.

Refreshed by collation and brief noon rest the veterans were again on the move at 2 P. M. A procession was formed in front of headquarters on Hancock street in the following order.

Squad of Police,
Joseph Warren Hayden, chief.

Officer of the day,
Warren Dunbar.

City Band, 26 pieces,
Alex Raleigh, leader.

Sons of Veterans Drum Corps.

Francis L. Souther Camp, S. of V.
Holmes, Captain.

Paul Revere Post, 88, G. A. R.,
Over 50 strong,
W. H. Warner, Commander.

Spanish War Patriots,
Under command of Sergt. McGrath.

Barge containing disabled veterans.

Carriage containing Mayor Keith, President Sidelinger, Auditor Hall and Chaplain Anderson.

Carriage containing City Clerk Harlow, City Treasurer Burke, Principal Assessor Hodges and Rev. C. W. Wilder.

Carriage containing Tax Collector Dixon, Overseer Bass and Comrade Franklin Jacobs.

Electric with Paul Revere Woman's Relief Corps and Ladies' Aid Society,

Electric car with children from the Gridley Bryant school.

The route to Mt. Wollaston was via Hancock street, City Square, Hancock street, Greenleaf street, Valley street and Sea. All along the route, especially in City Square, large numbers of citizens were assembled, and they enjoyed the inspiring music of the band, the pluck of the veterans, the fine appearance of the police, the soldierly bearing of the Sons of Veterans, the excellent marching of the Volunteers, the patriotism of the women and the happiness of the children.

AT THE MONUMENT.

As usual thousands of people gathered in the cemetery to listen to the exercises. The programme at the soldiers' monument included:

"America,"	City Band
Remarks,	Commander Warner
Prayer,	Rev. C. W. Wilder
"Come Ye Disconsolate,"	Band
Address,	Chaplain Anderson
Singing,	Pupils of Gridley Bryant School, under direction of Principal Greene.
"Prayer from Medea,"	Band
Deposit of Wreaths of Red, of White, of Blue, and of Red, White and Blue.
Salute,	Veterans
America,	Band
Benediction.
Taps and Echo,	Buglers

Chap. Anderson in his address drew a contrast with burials at the front in unknown graves and burials at home mid all the beauty of the city. He alluded to the touching service of the morning at the grave of Private Boyd of the Spanish war by members of Co. K, U. S. V. This Memorial day was the most sacred yet observed. The government had changed its front 35 years ago, and again in 1898. Our country was growing more glorious each year.

"A HOLY SPOT."

The column next moved to the lot where lies buried Francis L. Souther, a volunteer from Quincy in 1861, and first Federal soldier killed in the Civil war. Here the Sons of Veterans camp named for him conducted the exercises. Capt. Holmes spoke briefly, and Chap. Richardson offered prayer. Capt. Holmes then spoke more at length and a salute was fired by a squad of the S. of V.

Rev. Edward Anderson regarded the lot as a holy spot, and one which should always be remembered. A wreath was deposited by Capt. Holmes, and a bouquet by Miss Foss in behalf of the Ladies' Aid society.

AT THE UNKNOWN LOT.

The exercises at the Unknown lot were in charge of the W. R. C. and included:

Funeral March,	Band
Prayer,	Rev. Edward Anderson
Hymn,	Pupils of Gridley Bryant School
Recitation,	Miss Abbie Feltis
Nearer My God To Thee,	Band and Corps
W. R. C., Services by President, Senior Vice President, Junior Vice President, Secretary, Chaplain and all.
Prayer,	Chaplain Holmes
Deposit of Wreath.
Hymn,	Corps
Benediction,	Rev. Mr. Anderson

This concluded the exercises of the day. The procession was formed once more and returned to Hancock hall via Sea street, Coddington street, Washington street, City Square and Hancock street. Another lunch was served by the Woman's Relief Corps and the tired veterans soon departed for home, having again performed with pleasure their sacred duty.

The Testimonial.

About one hundred and fifty couples attended the testimonial dance given by Division 18, A. O. H., to John V. Mead of Co. K at Hancock hall Monday evening. Dancing was in order from 8 to 2 o'clock, music being furnished by Lyon's orchestra. James P. Flanagan was floor director, James F. Shea assistant, and John Faircloth, James Elcock, Michael Duggan, John Fallon, T. F. Tucker, Alex. M. McIntosh, Timothy Bowler, William Malcom, David Smith and John Perivano aids. The latter six were from C. K.

May Breakfast.

The May breakfast, which was served at Wollaston Baptist church on Tuesday forenoon from 7.30 to 9.30, o'clock attracted a large crowd of people. The food was delicious, the menu being as follows:

Bananas. Strawberries.
Shredded wheat. Oatmeal.
Baked Beans.
Bacon and eggs. Fish balls.
Sliced meat.
Mashed potatoes.
Salad.
Lettuce. Cucumbers.
Rolls. Doughnuts.
Tea. Coffee. Milk.

Another hot day.

The last day of May.

It was the hottest Memorial day for several years.

The Squantum cars did a good business Memorial day.

Mr. Henry Bradley of Brockton visited friends in Atlantic, Decoration day.

Mrs. Vincent Rongasky is visiting her sister, Mrs. James Grin at Holyoke, Mass.

Many Quincy people took in the picnic of the Urbane Pleasure club at New Downers.

Gen. Wheeler passes through Quincy this afternoon on a tally-ho en route from Hingham to Boston.

The street railway should have run more cars Memorial day between City Square and Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

The Sewer Commissioners are building the section of the sewer on Elm street between Bigelow and Washington streets.

A quarrel between two men on Hancock street, Atlantic, Tuesday afternoon caused considerable excitement for quite a while.

Edward Gallavan lost a gold watch valued at $25 and two ladies lost pocketbooks at the picnic at New Downer Landing Monday.

The street car sprinkler was kept on the jump Tuesday and had hard work to keep the streets watered. Two cars would do the work much better.

Officers Fitzgerald, Butler and Pratt raided the Monatiquot house at North Weymouth, kept by Edward P. Murphy and seized 86 bottles of beer, 20 empty bottles and one and one-half gallons of whiskey.

Through a mistake of the printer the Springfield bicycles were advertised for $25.50, when they should have been $22.50. These splendid bikes are sold by the South Shore Bicycle Company and are greatly in demand.

The Post says the pupils of John D. Buckingham and Frank E. Morse, vocal and instrumental, are to give a recital at Steinert hall Boston, on Thursday. This is an annual event which creates much interest socially in this city.

The flag seen high in the air on Bates avenue Tuesday was at the residence of Officer David J. Barry who has recently erected a fifty-foot pole on his premises for that purpose. Dave will show his colors hereafter on all public occasions.

Morning papers reported that Gen. Wheeler would pass through Quincy today en route to Boston but changes were made in the plans, and the general left Hingham at 11.30 by boat. A little impromptu reception was talked by Quincy people and this is why the City Hall flag was flying.

Inspector McKay and Officer Goodhue overhauled an express team near the corner of Hancock and Beale streets about 8.30 Monday night and arrested the driver James F. McDonnell, Jr., of Braintree for illegal transportation of liquor. The officers also seized McDonnell's load consisting of ten cases of beer and two gallons of whiskey.

The yacht Josephine, owned by Mr. Fred H. Smith of Quincy Point, broke from her moorings Sunday, during the eastly breeze and ran into the pier at the power station. With the prompt assistance of Mr. J. L. Whiton, Jr., and others she was carried to a place of safety.

A boat was sent down from Boston to Quincy Point as a trial horse to hitch up along side of the new yawl just built for Walter Burgess by Embree Bros. But the Boston boat, wasn't in it at the trial of speed, for the Burgess yacht left the Boston boat far behind. Nothing but a speck could be seen on the water as the skipper of the yawl looked backwards.

The third degree exemplification under the auspices of Quincy Council, Knights of Columbus, given on Monday evening in St. Mary's hall was one of the most successful of recent years. Twenty-two candidates received the degree at the hands of District Deputy Murray of Hyde Park and suite. At the end of the degree work a collation was served. About 400 knights witnessed the work.

The opening smoker of the Quincy Yacht club will be held at the club house on Thursday evening, June 8. Captain Joshua Slocum, who has recently ended a three years' voyage of 46,000 miles around the world in the small sloop yacht "Spray" will be the speaker of the evening. His address will be a synopsis of the articles which will appear in the century magazine, beginning with the September number.

HOLIDAY SPORTS.

A Most Successful Open Golf Tournament.

Wollaston Trap Have Ten Interesting Events.

Yachting Season Opened and Other Attractions.

All day long on the holiday the links of the Wollaston Golf club were in use by players, and many others went over the course and enjoyed the good plays. A stiff breeze from the westward was, if anything, more of an assistance than a detriment, and a clear air made the day a grand one for golf. The hot wind baked the turf until it was like a board, while the putting greens were remarkably swift.

There were forty-six starters in the preliminary round of 18 holes in the morning, and for a couple of hours the course was pretty well congested. Fast playing was impossible, which was hard on those who have been in the habit of making a sprint round the course. Good scores began to come in early, Smith's 80 being about the first card returned. Atherton, Pope and Thorp all came in with 82 each, while six others made sure of their places in the qualifying round for the Wollaston cup with scores of less than 90.

No cards—John Wylde (Wollaston), B. W. Stevens (Wollaston).

When all the scores were in it was found that Curtis, Wellington and Ernst were tied for the last two places in the first round for the Wollaston cup while Sewell, J. B. Tilton and Chipman were in a similar predicament for the last place for the consolation cup. One hole was played to decide the matter, and Curtis and Wellington qualified in the first event and Sewell in the second.

The afternoon play was even better than the morning, the best match being between Atherton and Bremer. The latter played a remarkably plucky game, and holding out the last hole in a three after being one down, had every reason to believe that an extra hole would be necessary. Atherton, however, sent the ball into the cup from the far edge of the green in the like and won the match by one up.

Mr. Smith of the Wollaston club took the gross prize for the morning play, and he also was tied for the net prize with A. K. Pope, who, playing with a handicap of 8, made the double round in 82 strokes.

The results of the matches in the afternoon in the first rounds for the Wollaston cup and the Consolation cup were:

WOLLASTON CUP—FIRST ROUND.

B. Tilton beat E. A. Wilkie, 5 up 3 to play
P. Cracknell beat C. A. Price, 7 up 6 to play
F. F. H. Smith beat J. S. Russell, 6 up 5 to play
J. G. Thorp beat W. K. Farrington, 4 up 3 to play
J. G. Averill beat A. J. Wellington, 5 up 4 to play
G. E Atherton beat C. H. Bremer 1 up
H. W. Parker beat A. K. Pope, 8 up 6 to play
J. F. Curtis beat R. B. Porter, 2 up 1 to play

CONSOLATION CUP—FIRST ROUND.

H. C. Ernst beat L. H. Monks, 5 up 3 to play
W. U. Swan beat J. B. Morrill by default
D. K. Swantwot beat M. B. Mason by default
J. M. Richards beat G. H. Mead, 5 up 4 to play
F. L. Dunne beat H. Baily, 4 up 3 to play
W. F. Page beat W. B. Robbins by default
Percy Chase beat H. I. Sewall, 4 up 2 to play
E. C. Tarbell beat H. Davenport, 4 up 3 to play

With so many good players it was not surprising that some records were broken. The most remarkable was the drive of E. C. Tarbell which sent the ball into the 200 yard hole in one stroke. In the afternoon match J. G. Thorp made the eighteen holes in 79 strokes, a new record for the links, and Averill and Smith each did it in 80.

The winners of the matches in the first rounds for the cups are playing the second round and semi finals today, and will play the finals tomorrow.

Lost Their Rudder.

Quincy was interested in the annual rowing races held on the Harlem river one mile course Tuesday. The Weld crew of Cambridge in which Holden '00 rows made a fine showing in the final race of junior eighths with New York, A. C. Union and Columbia and will long live in the memory of rowing enthusiasts. The unions were not an important factor at any stage, and after the first eight it settled down to a contest between the three other crews, with the New Yorks getting a lead of half length at the half, the Weld and Columbias on even terms. The Welds unfortunately lost their rudder, but an even course was kept, the New Yorks winning by about a boat length over the Cambridge boys, with the Columbia freshmen third.

W. Y. C. Race.

The Wollaston Yacht club opened its season Tuesday and sailed its first race. The wind was puffy from the southwest and the course sailed was the usual one of seven miles. Many ladies witnessed the race from the club house piazza.

The judges at the race were: Commodore A. C. Gardner, Henry E. Nelson, George A. Dickey and A. T. Barstow.

After the race there was an entertainment dance and supper at the clubhouse.

S. Y. C. Opening.

The Squantum Yacht club held its annual opening Monday evening and entertained a large number of yachtsmen. Capt. James Stewart was in charge of the reception committee and furnished a pleasing entertainment consisting of vocal and instrumental music to which the following contributed: William H. Gwinnutt, tenor and banjo soloist; H. M. Frank, violinist; John J. Maloney, George W. Stover, H. L. Hill and Benjamin Sargent, vocalists; Augustus Kendall and Alvah Rodman, pianists. During the evening a fine clam chowder was served in the locker room by Capt. F.E. Badger and assistants.

The club's fixtures for the season are:
June 17—Club race, cash prizes.
July 1—Burkhardt cup race.
July 16—Burkhardt cup race.
August 12—Club handicap race.
August 26—Ladies' day.
Sept. 9—Burkhardt cup race.

YOUNG PATRIOTS.

Public School Children Observe Memorial Day.

The young ladies of the Woodward Institute gave their parents and friends a very creditable exhibition of their skill, and also a pleasing musical and literary entertainment at the school hall on Monday evening. It was a Memorial day programme with the flag as the central theme, as will be seen:

March, School
Recitation: "The Centennial Hymn," Katharine Garrity
Chorus: "God Ever Glorious!" School
Swedish Gymnastics, Class V
Composition: "Our National Emblem," Eva Feltis
Mass-Drill, Classes I, II, III, IV, V
Quotations, Misses King, Doyle, Doble, Lapham, Drew and Keith.
Chorus: "De Year ob Jubilee," School
Recitation: "The American Flag," Helen Claflin
Hoop Drill, Class V
Recitation: "Hurrah for the Flag!" Elizabeth Merrill
Flag-Drill and Chorus, Misses Miller, Randall, Baxter and Carr.
Club-Swinging, Class I
Music: "Massa's in de Cold, Cold Ground," School
Story of the Writing of "America," Grace Eaton
Recitation: "Our Native Song," Eva Philips
Fancy Marching.
Presentation of an autograph copy of America, Mr. H. H. Faxon
Music: "America," School
Ball-Exercise, Class I
Recitation: "The American Hymn," Jane Reed
Salute to the Flag, School
Music: "The Star-Spangled Banner," School Taps.
March.

The seats in the hall were so arranged that there was a hollow square in the centre. The pupils were in patriotic dress: white shirt waists, blue skirts and red neckwear and ribbons.

The principal, Miss Small, announced the programme, and is to be congratulated upon the achievements of her pupils. The gymnastics and drills were under the direction of Miss Blackwell, who is also one of the instructors at the Boston University. The skill of the young ladies, especially in club swinging, was remarkable. The music under Prof. Buckingham was of a high grade. The recitations were all perfect and delivered with confidence.

Henry H. Faxon was equal to the occasion, although he modestly said he was bashful, and more at home at a temperance meeting or political rally. Speaking of the difference in schools of 1832 and today, he said:

My first attempts at securing an education were made in a little building that was located nearly opposite the old Adams houses on Franklin street. The "school-marm" was a Miss Clarissa Hardwick, and she conducted affairs in a style which differed from the kindergarten methods of today. The only object lesson of those days which remains fresh in my memory is that of the birch rod to the application of which we frequently had to submit, cheerfully or otherwise. The next place where my young ideas were taught to shoot was at the old stone schoolhouse on School street afterward converted into a steamer engine-house, and now abandoned. There we were given our first lessons in manual labor. We had to sweep the floor, and bring the wood, and make the fire. You girls do not have such privileges now. I wish we had before us now the old, square, cast iron, wood stove of those early days, so that you might realize what advantages you are enjoying, and of which we were deprived in the old times.

We had to learn our own lessons, and work out our own sums. The teachers seldom had time in those days to do the work for us; and nowadays the scholars do not seem to have the time to do very much work for themselves. We were not always good boys then. I well remember that I once had a rattan applied to my back for throwing stones on the school house. I recall another incident of the days of corporal punishment. Master Bartlett used to have what is called a cow-hide, and we boys escaped its use once because none of us knew who threw a stone down the big chimney of the master's house at a time when his folks were making a batch of molasses candy, which was disturbed by the stone and soot that followed it. That candy would be safe under present conditions for the reason that the costumes of the young ladies of today would prevent them from raising their arms high enough to throw stones.

I am glad to see these flags and to know that you girls feel that you have a country, the same country that your fathers loved, the same country for which they died.

I am glad to have patriotism taught in our schools, and it gives me pleasure to contribute the first patriotic gift to this school founded by Dr. Woodward — an autograph of the famous song, America. I hope you will place it in your library, and that year after year the Woodward girls will be glad to sing America, and be proud to own the words copied by the author.

AT THE CODDINGTON.

The Memorial day exercises at the Coddington school increase in interest each year, and also the attendance. As usual the programme was given in the school yard, and three or four hundred friends assembled. It was very gratifying to see nearly 500 children learning that power of self control on these occasions that makes for good citizenship and free government, to see their respect for the flag, and their patriotic hurrahs. Mr. Merrill and Dr. Hallowell with experience at the front were particularly interesting, ex-Mayor Sears always pleases the children, and Mr. Prescott, a graduate of the school paid his tribute to his childhood teacher, Miss Underwood; said it was the boys that the nation depended upon, and bespoke a building at the Centre worthy of the school and its constituents.

The programme included:

March, City Band
Introductory Remarks,
Dr. Hallowell, Chairman of Sub-Committee
Raising Flag, Veterans, G. A. R.
Salute to Flag, All

AT THE QUINCY.

The pupils of the Quincy schools at Atlantic assembled in the school hall in the morning and were addressed by James Merrill of the Grand Army. In the afternoon the children assembled again and pupils of the different grades contributed to the programme. There were also concert recitations, singing, etc.

AT THE ADAMS.

There was an interesting Memorial programme at the Adams school Monday in the school yard, including:

1. Song, "Our Flag," By Children of Grades I, II and III
2. Song, "Who Is That Kissing Our Baby?" Grade IV
3. "Memorial Day," By Grades IV and V
4. "Spider Song," By Grade V
5. Song, "America," All
6. Song, "Sweet Summer Wind," By Grade VI, Adams
7. "Union and Liberty." By Grades VI, Adams and Lincoln
8. Song, "A Song for Our Banner." By Grade VI, Lincoln
9. Song, "The Star Spangled Banner." All
10. Song, "Church Bells." By Grade VII
11. "Lincoln's Address." By Grades VII and VIII
12. Hymn, "Recessional." By Grade VIII
13. Song, "Tenting Tonight." All

The Adams school was addressed by Franklin Jacobs of the Grand Army in the morning. In addition to the outdoor exercises in the afternoon, the children's work was on exhibition in the lower hall, and in one of the lower rooms about fifty pictures and several busts were shown, which have all been bought with the money raised by the pupils.

AT WILLARD AND OTHERS.

Comrade James W. Pierce of the Grand Army assisted in the Memorial day exercises at the Willard school Monday afternoon. Brief exercises of speaking and singing and recitations were given by the pupils.

Exercises appropriate to Memorial day were held in the several rooms of the Lincoln school Monday afternoon, the programme consisting of recitations and songs. Capt. T. H. Newcomb representing the Grand Army was present and addressed the pupils.

GRAIN-O BRINGS RELIEF

to the coffee drinker. Coffee drinking is a habit that is universally indulged in and almost as universally injurious. Have you tried Grain-O? It is almost like coffee but the effects are just the opposite. Coffee upsets the stomach, ruins the digestion, effects the heart and disturbs the whole nervous system. Grain-O tones up the stomach, aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. There is nothing but nourishment in Grain-O. It can't be otherwise. 15 and 25c. per package.

ZIMMER'S HOME RUN

Saved the Clevelands From a Whitewash---An Even Break at Boston.

Boston, May 31.—The Bostons played grand ball in the morning contest, and the work of the boys on the western trip was not forgotten, for as each came up to bat the rooters showed their appreciation. Stivetts pitched five innings of the morning game, but his former comrades made six runs in that time, and he retired to give Hill a chance. Zimmer caught well, and saved the visitors from a coat of whitewash by a fine home run in the ninth. Not until that inning did Cleveland score a run.

Against Annexation.

Boston, May 31.—At the convention of the Unitarian association yesterday the following resolution was adopted: "That, in our judgment, the United States can best preserve our national honor and interest by abandoning all claim to the ownership of and sovereignty over the Philippine islands, by recognizing their independence, by employing its friendly offices in the restoration of order, and by the negotiation of such treaties as shall secure them from molestation by other foreign powers."

To Remove Cataract.

London, May 31.—Truth says that Queen Victoria has decided to undergo an operation for cataract when Professor Pagenstebher, director of the opthalmic hospital at Wiesbaden, thinks the proper time has arrived. The operation will be performed, according to Truth, either at Osborne or Balmoral, probably after the parliamentary session.

Guarding Against Yellow Jack.

Houston, May 31.—State Health Officer Blunt, on hearing of the case of yellow fever at New Orleans, placed quarantine guards and inspectors at all points of entrance to Texas by telegraph orders and has forbidden the railroad to bring any passengers or freight from New Orleans into Texas.

Now For a Settlemen!

Bloemfontain, May 31.—President Kruger of the South African republic and Sir Alfred Milner, governor of the Cape Colony and British high commissioner for South Africa, have arrived here for their meeting to consider the demands of the outlanders.

Russia Suffers From Drought.

Odessa, May 31.—The winter crop of southern Russia has been completely destroyed by a protracted drought. The spring wheat crop is also in jeopardy from the same cause.

to his own chosen forms and according to the dictates of his own conscience.

"Under our system of government the president is the commander-in-chief of the army and navy, and, when the country becomes involved in war, the weight of the burden necessarily resting upon him is too great to be expressed in words.

"When war comes upon us, the surest possible way to bring it to a prompt and honorable termination is to keep the world assured that every effort, mental and physical, and every resource of our people are unalterably united and will be irresistibly exerted to maintain the safety, prestige and honor of the country. Patriotic devotion can be exercised by volunteering to serve in the field, but it may also be most profitably exerted in encouraging confidence among our people at home. Certainly no good and only evil can come from words and acts which tell rival nations that even a portion of our people, however few, are not in full sympathy with our government, or, what is worse, that any Americans actually do sympathize with our country's enemies. Such a course cannot fail to weaken confidence and embarrass the executive power. Those who insist that the power of the United States is so great that it must always triumph will admit that difficulties or obstacles created by some of our own people will have the effect of retarding, at least in some degree, the prompt and happy restoration to perfect and lasting peace.

"I am one of those who firmly believe that whatever is is right, and I cannot doubt but that when conditions are thrust upon a country by a course of events following a well-judged and righteous action on the part of the people and the government, the consequences could not be other than beneficial not only to the people of our own country, but to the world at large.

"There is one sentiment which should be impressed on every mind and instilled into every heart: 'My country, may she always be right, but, right or wrong, my country.'"

NOT IN THE SOAP TRUST.

The N. K. Fairbanks Company Officially Declare that They Will Not Go In.

Chicago, May 26.—In an interview today Mr. James B. McMahone, Second Vice President of The N. K. Fairbank Company, speaking officially in behalf of the Company, expressed himself as follows:

"We are not identified in any manner with the movement to combine the leading Soap Manufacturers although such a movement is well under way and may eventually materialize. Notwithstanding the conditions in the soap trade are very badly demoralized, the Fairbank Company are not seeking or encouuraging any combination of manufactuurers as a means of improvement. Soap prices are relatively the lowest in the history of the trade. The tallow market has advanced full 1 cent per pound in the past few months without any corresponding improvement in the selling prices of soaps, hence the present movement towards combining interests. Any combination embracing the principal manfacturers throughout the country might naturally and legitimately be in a position to advance soap prices proportionately to the enhancement of all raw materials, but beyond this effect on our trade we are positively not interested or concerned in any consolidation of soap interests.

We are encouraging our salesmen in all directions to work with perfect confidence in the permanent independence of this Company of all "Trust" affiliations, and we are pleased to state that the soap trade continues very brisk, because aside from the natural effect of the expected combination, the current cost of all raw materials warrants materially higher prices on soaps, and sensible buyers are anticipating future requirements to the full limit of their convenience in carry stocks."

IT MERITS ATTENTION.

A NEW PREPARATION WHICH CURE DYSPEPSIA AND STOMACH TROUBLE.

Remarkable Curative Properties.

A new remedy, which may revolutionize the treatment of stomach troubles, has recently been placed before the public and bears the endorsement of many leading physicians and scientific men.

The remedy is not a wonderful secret discovery, nor a patent medicine, neither is it claimed to cure anything except indigestion and stomach troubles, with which nine-tenths of our nation are afflicted.

The remedy is in the form of pleasant tasting tablet or lozenges containing vegetable and fruit essences, pure aseptic pepsin (free from animal impurities) bismuth and Golden Seal; they are sold by druggists generally under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Many interesting experiments made with these tablets show that they possess remarkable digestive power, one grain of the active principle being sufficient to thoroughly digest 3,000 times its own weight of lean meat, eggs, oatmeal or similar wholesome foods; these tablets do not act on the bowels like after-dinner pills, nor in fact do they act upon any particular organ, but the manner in which they cure all forms of indigestion is this: They act entirely upon the food eaten, digesting it completely, nourishing every tissue and nerve in the body; they simply perform the work of digestion, thus giving the weak stomach rest and assistance sufficient to enable it to recover its normal strength. This is the reason so many pretended cures have signally failed; they do not furnish the digestive power which is the one thing above all others that the stomach of the dyspeptic lacks, and unless that lack is supplied, it is waste of time to attempt to restore the enfeebled stomach by means of "tonics," "stomach bitters," and "pills" no permanent good can result from their use. If the stomach can be rested and assisted in the work of digestion it will very soon recover; this is the secret and the whole secret of the remarkable success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, a remedy practically unknown a year ago and now the most popular, widely used dyspepsia remedy, everywhere a success secured almost entirely on its merits, as it has never been extensively advertised.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are now sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package; if he hasn't them in stock he will order them for you from his wholesale house. They are made by the F. A. Stuart Co., chemists, Marshall, Mich., who will be pleased to send information and testimonials from every state in the union.
